Girl Companion Freezes in Fear As Men Drown

COBOURG (CP) — Three persons lost their lives in two separate drowning accidents in Rice Lake during the week-end.

Victims were Douglas Hawkins and Jack Lewis, both 16, and both from Toronto and Mrs. H. Flowers of Warren, Ohio.

Hawkins and Lewis drowned while a girl companion looked on in frozen terror from the boat in which the three had been riding.

Neither of the men could swim. Police said Lewis fell out into the water and he toppled overboard trying to help retrieve his fishing dove into the water in an attempt to save his life-long friend but was drowned himself. Both men and both went under. Margaret Foley of Toronto, who was in the boat, was unable to help.

An Ohio doctor, A. L. Turner, arrived just as Hawkins went down. It was 30 minutes before he could attract the attention of other boats on the lake 15 miles north of here.

Mrs. Flowers was in a boat with four other persons when it capsized during a sudden thunderstorm. Cries for help attracted a party from shore to the scene and all were occupied in the water were pulled from the water. But Mrs. Flowers was unconscious and artificial respiration failed to revive her.

SPRINGBROOK

By this time Provincial Constable Harry Mackenzie had arrived on the scene and pulled his cruiser to a stop on the highway. Constable Joseph Krol, of Toronto, drove over the knoll, saw the pile-up and applying his brakes skidded into the police cruiser.

Damage to the seven cars involved amounted to an estimated $7,000.

FORCED OFF HIGHWAY

As a sequel to the above multiple highway crash, O.P.P. Cpl. Harry Barker driving a police cruiser, and George Rutledge, driving one of Bush's ambulances, were forced off the highway east of Point Anne late by a car driven by Basil James Godda, Better Street, Belleville.

Both the cruiser and the ambulance were on their way to the multiple pile-up of cars at Marmora.

When the car driven by Godda approached on the wrong side of the highway the cruiser, driving ahead of the ambulance, took to the shoulder. The ambulance, forced to go around the cruiser, took to the ditch, sideswiped a tree, went over a culvert and crashed headon into a second tree. Damage to the ambulance was about $4,000. Driver George Rutledge and Bruce Fullerton, his assistant, escaped with a shaking up.

DRIVER ARRESTED

When Cpl. Barker saw the ambulance attendants were uninjured he turned and chased the car into which had forced them off the road. He overtook the vehicle about a mile up the road and placed Godda, the driver under arrest. He is charged with drunk driving, dangerous and careless driving.

Later Cpl. Barker learned that Godda had sideswiped a car near Shannonville at his first-stop accident before he had forced the cruiser and ambulance off the highway.

A mile west of Shannonville H. R. Siddle of Lindsay, said he had been sideswiped by a car which had failed to stop. A few minutes later the police cruiser and the ambulance were forced off the highway.

As result of the hit-and-run accident at Shannonville, Godda also faces charges of careless driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

NEW HORROR

In the United States, where belief in free enterprise is practically universal amongst the citizenry of both high and low degree, the suggestion is occasionally voiced that the Atomic Energy Commission should speedily re-arrange its rules to permit private companies to exploit the possibilities of atomic power.

We see no objection to this, in principle, but in practice we might voice some slight concern if it could be proven that this would lead to the production of atomic bombs for private consumption.

Now, however, state enterprise in our neighbor to the south has produced a monster which we must insist be kept safely under governmental lock and key and never be allowed to stray into the public market place.

The United States Army Signal Corps has announced the development of a long distance camera, which can peer across battle lines up to 30 miles into enemy territory. Developed by the Signal Corps, it is built around a 100-inch telephoto lens.

Imagine what the possession of such an instrument by private individuals would do to the possibilities of any of us really enjoying life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness!

Leaving told the boss that we were down with a cold, we would be safely ensconced in some duck blind down on West Lake, amid the health-restoring combination of mud, mist and dew, (the latter of both Prince Edward County kind, doubtless), when our nick-bed surroundings would be faithfully recorded for posterity — and tomorrow's reckoning.

Speculating what they are, we do not suppose that the instrument's range will be permanently limited to thirty miles. If it is extended to 110 miles, what attraction will be left in a convention in Toronto with the little women looking at the lads at home?

The fisherman, home from his North Hastings haunts, will not dare to spread his arms wide in describing the one that got away, for his audience may have pictorial proof that it was a piker of a pickerel.

Need we go on?

Let who will shout "Ban the Bomb"; "Can the Cameras" is our refrain.

GOOD LUCK, MAPLE LEAFS

Pennant races are fraught with misfortune and Lady Luck, an essential ingredient in all such endeavors, is notoriously fickle. It is with these two truisms before us that we offer congratulations to the Toronto Maple Leaf baseball team, currently leading the International League after a decade in the doldrums of the second division.

Another working rule of baseball is that you should never chalk up a win until the last man is out in the last inning. When speaking of pennants the rule applies that one should never run up the flag until the pennant is clinched beyond mathematical possibilities of doubt. Still another rule is that you never say to Dame Fortune's runner in to lavish praise, with newspaper praise being the most damaging. The gloomy specialists now directing athletic enterprises bid for support in the hope that success is long until all evidences of optimism are bleached from their beings.

With all this in mind, we would still like to congratulate the Toronto baseball team. And our praise is not intended as a kiss of death.

For the past several years the Montreal Royals have dominated the International League. As Brooklyn's Dodgers' number one farm system, it had the incomparable good fortune of putting the final touches on the training of a host of future "Bums". Such talent made Montreal a baseball power in the minor leagues akin to the American League Yankees in the majors.

Player options, a peculiar form of chattel mortgage that keeps the better grades of baseball beef in the deep freeze of a minor league farm system, proved to be extremely difficult for an independent organization like the Maple Leafs to acquire the talent necessary to challenge this rivals supplying from Montreal.

It is, therefore, all the more heartening to see the Maple Leafs, an independent club whose owner has spent a fortune in four years to build a contender, out in front of it last.

Jack Kent Cooke, who has been accused of having three teams—one coming, one playing, and one going—has proved his worth by the method of being forced to buying baseball talent. In his first year as Toronto's owner he spent so freely that he was named "executive of the year" by baseball's weekly bible, the Sporting News.

This season, with a new manager and a major league coaching staff in Luke Sewell and Bruno Betzel, and a host of talented ball players, he is giving pennant-starved Torontonians a mild case of dog fever. The Leafs seem assured of ending in the first division and are definite threats to win the league playoffs and a shot at the "Little World Series".

During the past two seasons Toronto has led all minor league teams in attendance. Fan support inevitably brought Toronto into the ken of baseball magnates seeking new territories in which to establish ailing franchises and Toronto's greenback pastures have sired talk of switching a major league franchise to the Queen City.

All in all, Toronto has not enjoyed such baseball success in years. It is our hope that in September Toronto will be able to fly the International League pennant over the Fleet Street Flats. After years of wishing in vain, there are thousands of Toronto supporters genuinely convinced that this may be their year. And we are among them.

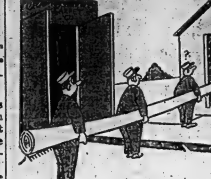
TIME TELLS

Time tells the fact in various ways
When youth has flown.
At first the hair at temples grays
To make it known.



And then the step slows down a bit.

Next comes the need
For glasses, as we all admit:
"Fine print to read."

"As young as ever!" we may shout,
But in the ways no one can doubt
Time tells the truth.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

July 26, 1934.

The Hon. J. Albert Faulkner, K.C.M.P. for West Hastings and Minister of Health in the Hepburn Liberal Government, Belleville, rendered a marvelous reception at an all day picnic which was held at the Belleville Fair Grounds yesterday. Three bands were in attendance, namely, the Argyll Light Infantry Band, under the direction of Reg Hunter; the Stirling Citizens' Band under the direction of Ned Pote, and the Frankford Citizens' Band under the direction of W. E. Hutcheson. The picnic was under the auspices of the West Hastings Liberal Association and the Belleville Liberal Club. Mr. Harold Holton, the president of the Belleville Liberal Club, presided during the platform meeting. Upon the platform were seated the following besides Dr. Faulkner, Mrs. Faulkner, Mr. Holton: Peter McLaren, who made a strong but losing fight for the seat now held by East Hastings; T. E. Lennox, secretary of the West Hastings Liberal Association; T. G. Bowerman, M.P.P. for Simcoe East; Leonard W. A. Fraser, M.P. for Northumberland; Miss A. Hurley, president of Belleville Women's Liberal Club; Miss M. Bullen; Miss M. Horrigan of the 20th Century Club. Following the address of welcome by Mr. Holton, Dr. Faulkner made an excellent address and brief speeches were also made by W. J. Fraser, M.P.; Peter McLaren and Thomas Sweetman, M.P.P. Following the speeches, Mr. Harold Holton on behalf of the Belleville Liberal Club, presented Dr. Faulkner, with a Masonic apron, and Miss Mae Mary Butler on behalf of the 20th Century Club presented him with a beautiful desk set. A large basket of beautiful flowers was presented to Mrs. Faulkner by little Shirley Warren and Gleda Gordon-Sumners. Interesting sports took place during the day. It was decided a ten pitch game. It is reported that 4,000 people were present during some of the day.

30 YEARS AGO

July 24, 1924.

Mrs. J. W. Reid of Corbyville recently found in her garden at Hay Corners, a Large Cent coin dated 1791. Mr. H. W. Morton of Belleville has added a similar coin in his garden some days ago. Mrs. Reid also found a five centimes piece dated 1854 bearing the date of 1896.

Miss Ella Doyle of this city caught a maskinonge in Moscquito Bay yesterday which weighed 46 pounds. Mr. Lochberry of this city also caught a 35-pound lunge yesterday down the bay.

July 28, 1914.

Lacrosse was a very popular game in this city and district years ago and for the information of old timers we are giving the names of some of the players in 1914. Here they are: Fred Wellers, Billie Hitchen, Ezra Will Holton, Mack Jamieson, Ernie Vine, Victoria Avenue, Fred Panter. The latter also coached junior lacrosse. Donors were others we can't recall. The games were played on the old Cricket Field on the bay shore in East Belleville. Madoc also had a fast team. Here are the names of some of the Madoc players: Dwight, Bobbie Colling, C. Kirk, J. Kirk, Charlie Cross, C. Kirk, H. Ballard, Will Harper, Carl Lloyd, W. Sinclair, Ed. Cross and George Bleas. Archie Roberts of Belleville used to act as referee for some games and W. Fisher used to captain the Belleville team. They were always a lot of boys out to practise, hoping to be chosen to play in some of the matches and, no doubt, some of them made the team.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

EYES UP!

I like to see people look ahead, widening things possible in the future rather than looking down and just taking a chance on the days ahead. Be the kind of worker whose eyes are always on the better job ahead, who takes pride in being a worker and not an idler.

These words by Carlyle are significant, the said: "Blessed is he who has found his work; let him ask no other blessedness. He has a work, a life purpose; he has found it, and will follow it."

Work should be a source of joy to us all, and in it we should take great pride, I recall reading an interesting statement in regard to Alphonse Legros, noted French-British artist and noted teacher of the art in the Slade School, London. It was said of him that as a young man he worked. As a middle-aged man he worked. And as an old man he worked. He worked in every phase of art, and was great in them all.

In one of the school readers I studied as a boy I remember reading of a boy who decided that he wanted to carve his name on the Natural Bridge of Virginia, above all others. Niche by niche he climbed, cutting places in the rock to climb by. It was risky business but he kept his eyes upward until he had cut his name higher than all, while those below him now kept crying: "Look your eyes on the top. Don't look down!"

What a challenge to our faith as we look into the heavens at night with its millions of stars shining as of old. Who put them there in such perfect formation so that books have been written about their exact locations! Scientists are constantly studying this miracle of creation and revealing new and interesting things about it. You will have plenty in your mind to think about, as you go to your bed at night, if you will but devote a few minutes first to an honest look at the starry night. Eyes up to live up!

Trojan Horse Like Dakota

(The Times of London)

When the Greek general staff hacked that famous winner into the Troytown Stakes it is most unlikely that they bothered much about the comfort of the task force to be taken for a ride. They were, surely, on the sound military rule of hommes de fer, not of chevaux de Hollywood, more considerate than Agamennon and his planners, in providing for this command, detailed for service in a Californian wooden horse, with padded loose boxes. We are told, are for the comfort of the warriors awaiting their orders to massacre the Trojans. Faulting Hollywood on points of historical detail could be a delightful game. But, unfortunately, in this case, the critical famous winner may almost be said still to be on the secret list. Little is known about its design.

Among the many advantages of not having been entrusted, in their telling, to quota and to a committee, respondents is that the "inside stories" were so seldom told. That wooden horse can only be horse can only be pieced together from bits of information thrown to us by eyewitnesses who, as reported, were largely concerned with the hate.

We know that the horse was of mountainous bulk and that its huge cavern was packed with armed soldiers. We know, unsuspiciously like a war-time Dakota. We know, also, that in the least effort of imagination, be pictured as squashed together with middle-aged Greeks for which to sit except spears, javelins and bosses' shields — all knobbly and none padded.

But this is mere guesswork — a tantalizing one, considering seen by Pausanias in which the Trojan horse was visible looking over's wall. How different it would all have been had the recording apparatus would have been in action when the horse was by the troops inside for future broadcasts — after cutting, pasting and splicing by the pressed his hearty thanks to his collaborator, Athena. Poor Laocoon, instead of being bothered with his highly literary remark about the danger of accepting when bringing gifts, would have been quoted as saying "You bet! There's no-and-done in there than you can throw them."

Then, perhaps, the posthumous satisfaction of being put on the record to the confusion of Hollywood. His performance by the censor, as did the information that, when he struck his target, the vaults rang hollow, according forth a moan. That could hardly have happened in a padded horse.

Some Asset In Politics

(Wall Street Journal)

Certainly much of the success of Franklin Roosevelt in getting elected and re-elected was due to a voice and a manner which were peculiarly adapted to radio.

Or before radio, there were men who made their voices and themselves through the public prints. Such was the late Senator Borah of Idaho. When Mr. Borah got to his feet in the Senate everyone could be pretty sure that he would hear and see a performance worth watching and reporting. The word that "Borah's up" pulled correspondents away from their typewriters and out of the couches in the Senate gallery.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The paperback novels, which is the euphemistic title given to, those 25 and 35 cent drug store books that are the modern day of the mid-twentieth century, have served a useful purpose; though I see by the latest figures that 176 million of them have been turned out in the United States during the year by the druggists and candy store libraries, this year. The druggists usually handle them, along with the barbiturate pills, the only natural, and legal, way probably helped put more people to sleep than all the barbiturate and opium capsules combined. Their soporific effect is illustrated by the story about a Wop girl from one, you forget what it was about, but you can't remember, because you forget what it was you read or not. When they reach this point, the publisher is afraid to buy any more. Hence the 175 million lately dumped back on the publishers' hands.

It was a publishing goldmine while it lasted, and some author raked in very large fortunes for the production of the most attractive garbage since the old dime novel days. To rescue the market, the publishers of paperbacks are now going classic; and you can find some of the famous literature of all time beginning to trickle into the pop and ice cream cone book emporiums, especially those cities that are so dry there is no copyright on them.

The paperback novels, which always been and always will be a complex and hazardous enterprise, it is filled with contradictions. The recent five year history of the paperback publishers did no harm at all to the production of standard books of all categories including fiction. One of the most striking publications of the year is "Wildflowers of Manitoba". Wildflower Book, which costs $10 in Canada. It is a magnificent collection of hundreds of color plates with text by the internationally famous botanists. Its first market will be libraries, museums, colleges and schools. And no doubt, at time goes by, it will be on Christmas lists of hundreds of private individuals who are aware of wild nature, when they can purchase it as a novel or a $4-or $5 non-fiction book pays an author and a publisher for his work. Particularly easy work, it is hard to figure how a masterpiece like this, costing only four times as much as a once-over novel, can be made to pay anybody. But the most artists and others whose life work is devoted to the publication of books of publishing some thing every so often, despite the acumulating links of paperback.

Lake Serpent Tale Too Tame

(Ottawa Journal)

From the Eastern townships area of Quebec comes a report of a "monster", a sort of lake serpent which it is said has been slandering the natives for the past five years.

Aylmer Lake, 100 miles east of Montreal, is the scene of this interesting story. Fishermen who claim to have seen the monster describe it as dark brown, as fast as a speedboat and capable or kicking up "huge waves" as it dashes down the 16-mile waterway.

But the whole affair is being treated with a distressing lack of originality. In the interior of British Columbia, or on Vancouver Island, when a marine monster is encountered it is equipped with horns and scales, it rears its ugly head above the water, it bellows like a steer, smoke like the traditional dragon, it races through the water with the speed of a fast train, it gobbles down the unwary calf that comes to the water's edge for a drink, and sometimes the beast roars like a lion in its lair.

Perhaps Quebec's monster is lower in the evolutionary scale, traditions of sea serpents, or it may be the modesty of the resident that has caused the region that leads them to what British Columbians would consider ridiculous under-statement. But how can tourists to be lured to Aylmer when even the physician's consulted quoted as saying that "the only way to get rid of the serpent out to me but all I've got is a headache"? A fish-man me imagination? Can't the detect in the swells something like the back of a serpent and writhing its 60-foot body through the water? Surely there must be no thought for the tourist industry?

The people of Quebec, if they are to compete successfully in the field of the more spectacular forms of animal life, must look up the books on dragons, sea serpents and the like. A fish-eater make which looks, according to one observer, "like a huge fish" is hardly good enough even for the dog days.

Stanleys' Steam Car

(By Thomas Green
In the Winnipeg Tribune.)

The Stanley Steamer was the creation of two brothers, Francis E. and F. O. Stanley, identical twins who looked so much alike that even close associates could not tell them apart.

They formed the Stanley Motor Carriage Company and settled down to building steam cars —1,000 cars a year in the good years.

The twins had quite a car. On January 24, 1906, Fred Marriott put a souped-up model through its paces on Ormond Beach, Florida. The body was specially built on an upturned racing boat to cut down wind resistance. Marriott ran the car on the beach for a flying start. He crossed the measured mile at 190 miles an hour. The speedometer needle kept climbing.

That did it. The flat bottom of the upturned boat acted like a wing and the steamer became airborne. It whooshed through the air for 100 feet before it re-

WHEN RUPTURE MAY BE CURED BY INJECTION TREATMENT

The ambulant treatment of hernia (rupture, breach), that is to say a series of injections of a chemical solution, administered in the physician's office at intervals of a few days, without detaining the patient from his ordinary activities, is not applicable in all cases.

Injection treatment is "indicated", as doctors say, meaning it is likely to prove satisfactory, for

(1) Industrial patients with small reducible hernia, especially those who do only light work.
(2) Aged and infirm patients, for whom operation is a hazard.
(3) Infants and children with small hernia, for whom operation is unadvisable owing to difficulties of post-operative care.
(4) Patients with small reducible hernia who are fearful of operation.
(5) Patients with hernia of moderate size if the ordinary ring measures less than ⅝ths in diameter.
(6) Patients with hernia that tends to recur after operation. In such cases a few injections properly placed may prevent what would otherwise develop into a recurrence.

These are some of the "indications" for injection treatment as described in Watson's Hernia, 3rd. ed., '48, (Mosby Co.) which is recognized as authoritative; though of course the book deals primarily with surgical treatment.

Injection treatment will generally cure umbilical (navel, belly button) hernia in a young child, if the bulging can be reduced or prevented by suitable bandage, binder or belt.

On the other hand, injection treatment is not indicated and as a rule should not be used, for it is not likely to prove satisfactory for

(1) Large hernia with ring measuring more than an inch in diameter
(2) Patients whose hernia is complicated with chronic cough, urethral structure, prostatic hypertrophy, diabetes, tuberculosis, abdominal tumor, dropsy
(3) Irreducible hernia
(4) Hernia which cannot be retained by a truss.

In 1942 the Surgeon General of the United States Army announced: "2 The following may be recommended for general military service with hernia:

History of operation or of injection treatment for inguinal or umbilical hernia, provided examination shows no recurrence following operation of following the last injection shows a satisfactory result."

Some ever ready operator ought to take the Surgeon General aside and tell him the facts of life.

MAYBE

Someone has said that everything creative in life is built on a "maybe." The scientist and his investigations on a bunch. He starts to work on the basis of the feeling that everything means that facts awaiting discovery. An English physician put a culture on a top shelf and forgot about it being there. When finally he came upon it, it had developed a condition which sent through his mind the thrilling conviction that here was something that might kill deadly germs which coursed through the human stream. The physician's name was Fleming and this thing he found was the basis of penicillin.

Spiritual life starts with a "maybe." The great fundamental doctrines of Christianity cannot be proved—it is, proved as probable in mathematics are proved. They have to be taken on faith. Yet they are based on the most consistent use. If they are found to help any life because that life is, proved to the extent that religious people demand proof. They are not proved mathematically; rather they are proved pragmatically.

What joy there is at a wedding and at christenings, yet the word "maybe" drifts like a pall over both above the festivities. Marriage is a venture in faith. Birth is a venture God is making. It represents His hope that another soul will be developed spiritually for all life.

Maybe! Maybe! Maybe!

160 Witnesses Still to Be Heard In Coffin Trial

PERCE, Que. (CP)—The long, slow trial of Wilbert Coffin today enters its 10th day as the crown seeks pieces to place the case against the 43-year-old prospector accused in connection with the slaying of three American hunters a year ago.

So far 40 witnesses have been heard in the courthouse in this picturesque little tourist village. But the crown still has 60 witnesses to testify and the defence are expected to put 100 into the box.

Coffin is charged specifically with the murder of Richard Lindsay, 17, of Hollidaysburg, Pa. His body, together with that of his father, Eugene, 47, and a friend, Albert Clair, 20, was found deep in the Gaspe bush last July. Bears had torn their bodies and gnawed their bones clean of flesh.

The burly prospector from York Centre, Que., has appeared increasingly tired as witness by witness testimony day after day.

SLUMPS IN DOCK

Dressed in a neat grey sports jacket and wearing a white shirt, he sits slumped in the prisoner's dock during the long hours of testimony, darting a glance now and then at his defence lawyers, Francois B. Gravel and Jean Sicotte.

He rarely smiles, his expression changing only when some witness mentions a hidden incident in evidence.

The crown has concentrated up to now on trying to show that the three sportsmen were ambushed in two lonely logging camps about 60 miles west of Gaspe and that four rifles owned by the hunter and found with them had not been fired or their safety catches unlocked.

Witnesses have testified that Coffin was seen in Gaspe with Richard Lindsay on the same day, a month before the hunters' remains were found; and that he purchased a gasoline can for the hunters' stalled truck.

The crown has sought to establish that Coffin was seen in possession of a hunter's utility knife and large sum of American money June 12 and that he paid $10 he owed a friend and purchased a substantial amount of liquor the same day.

Capture Woman Held for Slaying Montreal Man

MONTREAL (CP) — Provincial police Sunday night tracked down and arrested Gertrude Servant, 25-year-old woman charged with the 1953 murder of Montreal restaurateur Bert J. McAbbie, and a companion, Georgette Tremblay, 42, who escaped from the city's Fullum St. women's jail July 20.

Police said the pair were arrested in an unused summer cabin in Mont Laurier, 120 miles north of Montreal. They were brought back to provincial police cells early today for questioning.

The arrest of Miss Servant came a few hours after Gerald Patrick McKuben was brought to Montreal to face a similar murder charge.

The 33-year-old Irish born suspect, long wanted by police in connection with the McAbbie slaying, had been living in Austin, Tex., for 14 months before he was arrested June 14 by United States immigration authorities for illegal entry.

BROKE LOCK, CLIMBED WALL

Miss Servant and Miss Tremblay, who was serving a five-year term at Fullum St. prison for her part in an unemployment insurance fraud, made their break six days ago by smashing a padlock on a dining-hall door inside the prison and climbed over the outer wall. A province - wide search was immediately started.

Miss Servant was being held in connection with McAbbie's death along with her brother Leo, 35, Roy Colligan, 38, and Jonathan Dawn, 22.

Police say that McKuben, a one-time boy friend of Miss Servant was a member of the same gang that pistol-whipped McAbbie after gaining entry to his restaurant by a ruse. The attackers made off with $5,000 in cash and jewels.

Two Misses Blight Plans For Giraffe Nursery

PITTSBURGH (AB) — Officials have cancelled present plans to add a nursery to its giraffe section at Pittsburgh Highland Park zoo. It turned out that the new tenants which were registered as Mr. and Mrs. are two misses.

Zoo officials paid $6,000 for the two animals last month. Carl Hagenbeck, famed wild animal hunter, shipped the animals from his cages at Hamburg, Germany.

Lloyds of London insured the pair for $7,000 and noted on the policy "no distinguishing marks except difference in sex."

Dr. W. Erwin Schreiber said one of the animals has a navel hernia "—a confusing piece of scar tissue easily misinterpreted when trying to determine sex."

BLACK—WELBOURN

Holloway Street United Church, Belleville, was the setting on Wednesday, July 21, at high noon for a double-ring ceremony, when the Rev. Sidney R. Larmon united in marriage Ruth Georgina Welbourn, of Belleville, daughter of Mrs. Roy Welbourn, and the late Nelson Roy Welbourn, to Lieutenant Kenneth Rose Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Black, of Stirling.

Mrs. Walter Warren, of Stirling, guest soloist, sang "The Lord's Prayer", and during the signing of the register "Because." Mr. William Connor, of Belleville, played the traditional wedding music throughout the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Stewart Hoover, the bride looked charming in a floor-length gown of white embroidered nylon lace over white nylon tulle and satin. The overskirt of embroidered nylon lace was caught to the waistline forming a bustle back edged with white nylon tulle. The skirt was offset by a nylon lace embroidered bodice and Peter Pan collar with long sleeves ending in points over the wrists. Her finger tip veil of tulle illusion was caught to a wreath of orange blossoms worn by the bride's aunt, on her wedding day. She carried a mauve orchid on a white Bible with white satin edged streamers.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Stewart Hoover, sister of the bride, and the two bridesmaids, Miss Virginia Welbourn, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Harry Marsh of Deep River, were fitted alike in waist-length orchid nylon net over taffeta, with molded bodice, matching bolero jackets and bouffant skirts, having nylon ruching. They wore matching halo headdresses, and carried nosegays of pink, white and mauve sweet-peas, popcorn mums, Briarcliffe roses and baby's breath - with pink streamers.

Mr. Donald Campbell was groomsman. Lieutenant Donald Patterson, Hamilton, and Lieutenant John Beveridge, Petawawa, were ushers.

The reception was held at the Hotel Quinte, where the bride's mother, gowned in dusky rose crepe with lace inserts and navy accessories, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, attired in navy blue sheer with white accessories, received the guests. Both wore similar corsage of white carnation and pink feathered carnations.

For a wedding trip to the eastern provinces the bride wore a white suit with corn-colored accessories, and an orchid corsage.

Guests were present from Toronto, Hamilton, Petawawa, Deep River, and Stirling.

Lt. and Mrs. Black will reside at Petawawa.

STIRLING.—The Rev. W. H. V. Walker officiated at a quiet wedding ceremony at St. Andrew's Manse, on Saturday July 10, when Joyce Agnes Clemens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clemens, Delora, and Floyd S. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morley Phillips, Stirling, were united in marriage.

The bride looked charming in a floor-length gown of white embroidered nylon lace over white nylon tulle and satin. The overskirt of embroidered nylon lace was caught to the waistline forming a bustle back edged with white nylon tulle. The skirt was offset by a nylon lace embroidered bodice and Peter Pan collar with long sleeves ending in points over the wrists. Her finger tip veil of tulle illusion was caught to a wreath of orange blossoms worn by the bride's aunt, on her wedding day. She carried a mauve orchid on a white Bible with white satin edged streamers.

Mr., Mrs. Robt. R. Bell Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

On Sunday a lovely "At Home" was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Bell, Dundas Street, Desoronto, in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Bell, the former Florence Bradshaw, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bradshaw, of Selby, was united in marriage on July 11th, 1904, in Selby United Church, by the Rev. Richard Duke, to Robert R. Bell, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Bell, of Napanee. Their attendants were Miss May York and Mr. R. McFee of Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell farmed for a few years, then moved near Belleville, on the Kingston highway, where Mr. Bell was employed at the Canada Cement Co., Point Anne, until his retirement in 1951, when they moved to their present home in Desoronto.

ACTIVE CHURCH WORKERS

Mrs. Bell has always been an active worker in both the W.A. and Institute and when health permits, attends the W.A. meetings associated with the United Church in Desoronto.

Mr. Bell has always been a loyal friend and kind neighbor, ever willing and ready to lend a helping hand to anyone in need.

This union has been blessed with 11 children, eight daughters and three sons, and now has 30 proud grandparents of ten grandchildren.

The home was appropriately decorated and at the appointed hour, three little granddaughters, Nancy Large, Bonnie Burley, and Bertha Krogman, assisted by two of the honored guests' daughters, Mrs. Harry Lummis and Mrs. Marion Krogman, were each in turn kept busy answering the door to the many guests arriving.

Miss Beverley Flower, the eldest granddaughter, was in charge of the guest book, where over 150 friends, neighbors and relatives registered.

GIFTS PRESENTED

The guests were received in the living-room by the bride and bridegroom of 50 years ago, where a profusion of gold and white and gold chrysanthemums and summer flowers made a pretty setting for an earlier afternoon event, when four young grandsons presented the family gifts. Master Carl Thompson and Robert Pope presented the gifts from the honored guests' sons, and daughters and their families - a lovely dial-control electric blanket with a fifty dollar bill, while Barry Krogman and Roger Flower presented appropriate small gifts from the grandchildren.

The attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Jean Clements of Deloro and the bridegroom's brother, Mr. Carl Phillips, Trenton.

The tea table was tastefully arranged with an ivory lace cloth and satin laces in pink and white engraved with the year in gold, which flanked the white and gold anniversary cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Bell's two young daughters. The lovely table bouquets of pink and white sweetpeas and Roy orchids in crystal, gilt trimmed vases made an added attraction.

POURING TEA

Tea was poured from silver urns by Mrs. Walter Scott and Mrs. Ernest English of Desoronto, assisted by Mrs. Bell's two sisters, Mrs. A. Hart, of Belleville, and Mrs. W. Hart, of Napanee, while in the evening Mrs. William Bradshaw, of Trenton, niece of Mr. Bell, graciously assisted Mrs. Cook. Nieces of the happy couple, Mrs. Ronald Giles, of Ameliasburg, Mrs. Gordon Hannah of Trenton, and Mrs. Boyd Scott, of Belleville, served the guests.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. S. Knight, of Chaumont, N.Y.; Mr. M. Branche, of Westover, N.Y.; Mayor and Mrs. H. J. McFarland, and Dr. and Mrs. S. Hart from Picton; Mr. William Bradshaw and family from Trenton, and Mrs. Bell's sister, Mrs. Kingston, Mrs. Alma Albertson, although blind and advanced in years, motored by her daughter, and did her just could not miss this great occasion.

HOTEL CLEARANCE

An interesting feature of the day was the receiving of four other couples, who had recently celebrated their 50th anniversaries. Mr. and Mrs. G. Bradshaw, Mr. and Mrs. M. Windover, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Garbutt, all from Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. S. Knight, of the U.S.A.

Many telephone calls, telegrams and flowers received, added to the busy day, and as the happy couple view their many gifts and look through the 100 or more cards they received, they have been well rewarded for the precious life they have lived, and shared together, with friends and neighbors, always a pattern for their joys and sorrow, their greatest factor is prayer:

Let me be a little kinder,
Let me be a little blinder,
To the faults of those about me;
Let me praise a little more,
Let me be what I am weary,
Just a little bit more cheery;
Let me serve a little better,
Those that I am striving for.

New Zealand Airman's Death Made Mother World Traveller

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — The RCAF bomber crashed in Nova Scotia in 1944, taking the life of a young New Zealand flying officer. Today 10 years later, his mother, who still shows with pride first-place medals her son won in track and field, is en route to Vancouver where she will support from the stands New Zealand's team in the British Empire Games.

"Had my son been spared," Mrs. Mona Lillian Wallis of New Plymouth, N.Z. said today, "he might be on that Games team."

Mrs. Wallis, who has travelled alone to five continents since leaving her New Plymouth home Feb. 15 related some of her experiences over a cribbage game aboard a train bound from Toronto to Vancouver.

VISITED SON'S GRAVE

The death of her son, P/O. Reg Jessie Wallis, the day after his 21st birthday in that Second World War training accident near Greenwood, N.S., has given Mrs. Wallis a sense of belonging to Canada. It was to visit his grave at Greenwood that she first came to Canada in 1949 with her husband, James Wallis.

During the 1949 trip, Mr. and Mrs. Wallis visited friends of their son, who had been stationed at Penhold, Alta., and Brandon, Man., while with the RCAF on exchange from the New Zealand Air Force. They stopped in and around Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, Brandon, Calgary, where they saw the Calgary Stampede, and Vancouver.

Left alone by the death of her husband two months after their return from Canada in 1949, Mrs. Wallis this year set out alone to attend a Battle of Britain memorial service at the burial plot where her son lies at Greenwood. A chance suggestion that she visit a niece, British Overseas Airways stewardess Marie Lealand, in London, took Mrs. Wallis almost around the world.

ARRIVED IN JUNE

She sailed aboard the liner Oronsay touching several Australian points, Colombo, Ceylon and several Suez canal and Mediterranean ports, including Gibraltar, en route to England. She sailed from Liverpool to Montreal in June and leaves for home Oct. 8 from Vancouver aboard the liner Orion.

A woman of 58 years, Mrs. Wallis has a definite winning way with fellow travellers. She names hundreds of persons from dozens of Canadian towns and cities from Vancouver to Montreal with whom she has established friendships en route.

RCAF PEAK

The peak strength of the Royal Canadian Air Force was reached in January, 1944, when Canada had 215,000 airmen.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

HOW THE TRAVELER SHOWS GRACE IN: INVITATIONS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have recently received a very good promotion in my company, and this means that I will have to take a trip across the country visiting our branch offices. I received permission from the company to combine this trip with this year's vacation, and I will now be able to stay a few days longer in the cities where I have friends or some of them college friends of mine, some not very intimate friends. I would very much like to take this opportunity to see these friends personally, but what is proper for me to do to get in touch with them. Since I am staying at a hotel in their city, must I write them that I'm coming, when and for how long, and then wait to see if and how they welcome me? Or would it be proper for me, when I arrive, to telephone them and invite them either to lunch with me at my hotel, (if they are free), or invite the wife and husband to dine with me at my hotel. It would be a joy to see you again, to talk over old days and new days!" However, it will be just as proper (and perhaps more convenient for you) to telephone after you get to town and invite your friend to lunch with you at your hotel, or to invite the wife and husband to dine with you at your hotel. But when you invite a couple you must make absolutely sure that there will be no uncertainty or embarrassment about the payment . . . make pre-dinner arrangements not to have the check presented at the table, but charged on your hotel bill.

THE BRIDE'S FATHER MAY GIVE HER IN MARRIAGE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a widow, thirty-five years of age, and am to marry again in September. Since my husband's death (over-seas) I have lived with my mother and father, who have been wonderful to me. I would like to have my father give me in marriage but he and I are not sure this would be permissible, since he gave me in marriage at my first wedding. Would this be correct? — Elsie H.

Yes, it is entirely correct for your father to give you in marriage. And I hope you will give him the honor.

ONE SHOWER OR SEVERAL?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be a bridesmaid in my friend's September wedding. I realize that a bridesmaid has the responsibility of giving a shower for the bride-to-be. But please tell me when there are to be four bridesmaids (as in this wedding), does each one give a shower, or do they join in giving one shower? — Rose

Either is correct, the plan depending on the preference and convenience of the bridesmaids. Very often all the bridal attendants maid of honor and bridesmaids also, combine to give a general shower for the bride-to-be. (A good idea, I think.)

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

WHAT EVERY BEAUTY-SEEKER SHOULD KNOW

To every woman at one time or another there comes a moment when she entertains the idea that it would be just dandy to chuck the never-ending beauty routine and retire to some vast wilderness to grow old and homely in peace. But it is to laugh! For she knows it is a crazy notion that will soon pass. The self-respecting woman actually desires with all her heart to look her best and sometimes she wishes she could look even better than that! Her slogan is "Fastidiousness, daintiness, freshness of appearance."

Beautifying begins with the daily bath, and she knows it. She'd rather skip a meal than the morning tubbing.

Then there is that restful session before her date with the sandman when she gives her complexion, throat and hands, when she brushes her hair, arranges the wave and tucks it away into a net. She takes a look-see at her finger nails. If polish is going patchy it is whisked away, a fresh coating laid on.

These time relaxing moments she has a chance to commune with herself and plan the activities of the next day.

There is the important matter of keeping the items of her wardrobe ship-shape. She brooks no delay in sending garments to the dry cleaner; she never slips into her shoes without looking to see if they are dusty. Gloves must be spotless. A fresh, hanky must be put in the handbag.

If one thing you may be sure: this woman will never have run-over heels, frayed stocking seams or slip hems showing.

Visitors And No Refrigeration

By Mary Moore

Just as inevitably as death and taxes come, refrigerators wear out. I say in at the last dying gasp of the motor on ours. It happened to be writing out a grocery list at the kitchen table when I heard this asthmatic wheeze then a moan and all was still.

When the refrigerator repairman came he said "I think it's curtains for this motor Mrs. Moore." The last rites, dirges were. When Pete heard the news he said "Good." Scapi comfort to this provider.

Now I have to make a momentous decision. There are two beauties I have to choose from and they come in the most delicate pastel shades of blue and green.

Some of you girls are natural-born interior decorators. Which color would you choose? They are so delicate neither one would lie me down too strictly to an unchangeable kitchen color scheme.

I'm quite serious. When you write to me after you read this tell me pronto which you would choose. I'd be ever so grateful.

Meanwhile I'm trotting back and forth between Eleanor's house and mine before and after every meal to get or take back a basketful of perishables. Aren't friends wonderful!

Garry, and her family, have been here for four days and left about an hour ago for the States. She left her usual end of visit and true recipes behind. I've tested them all and the following two are tops.

QUEEN MARASCHINOS

Four and one-half lbs. pitted Queen Anne (White) cherries, 3 1-2 lbs. white sugar, 1 oz. red food coloring, 1-3 oz. almond extract. Wash, stem and carefully dry the cherries. Sprinkle the sugar over them in an enamel or stainless steel kettle or porcelain bowl. Stir carefully and when juice gathers in the bottom, put on the cook and add the red coloring. Cook rather briskly for 30 minutes, watching carefully for it may boil over if the kettle is not large enough, and should be stirred carefully occasionally. Add the almond flavoring, and pour into small jars and seal. Garry says she carefully saves all of the little jars that instant coffee and such packs come in, for this purpose, for they have a rubber ring inside the lid and when sterilized and packed with a boiling hot product seal perfectly.

NEW LEMON PIE

This is sensational. Garry says it tastes like you always hope lemon pie will taste, but seldom does. An ambition but I know what she means.

Two twelve ounces soft cream cheese, scant 1-2 cup honey, 3 tablespoons frozen lemon juice concentrate (or fresh lemon juice), 3 eggs. Warm the cheese to room temperature and beat it to a soft smooth consistency with rotary beater or electric beater. Add the honey and two of the eggs and one more yolk, saving the one white for a meringue. Beat the cheese-honey-lemon-juice-egg mixture until very smooth and light and pour into large baked fluted pie shell. Make a meringue of the remaining one egg white and 2 tablespoons icing sugar by beating them together until stiff, and spread over the filling. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 15 minutes. Remove from oven and cool. Then chill for at least 4 hours before serving. This pie cuts to best advantage if removed from refrigerator 15 or 20 minutes before serving time.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A CRIPPLE IN A DESPERATE PLIGHT

Can you possibly imagine any more selfish, callous and altogether contemptible person than one who would take advantage of a cripple?

A letter from a young woman of 30, who tells me that a recent attack of polio left her with a useless leg so that she must spend most of her time in a wheelchair, goes on to say:

"In early life, I was a very healthy child, and very active and expert in the field of sports and music. My parents used to be very proud of me. And since I have been crippled they now tend to neglect me. As a result, I am also a great deal of the time."

That's how the stage was set for the tragedy that has befallen this young woman, and which she tells with simplicity and directness:

"I became acquainted with a wonderful young man who seemed to be attracted to me in spite of my affliction. He called on me regularly, we fell deeply in love and planned marriage. One night our emotions got the best of us, but he comforted me by reminding me that we would be married in the near future. We decided to tell the parents of our marriage plans at dinner the next night. Then my heart broke when he failed to show up.

"That was two months ago, and the fact has recently confirmed my suspicion that I am pregnant. I have given up all hope of ever seeing this young man again, and even find myself wondering if he gave me his right name. Due to the coolness between my parents and myself, I have not confided in them. What can I do?"

Now, ordinarily, my first suggestion to every unmarried young woman who found herself facing such a situation would be to tell her parents. For I believe most parents care enough for their children to deserve more confidence and to be given the opportunity to help them when they are in trouble of any kind.

In this case, however, parents so indifferent as to neglect a handicapped daughter have, in my opinion, forfeited every right to her confidence. Moreover, they certainly cannot be relied on to accept the fact of the emergency, in a spirit of understanding and readiness to give their daughter the help she so sorely needs. To my way of thinking, the blame for the tragic thing has happened through the young man's betrayal of their daughter rests almost entirely on their shoulders for having apparently pushed her so far out of their lives, and left her in such loneliness that she was easy prey for a predatory parasite.

For where could this young woman, in her plight, turn to the first person who showed her any affection? That the affection was misplaced would be to tell her parents. For I believe most parents care enough for their children to deserve more confidence and to be given the opportunity to help them when they are in trouble of any kind.

All this being as it is, it seems to me that this young woman had better confide, first of all, in someone other than her unfeeling parents. Obviously, the latter will have to know before long. But if she could have the support of some older friend at

EDITOR'S NOTE: Atikokan, a growing community built on the iron-ore deposits of Steep Rock Lake in northwestern Ontario, is the subject of this week's feature story. Charles Mercer of The Associated Press, writer of the series, visited the booming settlement from the standpoint of a United States observer.

By CHARLES MERCER

Such are the hammock dreams of Americans when they think of that well-established phrase "Canada, the new and the last frontier."

If the dreamers ever get here, they'll set some facts straight about one mining boom town deep in the Canadian bush.

The money, in general, isn't big. There's no whisky. If any gambling exists it certainly isn't visible. Recently all the women are married and busy raising families. And when two trucks driven by husky young men reach Atikokan's main intersection at the same time, I saw each driver politely wave the other on.

POPULATION GROWS

These people, most of them from the cities and towns and farms of Canada, want schools, roads, medical care, laughter, a few luxuries — as well as work and money. And they're getting them — the hard way. The vast majority didn't come here to get rich quick and pull out. They came to stay.

That desire to stay adds a big permanent note to the story of today's Canadian frontier.

A dozen years ago Atikokan was a whistle-stop of 300 bush-dwellers on a Canadian National Railways line 186 miles northwest of Port Arthur.

Today about 5,500 persons are bustling along its unpaved streets. The lush stillness surrounds Atikokan. But the outside world has come to, bringing the optimistic conviction that Atikokan will be a city of 25,000 to 30,000 by 1960.

This all came about because a Port Arthur geologist named Julian Cyon discovered in 1938 vast iron-ore deposits under Steep Rock lake, four miles north of town.

FINE COMBINATION

Thus Atikokan symbolizes the story of how venturing capital, spurred by engineering ingenuity, is carving rich mining empires from Canada's vast northern wilderness.

A company, Steep Rock Iron Mines Ltd., was formed during the Second World War and in two years engineers changed the course of the Seine River, which fed Steep Rock Lake. They pump billions of cubic feet of silt and water from the lake until much of its primeval clay base was exposed. The first mining began in 1945.

Today Steep Rock lake looks like a weird crater of the moon, a plunging pit of rust-colored rock hooked by vast machines. The company is engaged in both open-pit and underground mining. The railroad carries the ore down to Port Arthur on Lake Superior for shipment by ore boat to the head of the industrial U.S.

Now a second company has leased mining rights at Steep Rock and begun a $50,000,000 operation. It is Caland Ore, Ltd., a Canadian subsidiary of Inland Steel Co. of Chicago.

Last year the Steep Rock Company produced 1,300,000 tons of iron ore. By 1958 it expects to be producing 2,500,000 tons annually. It anticipates a working force of more than 2,500 by that time with a payroll of more than $12,000,000. Caland probably will be employing about 1,000 then.

Canadian planners figure on a population 7½ times the number of mine employees. Thus the dream that Atikokan may become a city of 25,000 to 30,000 by 1960.

HIGH BIRTH RATE

Atikokan has the highest birth rate of any town in Canada—62 per 1,000. That means medical care. The town now has two doctors and recently added a $130,000 wing to its small hospital. About half was government funds. The rest was paid for local subscription with the Steep Rock Company contributing $1.50 for every dollar raised locally.

A teacher shortage?

A man grinned at that question. "We don't have one. We just pay ten what they're worth — and they're worth a lot to us. One advertisement for teachers which the town placed in a Toronto newspaper brought 55 applications.

"What do we do here?" Another young man repeated the question. He was an accountant who'd left the comfort of eastern Ontario with his wife to take an office job with one of the early concessionaires. "There isn't enough time to get done all the things we have to do. Like the things you would take for granted you suddenly find you have to start from scratch up here. Schools, roads, a hospital, a library. Besides, you find you have to do so much about your children here, things you used to hire done back in the city.

STARTED NEWSPAPER

No one knows this better than Robert W. Clarke, a man who confesses that a congenital inability to drive a nail straight did not prevent him from building his own house.

A city boy, raised in Montreal, Clarke was for 15 years a reporter and editor for The Canadian Press. One day four years ago he decided Atikokan would be a good place to realize an old ambition of running his own newspaper. So he borrowed a couple of thousand and found a partner.

Clarke had some tough sledding. There were days when he and his partner literally went hungry. His partner pulled out, but Clarke stayed and kept the Atikokan Progress rolling.

Meanwhile he married and he and his wife realized the labor cost of having a house built for them was too high. So, after working 12 hours a day at the office, Bob Clarke found himself at midnight driving nails—and driving them straight.

PLAN BIGGER PLACE

He and his new partner, Norbert C. Dick, are planning a new and bigger office and plant. The Progress is a well-written, lively, professionally laid-out weekly newspaper.

What are his expectations? That the town will become a city and the Progress a daily. Meanwhile there's no let-up in his labor.

There have been a few big deals in real estate, of course. One man reputedly bought a couple of lots on Main street five years ago for $300 and recently sold them for $25,000. But he's still here and has no intention of leaving.

HARD WORK PAYS

Bob McFatt, 36, came here from Manitoba at the age of 15, worked five years for the mines and was taken ill. When he recovered he had $450 cash. He borrowed an other $450, bought a car and started a taxi service. When he bought another car. Next he bought a lot at the foot of Main street for $2,500. There he opened a service station. To the service station he added an auto dealership. Next he became a dealer in bulk oil.

Not long ago somebody offered him $25,000 for his lot at the head of Main street—the direction the street has to move if it's going to grow at all.

"Naturally I didn't take it," says McFatt. "I've got to live a lot longer than $25,000 will last me."

Both the mining interests and the townspeople are unified in their determination that this shall not become a "company town" of identical houses ruled by benevolent despotism as has happened in the past in many a one-industry American community. But it is a "planned" town, one of the few such mining communities in Canada.

Order Chrysler Men to Return

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers International (CIO) ordered Chrysler Corporation employees to go to work Friday night on a finding that their walkout was unauthorized and a contract violation.

The strike, which has made idle 44,500 workers, caused a virtual halt to all Chrysler automobile production in Detroit.

More than 30,000 Dodge main plant employees were affected by the general tieup of the company's Detroit plants in Detroit were ordered to return to work "at the earliest possible date."

HEAVY CONTRIBUTION

The Steep Rock Company has contributed heavily to the town, helping with virtually every one of the public services which make the difference between open country and a habitable community. Its most recent contribution is toward a $30,000 swimming pool and a directed recreation program for children.

About the only man in town who doesn't like fishing is Bob Clarke—an eccentricity his fellow townsmen forgive since he's so enthusiastic about so many other things. The town also vociferously supports not just one baseball team but entire leagues. A new movie theatre will increase seating capacity from the present 500 to 750. There now are six churches. Atikokan has two hotels, one extremely modern with roll-away beds.

What does a woman miss here?

"Not much," said one who came from a large city. "The friendliness makes up for a lot of things. Just once in a while you wish the children would stop tracking the mud into the house." She smiled distractively. "And flowers don't grow very well here. Just once more I'd like to see lilacs come in bloom."

Failure of Govt. to Solve Economic, Military Problems Blamed for Decline of France

(Editor's Note: Today's great question mark is France. World leader for centuries, she now is no better than fifth among the powers. What's happened? Can she recover? Some of the answers lie in her history. This article traces her rise and decline.)

By PRESTON GROVES

PARIS (AP)—A little over 2,000 years ago, a band of Roman soldiers came ashore from a ship anchored near the mouth of the Rhone river, where it empties into the Mediterranean. This was France born as a great Latin country.

The soldiers and their followers pushed up the Rhone valley—conquering, marrying and building as they went. Greeks and Phoenicians had been there before them, and nearby Marseilles had been a Greek city for 500 years before the Romans came. But it was the Romans that lasted.

Certainly, beginning with the Crusades, France was the first nation of the world. It is no longer. At best, it ranks fifth among the great powers, trailing the United States, Russia, Britain and China. And it seems inevitable that it soon will trail at least two more, Japan and Germany.

What are the reasons for this decline? In part, this change is because France has stagnated.

A good many French—and many British and Americans—insist that France is ahead of her time. She has achieved her philosophic goal, they say: A country rich in mind, rich in comfort and eager only for peace to develop the one and allow enjoyment of the other.

But the troubled world around it cannot, and will not, let it take the slow and comfortable way.

This country hit its peak under Napoleon. But in some respects it already was falling behind because other countries were coming up so much faster, notably Britain.

Before the present fourth Republic, France had three others, each of which bogged down and gave way to military leaders.

The First Republic, created after the French Revolution, could not solve the economic and military problems of its time, and the era of Napoleon Bonaparte moved in. Waterloo liquidated him.

The Second Republic was created in 1848, after a series of feeble rulers had stumbled into a European war which almost had gave impetus to revolution in several countries. The Second Republic lasted only a few years until Louis Napoleon, nephew of the first emperor, took over. The Germans ended this phase with the war of 1870.

The Germans, sitting in Paris, also watched the end of the Third Republic of 1940 as they had watched its beginning.

Through these changes one thing had remained constant. The people saved money. They put it aside in banknotes, in gold, in stocks and bonds. After the Napoleonic wars, France gradually became the banker of Europe.

When competition from abroad began to increase—in cotton and iron, American raw material, German manufacturers—the French people put up tariff protection around their rich little country.

French factory owners, in cahoots with one another, kept prices high enough to protect even the most antiquated mills. That way wealthy Frenchmen could continue to buy bonds with their profits instead of installing modern machinery to meet competition from Germany and England.

To a large extent the workers agreed with the owners. New machinery would mean less hand work, perhaps fewer jobs.

It was in this period, 1870-1914, that other countries overtook France in population. Fewer people, smaller armies, less job competition at home, fewer enterprising Frenchmen going abroad to build up fortunes.

France has been a great colonial power several times. She once owned much of Canada and the United States, was a big power in India, Britain drove her out of Canada and Canada. The United States bought her out by making the Louisiana purchase when Napoleon needed money.

Soon afterward France turned its attention to Africa and Asia. Algeria in North Africa was taken over, Indo-China came in.

The Third Republic, created after the first war with Germany, carried through one of France's richest periods. It was a period of peace and the idea developed that their desire for personal security. Nearly everybody wanted to arrange for a state pension, without contributing taxes to pay for it. (FRANCE DEVALUED)

The First World War killed 500,000 Frenchmen who had hidden their wealth in coverlets of it in the form of stocks and bonds, the franc itself was progressively devalued. That wiped out the savings of millions.

Before the First World War, an income of 1,000 francs a year was not bad. Today it buys one meal.

With investment capital largely gone, French socialism came to the fore to lead the state into supplying capital. Progressively the postal and telegraph services, railroads, coal mines, shipping lines, armament plants, electricity and gas plants came under government ownership.

Possibly France's greatest problem is its political set-up.

Disliking strong governments the country has chosen for a century to disperse authority through the whole national assembly. The French never have discovered how to pin responsibility on this widely-dispersed authority. The result has been government almost without direction.

Today the parliament of the Fourth Republic, like the parliament of the third, cannot make decisions. Meanwhile Germany is again resurgent, industrially already stronger than France.

Americans Win Tennis Singles Titles Lorne Main, Luis Ayala Win Doubles

By GAR TRIMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Two southerners, Bernard Bartzen of Dallas, Tex., and Karol Fageros, of Miami, Fla., weren't just whistling Dixie in the Canadian tennis championships.

Bartzen, a southpaw smoothie, justified his No. 1 foreign seeding in the tournament's men's singles by trimming Japanese Davis Cupper Kosei Kamo in Sunday's men's final at the Toronto Lawn Tennis Club in three straight sets, 6-4, 6-0, 8-3.

Lorne Main of Toronto, Canada's No. 1 player, and Luis Ayala of Chile stopped Bartzen's attempt to win his second title of the afternoon, defeating the top-seeded team of Bartzen and Andy Arkell of Ann Arbor, Mich., 6-4, 6-4, 6-1, in the men's doubles final. It featured brilliant play by Ayala.

The women's singles championship also went to the United States with Karol Fageros of Miami, Fla., staging a comeback to defeat Shirley Ann Antonoff, Dallas, Tex., in the women's final Saturday, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4.

The attractive blonde Miami University Co-ed then won her second championship of the week-long tournament Sunday when she and Miss Negton won the women's doubles final, defeating the Toronto team of Dorothy Burns and Mrs. Louise Brown 6-3, 6-4.

Miss Norton and Dan Sullivan of Petersburg, Fla., teamed up to defeat Miss Fageros and Henri Riches of Montreal in the only tough mixed doubles final 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

In veteran's play Ray Summers of Toronto won the singles championship, defeating Norman Millner of Port Colborne, Ont., 6-0, 6-1, while Millard and Archie Saville, also of Port Colborne, took the veteran's doubles title, defeating the Detroit team of W. J. Mc-Bivarty and John Wagner, 6-4, 6-1.

In the final set of the men's final, Kamo, down 2-1 in games, rallied to break Bartzen's service for the first and only time. Bartzen retaliated, breaking the Japanese star's delivery in the fifth and ninth games to take the set.

Bartzen succeeds another southpaw in the Canadian title, Mervyn Rose, left-handed hitter from Australia, won the title last year.

Buffalo Wins Major Honors At Henley

By CRAIG SWAYZE
Canadian Press Correspondent

PORT DALHOUSIE (CP)—The Maple Leaf Trophy went across the border to Buffalo, N.Y., Saturday for the fourth consecutive time as the West Side Rowing Club clinched the title at the 72nd Royal Canadian Henley regatta here.

The Buffalo boys took four of the 15 races rowed on the final afternoon of the four-day affair to end first in front of 18 international rowing clubs in total points. West Siders amassed 37½ points to 18½ for St. Catharines in runner-up spot. Philadelphia Vespers were third with 11½ and the Detroit Boat Club fourth with 11½.

Vespers surged into first-division placing Saturday on three victories, the most important of which was the first their big eight gained in the Ned Hanlan Memorial for heavy eights. Dick Mahan also brought them a win in the 145-pound single, and combined with George Nines to win the senior 145-pound doubles.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—About the finest thing that has happened so far this baseball season is the great comeback of Bobby Feller of Cleveland. Only six months ago it was feared that the old fireballer finally had used up his magnificent right arm. Then he suddenly found himself again—and it, this writing he had rolled off seven straight victories, all low hitters.

Bobby's manager, Al Lopez, was asked if the game's greatest strikeout artist since Walter Johnson still had any speed to speak of.

"I wouldn't say he's as fast as he used to be," Al said, "but I think you might be right if you say he's the fastest 35-year-old pitcher in baseball."

SOX STILL HOPEFUL

Manager Paul Richards of Chicago White Sox left New York recently still grimly insistent that his team has a good chance to win the American League flag if his two crippled infielders, George Kell and Ferris Fain, can return to the line-up some time in August.

"If we can just hang on until they get back for the stretch drive, our pitching will do it for us," declared Richards.

Latest reports are that Kell might be back with the team fairly soon but that Fain possibly is out for the season. Few pennant contenders within memory have received two such body blows.

TY TREAT COMING

There was good news the other day in the announcement that the heralded meeting of John Landy of Australia and Roger Bannister of England in the British Empire Games at Vancouver on Aug. 7, will be seen on U.S. television screens.

It will be the first foot race in history between two men who have run the mile in under four minutes, and the event should be the letrest of track fans throughout the world.

You can begin speculating now on how fast the race will be run. Most experts have talked with doubt that the time will be spectacular, but others suggest that Landy and Bannister will be so busy watching each other and conserving their forces for a stretch run that an outsider might get out in front of them and sneak in first. Could happen, but we doubt that it will.

WINNINGDOM CUFFERS

LAVAL-SUR-LAC, Que. (CP) Joe Leblanc of Montreal, Don Doe of Granby and D'Arcy Boudoin of Montreal won Sunday eared berths on Quebec's Willingdon Cup golf team by taking the first three places in the 54-hole medal trials. The fourth man on the team will likely be Tom Hunter of Whitlock or veteran Tommy Riddell of Montreal Summerfield.

CALUMET SPEEDSTER WINS

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Calumet Farm's Fleet Bird captured the $139,300 Sunset Handicap Saturday, nosing out the favored Rejected in a photo finish. Fleet Bird covered the 1⅛ miles in 2:40 4-5, equalling the track record. Sir Fifteen was third.

John Landy of Australia shows the precision form that may win the British Empire Games mile minute "Miracle Mile" at Vancouver. Landy holds the world's fastest time for the mile in 3:58.6. He is shown working out on the University of British Columbia track. Coaches track. The Games track is out of bounds to the athletes before the official opening. (CP Photo).

On The Football Fronts

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Big Four football teams will have an extra import to play around with as the field this season, but their hands will be tied on "Canadianed" Americans.

From now on there will be no team-to-team trading on the U.S. players no longer considered as imports by virtue of four years on this side of the border.

The "Canadian" Americans also picked up a new name along with the new status. From now on they'll be known by the shorter handle of "ex-imports."

The decisions were made Sunday at a closed meeting of the eastern circuit in Toronto.

WILL STAY IN LINE

President Roy Robertson of Montreal announced after the session the Big Four voted to stay in line with Canadian Rugby Union regulations in restricting imports on team rosters to 20, but decided to allow the use of more, instead of eight as previously, in any one game.

Big Four clubs will still be confined to eight imports in their league contests, such as the East-West final.

The vote on the changes was announced as unanimous, but Ottawa and Montreal were known before the meeting to favor unrestricted use of all 10 imports in league play. Toronto just as definitely wanted to keep the number down to the CRU figure.

Meanwhile, teams in the east and west faced up to the problem of cutting their rosters in time for the opening games but only Ottawa Rough Riders made definite action.

OTTAWA CUTS LINEUP

Clem Crowe cut 10 players loose Saturday following the Riders' first all-out scrimmage. All were Canadiana — six halfbacks, the rest guards and fullbacks.

Crowe, with only two ex-imports, isn't affected by the new Big Four ruling. His chief problem is picking a quarterback. His three American aspirants for the spot—Dale Samuels of Purdue, Don Panciera of Boston and Johnny Grambling of South Carolina—all looked impressive in Saturday's drill.

In the West, coach Frank Ivy of Edmonton Eskimos is in no hurry to cut his team. The Western big interprovincial Football Union coach says he won't begin to make extensive cuts in the tryout squad until a week before leaving for the east and exhibition games at Edmonton Aug. 13 and Ottawa Aug. 15.

John Wormlar, WIFU all-star linebacker last season, arrived in Regina Saturday, the last of the Saskatchewan Roughrider imports to show.

Argyel headed Lena's Boy owned by Reg McGee of Cederich, Ont., and Ruth Chips, owned by E. Barnes and Sons of Alta Craig in the first heat and then came back in the ninth race—again as a 1-3 choice—to beat Killy Hanover, owned by J. O. Smith of Otawa, and Ruth Chips in 2.07 3-5.

British Empire Games Notes

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — It was "Hello John" and "Hello Roger" when the world's two fastest milers met in Empire Village Sunday.

Roger Bannister strolled to the athletes' dining room a couple of hours after he and his track and field mates from England had arrived for the British Empire Games. Eating steak was John Landy of Australia, who arrived a little more than a month ago in Finland beat Bannister's 3:58.4. The two are the only men who have beaten the four-minute mile. They posed for photographers and then parted. Later Bannister, in a press interview, said he thought the record will be cut "by smaller and smaller fractions."

"If one man can do a certain time, some other man can better it, perhaps by the most right training. But I think we are approaching the physiological limit now."

Bannister said there are 13 men in Britain who have been under 4:10.9 this year, whereas he considered Wes Santee the only outstanding miler in the United States where the world's great milers predominate.

Of the coming Empire Games Mile—with heats set for Aug. 5 and the final Aug. 7—Bannister said this race "is not necessarily connected with fast time; we have to assess each race differently."

His opinion was in line with that of Jim Eve, general manager of the Australian team. Earlier Sunday Eve said he thought "tactics will play a big part in this mile."

Asked if he felt sure of winning, Bannister replied: "I think anyone would be foolish to be supremely confident."

Bannister said he will not train over the full mile distance between now and the race. He plans to work out today. In the heats "I will go just fast enough to qualify."

He considers ideal conditions for a race are the absence of strong winds and a track that is springy, "not too hard and not too soft."

It was a quiet Sunday in Empire Village. Nearly all the athletes were on boat trips, sight-seeing tours and picnics.

Canada's track and field squad held a "test workout" Saturday at Roy Falls of Sudbury, Ont., bettered the Empire Games record in the discus throw by more than 10 feet.

Coach Leigh Miller said that Don McFarlane of Hamilton, who pulled a leg muscle in a relay, should be okay in a day or so.

Flaming 'Tommy' Nearly Shot His 'Bolt'

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Tommy Bolt, a perfectionist amateur golf pro who can't understand why the galleries don't admire perfection, figures he made a lot of friends out on the hot stretches of the Keller course.

At least, Tommy was around by noon Chick Harbert, the man who persuaded him not to walk out on the tournament, in one of today's semi-finals of the Progressional Golfers' Association championship. He wasn't hanging from a tree, as he had predicted.

Bolt, whose temper operates on a hair trigger, battled anger and Sammy Snead all the way around the crowded little Keller course Sunday and then was out over both on the 39th hole.

Halfway through the match he threatened to walk out because of what he called unfair treatment by the galleries. Strangely, it was Harbert who persuaded him to continue.

SHOWS ANGER

After a couple of club-throwing tantrums and an incident on the 18th green, when a few spectators applauded a missed Bolt putt Tom angrily proclaimed he wouldn't tee off in the afternoon.

"The crowd's fixed like a favorite son; if I won they'd probably hang me from the nearest tree," he said.

But before the finish, the fans were cheering Bolt for his dogged persistence in sticking with the favorite and at the end he used up one of his rare smiles and remarked:

"I guess I made some friends out there this afternoon."

TOUGH TO LOSE

The Bntas came up with a sparkling 8-5 win over Toronto Leopardskins here on Saturday but they ran up against a tough luck snag in Toronto on Sunday, dropping two heartbreakers to the Dependables and Hoskings by one-run margins.

Bobby Burton's brilliant relief pitcher pulled the game out of the fire in a well-played tilt with the Depo, on Saturday. Robert took over from Marse Art Wright in the beginning of the seventh and hagtied the Toronto club with one hit and no runs. Wright got credit after the Depo had mibbled at a five-run lead to creep within a single marker.

But Ole Lady Luck pushed a cold countenance on our side in Toronto on Sunday. The boys couldn't click with the hickory and the only run they got in the 2-1 defeat was a homer by Vern Goyer. The second game went overtime, that is nine innings, before the Hoskings pulled it out of the fire. At that Gerfy Goyer narrowly missed winning the tilt when a borderline decision called him out at the plate.

The week-end activities made no difference in the league standings except strengthen the Hoskings hold on second place. Our side is still in third spot, but with the first four teams eligible for the playoffs, the Carson crew can't afford to drop too many. They get to Oshawa on Thursday night, and nothing could be sweeter than to derail the Transporters in their own ballyhick.

WOULD TRY CATALINA

Tommy Fedder, former welght-lifting champion of this city apparently is a modest young man. He merely hops into the Bay of Quinte hereabouts, swims to Trenton and back, a distance of some 26 miles — and doesn't say a word about it.

The information came from a friend of Tommy's, Joe Ranall, of Rochester, N.Y., who writes to say that Tommy plunged into the bay off the bay bridge a couple of weeks ago and swam to Trenton and back in 13 hours, 17 minutes.

And Joe should know, for he and a pal, John Wills, also of the Flower City, accompanied Tommy on his long nautical safari.

Tommy's main ambition, says Joe, "is to get a crack at the two-way channel-swim from the Empire Stadium Channel, 'way west like a-try the Catalina in-November but he would need about $500 to finance it. He plans to take it easy until the end of October, so he can be ready for the Catalina swim in November."

"If he did it he would rate the name of Belleville around the world," writes Joe. "He did it before in welght-lifting. We wish he was an American—we'd have him in the channel in fiqtime, but Tommy prefers to be sponsored by a Belleville backer."

SOME FLAT!

The Terry Moore — Eddie Stanky wingding the other day recalls the fact that Manse Terry is ranked with one of the best centrefielders that ever hopped a boundary wall. Moderns are arguing as to which is the better of Mesdrs. Mays, Snider and Mickey Mantle, but the oldtimers will tell you that Moore excelled comfortably with such greats as Tris Speaker and Joe Dlamggio.

Present-day baseball fans will tell you of the sensational catches that Willie the Wonder makes or the Duke of the Gowanus pulls off. The veterans of the fame will tell you that no one could match the left Terry did one day on Merrin Arnovich of the Giants with two out and runners on base in the tenth.

Arnovich, the story goes, blasted a shot against the wall in left centre. Moore was in full flight at the crack of the bat but the closer he sped to the wall, the more he realized that a catch was impossible. If he played it safe and captured the rebound runs would score. If he tried for the catch, his terrific momentum would send him crashing into the wall. The shock would jar the ball from his hands. Runs would score. What to do?

The quick-thinking Moore sized up the situation with uncanny accuracy. So he invented his own play. He slid into the wall like a man sliding feet first into second base. He cupped his hands at his waist and caught the ball as it whisked over his shoulder. Mays hasn't tried that one yet. Neither has the "Duke",. Neither has Mantle. And neither has Al. Kelleher.

PICTON TONIGHT!

Bryson's Reid's Regents, smarting under two successive setbacks, that were closer than your next breath, are ready for the league-leading Picton Lightfoots when they meet at Exhibition Park tonight at 8.30. The Regents haven't been blessed with too many smiles from Lady Luck of late, but they figure tonight will be a different story.

Chris Lockyer has developed a good team over and around Picton way and so far they have proved tough nuts to crack. But Reid's lads are confident they can furn the trick tonight.

Yankees Take Third Game 4-3 After Indians Win 1st Pair; Braves Sweep New York Series

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians failed to sweep the Yankee series in New York but they have gained a newfound respect all over the American League.

Back home today following a successful road trip, the league-leading Indians found the home town folks talking pennant for the first time this season. Earlier the cynical Cleveland populace would greet them with something like this:

"Why get steamed up over the Indians? They never win the big ones. They'll blow it again down the stretch."

The Indians certainly didn't look like a team that had any folding tendencies. They arrived in New York Friday as the ball-game ahead of the Yankees and left Sunday night with a game-and-a-half margin over the Bronx Bombers.

The Yankees nipped the Indians 4-3 in 13 innings on Sunday but that narrow loss failed to mar the Tribe's satisfaction over whipping the defending champions on Friday and Saturday.

STENGEL MUTTERS

"This has-go to go down to the last weeks. Cleveland is not going to blow up. They got too many good players for that."

The New York Giants' National League lead was whittled down to four games as the Cincinnati Reds and Brooklyn Dodgers defeated St. Louis 2-1 and Milwaukee. The Braves were walloping Leo Durocher's men 7-5 for a sweep of the three-game series. The Cardinals meet the Giants tonight at Ebbets Field.

In other National League games, Chicago Cubs downed Philadelphia twice, 6-5 and 3-1, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati divided a double-header, the Pirates winning the opener 4-2, the Redlegs taking the nightcap 3-2.

Chicago's third-place White Sox climbed to within six games of the pace-setting Indians in the American League, sweeping a twin-bill from Boston 5-2 and 4-2. Jack Harshman, rookie Chicago lefthander, struck out 16 Red Sox batters—two short of Bob Feller's major league record—in the opener.

SPEC SHEA BEATS TIGERS

Washington protected its fourth-place lead by taking Detroit Tigers 11-3 as Frank (Spec) Shea scored his first game of the season. Philadelphia Athletics buried Baltimore Orioles deeper in the cellar with 6-4 and 5-2 victories.

Cleveland, trying for three straight, lost 4-3 in 13 innings, enjoyed a 3-1 lead until the seventh. Mike Garcia, seeking his 13th victory, was relieved in that inning when the Yankees tied the score on pinch-hitter Eddie Robinson's double with the bases loaded.

Rookie Bob Grim of New York and Ray Barlecki of Cleveland battled on even terms from the eighth until the 11th when the Yankees filled the bases on walks to Mickey Mantle and Gene Woodling and an infield single by Irv Noren. Andy Carey hit through a drawn-in infield to break up the game and send 57,279 fans home happy.

Clem Labine, making his second start of the season for Brooklyn, outpitched Harvey Haddix, Cardinal ace, to give the Dodgers the rubber of the three-game set. Jim Hughes replaced Labine in the ninth with the bases loaded and struck out Wip Repulski on three pitches to save his 17th game for the Dodgers. Don Hoak, with a double and two walks, scored both Brooklyn runs.

Andy Pafko drove in three runs with his 11th homer and a bases-loaded single to spark the Braves to their third straight victory over the Giants.

Ralph Kiner's 15th homer featured Chicago Cubs' first-game victory over the Phillies. The double-header sweep gave the Cubs their 11th victory in 12 games.

Pitcher Howie Judson won his own game with a single in the seventh to give Cincinnati a split after Frank Thomas had paced Pittsburgh to a first-game victory with a homer and three singles.

The White Sox blanked up Harshman's sensational strikeout performance by defeating an old nemesis—Ellis Kinder—in the second game with a two-run seventh inning rally. Kinder had whipped the White Sox in 20 out of 26 decisions.

A seven-run eighth inning in the first game and a four-run seventh in the second enabled the Athletics to come from behind twice against the Orioles. Don Larsen, Baltimore righthander, retired the first 17 batters in a row in the nightcap but went down to his 12th defeat against only two victories. Sonny Dixon and Al Sima, a pair of mid-season acquisitions, were the winning pitchers.

Howards' Homer Gives Leafs Win; Wings Take Two

By the Associated Press

Rochester's strong-armed relief pitcher, Tony Jacobs, looks like a good bet for the International League's "most valuable pitcher" award.

The 30-year-old righthander picked up his 12th victory against only one loss Sunday as Rochester swept a doubleheader from Richmond Virginians 14-4 and 4-3. The double loss dropped Richmond into the league's cellar.

Jacobs won the nightcap in relief for his seventh straight victory over Richmond. He gave up two hits in 3 2-3 innings pitched, walking one and striking out one.

The relief artist now has been in 44 games, pitched 72 innings, given up 59 hits, walked 35 and struck out 51.

HOMERS IN TWO

Bill Virdon homered in each game as the Red Wings made it 12 victories in 18 games with the Virginians.

Catcher Howard's 10th - inning homer broke a tie and gave the league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs a 5-4 victory over Syracuse Chiefs.

Ottawa Athletics moved into seventh place, seven percentage points ahead of Richmond, by splitting a doubleheader with Buffalo Bisons. The Athletics took the first game 6-2 and Buffalo the second 7-3.

Robert Clemente hit a 10th-inning home run in the first game and a double in the second to lead Montreal Royals to a sweep of a doubleheader with Havana Sugar Kings 7-6 and 7-1.

Canadians Top Field In Marathon Swim

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (CP)—Two Canadians, a man and a woman, top the list of 38 marathon swimmers who plunged into the Atlantic today for a 26-mile race around Absecon Island that has $10,500 in prizes awaiting the winners.

Top competitor is Cliff Lumsden, 22-year-old Toronto lad and holder of the Canadian National Exhibition long distance swim in four of the last five years.

The other is Miss Edythe Roach Leuzller of St. Thomas, Ont. A former resident of Erie, Leuzler recently failed in an attempt at Florence Chadwick's record for crossing the Catalina Channel. In 1953 Mrs. Leuzler came within two minutes of Miss Chadwick's women's record for the English channel.

Youngest entrant is 16-year-old Marilyn Bell of Toronto, who has placed in the last three years in the CNE long distance swim for women. Also entered is Lles Putt, city of Montreal, who placed second in last year's CNE women's race.

Besides the Canadians, other competitors come from Australia, Honduras, Argentina and Portugal and the United States.

The course covers miles longer than the route usually taken by swimmers of the English channel—runs south of the ocean to Lport, around the point, up the inland waterway to Venice Park and down the ocean side of the island again to the steel pier. It was covered in 12 hours 20 minutes during a test run a year ago.

The winner gets $5,000, goes to the first swimmer to cross the finish with second place worth $3,000, third $1,000, fourth $500 and fifth $300. The first woman to finish will get a $1,000 bonus.

Perez, Shirai Fight to Draw

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—In conflict with ringside fans who hooted and booed the decision, Argentine sports writers had nothing but praise Sunday for Saturday night's non-title fight which ended in a draw for Pascual Perez, the Argentine champ, and Yoshio Shirai, the world flyweight champion from Japan.

The sellout crowd of 27,000 that jammed Luna Park Stadium began cheering wildly when the 10-round bout ended, confident the arms of both fighters to signify the draw. The fans' disappointment then changed to suspicion when Perez and Shirai shook hands with Argentina's president Juan Peron and there were loud, but short-lived shouts of "gongo, gongo" (setup, setup).

Batas Split Wins With Dependables, Lose To Hoskings Over Week-End

Defeat Toronto on Saturday, Lose Toughies Away Sunday; Still Hold Down Third Spot

The Belleville Batas emerged with one victory and two defeats after a Viaduct-Ontario baseball League three-game week-end featuring the Toronto Dependables 8-5 here on Saturday, and dropping a 4-3 decision to the same club and a 2-1 verdict to the Toronto Hoskings on Sunday.

The standing remained unchanged with the Batas holding down third position with eleven wins and eleven losses for a .500 average. Hoskings strengthened their hold on second place with the victory for 13 and ten.

Bobby Buxton's fine relief pitching featured the game here Saturday, the tall righthander blanking the Dependables with one hit for three innings after they threatened to turn what seemed a defeat into victory. Toronto Gwyer, former Batas run in the 2-1 defeat, while the Dependable game went to nine innings before they snatched the winner.

FIRST GAME

Brilliant relief pitching by Bobby Buxton gave Art Wright his sixth victory in the Batas 8-5 win over Toronto Dependables on Saturday night. Buxton relieved Wright in the seventh when Hunter smashed the first ball for a homer. Coach Goyer took no chances and Buxton went in. He gave up but one hit and no runs over his three-stanza stunt.

Wright hurled good ball, too, allowing but six clouts, two of them homers in six innings. The Batas hurlers struck out 13 between them.

Batas erupted for four runs in the second and led 6-2 going into the sixth. Dependables nibbled at the lead and Hunter's home run off Wright made the count 6-5. Batas came through with a bigger of insurance markers in the eighth and Buxton took care of the rest.

Hunter and Weston each hit a homer, and double for the Toronto team. Jerry McCormick, Doug Hull and Davy Jones each had two for the Batas. Keith MacDonald hit the only extra base clout a double, good for two runs in the fourth.

Bev Bourke was at his best in the opener and had it not been for manager Vern Goyer's smash into the rightfield bleachers in the fifth he would have had a shutout.

Two infield hits and Hal Hatt's clean single plated the first Hoskings counter in the fourth. A walk, Billy Glesel's hit and an error enabled the Burners to squeeze across the margin of victory in the fifth frame.

The second game again thrilled the fans with interesting action from start to finish. Batas pitcher Art Wright went along well until, weakening in the sixth when Toronto plated two runs, Bob Buxton took over to relieve the pressure and retire the side without any further damage.

Batas' Doug Hull Al Kelleher's risqhit gave the Shoemen the first run of the game in the fourth. Speedy Jones' first of two hits, a double and Billy Weir's hit accounted for the opening tally of the Caterers in the bottom half of the same inning.

Four hits in the fifth added to only two runs for the Shoemen in the fifth inning. Art Wright leading off with a bunt single, and Jerry McCormick following with another infield hit. Keith MacDonald then scorched the third hit only to be forced out as Jerry Goyer was safe on a fielders choice while Wright scampered home with a run. Tony Pettitt then doubled and McCormick scored while fast fielding held Goyer at third base. Pete Jones then filed to centre to end the inning.

Batas missed another chance to win the game in the seventh when manager Vern Goyer as a pinch hitter singled to centre and Don Couch's fine throw cut down brother Jerry at the plate to end the threat.

Nev Oddie led off the eighth with a single, Bevington sacrificed him to second. Goyer then waved in Al. Kelleher from right field to pinch hit. He walked and Oddie then balked moving the runners to second and third bases. Reader Dave Scott bounced a single off Kelleher's glove and Brunton who was running for Kelleher scored the tying run in the game. It was the best twin bill played this year in the East Toronto field and a small crowd of about 300 attended.

Barred Boxer Arrives at Games

VANCOUVER (CP)—Steve Zuranich, Australian amateur heavyweight boxing champion, arrived here Saturday for the British Empire games after a nine-day 20,000-mile trip that started when he was refused a United States visa to pass through Honolulu.

Zuranich made the trip via an all-British route of Singapore, Calcutta, Cairo, Rome and London.

The 200-pound boxer said he was given no reasons for the U.S. refusal, and added that he is not a Communist. He said he went to Australia from Czechoslovakia 15 years ago at the age of 11.

Big Four Not Interested In Controversies

TORONTO (CP) — Controversies raging in Canadian football over Pete Karpuk and Geoff Crain just don't exist as far as the Big Four league executive is concerned.

Big Four President Roy Robertson of Montreal said Sunday following an executive meeting here that the question of where the two football stars play is "not a league matter."

Crain, quarterback with Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union last year, was reported seeking a release from the Big Four Toronto Argonauts to play with Ottawa Rough Riders. He has threatened to sue Argos if his release is necessary.

"As far as we know, Crain is still the property of Winnipeg," Robertson said. "As such, he's not even under Big Four jurisdiction. It's strictly a matter between individual teams."

FIRST CALL

Argos have first call on Crain under the Big Four college draft agreement. But under Canadian Rugby Union regulations, Crain would be Ottawa property if the Argos-Rough Riders trade went to them.

Crain says he wants to play in Ottawa so he can work in his father's contracting business.

Karpuk, meanwhile, has requested a transfer from Ottawa to Toronto. The Rough Riders have declined so far pending a suitable trade offer from Toronto.

"It's the same thing with Karpuk," Robertson said. "The league is not involved."

Barrie Flyers Hockey Franchise Up for Sale

BARRIE, Ont. (CP) — Leighton (Hap) Emms, owner-coach of Barrie Flyers of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League, announced Saturday the franchise for the Flyers is up for sale. He said that if no one buys the franchise he will ask the OHA for permission to suspend operations for two years.

Meeting with the Barrie Arena commission regarding a contract for the 1954-55 season, Emms said "professional power" had forced him to his decision. It was impossible to operate unsponsored and succeed financially.

The Flyers do not have a professional team for a sponsor because of a veto exercised by Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League when the Barrie club refused to play in Toronto on Sundays. Since the Flyers are within the 50-mile protected radius of the Leafs, they can not have a pro sponsor without the approval of Conn Smythe.

Conn Smythe, managing director of the Leafs, has sponsor Toronto St. Michael's College majors and Toronto Marlboros, both of the OHA senior A league, said Maple Leaf Gardens lost money because the Flyers would not play hockey in Toronto on Sunday.

Cricketers Tie In England

AYSLESFORD Eng. (Reuters)—Centuries by former West Indian Test batsmen Allan Rae of Toronto and Tony Pawson were the features of the Canadian touring cricket team's second match played 13 a side here Saturday.

A Canadian wicket fell to the second ball of the match. Tom Priestley of Vancouver, the old Glamorgan and Lancashire player, was caught at 21 for Kent off Al Martin, the former Kent and England fast bowler.

That was the scratch side's only success.

Until the next 2½ hours Trestrail and Bob Quintrell of Vancouver gave a fine display of free stroke play and put together the entire total of 234 made by the Canadians before declaring. The pitch was easy-paced and they were never in difficulty.

Sweden Wins European Zone

PARIS (AP)—Sweden won the European zone Davis Cup tennis finals Sunday, defeating France in the doubles, 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 9-7.

Sunday's victory combined with a sweep of Saturday's opening singles, gave Sweden a winning 3-0 decision in the two-match series. The next meet the winner of the American zone finals.

Landy Confident Will Win Mile

VANCOUVER (CP)—Australia's John Landy is confident he will win the mile classic at the British Empire Games. And he thinks his time will be four minutes and two seconds.

"If there was a flicker of a doubt in my mind about winning, I'd be lost," he said.

Landy made the observation after the visited the 25,000-seat Empire Stadium.

Although not permitted to try out the track, he said the quarter-mile oval felt alive and "was far superior to anything we have in Australia."

Oshawa Eligins defeated Kitchener Panthers 7-3 in the first game at St. Thomas Saturday before the Panthers turned around to beat the league leaders by the same score.

In Brantford the Majors won the opener 8-3 but dropped the nightcap to the Red Sox 4-2. In a doubleheader at Galt the home town Terriers took two wins from the last-place Guelph-Waterloo Royals by 12-2 and 7-4 scores.

JOHN NIAGARA Talks about:
LOWER RATES ON Niagara Loans
You might think that rates on loans are exactly the same for one company to company. This is an idea that 2,000 people, for Niagara Finance has a rare structure that is lower in many cases, and here's the reason why. It's a matter of policy with Niagara to believe that it is no more wise to make a loss of say, $750 than it is $100.00 . . . and, if the rate of charge was exactly the same on both loans we'd obviously make more money on a $750.00 loan. So we work on the idea that on loans for larger amounts the rate should be lowered, while at the same time rates on smaller amounts are standard. Besides that, we think you'll like our idea of having loans to $1500 life-insured at no extra cost to you. That's the sort of protection that a family man can appreciate. Come in and see us if you need money we'd like to meet you.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

All your life you may grumble about the hard luck you always have when you get to play a bridge hand. But you can bet more than a plugged nickel that many of your lost tricks are your own fault.

Take the deal shown here:

	NORTH
	♥ 9
	♦6 5 4
	♣A 7 3
WEST		EAST
♠Q 3		♠A 7 6
♥K J 8		♥10 7 6 5 4
♦Q 10 7 3		♦9 8
♣J 10 9 5		♣8 4 2
	SOUTH
	♠K J 2
	♥A Q 3
	♦A K J 3
	♣K Q 6

Sit south as the declarer in a contract of three no-trump and get an opening lead of club jack from west. Down goes the dummy hand and you almost cry your eyes out because of lack of dummy entries.

You can see three cinch tricks in clubs, two in diamonds, and one in hearts. You need three more tricks to make your contract and still you are looking at the holes the opponents eat the doughnut.

Stop to consider that you have three tricks coming to you in spades. To get them you may have to sacrifice some of your big cards. So what. You don't care whether you take tricks with big cards or little.

So, say that club ace for a later entry while you go to work manufacturing small cards into trick takers. If necessary, give up some of your bigger cards to develop the smaller ones.

Take the first trick with your south queen of clubs and lead a south jitterbug card. This is deliberately losing such a card to the opponents when you get it back later with interest.

Take their return club with your south king. Lead your second south spade picture and lose it deliberately. When they take this and come back another club your ace in dummy takes it. Now in the dummy you have three good tricks with small cards in spades there. Three spades, a heart, two diamonds and three clubs are nine tricks. Not even a finesse is needed by you.

The trouble is that we all like to take tricks with our big cards. Tricks are just as good even if we take them with deuces. We must consider there is the deuce to pay.

Consumer Credit Takes First Drop Since Early 1952

OTTAWA (CP)—The amount of money Canadians owe on charge accounts and instalment buying plans has taken its first drop since early in 1952.

But the total consumer credit on the books of retailers, finance companies still is slightly more than double what it was in 1950.

The total, which stands well over $100 for every man, woman and child in the country, is estimated at $1,764,000,000 in the September of the Bank of Canada statistical summary.

That was the figure at last March 31. On the same date in 1950, the total consumer credit outstanding amounted to $859,000,000.

The figure for the first quarter of this year represents a striking decline from the $1,852,000,000 outstanding in consumer credit at the end of 1953. All types of credit shared in the drop except personal loans, which continued a steady rise.

Chicago Judge 'Suitcase Mary' Dies at 88

CARMEL, Calif. (AP)—Former Chicago juvenile court judge Mary M. Bartelme, 88, known to thousands as "Suitcase Mary" for her gifts to unfortunate girls, died Sunday.

Miss Bartelme became the first woman to preside in an Illinois court by winning election as circuit judge in 1923. She was assigned to juvenile court, where she served until 1933.

Faced with the task of sending unfortunate girls to foster homes without suitable wardrobes, Miss Bartelme began giving each girl a suitcase full of clothes. Friends who helped supply her with suitcases affectionately dubbed her "Suitcase Mary."

LAUGHTER AN LOYLIES IN GLAMOROUS COLOR

"You Know What Sailors Are", now playing at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre, is not only one of the funniest British films of the year—it is one of the most glamorous for many years.

Blessed with luxurious sets and dozens of beautiful girls, it has a Technicolor opulence as its background to the comedy. The laughs start from the moment the film opens with Donald Sinden as a Royal Navy officer waiting an old pram and a pawnbroker's sign to the bridge of a foreign destroyer, where he has instructions in executing this prank after a night out were most serious but the results weird. The strange objects are mistaken for a new secret weapon both by the British Navy and by the President of Agraria, who happens to be on board the foreign destroyer.

Complication follows complication and Sinden finds himself a captive in Agraria with a bevy of beauties as his tantalizing jailers. For this young British actor "You Know What Sailors Are" offers another opportunity to prove that he is one of our best screen performers and Sinden never misses a trick. Nor does Akim Tamiroff, the famous Hollywood character star, who turns in a sublime performance as the Agrarian President. Tamiroff's timing and mishandling of the English language add immeasurably to the delights of this carefree picture.

Sarah Lawson as Sinden's girl friend in the W.R.N.S. makes an ideal partner for him and there are typically amusing portraits from Naunton Wayne and Bill Kerr.

A Julian Wintle Production, "You Know What Sailors Are" was produced by Peter Rogers and directed by Ken Annakin.

FOR TUESDAY, JULY 27, 1954

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Domestic affairs, travel, shipping, personal relationships highly favored now. An attitude that borders on irritation should be avoided. Be considerate.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Your Moon and Jupiter are in favorable aspects today, and there are no unfavorable rays. It can be a reasonably profitable and pleasant day to ask for favors or interests.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Your outlook friendly on the whole, very encouraging for sports, building, unusual activities. Routine matters should run smoothly with proper management. Be serene.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Influences better than fair, especially if you employ innate talent in whatever you do. A receptive period for new and modern methods. Ideas well handled.

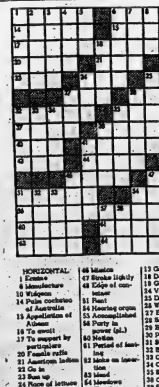
October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Not especially auspicious for the extraordinary or speculative, but fine for matters in which you have experience, knowledge. Some financial gains in order now.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Your Jupiter favorably aspected. Day can be reasonably profitable if you are cautious and don't take foolish chances or engage in questionable propositions. Make time for rest.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—An amenable day. Gains will be determined by your alertness, judgment. Curtail some pleasures in order to achieve more.



January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Your Uranus warns against carelessness. Don't be restless or make changes that may be harmful to those depending upon you. Seek the truth, hold to principles.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—The influences are not entirely restrictive; neither are they all good. Success depends upon what your schedule demands, and how cheerfully you carry it through.

YOU BORN TODAY: possess tenacity for high degree; are industrious and versatile but must heed wise suggestions and advice. Develop your abilities, have patience, keep studying, practicing and observing and you will find your niche and gain esteem as well. CHECK RADIO-ACTIVITY

Tests Show Ottawa River Is Free From Radio-Activity

By JOHN BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP)—The Ottawa river is free of dangerous radio-activity, although part of its flow passes through the heart of Canada's powerful NRX atomic energy reactor at this sprawling research centre.

Thousands of gallons of water are used every minute to cool the atomic pile but elaborate safety precautions prevent any radio-active materials picked up in the process from finding their way into the river.

Scientists at the project, 125 miles northeast of Ottawa, also are careful to eliminate any possibility of deadly wastes entering the river or becoming a danger to scientists and workers.

BURIED IN PITS

All radio-active garbage is buried in sand pits at a remote disposal ground where it gradually loses its activity.

However, officials of Atomic Energy of Canada, Ltd., the crown company which operates the project, are giving preliminary consideration to methods of disposing of radio-active wastes as the atomic age advances.

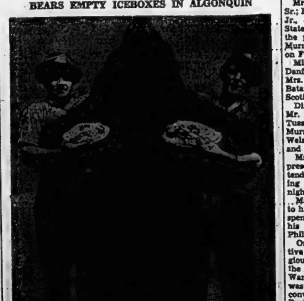
Dr. W. A. Rodger, a U.S. atomic energy commission scientist, recently called for serious thought on an international level on methods to dispose of wastes. Until a method was decided he suggested that wastes be buried in contain-ers in deserts or mines.

Officials here said the amount of radio-active wastes in Canada is small because atomic research is being conducted by only one plant. The present method of burying wastes would be satisfactory for some years, but thought was being given to better disposal methods for the future.

Traces of radio-active materials such as uranium, thorium, potassium and carbon-14 have been found in the Ottawa river near the Chalk River area. However, tests have proved that the bulk of this material was placed in the river by nature. The increase in the amount of material in the river has not been appreciable during the 10 years the project has been operated.

RIVER SURVEYS

Biologists of the health physics branch of the biology division of the project continually survey the river to determine the amount of radio-activity in the water, in sediments on the river bottom and in fish and plant life. Excessive radiation would contaminate the water used for drinking by many communities along the river, including Ottawa.



The surveys have determined that the amount of active material entering the river is considerably below the limit set by the international commission on radiological protection. They also have disclosed that wastes present no hazard either to river organisms or human beings.

FEARED KIDNAPPED BY EAST BERLIN REDS

Allied authorities are hunting for further clues which might tell them if Dr. Otto John, the vanished chief of the West German intelligence service, was kidnapped by the Reds or went to East Berlin voluntarily. The only evidence—which could have been planted—was a note indicating that Dr. John crossed the border into the Soviet sector of his own free will. The note, written by a friend who was described as a "militant" Communist said John "does not want to return to the west." John's wife told police her husband had "enemies" in his own office and flatly labeled the disappearance a "despicable case of kidnapping."—Central Press Canadian.

BEARS EMPTY ICEBOXES IN ALGONQUIN

Shooting bears is no novelty to these forest rangers, for between them they have finished off 23 of the 68 bruins killed in the Algonquin park, Ont., district, since last fall, more than the combined total of the past 30 years. The bears in the area are so brazen that one robbed an icebox full of food without leaving an untidy mark. Another spent a profitable night in a hotel kitchen, where he was found, the potato peeler still whirling. Residents believe the ban on garbage dumps, where the bears used to feed, has prompted the animals to help themselves, at cottage owners' expense.—Central Press Canadian.

MADE MULE 'TALK'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Leonard Goldstein, 31, who produced such motion pictures as the "Francis" series involving a mule and the Ma and Pa Kettle" series, died Friday night. He had been a producer at Universal - International for four years and at 20th Century-Fox for two years before forming his own company. He was stricken while conferring with Darryl F. Zanuck and Spyros Skouras.

BLAST FATAL TO ONE

BATAVIA, N. Y. (AP)—An explosion rocked a machine shop at the R. E. Chapin Manufacturing Co. Friday, killing one workman and injuring seven other employees. Six of the injured were reported in fair or good condition at area hospital today. A seventh was released after treatment. An unofficial report said a cast-iron cyanide pot in the machine shop blew up.

TEST TANK WITHIN A TANK

The U.S. army's T43-E1 tank rolls out of a six-foot deep water tank at the partially completed $24,000,000 Detroit Arsenal's laboratory. The armoured monster, which has a 120mm gun, was put through its paces as part of a demonstration for 500 industrialists. —Central Press Canadian.

Anti-Tetanus Blamed For Girl's Death

STRATFORD (CP)—A coroner's jury was appointed Saturday to probe the death of 23-year-old Miss Shirley Jarrott who died in a doctor's office after treatment for a cut knee at Milverton, 13 miles north of here. Coroner Dr. G. C. Jarrott said date of the inquest will be set later.

Dr. J. L. Penistan, pathologist at Stratford General Hospital, performed an autopsy on the woman Friday night and said death apparently was due to a minute dose of anti-tetanus serum administered by her doctor to halt her reaction.

Dr. Jarrott said the anti-tetanus serum may have induced a sudden and severe asthmatic attack.

FLIES HALF WAY TO MOON IN 25 DAYS

A Canberra P.R. 7, similar to the type seen here in flight and the latest British jet photographic reconaissance plane of the R.A.F. Bomber Command, recently did 900 hours' flying time in 25 days, equivalent to more than half-way to the moon. It covered a distance of some 150,000 miles to test the Rolls Royce Avon engines under the most exacting conditions in the shortest possible time. The plane flew cross-country circuits around the United Kingdom at heights in excess of 40,000 feet. The plane was in the air seven days a week with four crews working continuous shifts.—Central Press Canadian.

Government Faces Decision On Vital Matter

OTTAWA (CP) — The government faces decision on probably its most important peace-time international responsibility without an opportunity to consult Parliament.

Request from the Geneva conference that Canada act with Poland and India on a commission to supervise the Indo-China armistice found Parliament in recess until late autumn and most of the cabinet ministers absent from Ottawa.

It is believed here that there would be few if any members of Parliament who would oppose Canada's acceptance of this delicate and expensive responsibility.

But there is room for likelihood of criticism if the government takes on a hopeless task in the Far East.

PART EXPLANATION

That would partly explain why the reaction of the government was to wait for complete details of what the supervision task would involve before making any decision.

There would also be criticism in some quarters if participation by Canada in the Geneva conference decisions was taken in any way conflict with the United States.

However it is known to be the feeling of the government that this country's participation in the supervisory task probably would meet with complete approval in the U.S.

While the U.S. held itself aloof from the armistice agreement and obviously does not approve, the agreement is an accomplished fact.

It is believed here that the U.S. would be pleased that the representative of the Western world in Canada, a country closely allied with the same peaceful aspirations, the same language and much the same social and humanitarian viewpoint.

External affairs officials spent the week-end privately studying proposed terms of the functions Canada would carry out if this country accepts membership on the three-power commission.

Religious Leader Kidnapped In Church Dispute

CAIRO, Egypt (CP) — Amba Yousab, 85-year-old Coptic patriarch of Alexandria, was kidnapped Saturday night and forced to sign a resignation at weapon's point, police reported Sunday. The kidnapping followed an intra-church dispute.

The dispute also caused street fighting in Cairo Sunday. About 90 persons were arrested when anti-Yousab demonstrators attempted to break through a police cordon around the patriarchate building in the centre of the city.

Police said the kidnappers spirited Yousab from the patriarchate to St. George convent in Giza, 20 miles south of Cairo. The informants said the patriarch was not hurt.

Pilot, Passenger Killed in Crash

ESTEVAN, Sask. (CP)—A pilot and his young passenger were killed Sunday night when their Piper Cub aircraft crashed and burned on the CPR's main line a few minutes after taking off from here.

Dead are pilot Nelson Giles, 29-year-old Estevan garage owner, and Royal J. Beach, 18-year-old farmer. Giles, in the RCAF during the Second World War, had owned the two-place aircraft for two years.

Railways traffic was held up for 30 minutes while workmen cleared the wreckage. The plane crashed six miles east of here and 60 miles west of Moose Jaw.

Eyewitnesses said the plane apparently developed engine trouble as soon as it became airborne on a pleasure flight.

FARMERS RESCUE TWO RCAF PILOTS FROM BURNING PLANE

While this plane was burning and appeared on the point of exploding, four farmers struggled to remove two RCAF pilots who had crashed near Thedford, Ont. They succeeded in extricating a Norwegian student pilot and FO Gordon Pixley of Grand Bend, Ontario, before either was seriously injured. The plane, a Harvard trainer, had landed in a ditch and flipped upside down in the field. Bruce Wilson, one of the rescuers, points to the door which he and his friends ripped off the fuselage to save the two pilots. — Central Press Canadian.

After Ten Years Learn U-Boat Sunk Three Ships

SLAPTON, England (AP)—Residents of this tiny south coast village Sunday were talking with amazement about how a German submarine broke through channel defences during the Second World War and killed several hundred American soldiers.

Gen. Alfred Gruenther, supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe, said in a speech here Saturday the submarine sank three large ships in which the Americans were training for invasion of the continent.

It was the first people here had heard of the sinkings. Residents of Slapton and eight other villages had been evacuated so the Americans could rehearse the invasion in secret.

Gruenther, attending a ceremony marking the 10th anniversary of the invasion, said the submarine incident occurred in April of 1944. He gave no other details.

Morbidity Study Made in Ontario

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Health Minister Phillips Sunday released the first part of a province-wide morbidity study which, he said, will form the basis for more fair and uniform provincial grants for research, diagnosis and treatment of illnesses in Ontario.

The minister said that accurate mortality statistics have been available for the last 50 years, but their value was only to be realized when morbidity statistics are available to parallel them.

He said the survey was the first of its kind on such a large scale, covering about 5,000,000 persons or the whole population of Ontario. Three earlier surveys in Ontario, the United States and Britain covered less than 100,000 people.

The survey was started in 1952 and is based on the 1951 census figures. There were 19 chapters in the report. The first, now released, tabulates illnesses which bring patients to Ontario hospitals.

LONDON (CP) — The Duke of Edinburgh, freed of all official engagements before his departure for Canada, relaxed today at the races.

The Queen and the duke are staying this week at Arundel Castle, home of the Duke and Duchess of Norfolk, and today the royal couple attended the opening of the four-day race meeting at Goodwood.

The duke leaves for Canada Wednesday to begin his three-week tour. He is scheduled to take off aboard the RCAF's special four-engined North Star from the RAF station at Tangmere, Sussex, a wartime base for Canadian fighter squadrons.

RHEE STARTS CONFERENCES IN WASHINGTON

Eisenhower, Dulles Talk With RoK Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Syngman Rhee of South Korea planned to confer with President Eisenhower today at the formal opening of talks on military and economic problems besetting partitioned Korea.

The conferences were to start in Eisenhower's White House office at 10 a.m. EDT and then switch to State Secretary Dulles' office an hour and 15 minutes later.

The outspoken South Korean president set a blunt tone in an impromptu statement on his arrival Monday for intensive talks running through Friday. He thanked the American people for their aid, but said there would be no unification worry if the Allies "only had a little more courage" in driving out the Communists.

Rhee and Mrs. Rhee were not pushed across the Yalu river because some people had a little cold feet".

Rhee arrived on the first anniversary of the Korean armistice. He didn't mention that agreement.

Eisenhower gave an indication at his press conference last week of the frank nature the talks are expected to assume. He said then that he knew of no one in the United States who was advocating resumption of Korean hostilities.

Eisenhower and the 79-year-old Rhee flew to Seattle by plane after his 9,000 - mile flight via the Pacific, had an opportunity to exchange views privately Monday night.

Rhee and Mrs. Rhee were overnight guests at the White House. They were entertained by the president and Mrs. Eisenhower with a state dinner attended by 50 U.S. diplomatic, congressional and military officials and their wives.

Jets Escort U.S. Airliner, Two Other Planes Buzzed

HONG KONG (AP) — Three airline pilots reported encounters with jet fighters off Red-held Hainan island today — two with United States' planes and the other with unidentified jets.

A Pan American World Airways pilot reported he was "escorted" for a few minutes by four U. S. jet fighters. The airline office here said no request had been made for fighter escort for its planes.

The two other pilots asserted their transports had been buzzed by fighter planes.

Capt. H. Misty, pilot of an Air India international plane which arrived here from Bangkok, said his craft was buzzed by two U.S. jets about 30 miles off Hainan at 3:30 p.m. and Capt. Jack R. Brugger of Paris, pilot of an Air France Constellation, said four unidentified jets buzzed his transport about 100 miles off Hainan.

Brugger described the planes as "the same war color" of Communist MIG jets.

The incidents occurred in the general area where a British airliner was shot down by Chinese Red fighters Friday with a possible loss of 10 lives.

Misty said he "saw two more U.S. jets about six miles away." He estimated his position as 100 miles north of Tourane on the Indo-China coast. He described the planes as "of a black color."

Brugger said four unidentified jets followed his plane for four minutes and then swooped up on the right side and crossed the Constellation's nose before they disappeared.

Brugger said the fighters were green in color but that he could see no markings. He added "it was the color that United States planes do not use."

He said his plane was two hours out of Saigon and flying at 17,000 feet when the four fighters appeared behind him, where they remained for four minutes.

Then one by one, the fighters "let up on the right side of the Constellation, apparently looking it over." They then zoomed to about 30,000 feet and disappeared.

Brugger said there was no panic aboard his plane.

FIRING CEASES IN NORTHERN AREA OF INDO-CHINA

Truce Now Effective In Red River Delta

BY FORREST EDWARDS

HANOI (AP) — The French and the Vietminh ordered firing stopped in part of Indo-China today—seven years, seven months and eight days after Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh's rebel legions attacked Hanoi on Dec. 19, 1946.

The truce negotiated at Geneva conference became effective in North Viet Nam and its rich Red river delta at 8 a.m.

The armistice is scheduled to spread gradually over the four other sectors of the war-ravaged Southeast Asia land, becoming effective Aug. 1 in central Viet Nam, Aug. 5 in Laos, Aug. 7 in Cambodia and Aug. 11 in South Viet Nam.

Hanoi's big guns roared sporadically throughout the night before the cease-fire became effective as the Vietminh stepped up their pressure on outlying posts manned by Viet Namese units. In recent days the Reds have concentrated on such posts in an apparent effort to encourage desertions and prevent loyalist troops from moving south with the departing French. There were no early reports, however, of any large-scale fights in the last hours before the truce time. But there is no certainty that the killing and wounding have stopped in North Viet Nam.

No one could be certain today that all the thousands of Communist-led Vietminh guerrillas or all the irregulars loyal to the French-supported Viet Nam government had received the stop-fighting word or would obey it.

Many observers believe it will be a matter of only two to four weeks before organized resistance in all of Viet Nam and perhaps Laos and Cambodia as well.

The cease-fire agreement provides for internationally supervised elections in July, 1956, to unify Viet Nam. The French commander in the north, Gen. Rene Cogny, recently said the people in South Viet Nam could be defended "in nearly perfect safety" if there is only shrugged when asked about the military prospects. Many French civilians have been here since Cogny's doubts of the future.

Britain Plans New Protest To Red China Over Plane

LONDON (AP) — Britain today accused Red China of violating "international custom and behavior" in hampering rescue operations shot down in the South China sea.

Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons a new protest was being made to the Peiping government. Earlier, Prime Minister Churchill held a special cabinet meeting to discuss the incident.

Eden said soon after the plane was shot down Hong Kong's civil aviation authorities radioed White Cloud airfield in Communist China saying there had been a crash and search aircraft were taking off.

Eden added: "About an hour later a message was received from Canton air traffic control that a Sunderland aircraft in the area would be permitted to remain but that any other aircraft sent to search would be fired on without warning if they approached land.

"This message was against all international custom and behavior.

MAKE STRONG PROTEST

"Her majesty's representative (in Peiping) has been instructed to make a protest in respect of the nature of the message."

Eden also announced he has instructed the British charge d'affaires in Peiping to convey to Red China a United States protest against the latest attack.

The British carrier six United States aircraft have been operating on the U. S. protest because the U. S. does not maintain diplomatic relations with Red China.

Eden asked the House to avoid discussion of American statements following the incident.

Labor member Desmond Donnelly asked: "Is Eden aware that the United States commander-in-chief in the Pacific is reported as saying that his forces have standing instructions to be quick on the trigger?"

Eden said: "I do not think we ought to pursue this line because what happens between two foreign countries, the object of her Majesty's government is to prevent incidents occurring if they can and I do not think we can help by commenting in an approving or adverse manner."

China Protests Shooting Down Of Two Planes

HONG KONG (Reuters) Communist China today protested "most strongly" against the shooting down of two Chinese air force planes by United States' carrier-based planes Monday off Hainan Island, Peiping radio reported.

The radio said Communist China also protested today against the "invasion" of Chinese territorial waters by United States' naval units.

The radio said China also protested against the straffing of a Chinese vessel by U. S. planes.

The radio said China warned the United States government to stop such acts of "aggression" or the United States "will have to bear responsibility."

China also claimed the right to compensation.

The text of the Chinese statement, according to the broadcast, was:

"On July 28, 1954, United States' naval unit comprising two aircraft carriers and escorting warships came to the vicinity of the east coast of Hainan Island, China.

First Tenders Are Called For St. Lawrence Project

TORONTO (CP)—Tenders were called Monday for projects launching the power part of the vast St. Lawrence seaway and power development.

Robert Saunders, Ontario Hydro chairman, said the tenders will close Aug. 24. They are for the construction of two powerhouse cofferdams and the excavating of the powerhouse site in the International rapids section of the St. Lawrence river, two miles west of Cornwall.

With official ground - breaking ceremonies on the 2,200,000-horsepower project scheduled for Aug. 10, Mr. Saunders said speedy action is being taken by both the Ontario hydro commission and its partner in the international development, the New York state power authority, to launch construction on a major scale.

"Our objective is to take full advantage of the most favorable construction season and we are making our utmost to that end. We are confident that we will be able to make substantial headway on the long-awaited development before the end of this year."

Present plans call for the initial delivery of St. Lawrence power in the fall of 1958, with virtual completion of the project in 1959.

The two cofferdams will straddle the international boundary and enclose the area where the powerhouse is to be constructed. After they are built, water will be pumped out of the enclosed area.

Mr. Saunders said the tenders now being called cover three separate phases of work at the site: construction of a 500-foot cofferdam from the north channel of the St. Lawrence river from Sheek Island to Barnhart island on the U.S. side; construction of a 4,500-foot cofferdam across the south channel from the Canadian mainland to Barnhart island and dredging and de-watering of the area between the cofferdams.

Under the present division of responsibility between Ontario and New York state, each will build its own half of the powerhouse. New York will build the Long Sault dam while Ontario, in addition to constructing the two cofferdams at the powerhouse site, will likely be responsible for building the Iroquois control dam.

India Suggests Early Meeting Of Truce Group

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — India today suggested an early meeting of the International truce supervisory commission. It is expected to be called soon after Prime Minister Nehru's return from a delegation from a meeting of the all-India Committee of his ruling Congress party.

The proposal for the meeting has been sent to Canada and Poland—the two countries who, with India, make up the commission. They will serve on the committee—and the fighting powers in the Indo-China war, which came to an end in northern Viet Nam this morning, under terms of the cease-fire agreement.

No reply has yet been received from any of the countries invited. Poland has agreed to serve on the truce commission, and Canada is expected to announce acceptance Wednesday.

Representatives at the preliminary meetings would not necessarily be those who will serve finally chosen as members of the three truce delegations. Diplomatic representatives in India of the countries concerned in the commissions might take part. These include the Canadian high commissioner, Escott Reid; Polish ambassador Gerry Burdinsky and French ambassador Count Ostorog.

Isaac Pangowish of Massey testified he bought two bottles of whisky from Leblanc July 17. Leblanc is currently serving a three-month sentence for assault.

Reach Agreement For Withdrawal Of British Troops

All Points Are Ironed Out In Top-Level Conference

CAIRO (Reuters) — A British embassy spokesman said here today agreement had been reached with Egypt on all outstanding points in the Suez Canal dispute. The agreement would be initialled later tonight, the spokesman added.

The agreement settles the terms under which Britain will withdraw its powerful garrison force from the canal zone and turns the zone's administration over to the Egyptian government.

War Minister Anthony Head, who flew here last week-end, led the British side and Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, the prime minister, headed the Egyptian team.

Head's arrival with up-to-date briefing from Prime Minister Churchill has strengthened the view that Churchill wants agreement in principle before Parliament reconvenes Friday for the summer.

Egypt now is reported to be prepared to accept terms in the seven years the period over which British troops would be evacuated from the canal zone.

5-Year Licences For Auto Drivers Will Be Urged

TORONTO (CP) — Licensing of automobile drivers for five years with re-testing at the end of that period, will be recommended to the Ontario legislature by its select committee on liens. Such a system is already in use in British Columbia.

The committee reached agreement at a meeting Monday that the British Columbia system is superior to the present one used in Ontario, which allows a driver a licensed after a test and can renew the license year after year without testing unless he is involved in an accident or gives the department other cause for requiring re-testing.

Last month the committee, studying among other topics the possibility of setting up a central automobile registration of documents, particularly those involving liens, met with officials in Alberta and British Columbia, where such offices exist.

Chairman Robert Macaulay said the committee obtained valuable information on its trip, especially in Victoria where a teletype system for fast searching of liens is in use.

The committee's investigation of the British Columbia method of protecting car-buyers against possible liens still on the cars led to the idea of licensing.

The committee will start to hear briefs in the fall. It has set aside two days to cover Michigan, Indiana and Ohio; New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania; Virginia, Tennessee and Washington, D.C.

U.S. Counter-Intelligence Agent, Friend of O. John, Takes Own Life

BERLIN (AP)—An American counter-intelligence agent, known to be a friend of Dr. Otto John, missing West German security chief, has committed suicide in his office in Berlin's Soviet sector, it was learned today.

The man a naturalized American with the rank of captain in the counter - intelligence corps, was found mortally wounded by fellow officers in his billet near the American sector boundary Friday. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the clinic.

The army has withheld announcement of his identity until the family is notified.

Rumors that the agent was being questioned and that he was suspected of disloyalty were flatly denied by United States' authority today. A senior officer said a complete inquiry shows the man to be above suspicion.

Officers said the agent had known John, former chief of the West German federal "Office for the Protection of the Constitution," at some time. The agent shot himself the day after John's disappearance in the Soviet sector was made public.

Officials declined to discuss details of the case, particularly the agent's duties. Investigation on the extent of the man's link with John and insisted there was no "spy ring" involved. He was reported to have been German-born, with most of his adult lives living in Communist - controlled territory.

John, 44-year-old anti-Nazi, disappeared from West Berlin July 20. The federal government in Bonn insists that the security chief was lured into the East, but the Communist regime has contended John came voluntarily "to work for unity."

U.S. Has Drafted Strong Protest To Chinese Reds

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. was reported ready today to fire a strongly worded protest at Communist China, demanding an immediate halt to attacks on U.S. and British planes.

A note already has been drafted, officials said, denouncing the action of Red Chinese fighters in shooting down first a British commercial airliner and later firing on U.S. Navy rescue planes.

Any U.S. note will be relayed, through Britain, who recognizes the Chinese Communist government. The U.S. does not.

More than 20 incidents were reported in dispatches from Hong Kong early today. An Air France plane reported that in the same general area as the attacks it had been buzzed by four unidentified jet planes. No damage was indicated. An Indian airline captain said two U.S. planes buzzed his transport as well.

The week-end clashes, climaxed by the shooting down of the attacking Chinese fighters by an Air France plane, aroused angry protests in the U.S. Congress and further strengthened American feelings toward the Peiping regime.

TRANSCENDENED POLICY

Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep., Mich.) said the Communist world should read "a strengthened U.S. foreign policy" into the shooting down of the two Communist planes by the Red-held island of Hainan.

Ferguson, chairman of the Senate republican policy committee, raised his voice in the general "well done" expressed here for the actions which shot the Red planes out of the sky.

Chinese Communist Pilots' Actions Reveal Reds Nervous About Hainan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Actions of Chinese Communist pilots in the area where a British airliner and American rescue planes were attacked show the nervousness of the Peiping regime over the security of Hainan island, in the Red Chinese appear to have been fortifying this island for the last two years, Western sources in Hong Kong and Formosa said today.

Hainan island could be a base of attack some day on the last Nationalist stronghold. But at the same time the Red Chinese appear to only have not forgotten the statement of Nationalist leader Chiang Kai-shek that some day he will begin the reconquest of China by assaulting and taking Hainan.

In flying from Bangkok, Thailand, to Hong Kong, the most direct route would be over Hainan island, but commercial pilots give the island a wide berth. The British airliner was shot down by accident took place about 30 miles south of Hainan, and Western and State department says it was in the same area that American planes shot down two Red Chinese planes.

The tropical island of Hainan is a rich prize, strategically and economically. It is all the more sensitive now because of the vast United Nations stronghold island of Formosa, 660 miles away.

Hainan, only 15 miles from the mainland of China, is about 250 miles from Britain's Hong Kong and about 850 miles from Manila in the Philippines. Hainan island shelters some 2,500,000 peoples, mostly in the coastal areas.

FISHERMAN FALLS FOR FINNY FIGHTER

Ed Byrne, of Ottawa, a Bell Telephone employee who will be returning to Ottawa this week after three months in Belleville, fell for a fish Sunday.

Ed, who had heard of Hastings County's fabulous fishing that had little luck was with a party of fellow employees fishing waters of a creek flowing into Stoco Lake on Saturday. Other members of the party caught pike-ing-fish, Not Ed.

He was fishing from the end of a log jutting into the creek when he got a strike. Eventually the line parted and Ed thought that the fish and Ed wound up flight-ing the finny battler in neck-deep water.

By the time he made his way to dry land the fish had probably realized the calibre of fighter it was up against and swam quietly. The party caught seven speckled trout in all.

Railway Credit Union Officers Visit Hamilton

Responding to an invitation to come to Hamilton to assist in drawing up a set of by-laws for the recently organized "Canadian National Railway Employees Credit Union Association of Ontario", four officers of the Belleville C.N.R. Employees Credit Union, Messrs. E. Schilvert, A. Pudge, A. Vincent and R. Steward made a trip to that city on Saturday of last week.

There were ten of fourteen C.N.R. Employees Credit Unions in Ontario with sufficient assets and problems peculiar only to railway employee credit unions, and the need for a central body through which the various Canadian National Railway Employees Credit Unions could operate to better advantage has been apparent for some time it is stated.

Election of officers will be held at the next meeting of the Association. In the meantime a committee, comprised of members residing in Hamilton has been appointed.

New York Power Board Member Has Resigned

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Hickman Powell of New York City Monday resigned from the state power authority, has threatened to quit as the result of an internal dispute.

It had been reported that Moses and some other members of the authority, which is in charge of the New York phase of the $300,000,000 St. Lawrence river power development, had reached a break at a meeting in New York City July 12.

It later was reported that the disagreement had been settled peaceably.

District Governor Visits Local Rotary Club

In 86 countries across the free world there are Rotary Clubs linked together in the bonds of fellowship. To Rotarians this is known as the Rotary International Service.

Yesterday Belleville's Rotary Club was given a description of the personal interest of goodwill when District Governor Basil Tippett, Toronto, spoke on a recent visit of Rotary Clubs in Asia, at the club's weekly luncheon in the Hotel Quinte.

The visit of the district governor is the most important day in Rotary's year, when reports of the club and the results of its committees are tendered by officials to him.

Speaking at the luncheon, Mr. Tippett defined Rotary as a "world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service." Setting out to check up on this idea of fellowship around the world was a "very thrilling experience," for Mr. Tippett.

In all, he visited some 18 clubs from Egypt to India and was warmly welcomed in each of them.

"You just can't help but feel you walk into a Rotary club and you're OK," he said.

COSMOPOLITAN GROUP

In Cairo, he found an organization of 14 members from 14 nations, "which I thought was pretty comprehensive," he told Rotarians. In Karachi, Rotary organized another club in Pakistan. In Delhi, the club is debating establishment of a club in Ethiopia. In Colombo, Rotary has established a meeting up a cafeteria for the poor, following the principle of service.

Mr. Tippett also called on Rotarians in Cochin, Agra and Amritsar, India.

But the visit that excited Mr. Tippett was, he said, a trip to Nazareth.

"For many years in Nazareth God has been working miracles which we had later received into the church so it seemed to me the return of an idea," he said.

After his travels in the East Mr. Tippett said he had come to the conclusion that the whole heart of every man, irrespective of his color or background, there is a desire to serve. This reaches out to be of service to his fellowmen.

In some countries conditions do not allow realization of this yearning and so in the case of any organization like Rotary comes along and helps them to express this," he said.

Mr. Tippett said that the International Service program of Belleville Rotary "has merit" but urged members to take a greater personal interest.

"Rotary will never stop war or the evils of war," he told the club. "But what we can do is by these international contacts . . . to build up a strong foundation and understanding."

That twenty-five pound muskie caught by W. J. "Bill" Doyle and Tom Flurey of this city in Stoco Lake last week, had anything but the attributes of a "lady's man."

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle and Mr. and Mrs. Flurey were out in a punt for and evening's boating pleasure. The "prey" popped out of the water within a few minutes the big twenty-five pounder was hooked.

Followed a twenty-five minute battle then Mr. Doyle drew the fish to the punt. The fish was expertly gaffed him, while the ladies quite excitedly shouted, "not to bring that big think in here."

But being veteran fishermen Doyle and Flurey quieted their fears and the big fellow was brought home.

The next morning bright and early they were at it again and were rewarded with a repetition of the same fish family.

Since last time Mr. Flurey has gone to the Gaspe, and word received by Mr. Doyle states he has hooked a fifteen pound and another fish weighing twenty-five pounds.

U.S. Brassiere Manufacturer Opens Canadian Plant Here

Latest addition to Belleville's industry opened up here this morning when the firm of Hollywood Maxwell of Canada Limited began manufacturing brassieres, went into operation.

The firm is the first Canadian subsidiary of Hollywood Maxwell Company, California, one of the leading brassiere makers in the U.S. Situated in the former Marine building at the Morch Manufacturing on Water Street, when in full-time operation the new firm will employ over 100, mostly girls, in office and factory.

Brothers Get Wish, Hook 2 Fish Land-Locked Salmon Halt Famine

Hastings County's land-locked salmon are pretty rare fish. In fact the only two ever to have been reported were caught Sunday in a creek in centre Hastings by brothers, Gordon and Elowed Cooper.

Gordon, of R.R. 8, Belleville, and Elowed, of Springbrook, have been fishing for years and have given pause to skeptics.

They caught the fish Sunday while still in search of a bridge. They spotted the two large fish swimming near the surface of the creek.

They offered the fish everything from worms, tadpoles, and artificial lures were spurned. Then Gordon produced a hand-tied one minnows in the stream, baited their hooks again and started the fish rising for their finny beauties.

Both strikes later they had their fish. Both fish put up token resistance but came quietly after a few passes.

However, once they had the fish they were unsure of its species. One had the appearance of a land-locked salmon and the other that of a speckled salmon. One fish was a male and the other a female. The fish had a white fin on its side that was slowly eroding away.

The fish were red-colored like salmon.

Fish of this kind have never been known to inhabit this creek before.

Bugs Too Much For Alderman

Returning to council Monday night for the first time since he was stricken ill, he objected during a discussion on sewer extensions a month ago. The bugs stalked out of the new city hall again.

For four hours he flailed his arms as he swarmed through the council chamber. Finally he shouted: "I must admit the gnats, bats and moths in this insect-infested building I can for one am!" He walked out.

The council meeting had already got off to an inauspicious start. Council members were forced to climb five flights of stairs to the chamber when the elevator broke down.

CYANIDE KILLS FISH

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — City engineer Roy W. Garrett said in a report to city council Monday that the dumping of about 250 gallons of cyanide solution from an industrial plant caused the deaths of hundreds of fish in the Thames river here July 12.

Papers led the industrial advance. Golds were steady to a little lower.

Frobisher, a holding company, chalked up one of the best gains on the board. It was up 25 cents at 11 a.m. EDT on reports of its new arrangement with the British Columbia government.

Police Officer Recollects Driver In Speeding Case

TORONTO (CP)—A magistrate in suburban New Toronto ruled Monday that a man accused of speeding had been identified as the man in charge of the automobile although the officer who laid the charge did not stop the driver or speak to him.

A court in Newmarket last week freed a driver of a speeding charge when police could not identify the man behind the wheel. Since then, the courts of Ontario have been uncertain of their grounds in the handling of speed-ers.

Magistrate N. A. Gianelli Monday convicted Lee Lane of New Toronto of driving 57 miles an hour on the Lake Shore road in a 30-mile-an-hour area. The officer in the case testified that he took a good look at the driver and remembered his face.

Lee said he could not remember whether he was driving that day. He was fined $25 and costs or five days.

Weather Clerks Are Honored

TORONTO (CP) — The spare-time weather clerks of Canada have been honored by the federal department of transport.

For excellent weather reporting over a period of years, 67 operational awards have been given to 20 co - operative weather observers across Canada, Andrew Thomson, controller of meteorological services, announced today.

They are the pick of nearly 1,000 men and women observers who, without payment, take time each morning and evening to observe the weather and record temperature, rainfall or snowfall.

Their work has been largely responsible for the recent publication of a climatological map of Canada, said Mr. Thomson.

The awards were first made in 1953 and now are being given annually. This year's award is a copy of "The Image of Canada," a Canadian Geographical Society publication.

BRITAIN PLANS

Later Eden made a statement on the attack by two Red Chinese fighters on carrier-based American search planes.

GIVES STATEMENT

He said: "I have been informed by the U.S. government that on July 26 at approximately 10.05 a.m. local time two of these carrier-based aircraft, while on reconnaissance operations seeking possible survivors, were attacked over the high seas approximately 13 miles from Hainan by two Chinese fighter aircraft, apparently of the same type as shot down our airliner."

Eden said RAF authorities in Hong Kong are satisfied that four planes, which approached an Air France liner 75 miles off Hainan today were Russian-type Mig jets.

He added: "According to the pilot of the French aircraft, the purpose of the fighters appeared to be identification. The house will note the distinction between searching for identification in contrast to the action previously taken."

Some 1,000 persons gathered outside 10 Downing street while Churchill was meeting with his Cabinet. Several special policemen kept the crowd in check. Normally, Cabinet meetings attract only a handful of tourist..

Brazilian Meet Told of Progress In Cancer Fight

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Two highly encouraging new successes in the treatment of some kinds of human cancer were reported today at the sixth International Cancer Congress.

One is a surgery-plus-x-ray treatment of cancer of the breast, the most common form of the disease among women. The technique is saving about half the patients who get treatment reasonably early, the congress was told.

The second is a new drug giving at least temporarily, normal life to a number of sufferers from several forms of cancer.

AVOIDS MUTILATION.

The surgery-plus-x-ray method was described by Dr. Robert McWhirter, radiologist and surgeon of the Royal Infirmary at Edinburgh, Scotland. This method, used since 1941, surgically removes only the infected breast and avoids cutting out a part of the chest wall, arm pit and neck.

Those affected areas are treated by x-rays daily for three weeks, beginning 10 days after the surgery. This method avoids severe mutilation of the body and some complications from surgery or x-rays.

McWhirter said 60 per cent of the women treated by the conservative combined method had survived for at least five years. A five-year survival is usually required as evidence of a cancer cure.

Even on cases considered unsuitable for help by extensive surgery, McWhirter said 32 per cent were alive five years after the combined treatment.

Encouraging success through use of the drug thioteps was described by Dr. Jeanne Bateman of the George Washington University, Washington.

DRUG NOT CURE

She said a high percentage of patients with cancers of the ovaries, breasts and the worst form of brain cancer had achieved good results, enabling them to return to months of useful, active life so far. The drug often produces temporarily good results in other forms of cancer, she added.

The drug is not a cure, Dr. Bateman cautioned, but it has succeeded in keeping some patients on their feet and useful until nearly the end of their lives rather than spending costly, painful months in a hospital.

Fire Hazard Still Serious Around London

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — For the third straight day fields in several parts of this district crackled into flame Monday as continuing hot, dry weather increased the fire hazard in tinder-dry crops and pastures, bringing renewed warnings against the danger of carelessly discarded cigarets.

Fire swept through 200 acres of standing wheat on the farm of Lydon Harwood at Hickson, Monday, believed started by a cigaret butt at the roadside.

In the Walkerton area three acres of pasture were burned on a vacant farm and flames consumed 35 cords of hardwood and spread to bush before being brought under control by neighbors and firemen who battled half the night.

Monday's fire came in the wake of earlier fires which caused an estimated $50,000 crop damage in the district during the weekend.

In some places the fields are so dry that even sunlight refracted through an empty pop bottle could start a blaze. The tinder dry condition is the result of an unusually long dry spell which is also causing heavy crop damage from drought.

Motel Owner Worried About Highway Route

CORNWALL (CP)—Motel operator Charles Lawn says construction of the St. Lawrence seaway is threatening to put him out of business.

His motel and tourist court is located on the 7½ - mile section of No. 2 highway east of Cornwall that the seaway would be built touched," he said. "Traffic would keep on going by our door."

Two years ago he spent $47,000 on improvements, he said.

Now he is wondering whether he will be compensated for his threatened loss. He is not being flooded out, as the Ontario hydro commission has no responsibility. And because his motel is not likely to be the site of any seaway construction, the high-ways department is not concerned.

Dry Weather Aids Army Worms, OAC Professor

GUELPH (CP) — Dr. W. E. Hemming, professor of entomology at the Ontario Agricultural College here, said today dry weather conditions during the last few weeks throughout the province have aided the march of the destructive army worms.

He said lack of moisture in the grain and pasture fields over wide areas has stopped growth and so weakened plants that they can't "fight back" when beset by the worms.

RELIEF SOON

Some relief is in sight for troubled farmers, however, as almost all the worms are expected to stop feeding by next week and burrow underground where they will form cocoons and eventually emerge as moths.

Meanwhile, several parasites, including the tachinid fly and a small wasp, the braconid, are helping to slow the march of the worms.

Farmers are using spray and applying poison bait to save their crops. Dr. Hemming said if these methods are used according to department of agriculture instructions they should prove an effective control.

WORST EVER

Dr. Hemming said that agricultural officials did not advise farmers to cut their grain early as a preventive measure.

However, the plague continues to spread in the east. It has been described as the most extensive invasion in Ontario's history.

The ugly, inch-long worms were reported in the Belleville district yesterday and today they appeared in Frontenac county in the Kingston area — for the first time in the county's history.

Company Plans Development Of Power on Yukon River For Big Smelting Industry

By STEPHEN SCOTT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VICTORIA (CP)—Frobisher Ltd. has taken the first concrete step toward converting a northern wasteland into a power supply for the multi-million dollar Canadian metallurgical industry.

The company applied Monday to the British Columbia government, on behalf of its subsidiary Northwest Power Industries Ltd., for a water rights licence to the B.C. section of the Yukon river watershed.

Application to the federal government for a licence to the Yukon section was to be made "contemporaneously."

The vast enterprise plans to harness a northern watershed extending 200 miles north and south and 300 miles east and west in north B.C. and the southern Yukon.

The enormous watershed, second only to the Great Lakes in North America, can economically develop 4,300,000 horsepower, a potential twice as great as the energy to be developed by the St. Lawrence seaway project.

The application for a licence was made at a meeting between Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Lands Minister Robert Sommers and Thayer Lindsley, president of the Frobisher-Ventures group of companies, and company representatives.

Planned is an expenditure of almost $270,000,000 by 1962. About $212,150,000 of this will be for the development of 880,000 horsepower and the rest for the construction of the metallurgical section.

The eventual expenditure for the vast project has been estimated as high as $700,000,000.

The planning schedule released Monday, has two "pilot plants" operating in Vancouver and producing pig iron and steel and cobalt and nickel by 1956. The northern plants should be in limited production by 1957 and by 1962 close to full production.

The project will treat cobalt-nickel ores from New Caledonia, the Philippines and other Pacific islands, iron ores and concentrates to make pig iron and steel, ferromanganese and silico-manganese from Southwest Africa and eventually B.C. zinc and other base metal ores.

If the water rights licences are granted before the end of the year work will start next year. The Vancouver mills are the most immediate step.

The project will originally require three dams to reverse the flow of part of the water in the Yukon River and bring it down through Lake Atlin and through some mountain-spanning tunnels to power houses.

More dams are contemplated. Two-power-mile long transmission lines will take the power to the processing plants at the shores of the Yukon river near Tahs inlet which leads through the Alaskan panhandle to the Pacific.

Lightning Hits Fisherman's Rod

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP) — Philip Arrowsmith of Toronto was rescued from nearby Sturgeon lake Monday, seconds after lightning struck his steel fishing rod and knocked him out of his boat.

He was pulled back into the craft by his father-in-law, S. R. Pitts, publisher of the Lindsay Watchman-Warder, who was fishing with him.

The youth was taken to hospital here.

The lightning bolt apparently travelled down the fishing rod to the fisherman in his shirt pocket and to a steel buckle on his belt. It tore of his shirt and scorched his undershirt.

SILLINESS SEASON IS UPON US

The silliness season is upon us.

Each year, as mounting temperatures percolate the water on the brains of cranks, newspapers dutifully record an assortment of human aberrations. Variety, however, is not the spice of life for attention-seekers. Their antics are usually confined to a monotonous practice that included flagpole sitting, channel swimming, holes-in-one, and reclusionism about "the one that got away."

The dawn of each silliness season is usually greeted by a bronzed young man atop a flagpole. A notice board at the base of the pole usually proclaims that the chap in the eyrie intends to remain aloft until Midsummer's Eve, the hardiest of souls would give second thought to climbing down unaided from a great height.

Therefore, to test the mettle of flagpole sitters all flagpoles for the purpose should be limited to a height of one or two feet.

Swimming across a channel is a way of life to channel swimmers. It is meat and drink to them. It is their reason for living. Unless, that is, it is about as unusual for them to swim a channel as it is for the average man to drive to the drugstore for cigarets. And about as hard to get them to stop.

For a channel swimmer who trains by racing fish 20 or 30 miles a day in the surf off various coastlines before striking out for a distant shore, we have a suggestion.

Much more exciting entertainment, we surmise, if these human porpoises would, for a change, spend 15 or 20 minutes on the bottom of a pool somewhere, anywhere. Think of the fuss if, instead of swimming the channel, they all sank to the bottom and were never heard from again. Channel swimmers are notoriously devoid of imagination so we toss in the idea gratis.

These are the main irritations of the silliness season. But there are minor ones. We would, for instance, think it novel and attention getting if a member of the Hill family of Niagara Falls declared that he would NOT go over the Falls in a barrel—ride or any other way.

Fellows popping holes-in-one are becoming more and more common. What would be novel would be an admission that after chipping up to the green at the end of a perfectly flat, straight fairway, in only eight strokes, skillful putting put the ball down in just three additional strokes.

And another story we would like to see but don't expect to see is about the fisherman in the Canadian woods who returns from an expedition to an isolated lake teeming with fish and tells his companions that he had about 200 solid strikes but lost them all because he didn't have the skill to play them properly.

NEW MINISTER ACTS

Although he has held that position for only a few days, he has already taken what should prove effective action to remedy a blot on the name of the province, by the issuing of all-inclusive orders to his department to assist police in correcting reported abuses of horses in logging camps.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals issued a report on the ill treatment of horses a few weeks ago. It shocked many Ontario residents, including, it is now evident, Mr. Mapledoram. Similar reports had been issued on more than one occasion in the past, reports which were long forgotten, they produced little or no action by authorities. That is the first reason why congratulations are due to Mr. Mapledoram, because in the very first days of his duties as minister of the Crown he has shown himself ready to act promptly when he sees the need.

Strictly speaking, the prevention of the abuse of horses in logging camps is not a responsibility of Mr. Mapledoram's department. It is, as he observed, a problem of law enforcement, and as such comes under the Attorney-General's department. The minister, however, did not stop Mr. Mapledoram from acting and this is a second reason why he deserves our congratulations. He has shown an admirable willingness to cut red tape. Logging camps are located in the bush, and the number of police officers available is not large enough to facilitate the keeping of an adequate check on these camps. Mr. Mapledoram has solved this problem at least partly by instructing the employees of his department to assist police. We might add that private citizens, too, could render similar assistance by reporting instances of cruelty to the police whenever such cases come to their attention.

A WELL-EARNED HONOR

The main generating station of the St. Lawrence seaway power project will be named after Robert L. Saunders, the chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

That was announced last week by A. A. Kennedy, the wartime colonel of the Hasty Fees who is now president of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association.

It is an honor well deserved. Bob Saunders, as he is known to all who have had the opportunity to meet him personally, has the happy faculty of combining the common touch with uncommon energy. The latter asset has enabled him to successfully guide Hydro through a period of unprecedented expansion. The former has made it possible for him to win ready acceptance of policies and, upon occasion, of inconveniences. These policies and inconveniences, while essential to the provision of adequate power in the future or to the equitable distribution of what power was available at a time of shortage, would, but for the chairman's genius for persuasion, have aroused opposition which might have proved crippling for a body which is publicly owned and, therefore, peculiarly susceptible to the influence of public opinion.

It is a regrettable fact that visitors travelling by rail or boat do not get a favorable impression of the beauties of Belleville when they arrive here. If they remain in the city for a few days and see the beauty of our residential sections they then get a favorable impression of the city. However, many persons do not stop off and the impression they get from the boat and train is not such as to cause enthusiasm and a desire to visit the city some time. Some day our people will have to form a Citizens' Improvement League, on the road to the station the collection of dust, vacant houses and garbage piles form a picture which is far from being helpful to the city.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

EYE A STAR!

Emerson once gave vent to a famous line. He said: "Hitch your wagon to a star." Of course what he meant was that one should not be satisfied to have a purpose in life, a definite objective toward which to work and live, but a man at the top of a 50, 60 or 70 foot pole is not going to get very far. The hardiest of souls would give second thought to climbing down unaided from a great height.

What of the joy of a trip is to know just where you are going; that destination is the star of your thoughts as you come nearer and nearer to it. We must first know what we want most in life, and then set ourselves to its accomplishment. That ever-shining star ahead is sure to lead us on. The person of too many talents is apt to neglect the most important one, thus living out a floundering, unimportant life.

On the other hand to pursue one useful objective, deviating from it not at all from day to day, is sure to place you among the great and worthy of your time. We should feel important as we view our favorite star in the heavens. We have thoughts, which the sky doesn't have. All that star can do is to shine—but how shining does it do so! Let us take a lesson from the stars, and shine! We can keep that purpose of ours ever before us, and if it continually inspires us to do so, we have nothing about which to worry.

Is there any medicine so healthgiving as an enthusiastic aspiration, born of an inward desire? A shower of the unexpected is not about us like warm, sun-drenched rain. We can do what we will to do. Here is a beautiful line from Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Renascence": "The soul can spill the face of God shine through."

In my reading I came across this statement by Menuhin, world famous violinist, who said that his teacher once stopped him and exclaimed: "To play great music you must keep your eyes on a distant star!"

TREE AND MAN

As a man beings suffer pain, leaves
They sicken and they strive in vain
With grim disease.

Like people, sturdy youth
then,
Then, after years,
A blight of which they're unaware
To strike appears.

The stout limbs wither and the Fall to the ground.
Nor all the care which man conceives
Can keep them sound.

Trees may have longer lives than men,
But by and by
They linger in hopelessness and chin
They quietly die.

Letters to the Editor

Pakistan Student Thanks Friends Here

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,
Sir:

Through the courtesy of your esteemed paper I wish to thank my friends in Belleville which I left yesterday after spending a months' stay among its friendly people and healthy surroundings. I enjoyed it very much.

My study at the Ihug House' not only enhanced my knowledge and experience but gave me also opportunity to meet and make intimate acquaintance with some of the great entomologists of Canada. In years to come, I hope, this intimacy would grow, and by discharge of my duties in Pakistan I shall enjoy the privilege of their advice. I have carried with me the pleasant memories of all the boys and girls at the laboratory, which would multiply in course of my stay in Canada.

This is a rather modest account of my feelings and sense of gratitude towards you — my friends. I am sorry I could not wished to thank every one of you personally.

A. S. K. GHOURI,

A student from Pakistan under Colombo Plan.

Time Table For Laughter

(St. Louis Post Dispatch)

Every one should take care to laugh a little every day. We are reminded of it by the case of a 39-year-old Lithuanian in Australia who had a few drinks and laughed for six hours and then fell asleep. A doctor said the drinks released his inhibitions and everything appeared screamingly funny.

There is a fellow, it seems to us, whose inhibitions must have been long overdue for release, glowering. He mustn't have laughed or smiled for six days, or even years. Then, a few drinks, and sowie — he'd got to do all his laughing at once for everything that's been funny since early 1953.

We'll take our laughing a little every day, by preference, thank you. Sometimes a morning with a warm chuckle before breakfast, to make the orange juice a bit more sunny, the bacon a bit more crisp; and winding up with a retrospective giggle just before turning out the light, to preface a pleasant dream.

Fish Ideal For Breakfast

(Sydney Post-Record)

Why Canadian restaurants, particularly in the Maritimes, don't offer fish on their breakfast menus is a profound mystery, and is deplorable and not a little surprising. The unvarying monotony of breakfast menus is indicative of a lack of inspiration, and certainly unimaginative.

Canadians, by and large, don't know what they are missing in cod, kippers, haddock, herring, once or twice a week, for breakfast. In lands across the sea, Britain and France in particular, no man can saddle for breakfast, is taken as a matter of course gratefully. What better way to start the day than with sturdy believers in the virtue of an early breakfast? Fish is ideal for the condition for a morning's solid work.

A bit of fish at the break of day in some restaurants on this side of the Atlantic, we are told, is positively startled. At first he can't believe his ears. He asks you to repeat what you said. "Fish" he exclaims in incredulous tones. Are you sure? Then he may go consult the management. "You hear whispered conversation in the background, and he tells you he'll see what he can do.

Finally he comes back and like as not reprovingly tells you he's sorry, no fish. Fish for breakfast—the very idea.

We are surrounded by a sea in which the best fish in the world swim merrily and many are caught. In Canada and part of our population fish for a living. The suppliers of fish have no difficulty in providing us with any fish we want to buy.

Yet we persist in the quaint idea that fish are only eaten at dinner and supper, and we go on plugging the same old refrain about bacon and eggs for breakfast, day in and out. Oh but it is monotonous.

Convenience And Curse

(Ottawa Journal)

It is now almost universal office practice to use those sharp wire staples for correspondence of more than one sheet. They are convenient and labor-saving devices for the sender but sometimes a curse for the receiver.

It is a matter of the eternal perversity of things that secretaries and stenographers bang in the staples in such a way as to conceal a key word or figure on page two or page three of the correspondence they send out. To get at the key word or figure, the addressee must pry away the staple and more often than not gets a painful scratch on finger or thumb in the process.

Former Defence Minister Claxton was one of the many so scratched and while displeased about it, found that the device was too valuable to his department to consider abandoning the stapling practice.

Medical authorities estimate that from 1 to 10% of ailments of doctors and folks call "the common cold" are really manifestations of allergy.

I believe one cause, if not the chief cause of allergic sensitivity is too many individuals today is calcium deficiency.

Thus I recommend an optional daily ration of calcium (of course with Vitamin D to insure proper utilization of the calcium) from now on, for asthma, hay fever, hives, migraine, bilious, giant hives (angioneurotic edema), periodic sick headaches (migraine), ordinary "nervous" or neuralgic headache, rhinorrhea and any other manifestation of allergic character.

I recommend clearly, please, that this is not medicine nor is it likely to correct the trouble if you take it just occasionally or temporarily. It's essential food which the refined modern diet the fails to provide.

Simple Life In South Seas

(London Free Press)

Spare a thought if you can for the unfortunate natives of Rennell Island, deep in the South Pacific, for the closest neighbors are on another waves-washed island 70 miles away.

The plight of these poor folk has been related by a British entomologist and his wife who spent their honeymoon on Rennell Island collecting beetles and birds.

The thousand-odd natives who live on Rennell don't own overcoa-s or galoshes. Not for them are the fine points of brakes and air-conditioning. They have nothing to smoke and nothing exciting to read. The headlines tell them of alarms and excursions in the outside world but revelations shows brighten their evening hours. Their only clock is the sun and moon.

For food they must subsist entirely on fish and root vegetables. No hamburgers, no pop, no sparkling water, no breakfast food. Nothing in cellophane-wrapped meat. They walk not to the supermarket but to the sea where a cow nor catch a train Cold or influenza are unknown. So far as known, the island community that they have never heard of the Salk vaccine. When fish are to be caught they spear them. When bananas and coconuts are ripe they gather and gather enough to eat and then go for the next day or two. They haven't even learned to fight one another.

Perhaps this is a case for quick intervention by the white man. Civilization has given the multitude rich fruits of progress while the native folk loll about in the sweltering heat of the South Pacific, ignorant of all the blessings of the outside world.

Let there be no delay in organizing an expedition to Rennell Island. There is need of a time to snap these idle Polynesians out of their lassitude to confer on them all the benefits of the civilization by which we are so full and satisfying an existence.

Maybe I think we must be in the woods because I see so many trees, but it does seem to me that Americans are more subject to allergic sensitivity today than ever before.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

PUT UP, OR ELSE - -

Greetings, Atheists! Bring forth your songs, hymns of praise, your inspirational poems, your prayers, your enterprises for human betterment. You claim to be the very select of mankind in your achievement. To what good work and what merciful endeavor has the enlightenment of yours led you?

On the other hand, we respectfully submit that the real intellects of our ancestral religions have as their chief concern the relieving of human suffering and the bettering of world conditions. The first hospital ever built by humans was built by a Christian woman almost 2000 years ago in the city of Rome. We cannot recall any atheists who helped dissolved from the world the blight of slavery. We have not observed any disbelievers standing along life's pathway with healing salves to assist the overburdened, and getting down into the dirt to bind up the wounds of those we have known the slings and arrows of an unfortunate fortune.

To be perfectly frank about it, does not your activities, Mr. and Miss Atheist, consist in writing articles against religion, making speeches and in general parading yourselves as intellectual somebodies?

The glory of the Christian Church abides in its millions of humble persons who rejoice in the privilege of being able to serve their fellows and to better the world in which they live.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

On the highway the other day the car immediately ahead of us suddenly decided to turn left into a driveway. I put on the brakes and his brakes and began the left turn. My friend who was driving exercising his right of way as naturally veered out left. But there was a side-swipe and a slight collision.

Our car was an old one, and a little shaken up, but the other's car that has tools scattered all over the seats and floor and cartons, none dried mud. The car ahead was a sleek new sport model.

Its driver was a big, angry young fellow who let loose immediately with an overwhelming volley of abuse. He got out, sportcoat off, a two handed swing and started at his crumpled rear fender and then clenched his fists and came for my friend.

"Get out of there," he gritted, "while I punch you in the nose!"

My friend, to my dismay, for he is a small man, opened the car door and stepped out. But as he did so, he reached to the floor and picked up a heavy wrench.

The sportsman glared at him.

"Yah," he taunted, "Put down that wrench!"

"Sure," smiled my friend. "You shrink yourself down to my size and I'll drop the wrench, eh! Let's make it a match contest, eh?"

So while my friend stood by with the wrench until the big boy cooled off, and the electric eye on my friend and accepted the big insurance check, everything my friend's in exchange.

Many big men want to take full advantage of their size. Many wealthy men insist upon taking full advantage of their wealth. Many clever men are determined to take full advantage of their brains. Some men insist that all of a triple coming in the progress of morality in the world when the Christian will take full advantage of monkey wrenches. It is quite a problem to figure out what is fair.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

Govt. Takes Over Civil Defence At Coventry

COVENTRY England (AP)—The Churchill government takes over the civil defence reins of this battered city this week. Socialist city councillors washed their hands of the whole business months ago, contending civil defence is inflicted against an ill-bomb.

Civil defence work will go on just the same, with the city's 3,000 volunteer workers putting in two or three nights a week at first aid lectures and rescue drill—and the national government will continue to foot the bill.

The council voted last April to disband the air-raidedness machinery as just so much waste of time in this bombed-out city. One bomb to the city, they said, and there wouldn't be anybody left to rescue anybody else anyway.

WIFE'S APPEAL FAILED

Personal appeals by Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe failed to move the council, so last week the government stepped in and appointed three regional assistants to form a commission and run the show.

It has all worked out nicely and smoothly. The government keeps civil defence going in Coventry and for once has registered its protest.

The only people likely to be not so pleased about the whole business are the local taxpayers. Getting three more officials in from London is going to add a penny or two to the local rate.

Under a 1948 act of Parliament, local authorities have to foot the bill for any outside help sent in to carry out duties they refuse to accept. The cost of the civil defence costs are met by the central government.

PUBLIC STIRRED UP

Coventry's refusal to carry out the defence program caused quite a stir in Britain since the densely-populated Midlands city is probably the most cruelly bombed in the Second World War.

Its citizens have stood up to the continual air raids villainly and accomplished wonders in the way of possible feats of restoration and rehabilitation.

Throughout the bombing its giant automobile factories never stopped churning out their vital war needs, needed to fight the war against Hitler—and its people never quit the city.

The present big blow-up—and the Labor councillors are among the first to admit it—is almost entirely political. The big Labor-minded city was the hope it would provide a plank in the program to ban atomic warfare. Another was to attract national attention to what some councillors called the present "inadequate" arrangements for civil defence.

Woman Stabbed Priest While He Said Mass

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest, stabbed while celebrating mass, is recovering today, while Josephine Avanzino, 37, described by police as his assailant, is being held in the psychiatric ward of San Francisco hospital.

Rev. Bernard C. Cronin, 44, suffered a neck wound Monday in St. Gabriel's church when a woman stabbed him from behind as he celebrated the mass.

Police apprehended Miss Avanzino as she prayed in a rear pew. She refused to identify herself or make any statement. Identification was established many hours later by her 69-year-old mother, Mrs. Natalie Avanzino.

Mr. Avanzino told police her daughter had a record of mental illness dating from childhood. She said her daughter turned violently against religion six years ago, but swung back to a strong faith four years later.

"She's a very religious girl," Mrs. Avanzino said, "she goes to church every day."

Before the horrified eyes of a little group of worshippers, the assailant had plunged a long steel blade into the back of the neck of Father Cronin as he stood between two altar boys.

Then she pulled out the knife, laid the crimsoned blade by the slumped body of the priest, walked to a rear pew and bowed her head.

Fair Practices Enforcement Asked in Dresden

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto and Lakeshore Labor Council (CIO-CCL) Monday urged the provincial department of labor to take "firm and immediate steps" to inform the southwestern community of Dresden, as well as offending shop owners, of the provisions of the Fair Accommodations Practices Act" and their intention to enforce it.

Sid Blum, executive secretary of the joint labor committee for human rights, said one restaurant owner told him on a recent visit that he had introduced in the spring session of the Ontario legislature was not passed and was not a law.

"I found just as much ignorance about the act among community leaders," said Mr. Blum.

He said one Dresden restaurant had eliminated its anti-Negro policy since the act was passed but two others came to serve Negroes, as do all the five barber shops.

He won the Canadian trap championship seven times; captured the Canadian handicap once, and was skeet champion twice. He was trap-shooting champion of the United States in 1933.

Gruesome Photos Depict Remains Of Three Hunters

PERCE, Que. (CP)—Gruesome pictures of the skeletons of three American bear hunters piled up as evidence today as the murder trial of prospector Wilbert Coffin moved into its 11th day.

The photographs were introduced Monday night by Dr. Jean Marie Roussel, police medico-legal expert from Montreal. They included pictures of reconstructed skeletons of Eugene Lindsey, 47, and Fred Claar, 30, which brought objections from defence attorney Raymond Maher.

Maher argued that Coffin is charged only with the murder of Richard Lindsey, 17, whose body was found last summer in the Gaspe wilderness. He said evidence regarding the deaths of the elder Lindsey and Claar, whose bodies were found along with that of Richard Lindsey, should not be admitted.

JUSTICE DISAGREES

Mr. Justice Gerard Lacroix disagreed, however, and upheld the argument of chief prosecutor Noel Dorion that "no matter how many deaths we have to prove our present plan is necessary to prove the identity of Richard Lindsey."

Dr. Roussel said Eugene Lindsey died about Nov. 17, 1953, possibly earlier, but was unable to establish the cause of death. He also identified a hair found on a telescope and the butt of a rifle near the body as belonging to the elder Lindsey.

The medico - legal expert also identified three bullets and two other shirts earlier described as belonging to Richard Lindsey, had been pierced by a bullet.

"Laboratory analysis at Montreal revealed a hole corresponding around the holes in the three garments . . . was made by a bullet, in nearly instantaneous," he said.

He said he believed the victim was killed by the rifle and the bullet pierced his upper left lung and heart.

TESTIFIES RE BODIES

He testified that the remains of two of the men were presented to him at Gaspe on July 25. They were later identified as those of Richard Lindsey and Claar.

The most notable skeleton had a skull, pelvis, the larger part of the spine, most of the left leg bones, arms and most of the ribs.

Earlier Monday, a broker from Val d'Or in northern Quebec testified that Coffin had joined in the search for the hunters after they were reported missing on the bear-hunting expedition.

Ernest Lavoie said he had gone to Gaspe to examine property. He said he was told on the strength of a high-grade copper analysis. He said they were to study the report July 21 but Coffin told him he could not accompany them because he had been asked to search for the hunters.

Men Tell Secrets Jailed 15 Months

KINGSTON, Jamaica (Reuter) Lester Simmonds, former minister of education, and Vincent Truman, a Kingston newspaper man, Monday were sentenced to 15 months' imprisonment.

They were found guilty Friday on three counts of a 12-count indictment of conspiring to communicate secret information to "persons unknown." They were acquitted on the other nine counts.

Simmonds denied in court that he had given executive council secrets to Truman who, he said, only came to see him in his capacity as a reporter.

It was announced last Oct. 16 that Simmonds had been relieved of his post as minister of education on the recommendation of the chief minister, William Bustamente.

Fireman Killed Fighting Blaze At Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—One fireman was crushed to death Monday night and another injured while fighting a two-hour blaze that gutted a four-house in east-end Longue Pointe.

Jean-Marie Boivin, 27, was killed when a wall of the building collapsed, trapping him underneath. A companion, Gilles Monette, 23, was taken to hospital.

Firemen from two stations played 30 streams of water on the ice-house, situated across the street from the St. Jean de Dieu mental hospital.

For a time, the fire threatened to spread to the hospital, but firemen managed to bring it under control two hours after it was first reported.

Falling debris and the intense heat prevented fellow firemen from rescuing Boivin after the wall had toppled over him.

Firemen said large quantities of sawdust stored within the building helped feed the flames.

Cause of the fire and estimate of damages were not immediately available.

Municipal authorities report Monette's condition as satisfactory.

Italian Girl Was Murdered

ROME (Reuters) — A post-mortem on the body of Wilma Montesi has proved she was murdered, Italian newspapers reported Monday.

The pretty 21-year-old brunette, partially undressed, was found dead on the beach at Ostia more than two years ago.

Her death caused a scandal concerning drug orgies in which she and other attractive young girls allegedly took part with high-ranking Italian government officials.

The newspapers said Monday the doctors proved that the girl did not die from drowning after bathing her feet at Ostia, as a first inquest decided.

Says Hong Kong Ignored Plight Of Plane Victims

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Star's staff correspondent William Stevenson said Monday in a dispatch from Hong Kong that many Britons in the colony are "humiliated and angry" . . . at the colonial government's reaction to the shooting down of a British airliner off Hainan.

Stevenson, who was in the air in another plane at the time of the shooting and heard the crippled plane report an engine on fire, described how Chinese fighters attacked, including women and children, drifted in a life-raft exposed to the broiling sun and the risk of further attacks. . . .

He added: "So frightened were the Hong Kong authorities of upsetting their giant neighbor, Red China, they even denied at first there had been any attack at all. Stevenson learned the attitude of authorities "a prize example of what happens when profits become more important than pride" and asserted that "while nothing British can do here can alter the fact that Red China can sweep this colony of traders into the sea whenever she fancies" . . . It seems obvious they're under pressure from Peiping to behave here not to offend the Chinese in any way."

Ottawa Says Relief Problem Up to Province

He said he received a telegram from acting prime minister J. J. McCann replying to his request, as president of the Ontario Mayors and Reeves Association, for a conference on the problem.

He quoted Mr. McCann as saying "relief to unemployed and financial problems of municipalities are both subjects that are constitutional responsibilities of the province."

Mayor Rush said he intends to send another telegram to Ottawa asking for an explanation of the constitutional grounds mentioned in the reply.

Ordinary Lard Works to Prevent Start of Cancer

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Ordinary lard contains a chemical which works to prevent the start of cancers in animals, an American scientist said Monday. Injected into mice, it counteracts a potent chemical which otherwise would give the animals cancer.

This effect was reported to the sixth International Cancer Congress by Dr. Murray J. Shear of the National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, Md. He said the next task is to learn if this substance in lard can retard or otherwise strike at already-established cancers.

Shear said the lard chemical is worth further study as a potential drug and for help in learning more about the mystery of how human cancers begin. There is no evidence he added, that eating lard conferS any benefit.

Weddings

CAMPBELL—PRICE

Of wide interest was the picturesque wedding at St. Paul's Anglican Church, Marmora, on Saturday afternoon, when marriage vows were exchange between Barbara Anne Price, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Price, of Marmora, and Robert Campbell, son of Mr. Robert Campbell of Toronto. Canon M. Brownlie, rector, was the officiating clergyman. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion with gladioli, phlox and eucophelia.

The organist, Mrs. R. Frost, played wedding music and Mrs. L. E. Randle sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William Price, looked lovely in a long in gown of pale blue lace and tulle, fitted strapless lace bodice with bouffant tulle skirt, in waltz length. Her pale blue tulle veil formed a crescent sprinkled with rhinestones and she carried a bouquet of roses, sweetpeas and stephanotis.

She was attended by Mrs. Ernest Barry, of Toronto, sister of the bridegroom, attired in a gown of lace and tulle in shrimp shade and similar in style to that of the bride's. She wore a matching coronet trimmed with rhinestones and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Mr. Ernest Barry discharged the duties of best man.

After the ceremony, a reception was held on the spacious rectory lawn where the bride's mother received in a gown of pink and white embossed nylon with white velvet hat. She wore a corsage of sweetpeas and fern.

Later, the bride and bridegroom left for a trip to Northern Ontario. For travelling she wore a pale blue jacket dress of Orlon with white accessories.

On their return they will live at 776 O'Connor Drive, Toronto.

Business Women's Clubs Open Meeting at Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The mid-summer heat and humidity of Toronto left 600 women limp Monday night. But their enthusiasm for the female's place in the business world was undampened.

AS MUCH AS A MAN

"I have always had a magnificent respect for your members," he said. "You display just as much ability as any man and sometimes I think you have a little bit more."

Various recommendations and resolutions will come out of the convention during the next week affecting conditions of working women. The organization has as its theme this year, "Women, Horizons Unlimited."

Winter Fabrics Offer Variety To Fassion World

PARIS (Reuters)—New collections of autumn and winter fabrics indicate that the silhouette will be restrained to emphasize the varied play of prints, and patterned and relief weaves.

Every type of chine, jacquard and cloque fabric is available for daytime, with faconnes, brocades, velvets and warp prints for formal wear.

Surface interest is paramount in coatings, with soft polished textures under long-haired finishes. Rodier features new coatings with a shiny and dull texture contrast, worked in broad stripes. Jacquard weaves stars in heavy woolens, fabrics with animal hairs used to produce an effect of fur marking.

Other houses like velvet finishes, in matelas, two-toned coatings. A new treatment, seen in every type of textile, features thick yarn threaded through the basic fabric in a broken line stripe.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

NEEDN'T PAY GUEST'S TRAVELING EXPENSES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have invited a girl who is a far friend of mine and who has worked with me in the office for several years, to spend her vacation with me (we have the same two weeks) at my home which is about five hours train ride from here. I have bought my airfreed ticket, round trip, but I doubt if she has bought hers, as she hasn't mentioned it. Now I'm wondering if I am expected to buy her ticket, because we are traveling together. Should this be considered a part of my hospitality? I really don't feel that I can afford to pay her fare both ways, or even one way, since, although we are to stay at my home with my mother and sister, there will be some entertainment—expenses . . . shall I?

No, it is not necessary for you to pay her travelling expenses, nor should she expect this. As a matter of fact, since she must realize that this expenditure is one you should have gotten busy, bought her round-trip ticket, and assumed you that she had it . . thus thoughtfully avoiding any awkwardness. I suggest that if she doesn't do this soon, you might drop a hint, tactfully, of course. The cost of the line waiting at the ticket office when we leave . . so I bought my round-trip ticket and hope that you can dash down to the station sometime soon and get your ticket." Don't be self-conscious about making this suggestion . . when one is on a budget it's wise to be forthright about such things, particularly at the beginning of a visit when similar questions may arise.

NOT NECESSARY TO INVITE BOY-FRIEND

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Those are our plans: our church wedding is to be in the morning, quite early; this to be followed by a wedding breakfast for our attendants and families only; in the evening a reception and dance to which all our friends and relatives will be invited. My maid of honor, who is my fiancé's sister, thinks that he boy-friend (they are not engaged) should be invited to the wedding breakfast, for which she want p sak only our attendants and families. What do you think I should do about this? — Rhoda

Explain . . graciously but firmly . . to your maid of honor that only dendants and members of the families are to be invited to the breakfast, but that you are looking forward having her boy-fiend come to the reception and once in the evening. If need be, explain also that if you have her by-friend, others who are not members of the families will expect s be invited.

THAK-YOU NOTES FOR MASS CARDS

Dearkirs. Beeckman:

Our brother passed on three week ago, and my sister and I between us, have written most of the tank-you notes for the flowers sents the Funeral Home, and for all se notes of condolence. Please tell s if it li also necessary for us to send Thank Cards. — I and R.

Yi . . . most definitely yes! A Mas tard is a particularly houghtful and reverent gesture, and every good and kind fried who sends cach a card shold receive a sincere and appreciative note. These need not bewritten promptly. . friends will understand, and may need not b long. Just a sentence or two of wrm gratitude for the thought ad significance of this thought.

ACCESSORIES TO ACCOMPANY GOOM'S BLUE BUSINESS SUIT

Dar Mrs. Beeckman:

Our wedding is to be an informal afternoon wedding in the chapel of our church, with only our families and a few relatives and intimate friends present. The groom and I have a best man, I will have a maid of honor. I am to wear a street-length suit. The bride-groom is to wear a dark-blue business suit.

1. At the ceremony should he wear gloves (or at least wear one of his hands)? Should he carry the other as I have seen at formal weddings?

2. With a business suit would a gardenia be appropriate? If not, what?

3. Would a white four-in-hand tie be appropriate? — Gail T.

1. No. No gloves with a business suit.

2. No. . . a gardenia is too 'all-dressed-up" looking for a business suit. You could wear a rose-bud with a business suit is a white aster. Or, a very popular plan in summer is for the groom to wear white corn flowers, the best man and ushers (if any) to wear blue cornflowers.

3. No. . . a white tie also gives the impression of being too dressy by better. taste is the four-in-hand tie. This should be worn combined with white or light-gray. Or blue bow ties if (and such an important if) how ties are favored by the groom and his attendants.

THIS IDEA IS IN BAD TASTE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our daughter plans to marry soon, for the second time. Would it be all right to use the wedding gifts we have now (from my first marriage), or is this bad luck? I haven't suggested this to my husband-to-be yet.) — E.W.

Oh, lady, please don't entertain any such idea. This is not a question of bad luck. . .but it is certainly a question of taste! I am sure positive that your husband-to-be would object to your suggested his putting on your finger during the ceremony the ring with which you were married to your first husband. (If he doesn't rebel, he shouldn't)

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

GRANDMOTHERS STAY BEAUTIFUL, NOW

No longer is it necessary for a woman to bear the marks of her age—in face, figure or clothes. Once upon a time it was not considered de rigeur for older women to use make-up, because rouge and drabness were almost synonymous terms. But now look at them! Smart and chirpy! Defying the old gent with the scythe and the long white whiskers to touch with his cruel fingers!

These modern women started early on the good looks campaign. By keeping their complexions smooth and soft with nourishing creams they have staved off wrinkles. They have also kept in step with the fashion parade.

They have been figure wise, too. A few extra pounds and their war against fat cells began. A little intelligent attention to diet, a daily check with the bath room scales and they kept to normal weight.

Then they started women started early on the good looks campaign. By keeping their complexions smooth and soft with nourishing creams they have staved off wrinkles. They have also kept in step with the fashion parade.

They have been figure wise, too. A few extra pounds and their war against fat cells began. A little intelligent attention to diet, a daily check with the bath room scales and they kept to normal weight.

That is the secret—a woman of any age secures her most enviable and unusual activities. She must have some kind of interesting work to do. Some worthy cause to which her leisure lead exceedingly active lives these days. Some way to identify herself in charities and community affairs.

The greatest folly is to let the mind dwell on the past. Probably the good old days were not so good after all! To talk about them all the time is to risk boredom.

Half the secret of smart appearance, is a modish and becoming hairdo. When the hair is gray a few straggling locks will look terrible. Only the young and beautiful can get away with a "scrambled" effect.

Whether one is plump or thin or of generally good proportions the most important parts of the wardrobe, as far as the silhouette is concerned, is the foundation garment. It must not be selected casually but be fitted by an experienced corsetiere.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SOMETHING FOR A BRIDE-TO-BE TO THINK ABOUT

A point to which more than one bride-to-be, perhaps, might give consideration, is made in a letter I have received from the mother of three sons, one of whom is already married.

This mother takes issue with me for my stand a few weeks ago to a girl who was quarreling with her fiancé because she wanted a big church wedding and he didn't. I suggested to the girl that she stop quarreling and by coaxing, telling her fiance that she realizes men usually hate the ordeal of a formal wedding, but that because this is the girl's heart's desire the traditional kind of glamour wedding and cherish the memory all their lives, she hopes he will let her have her way.

"In this era, a bridegroom might as well be the guest of honor at a 'get-together-man'", writes his mother so this mother was totally unsalled on his happiness and peace of mind considered. It was quite refreshing to receive a letter from a man with the courage and the daring to ask that his wife-to-be have her own wedding. Hope you're him!

"Aside from his own personal feelings about the wedding, this young man may have other very good reasons for wanting to go in elaborate function. He may feel that his own family would be unhappy and ill at ease under such circumstances. Perhaps he knows that members of his family would be unable to dress as required for such an occasion. Such problems not a few men in a very difficult position, trying to be loyal both to his family and his fiancee."

The mother then goes on to describe the circumstances under which one of her own sons was married, when both his bride and her mother insisted upon an elaborate formal wedding. Due to the fact that her family had had a long illness, the bridegroom's family could not afford to spend money on formal clothes for such an affair. Moreover, her son was not at all at ease in formal dress, and his other brother as an usher, together with the boy's were working their way through college, they had no money to spare even for a formal outfit.

They had good dark suits, in which they had acted as best man and usher at church weddings of their friends," the mother concluded, "but because they could not afford the formal attire considered essential by the bride and her family, the upshot was that neither of my son's attended their brother's wedding. I am sorry for myself and was the only member of the bride-groom's family present. The whole experience left a bitter feeling of resentment in my family."

She then concludes with a very logical suggestion:

"In cases where a young man objects to an elaborate wedding, I feel that it is essential to the girl should make a point of finding out how he feels as he does, and if for any reason at all, such a wedding would make him unhappy or embarrass him, she should then plan the event so it would be a happy occasion for both of them."

Because this woman and her whole family went through a most distressing time, she knows all too well what a young man may suffer if the bride-to-be insists on a formal wedding without regard for his own desires. I think she has added a great deal of value to what I first said on the subject.

Cakes To Freeze

By Mary Moore

Mrs. Roy L. writes to me asking for jam and orange bread recipes. But added there: "Also I have another problem: I read that one could chill and cover a sponge cake with sweetened and flavored whipped cream and then freeze it for company coming unexpectedly. Could you please send me a recipe for a two-layer sponge cake to fit in pans about 8x1 1-4 inches round also directions for freezing the cake, type of paper to wrap it in etc. Would it be possible to use a lemon filling between layers and whipped cream on the outside and freeze successfully?

Because I have other requests from readers on this topic of freezing frosted or decorated cakes I am giving you the one that I have made myself and served after one month's storage in the freezer. It is not exactly like the cake Mrs. Roy L. asks for but is the nearest I can come to one which I can recommend.

ANGEL RIBBON CAKE

Make an angel food cake in large loaf or tube pan. Cut it into three layers. Spread straw-berry jam between first and second layer and green mint cream between second and third layers. (Substitute greater-red colors if you wish.) Make Ice Cream: While 1 pint heavy cream until stiff then add 1 tablespoon each of peppermint or almond flavoring, 1-2 cup vanilla and blend. From top and sides of cake with whipped cream. Cover with 2 to 3 cups shredded coconut and return to freezer until ready to serve. It is hard. Wrap in "Tile" and seal with Permacel tape or "Freezrite" wax. While I put here Permacel Tape or "Cellophane" and overwrap with Aluministe or aluminum foil and overwrap with Frostinette or in plastic bags. Freeze. Serve when thawed. Freezer life: one month.

Another fruit-type cake that I have not made but which has been made by a dietitian friend of mine and which I have tasted is

PINK PARTY CAKE

Two and one-half cups sifted cake flour, 1-2 cups sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup vegetable shortening, 1-2 cup milk, 1-4 teaspoon vanilla, 2 teaspoons lemon extract, 4 unbeaten egg whites, 1-3 cup well-drained and very finely chopped maraschino cherries, 1-2 cup finely chopped pecans. Sift 1-2 sifted cake flour, the sugar, baking powder, and salt into mixing bowl. Break up the lumps of shortening. Add 1-4 cup of the milk and the vanilla and cherry juice and add 2-3 cup of this liquid and the flavoring and mix very well. Add the remaining liquid and egg and mix well. Add cherries and nuts and blend. Bake in 2 deep 9-inch buttered layer pans this at 375 deg. Fahr. for 20 to 25 minutes. Ice with Pink Frosting (see below). Place in freezer to harden. Package in any of the ways mentioned above, under Angel Ribbon Cake and freeze. Storage life 3 months. When serving time comes allow about 2 1-2 hours at room temperature in original wrapping.

PINK FROSTING

One quarter cup butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 teaspoon almond extract, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 4 cups sifted icing sugar, 9 tablespoons scalded cream, red food coloring. Combine butter, vanilla, almond, salt and mix well. Beat in 1-2 cup sugar. Add hot cream alternately with remaining sugar, beating well after each addition, adding only enough cream to make this of easy spreading consistency. Add coloring to make a delicate pink.

If there are readers who would like recipes for cookie dough to freeze please let me know.

Shooting of British Airliner Sours U.K. on Red China

LONDON (AP) — British sentiment for accepting Communist China into the United Nations showed signs of souring Monday as newspapers hotly protested the shooting down of a British airliner by Red fighters.

The papers' comments were published some hours before a Peiping radio broadcast, heard in Tokyo, termed the downing of the plane "unfortunate" and "entirely accidental." The broadcast said Red China would pay compensation for the losses. One of the 18 persons aboard the plane died of bullet wounds; nine others are missing and presumed dead.

The British coffee announced Sunday that Britain's charge d'affaires in Peiping, Humphrey Trevelyan, had delivered an official protest to the Chinese government.

One of the angriest editorials was published in the Daily Mirror. Headed 'stupid and barbarous," the Mirror said the British government and the British people long have been anxious to bring her (China) into the UN, but it added:

"What is the good of Chou En-lai, China's premier, behaving like a civilized man at Geneva when his government permits such an atrocity at home?

"Chou lately has been lecturing Western statesmen on peace and 'co-existence.' It is time he lectured some of his own stupid and dangerous colleagues."

Daily Telegraph declared: "Chinese intentions will be judged not by peaceful protestations meant for foreign consumption but by whatever action the Chinese government takes to punish or condemn such barbaric murder."

The Times said "Nothing can excuse the wanton shooting down of a civilian passenger aircraft going about its lawful occasions."

Turkish Papers Report Climber Finds Noah's Ark

ANKARA, Turkey (Reuters)—The United States embassy here is checking Turkish newspaper reports that an American climber has sighted the remains of Noah's ark on Mount Ararat.

Istanbul newspapers claimed that a Californian, identified only as John Libby, had reached the village of Dogubayazit, near Turkey's eastern frontier, after an ascent of the 17,160-foot mountain and said he had found remnants of the ark. He added that he planned a second attempt on the mountain when the weather cleared.

Two American expeditions and one French group in recent years have climbed the mountain where, according to the Old Testament account, the ark in which Noah and his family survived the flood came to rest when the waters went down. But none has found the remains of the ark.

Russia complained that one of the American expeditions was a cover for espionage. During the war Allied airmen reported seeing something on top of the mountain which could be the ruins of an ark.

C.N.R. Revenue Declines in June

MONTREAL. — The decreasing volume of traffic being carried by the Canadian railways is again reflected in lower earnings reported in the monthly income and expense statement released here today by the Canadian National Railways for the month of June, and in the aggregate figures for the first six months of the year as compared with those of 1954.

Operating revenues were $55,674,000 in June, a decrease of $5,894,000 compared with the corresponding month of last year. Operating expenses this year were $52,543,000. Last year they totalled $56,837,000.

Despite the fact that expenses for the first six months of 1954 were reduced by $24,297,000, the net revenue position of the railway showed a decrease of $9,146,000. Gross revenues for the six-month period were $33,443,000 below the corresponding figure for last year.

Britain, U.S. Increase Trade With Soviet Bloc

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain and the United States have agreed to cut by one third the list of goods barred from trade with Soviet bloc countries, P. G. Thorneycroft, president of the board of trade, told the House of Commons today.

Beginning Aug. 16, the list of goods embargoed for shipment from the West will be cut to about 170 items from 260, he said. At the same time, the list of items on which only limited quantities can be shipped will be cut to 30 from 90.

This action does not apply to Communist China, he said.

The restrictions have been in effect on what were considered to be strategic goods which might contribute to Communist war potential. Britain has been reported to believe many items on the list did not properly come under the heading of strategic materials. Meetings with the U. S. were held to consider knocking some of the items off the list.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma got a letter from Aut Fanny at breakfast, saying to pop, Well, my sister Fanny and her husband will be in town for the day this Wednesday, so they'll have dinner here and spend the evening with us, that's nice.

It's nice with one exception, Wensday is my bowling nite, pop said, and ma said, Now William, are you going to rush out of the house after dinner Wensday because you dont like my sister?

Not at all, my dear, If I rush out, it will be because I like bowling, pop said, and ma said, You know you dont like Fanny, and you never have.

You are very unjust, my dear, pop said. I like your sister every bit as much as I like her husband, and I always have.

There's nothing the matter with Herbit, ma said, and pop said, I'm sure he'd be the first to admit it. But dont worry, I have every intention of staying home, and nothing I say will give Fanny and Herbit the slightest idea that they are spoiling my evening, he said.

Well I should hope not for land sakes, ma said, and pop said, I wont eat a single word to arouse their slapicions. I can promise you that an occational grunt on my part will be the only thing that will distinguish me from a clam, he said.

William Potts, ma said, and Pop said, Leave it all to me, my dear.

Oh dear, I'll make some excuse or other ma said. I can tell them with a strate conscience that you have to leave on an important part will be the only thing that will bowling does seem vitally important to you, she said.

Guelph Royals File Protest On Players

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Ernie Gorman, co-owner of the Guelph-Waterloo Royals, has filed a protest with the Intercounty Baseball League, league commissioner John Gillies said Monday.

Gillies said Gorman protested that Joe Bechard of London Majors and Roger Breard of St. Thomas Eagles are ineligible and that games in which they played should be disallowed.

In his protest Gorman said Bechard and Breard were signed by their respective clubs after the signing deadline without the clubs releasing a player.

A league rule sets July 15 as the deadline for signing players but there is a loophole which permits any club to get a replacement after that date, Gorman claimed no players were released by the clubs at that time and the replacement clause doesn't work. Commissioner Gillies said he will make a decision on the situation today.

Bechard, infield-outfield utility man, has played with London since 1948. He left the club in 1953 to join the United States Army and signed again with the Majors immediately on release.

Roger Breard, an infielder, is a brother of Stan Breard, manager of Brantford Red Sox until replaced by Harry Fisher last Saturday. He has played only one game with the Royals.

Top Stars Win Tennis Round

TORONTO (CP)—Canadian tennis stars, their rackets still hot from last week's Dominion tennis championships, moved on to the clay courts of Toronto's Boulevard Club Monday night for the opening play of the Ontario tennis championships.

During the first-round men's singles event, none of the eight top-seeded players was pressed to more than a 6-3 score as they polished off opponents in two straight sets. Three won by default.

Two Toronto men, Don Platt and Jim Bentley, seeded No. 2 and No. 3 moved forward when their opponents defaulted.

R. Talby of Kitchener defeated G. Walker, Toronto 6-3, 6-0.

OK Mr. Santee, Landy, Bannister 'From Missouri'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wes Santee, trim and slender in his U.S. marines uniform, predicted Monday that a 3:50 mile is not far in the future and he let it be known his figures he is just the fellow to run it.

Speaking to a luncheon gathering of One Touchdown Club of Washington the track star said "I'm going to concentrate on track, train as hard as I can and sacrifice everything I have to bring the mile record back to the United States."

He said he knows quite well that Australia's John Landy and England's Roger Bannister, both of whom have run the mile in less than four minutes this year, are tough competitors and that he has his work cut out for him.

But Santee was certain the mile standard would get down to 3:55 in the near future. And, he added: "Who knows? Maybe a 100 years from now, they may think of four as slow time."

He will be released from the marines this summer.

Top Links Stars Enter Canadian Golf Open

TORONTO (CP)—Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., winner of some 70 big time tournaments, will be among entries in the $26,500 Open at the Toronto Scarboro course Aug. 23-28.

Some 75 U.S. golfers and about 38 Canadians have already entered the field which is limited to 150 players.

Other leading U.S. pros entered include Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N.C., Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., and Bob Toski of Livingston, N.J., the top three winners to date on the U.S. pro circuit.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio long-time U.S. amateur star, and Gene Littler of Palm Springs, Calif., 1953 U.S. amateur champion, now turned professional, are also entered in the Open.

Major Leagues Ban Signing College Stars

NEW YORK (AP)—The major league baseball club owners Monday passed a resolution forbidding the signing of college players between their sophomore and senior years and abandoned the idea of inter-league competition during the regular season.

A 90-minute joint meeting of the two leagues, the owners agreed to permit five players from each club—three veterans and two rookies—to play an unlimited number of games in the winter circuit. However, they stipulated that the winter league should end Feb. 15, including the Latin-American world series.

Last year, the same number of players from each team were allowed to play winter ball but were limited to 80 games.

The majors also ruled against conditional transfers of players to leagues of lower class. This covers such instances as a player being sent down "on approval," pending his performance or his physical condition.

A proposed plan for inter-league play died before it even got on the floor of the joint meeting. General manager Hank Greenberg of Cleveland, father of the plan, withdrew his idea because of opposition in his own league. He said he'll submit it again.

Remove Ban On Jockey

LONDON (CP)—The Jockey Club ruling body of English racing, reinstated Monday and ended its nine-month ban on Irish trainer P. J. (Paddy) Prendergast. The results are expected to become apparent almost immediately.

Prendergast, 44, has a string of some 90 thoroughbreds under his care in County Kildare. He was barred from the English turf last October after a race at Ascot involving Blue Sail, later purchased by Calgary sportsmen Max Bell and Frank McMahon for £10,000.

The English ruling ruled there were "discrepancies" in the performances of Blue Sail in England and Ireland. After the ban, the colt was temporarily placed under another trainer and ran unplaced in the Epsom Derby last June 2.

With the ban now lifted, Prendergast's raids on English races is a feature of the last two years will be hotly renewed and Blue Sail, the cause of his suspension, may again make racing headlines.

British Empire Games Notes

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Murray Halberg, quiet, unassuming New Zealander, may be the man who can upset all calculations in the mile of the masters.

With the British Empire Games fast approaching, Empire Village—home of the Commonwealth's athletes—and Vancouver itself have been buzzing in anticipation of the epic race that will bring together England's Roger Bannister and Australia's John Landy.

It's a natural if ever there was one. Bannister first broke through the four-minute barrier with 3:59.4. Landy clipped that record-shattering mark with his sensational 3:58.

IS CONFIDENT

Now Halberg, 20-year-old student teacher, has told Herbie Towes, New Zealand's track coach: "I am confident I can do as well as I did in New Zealand." That means he will do at least 4:04.4.

"Halberg has lots of guts and he will be in there fighting to the finish, you can count on that," said assistant manager P. N. Robinson.

Halberg had no one to push him when he ran his 4:04.4 mile at home and also when he won in Philadelphia last April in 4:10. He had to be on his own.

There are 17 entrants in the mile. The heats, at nine and eight, will be 5th Aug. 5 and the final Aug. 7. Four will qualify from each heat.

"It's a certainty Bannister and Landy won't be put in the same heat," said Robinson. "That means that Halberg will find out something about at least one of them in the heat in which he runs."

GREAT EXCITEMENT

There was no disguising the excitement in the Australian camp Monday when Landy ripped off three-quarters of a mile in 2:59.4. He warmed up a few times by running the 220 distance, then cut loose over the three-quarter distance.

"I knew he was turning it on the way he was running," said coach Leigh Miller of the Canadian team. "He was busy with his athletics in the infield at University of British Columbia Stadium.

"I knew it more so when I saw he was really puffing when he stopped."

Some time later Landy laughed off the time by which Australian officials clocked him.

"Oh, I wasn't running that fast, he said. "I can't run like that after breakfast."

BY-PLAY

There was a little by-play just before Landy cut loose. He was jogging around the track when he passed John Savidge, England's shot-put expert who was practising in the infield.

"Pardon me, sir," called out Savidge, a six-foot-seven-inches giant, "your style looks good. If you will come to England we will make a runner out of you."

Savidge then hurled practice shots of 54 and 55 feet.

Bannister took things easy Monday, working out on grass. But he literally ran to lunch, with Chris Chataway, England's three-miler and the man who pushed him to his 3:59.4. The two came from their hut and suddenly appeared to realize the luncheon deadline had been reached. Both trotted briskly to the dining hall.

DIVER HAS MUMPS

The hospital list today included England's Frank Mercer, spring-board diver, victim of the mumps, and Mary Lawrance of Toronto. Miss Lawrance suffered a small chip off a bone in the right ankle when struck by the discus. She was practising the shot put. Ken Swallwell of Vancouver lost control of his discus while making his pivot.

England will likely replace Jim Meech, boxing manager-coach, who injured himself Friday when he fell trying to climb over the transom of a locked gymnasium door. Meech, suffering from an injured back, is in hospital.

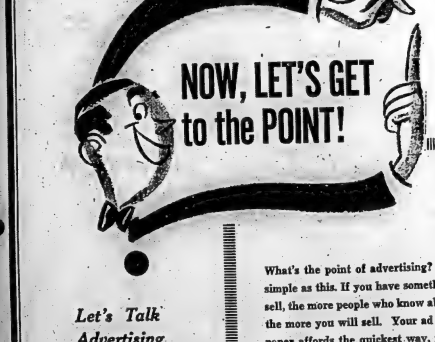
In the Canadian weightlifters' camp four were reported suffering mild attacks of sore throat. Gerard Cote of St. Hyacinthe, Que., veteran Canadian marathon runner, celebrated his birthday Monday by running 21 miles. Cote blandly said he was 38 years old.

Cote, a three-time winner of the Boston marathon, predicted the marathon will be won in less than two hours and 25 minutes. The winner? "It looks like Jim Peters or England is the man to beat," he said.

Tigers Defeat Mounties 24-9

HAMILTON (CP)—Hamilton Tigers defeated Mimico Mountaineers 24-9 in an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior game here Monday night.

Top Tiger scorers were Jim MacMahon and Jack Dorney, with four goals apiece. Bob Dobbie, J. J. Hill and Joe McNulty each added three, while doubles went to Tony D'Amico, Skip Teal and Jim McNulty. Tony Capula notched a single.



Al Garbutt paced the Mountaineers with three goals. Pop Chard and Donald Meeke tallied two apiece and singles went to Bert Barrager and Hal Donner.

Not Much Danger Seen Of Communism Here

EDMONTON (CP) M.-J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said Monday he does not think there is much danger of communism taking root in Canada.

Here for the CCF national council meeting Wednesday, he told a press conference he sees little danger from communism as countries where "the democratic institutions are functioning properly."

There is, he said, more danger from fascism. Such a danger existed in the United States where "McCarthyism is a form of fascism." He hoped never to see it in Canada the setting up of committees to delve into the thoughts of peoples' minds.

Hope Burns In Flatbush As 'Bums' Whittle Giants' Lead To Three Games

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

SOFTBALL

The final game of the Belleville District Softball League is on tap tonight, then heigh for the jolly old playoffs. The dates have not been set as yet due to the fact the OAHA playdowns dates which were added to Hamilton last week-end have not as yet been forwarded by Secretary Frank Feaver. They should be along any day now.

In any event the first and fourth teams and the second and third teams will battle it out in the "A" section while the "AA" laddybucks will play a home and home round robin.

Paul Mercier and "Warpy" O'Brien are still sizzling about the Bluebird Juniors, last year's titlewinners, being overlooked in the Kingston Penitentiary Softball Congress, slated for the "big house" August 2. Paul Anne got the nod from the "pen" recreation officials, for some reason or other. Oom Paul and "Warpy" plus the Bluebirds hold the Allan Trophy and as such should have been invited to defend their title. There is a big misunderstanding somewhere.

VISITOR

Ed. Schrieber, one of the better umpires in the Toronto Senior Baseball League was in town Saturday and visited the press box during the Dependables-Batas game. Ed has gone a long way since that memorable day in Hull, Quebec, when he donned the mask and pads for the first time for a Belleville-Ottawa Juniors baseball playoff. He came through with a fine performance in his maiden effort and is now rated tops among Queen City amateur arbiters.

Ed, being a loyal Toronto League man remarked that the calibre of baseball in his loop was far better than that in the Viaduct League, but if the likeable ex-football star-umpire is tuned in to this column, Ed, you'll notice, that the Bayview Hookings team of the Viaduct League whupped the top-running Mahers of your loop 13-11 in an exhibition tilt!"

Okay, chum, you can explain that when we see you in August.

MIDGETS FRIDAY

"Bunny Dunlop, not bloody nor unbowed, chipper as ever, will be back come Friday night for the mangle-and-maul festivities at the Arena. This time the portly "Bun" will be alone. In fact he should not be blamed after the company he kept last week.

"Bunny" should have it easier this week. He will be supreme commander of all he surveys. All he has to do is supervise Oom Paul Baillargeon, who is separated for the nonce from his beloved whip and Georgs "Prelude to Action" Rollins, alias the Zebra, who was brushed off by the Mighty Urmo after last week's fandango; and keep a watchful eye on the agile Pat Flanagan who will attempt to marshall-ellnah Sid Ill Let.

However the estimable Bunny may have his hands and lap filled with the antics of a new crop of midgets, claimed by those in the know to be the mightiest of the half-pint class of Tinseyes. Looney Laboratory. They are the Mighty Schultz, Otto Bowman, the Brown Panther, and Till Infanti, that's Mehican for "Lil Willie".

However for all that, they are claimed to be one jump ahead of the army worm when it comes to cleaning house. They say they are a cross between a Mexican jumping bean, a dog flea, and a juiced-up bumble bee when it comes to speed. They know all the rules because they claim they wrote 'em and they even inject a few as yet unpublished. It looks like a dilly of ashow.

AND A POWDER ROOM!

The automatic three-knockdown-and-out-ruling passed by the box-fight moguls south of the border may be the centre of some controversy before the aroma from the Valdes-Hurricane Jackson fight is scattered to the four breezes. The rule is claimed by some to be a farce to cover up mismatching or, as it is claimed in the Valdes-Jackson case, a "ridiculous" rule and a referee's mistake.

Nino floored the Hurricane twice cleanly in the second round. Then he got close and apparently was telling him a bedtime story when the pair clinched and the Hurricane was wrestled to the ground. The referee called it a knockdown, awarded Nino the fight, and the judges and commissioners present repaired to Jack Dempsey's night club to quaff a cold one, and to consider some new rules.

Now the boys are saying the Hurricane "was robbed". They say Jackson used to start his "windmill" winding up like grandpop wound up his 1903 Ford, and they wonder if he might have come back, spend his blustering attack and turned the tide.

Had the battle been for the world's heavyweight championship and a similar decision been given, staid Gothamites would have thought Manhattan was a 1954 Hiroshima from the tonsilar explosions that would have resulted. So far the three-knockdown decisions have been awarded to non-title bouts only.

The average boxing fan likes to see his favorite casualter flatten the opposition with a straight right, a left hook or anything legal in his stock of trade. Just like a beefer fan likes to see a goal scored, or a baseball fan, a home run.

And of course the ruling is something for the greybeards to do-tse in the laps and throats of the moderns. "Lookit the old codger there grumbling! Cockil the knockdowns that used to occur before boxing became what it is today!"

They point on that at Toledo in 1919 Jack Dempsey floored Jess Willard six times in the first round. The Manassa Mauler lowered the boom on Luis Angel Firpo seven times in the opening round, twice in the second, in their fight at the Polo Grounds in 1923. Jack Johnson sent Joe Grim to the canvas 17 times in six rounds in Philly in 1906. Grim was not knocked out but lost the decision.

* * *

Joe Jeannette and Sam McVey fought 40 rounds in Paris in 1907. Joe was down 3 times, Sam eleven. Sam finally quit, probably because it was after hours for the elevator boys.

And the new rule may make it easier for the "tankers". The lads who are alleged to go down and stay down. Now they can roll with a mosquito swat, and bow out gracefully, if not fast enough.

And how about a spot of tea, and a dash of muffins between the second and third knockdown in the fifth, mates?

'Oiskin' Trims Coogan Bluffers With Sal Maglie Thrown In; Braves Blast Bucs for Fifth

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The possibility of a Giant collapse was pooh-poohed by manager Leo Durocher today but New York fans had cause for alarm.

A humiliating 9-1 loss to Brooklyn Monday night stretched the slump-ridden Giants' losing streak to five and chiseled their once handsome seven-game first-place lead over the Dodgers to only three.

"I'm not worried about a thing," Durocher said after the loss. "We're still in a great spot. They've still got to catch us.

"Sure, we've had a little slump. But I think the worst is over. We were due to level off a bit the way we were going before the all-star game. Now we're back home for a long spell and everything will be all right."

MAGLIE THE VICTIM

Durocher obviously was trying to give his team a spiritual uplift, something it sorely needed after the Dodgers belabored Sal Maglie and three hapless relievers-with a 13-hit attack.

Milwaukee's Braves, whose dimmed pennant chances began to flicker anew after their three-game sweep of the Giants over the past week-end, made it five in a row with a 3-1 victory over Pittsburgh.

Gene Conley, Milwaukee's 6-8 rookie righthander, doled out four hits while Billy Bruton and Eddie Mathews were providing the offensive spark to move the third-place Braves to within 1½ games of the Giants.

The Bruton-Mathews combination gave the Braves their first' two runs, all Conley needed to post his ninth victory against five defeats. Bruton opened the game with a triple off loser Bob Purkey and scored on a single by Mathews. In the third, Bruton singled, stole second and scored on Mathews' second single. Doubles by Joe Adcock and Andy Pafko in the sixth accounted for Milwaukee's third run.

DAY OFF

All other clubs had an off day as they girded themselves for the busy schedule this afternoon and tonight.

The spotlight on Toronto where the second-place New York Yankees and third-place White Sox meet in the first of a three-game series. Cleveland, which leads the Yankees by a game and a half, is host to Boston's Red Sox, whom they've beaten 13 times in 14 meetings.

The Dodgers made short work of Maglie Monday night, tagging him for 11 hits before sending him to the showers in the sixth inning. They clouted their barrage on relievers Hoyt Wilhelm, Paul Giel and Al Corwin as Pee Wee Reese and Jackie Robinson collected three hits apiece. Gil Hodges drove in three runs with a double, bases-loaded walk and a long sacrifice fly. It was his 11th sacrifice fly of the year.

Snyder Now Nats' Regular

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jerry Snyder, the "throw-in" on the big trade between the Washington Senators and New York Yankees two years ago, was installed Monday as the Senators' regular shortstop.

The 25-year-old O-k-l-a-n-a-n pressed into duty when Pete Runnels was injured a week ago, has impressed manager Bucky Harris with his derring-do in the field and has showed vastly improved form at the plate, getting 10 hits in 30 trys in the last week.

Snyder came to Washington along with Jackie Jensen, Frank Sheahan and Archie Wilson two years ago in the trade that sent Irv Noren and Tommy Upton to the Yankees.

Barboie Wins Over Lapadula

TORONTO (CP)—Willie Barboie of Toronto was awarded a five-round decision over Johnny Lapadula of Toronto in the main bout of the weekly amateur boxing show here Monday night. Both boys are welterweights.

In the semi-final, also a welterweight clash, Pat Campbell of the Guelph Athletic Club won a five-round decision over Al Langfield of the Dofasco Athletic Club, Hamilton.

Leafs Win Pair, Widen Lead In International

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs are sailing along serenely at the top of the International League following a long siege of ups and downs.

The Leafs swept a doubleheader Monday night with Havana Sugar Kings 3-2 and 7-0 and increased their lead to 5½ games over the second-place Rochester Red Wings.

Meanwhile the Wings dropped a twin bill to Richmond Virginians, 5-4 in 11 innings and 8-3. In the only other game, Montreal Royals trounced Syracuse Chiefs 6-3.

Manager Luke Sewell, former pilot of the St. Louis Browns and the Cincinnati Redlegs, in his first year in Toronto has the Leafs on an 11-game winning streak. They also have won 17 out of their last 19.

COMPLETE EARLIER GAME

The Leafs gained a 2-2 victory in the opener, completing the game started in Havana July 15. The suspendng game was halted after seven innings to allow the two teams to catch a plane. The Leafs were leading 3-2 at the time, and the remaining two innings were played without further scoring.

In the second game Rudy Minarcin held Havana to six hits while going the distance for his eighth win against only one loss this season.

First-baseman Ed Stevens and third-baseman Loren Babe each collected two runs for Toronto. Stevens did it with a triple. Babe collected four hits in five times at bat.

Richmond, beaten in 16 of 18 games played this season with Rochester, won the first game, which was the completion of a 2-2 eight-inning game played on Monday July 15. Rochester went ahead 4-2 in the top of the 10th, but Richmond tied it in their half and won in the 11th. Ken Heintzelman, who pitched the first extra inning for Richmond, was the winner while Duke Maas was the loser.

Montreal collected 13 hits off four Syracuse hurlers and romped to a 6-3 victory over the Chiefs behind the six-hit pitching of Ed Roebuck.

Ferris Fain Gets Knife

CHICAGO (AP) — Ferris Fain, Chicago White Sox first baseman, will undergo surgery today for repair of his right knee, it was announced by John Claridge, team surgeon, said Monday: "He'll be laid up at least three weeks but I sincerely hope he can play again before the season is over."

The Sox star injured the knee in a home plate collision with Boston catcher Sam White July 27.

Surgery was performed on the same knee in 1947 and again in 1948.

Montreal Hockey Will Be Televised

MONTREAL (CP) — Saturday night National Hockey League games at Montreal Forum will be televised this year, Frank J. Selke, managing director of Montreal Canadiens announced Monday.

He said television, far from keeping fans at home, helped create greater interest in Canadiens. The team set an NHL attendance record last year when 516,934 persons paid to see them play.

Season ticket sales and renewals are heavier than ever so far this year, Selke said. By the end of the week, if current trends continue, all persons who held season tickets last year will have renewed their reservations.

He said if possible Canadiens Saturday night home games will be radio broadcast coast-to-coast alternately with the Toronto Maple Leafs' games. Up to now, only Toronto's were broadcast across Canada but Leafs' managing director Conn Smythe "is much more in favor of the alternate system than before."

The games of Detroit Red Wings and New York Rangers also are televised, except for Wednesday night games in New York, a NHL source said. Saturday night games in Toronto are televised, beginning at 9:30 p.m.

Canucks Sweep Swim Honors, Park, Lumsden Are One, Two

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (CP)—Canadians swept the top spots of this New Jersey shore resort's version of the world's professional long-distance swimming championship in the 26-mile Centennial swim.

Thirty-nine-year-old Tom Park, formerly of Hamilton, Ont., beat Cliff Lumsden of New Toronto by 150 yards Monday after a day-long battle to win in the time of nine hours, 21 minutes, 42 seconds. And 16-year-old Marilyn Bell of New Toronto led the women to the finish line to win the $1,000 prize for the first feminine finisher, plus $100 in lap prizes.

Park, who now lives in California, won the $3,000 first prize and $300 in lap awards. Lumsden won $1,500 second money and $150 in lap prizes. The awards were scheduled to be presented this afternoon at Atlantic City's Steel pier where the marathon began Monday and wound up late last evening.

PLANS FOR CATALINA

Park, thirsty but hardly winded at the finish, said he plans to make an assault next month on that of Florence Chadwick's record for crossing the Catalina channel off California.

He drank four bottles of soda pop in 13 minutes after the grind and complained that the Atlantic ocean was too warm. The water was 70 degrees, but Park said he would have preferred it about 60, as it usually is in Lake Ontario where he is accustomed to swimming.

Lumsden had little to say at the end. He was shaken up when a strong tide off Ventnor City on Island swept him against Brigantine bridge about three miles from the finish. Some of the shoulder Park passed him a short time later after the pair had stayed in neck-and-neck form from the start.

Miss Bell, a five-foot 100 pounder also weighed down after quoting Miss Chadwick's records when she finishes schools and the date she plans to try the race six miles from the end, but remembered a 25-cent bet she had with a reporter. She swam the last mile and a half faster than she had at the beginning, and took seventh place.

IS DROPPED OUT

Twenty-two swimmers finished, the other 15 starters dropping out along the way. Jack Armstrong, long-distance champion, Jerry Kerchner of Columbus, Ohio, and Jack Crabbe, six who withdrew in the first half of the race.

The only American girl to cover the 26 miles was 17-year-old Natalie Werner of Baltimore. Starting five feet 10, she was bigger than some of the men entered and finished third ahead of Wilhelmina Roach Lewister of St. Thomas, Ont.

Mrs. Lewister, mother of four, was considered the top woman entrant. In 1951 she nearly broke Florence Chadwick's record for crossing the English channel. She had to call off a recent try for the Catalina channel because of poor weather conditions.

In addition to the United States and Canada, the swimmers represented Australia, Honduras, Argentina and Portugal.

Two other Canadian girls entered but neither finished. They were Lies Putt, 23, of Montreal, and Janice Wolfe of Toronto. Gordon Horner of Montreal, who failed to place, completed the seven-swimmer Canadian contingent.

LONGER THAN CHANNEL

The course, seven miles longer than the route usually taken by swimmers in the English channel, ran south in the ocean to Longport, around the point, up the inland waterway to Ventnor and back down the ocean side of the island to the Steel pier. Each swimmer was led by a coach at least 10 feet ahead in a rowboat.

The winning Canadian swimmers are well known at the annual Canadian National Exhibition swims. Park has held the Canadian championship in every distance from 100 yards to two miles but this was his first victory in a long event. He was fourth in the CNE 10-mile swim in 1952 but did not compete in 1953. Lumsden is a four-time winner of the CNE event. He had beaten Park in all but one of five meetings before Monday's race.

Miss Bell has placed in the last three CNE women's swims.

Chisox Hope For 3 in Row Over Yankees

By TOM BRANAGEN

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox are daring to hope for three straight victories in a pressure-packed series starting tonight against the New York Yankees—the team that has been smashing Sox hopes all season.

"I wouldn't surprise me if we sweep the series," said manager Paul Richards as he prepared to send three top pitchers against the New Yorkers.

Virgil Trucks, a 13-game winner who has lost only five decisions, was Richards' choice for tonight's opener. The Yanks' Casey Stengel indicated he will counter with Harry Byrd, who has won six of 11.

Trucks will be followed by Billy Pierce and Sandy Consuegra. Byrd will be followed by Ed Lopat and either Allie Reynolds or Whitey Ford.

The Yanks were responsible for shoving the Sox back down the ladder as they were reaching for the top of the American League in New York just last week.

The Yanks took three out of four in that series and kept Chicago in third place, six games off the pace of the leading Cleveland Indians and 4½ back of the Yanks.

Petes Edge Oakville 4-2

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Scoring early in the game, Peterborough Petes coasted to a 4-2 victory over Oakville Oaks in a Viaduct Intercounty baseball League game here Monday night.

The fourth-place Petes scored one run in the first inning and added three more in the next frame. Doug Loucks allowed six scattered hits and struck out eight Oakville batters to gain credit for the victory.

Burkemo Meets Harbert in Final, Middlecoff, Tommy Bolt Defeated

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Defending champion Walter Burkemo snuffed out Cary Middlecoff's stirring rally on the 37th hole Monday to go into the finals of the PGA golf championship against his Detroit neighbor, Chick Harbert.

Harbert himself was forced to stand off a brief but dangerous spurt by hot-tempered Tommy Bolt to win the other semi-final match in the 36th and final hole, one up.

Middlecoff, three down with six holes to play, came surging back to knot the match on the 36th where he whacked out of the deep rough and the ball stopped but four feet of the pin. Burkemo overpitched the green and putted short, conceding the hole.

On the 345-yard extra hole, Middlecoff undrove the champion by 30 yards, but Burkemo laid his 15-yard approach shot stiff—nine inches from the pin. Middlecoff conceded and then, after measuring his own seven-footer for several minutes, missed by two inches.

Bolt also provided a ripple of excitement when, two down with two holes to play, he sank a beautiful 40-foot downhill putt for a birdie 3 to carry the match to the final green.

But here the bull-shouldered Harbert was not to be denied. After driving into the rough, he edged his approach over the trap to within six feet and sank the putt for a birdie three. Bolt, himself only five feet away in two, didn't putt out.

Yearling Colt Brings $60,000

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A year-old chestnut brother of Your Host, who four years ago captured the rich Santa Anita Derby, sold today for $60,000 at the summer auctions at Keeneland opened at a level level.

The son of Alibhai - Boudoir 11 went to Mrs. John McMahan of Camarillo, Calif., a ranch owner.

The bid was the highest since 1951 for a yearling and equalled the outlay by another Californian, Clifton S. Jones, for a filly, Perfection Lou. Only five other yearlings have sold in the United States for more than $60,000.

Second high bid for the first session was $50,000 for a chestnut colt by Citation, retired millionaire of the turf, and Bout. The colt went to Mrs. Ethel Jacobs for Arnold Hanger of New York is a member.

The opening auction, put on by Breeders' Sales Co., saw 80 unbroken colts and fillies bring $985,900 to average a record $12,361. All but 45 of them brought $10,000 each or better.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching—Carl Erskine, Brooklyn gave up only five hits as an unearned run as the Dodgers silenced New York Giants' lead to three games with a 9-1 victory.

Batting—Eddie Mathews, Milwaukee, drove in two runs with two singles as the Braves defeated Pittsburgh 3-1.

Athletics Not To Be Sold Says Official

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Mack, executive vice-president of the Philadelphia Athletics, said Monday the baseball club "positively will not be sold" and disclosed that he is trying to buy out his brother Earle's interest.

Roy made his statement at a baseball meeting here when questioned about a rumor the A's were practically sold to a syndicate headed by Arnold Johnson of Kansas City. Johnson owns Blues Stadium in Kansas City and led negotiations through which the Knights of Columbus purchased Yankee Stadium.

"Yes, we talked to the Arnold Johnson people," Roy said. "But we made no commitment of any kind, any more so than we did to several other groups that approached us."

Chatham May Buy Franchise Barrie Flyers

CHATHAM (CP)—City council Monday night authorized the Chatham community centre commission to enter negotiations for the purchase of the franchise, players and equipment of Barrie Flyers of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League.

S. L. Clunis, appearing for the commission, said he was notified Monday the Flyers could be bought and suggested a team to replace the OHA senior A club which Chatham lost to Sarnia.

He asked council to authorize him to negotiate with the owner of the Flyers and if not successful to continue efforts to organize a senior B club.

Council granted his request on condition that the expense will not exceed $40,000.

Lacrosse Terriers Draw Suspension

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Lacrosse Association has suspended Orillia Terriers of the northern intermediate group because they were unable to guarantee a full team for the rest of the season.

The Terriers arrived in Allison Friday for a scheduled game with only four players. Previously they had gone into a game in Scarborough with only eight.

All the players who did not turn up at Allison have also been suspended.

Landy Runs Three-Quarter In 2:59.4

VANCOUVER, (CP) — John Michael Landy, Australia's sensational miler, served notice Monday that the Aussie British Empire Games mile classic may produce the third under-four-minute mile in history.

The shy 24-year-old runner, who holds the world record of 3:58.0 for the distance, covered three-quarters of a mile in 2:59.4 and talk in Empire Village, home of athletes for the Games' 24 competing countries, was that the Landy-Roger Bannister race will break the four-minute barrier.

Landy's clocking came at a time when a great wave of optimism affected all ranks, from top men of the Games organization to the 700 or so competitors from Australia to Uganda. With the Games only four days away, general chairman Stan Smith of the Vancouver organizing committee said in an interview that "these Games will be the greatest in history from every standpoint—calibre of competition and even to finances." He could be right.

"We've sold nearly $250,000 worth of tickets and our objective of $385,000 that will take us off the book might not be reached but it will be mighty close," said Sam Rosen, the man in charge of ticket sales. Monday was a "roaring" day for his sellers.

Walk, Play Not Ride, Look Is Better Life

VANCOUVER (CP)—If you think a fast game of badminton or volleyball will leave you exhausted, you may have the wrong attitude.

Col. C. M. Usher, director of the department of physical education, University of Edinburgh, briefed delegates to the Commonwealth Conference on Physical Education here Monday, regarding the question of fatigue.

"There's a common idea," said Col. Usher, "that after a period of physical activity an individual is likely to be exhausted.

"This is a complete fallacy. Instead of exhaustion, if the exercise has been properly regulated, there should be a feeling of exhilaration, especially if it has been possible to have a warm bath followed by a cold spray."

Dr. F. G. Robertson, parliamentary assistant to the Canadian minister of health and welfare, reported that a "startling" percentage of Canadian children are muscularly unfit, because of the "American way of living."

Canadians, he said, are a nation of riders and spectators, rather than walkers or active physical participants.

Early Upsets In Western Bowls Tourney

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Upsets started early as the Canadian competition in the Western Ontario Lawn Bowling Association's annual tournament started here Monday.

In first round main trophy play Dick Hartwell, Detroit, last year's first-event winner, was trounced 17-6 by a Detroit rink skipped by John McGregor. The second-event winner last year, K. Hodgson of Exeter, was also early victim. He was defeated, 18-9 by a London Tuxis foursome skipped by Frank Wilson.

Sixty-four rinks were on hand for the first day of the competition which is scheduled to end today. Doubles play will start Wednesday and the tournament ends Thursday.

Casts Defeats Vic Towell

BROOKLYN (AP) — Carmelo Costa, clever hit-and-run artist who is unbeaten in 25 pro fights, staved off the wild lunges of Vic Towell, former bantamweight champ of the world, Monday night to win a unanimous 10-round decision at Eastern Parkway Arena.

Costa weighed 129 pounds, Towell 133.

The 26-year-old Towell, fighting outside his native South Africa for the first time in his career, gave the 22-year-old Brooklyn youngster a rough time in the clinches. But Costa's sharper counter punches and more accurate fire more than made up Towell's advantage inside.

Andrews K.O's Yvon Durelle

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Andrews of Buffalo, seventh ranking light-heavyweight contender knocked out Yvon Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., Canadian light-heavyweight champion, with a right to the head in 1:06 of the fifth round of a bout scheduled for 10 rounds Monday night at St. Nicholas Arena. Andrews weighed 175¾, and Durelle 186½.

Andrews started the fifth by coming out and centering on Durelle's body when the Canadian went into a crouch. Andrews' long right found its mark on Durelle's temple. Durelle fell to his knees and took the full count in that position.

Add Canadian Trophies to Their Net Laurels

Serving Canada's tennis forces from a total whitewashing, Lorne Main, left, of Toronto teamed with Chile's No. 1 netter, Luis Ayala, right, to cop the Canadian men's doubles championship at Toronto. The smooth-working pair scored an easy straight set win over their U.S. duo of Andy Paton and Bernard Bartzen.—Central Press Canadian.

Bob Feller, 'Comeback of the Year,' One of Alltime Greats, Says Talbot

By JACK HAND
For Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK (AP)—When the time comes to pick a "comeback of the year" for 1954, here is a notion that the secretary cast a unanimous ballot for Bobby Feller, one of the greatest pitchers of all time.

Bobby won't like it for he is a proud man who insists he never was away. Yet, he must know the Cleveland club all but gave up on him in '53 and '53 and took him off the regular starting rotation for a stretch.

It seems only yesterday that you read about the farm boy from Van Meter, Ia., who struck out eight St. Louis Cardinals in three innings in an exhibition game, his first appearance against a major league team. But that was 18 years ago.

Oldtimers who traveled with New York Giants in 1937 still like to tell about the first time they saw Feller and cracky Dick Bartell made: "He's not as fast as Van Mungo." The wise remark turned into a bellow when Feller struck out rowdy Dick some-where like 13 times in 18 innings during their long spring training trip.

NOW HE HAS KNUCKLER

Because Feller and fireball always have been synonymous in sports writer's vocabulary, it comes as somewhat a surprise to hear that Bobby has come up with a knuckleball. It's almost like Rocky Marciano running Fancy Dan.

"I only throw about five or six in a game," Feller explained the other day in the Indians' clubhouse at Yankee Stadium. "Some games I don't throw it at all. The ball will still be an effective pitch. How about that fast ball? Is it as good as ever?

"It's a different kind of fastball. In the old days it used to take only every third time. Now it may jump sideways. But it still moves.

"Pitching is a lot easier for me now with a change and curve to go with the fast ball and curve. I don't use so much energy. But then I used to have a lot more energy, too."

HOLDS TWO RECORDS

The strikeout pitch always has been Feller's mark of distinction. He holds the modern record for most strikeouts in a game, 18, most in one season, 348 and recently passed Christy Mathewson to rank behind Walter Johnson and Cy Young as the all-time leader for a lifetime.

"I'm about a thousand behind Johnson," said Feller, 'But I always thought I might have had a chance at it if I hadn't missed the four years when I was in the navy."

Regents Trim Picton Lightfoots By 13-10 Score

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Twice overcoming Picton leads, the Belleville - Reid's Regents racked up a 13-10 decision over Chris Lockyer's Picton Lightfoots in a nine-inning game at Exhibition Park last night.

The teams had battled alone at even par from the initial frame until the seventh when the visitors took advantage of the Regents' lone error of the game, a walk, hit batter, four stolen bases and two scratch singles to score five runs and take a 10-5 lead.

The winners surged back with six markers and a 11-10 lead which they never had. Gower opened the inning with a walk and Duetta dropped Elliott's easy fly. John Batchelor promptly parked one in the hole at short to fill the sacks. Stephens lifted out to deep centre field with one run coming home and Jack Elliott stole home with Picton at a pitchoff throw to first. A fielder's choice and Dalli's base on balls plus a wild pitch filled the bases again with two down. Stoliker, running for Bird, scored on a passed ball and Stephens singled sharply for the fifth and sixth after Dall scored on a passed ball.

Bill Dall received credit for the win after relieving Elliott in the third frame in relief of starter Bill Strahan and gaining control to finish the fifth with only one on and none out. He allowed three hits in five innings plus wild-pitching nine and walking one for five runs. Strahan was touched for five hits and four runs while Stoliker set Picton down without a hit in one.

"Puzz" Miller hurled the route in defeat with seven errors doing little to help his cause. He gave up 12 hits while fanning seven and issuing free passes to six.

Singles by Stephens, Elliott and Batchelor plus a hit batter accounted for the Regents' two first frame tallies with Picton coming back for a pair on a long double by Duetta, Ostrander's double and an infield out in the second.

Batchelor, Ackerman and Zimmerman with Boulton singling to plate three runs for a 5-2 score. The errors cost Dorsan's two base hit, a walk and sacrifice fly by Elliott sent a brace of Regents runs home with Gerry Goyer's single and another by Elliott pushing the passed ball run home in the fifth.

Billy Dall was tops at the plate with a double and single while Stephens, Batchelor and Elliott followed close back with two hits each. Doran and Donovan claimed doubles with Gower and Carr coming up with singles.

Zimmerman led the Lightfoot crew, slamming a double and single while Duetta had a triple and double with Ackerman and Ostrander. One-baggers were hit by Boulton, Miller and Chalmers.

Regents:

Picton: Ackerman, Boulton, Zimmerman, Miller, Duetta, Ostrander, Grubin, Lockyer, Whattam, Miller.

Regents: Carr, Donovan, Stephens, Goyer, Elliott, Batchelor, Doran, Bird, Stoliker, Strahan, Dall.

Line score:

Picton ..... 023 000 500—10 7 6
Regents ..... 202 010 02x—13 12 1

Miller and Whattam. Strahan, Dall (3), Stoliker (8) and Elliott.

AT THE ODEON McCARTHY THEATRE

ALL THE NICE GIRLS

Anyone who believes that Hollywood has the monopoly on glamour will have to think again after seeing the new British comedy, "You Know What Sailors Are," now playing at the Odeon McCarthy theatre. This Technicolor production shows that Britain can more than hold its own when it comes to lovely girls. Starring are thirty of them in the film's lavish harem scenes—a bevy of beauties destined to make Hollywood sit up and look to its laurels. The girls were carefully selected from more than six hundred of the loveliest in Britain.

"The impression at the studios was welcomed by all working on the film until a practical joker stole photograph of the girls in their harem costumes to the wives of some of the members of the unit.

Peron Desires All Newspapers Under One Body

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — President Juan Peron says his aim is to place all newspaper enterprises exclusively in the hands of a single organization of newspapermen pledged to the service of the Argentine people.

His views were expressed Sunday at a luncheon when he spoke to newspaper men who control government House.

"It has been said we seek a monopoly over newspapers," the president said. "I would like a monopoly of newspapers, in order to place it in the service of the country. . . .

"But my aim, let us say, is to be able to set up some day a journalistic organization which will belong to the public welfare. . . . when that journalism is thus organized, I promise you now that I must place all those enterprises solely and exclusively in the hands of the newspaper men."

La Prensa, largest independent newspaper in Argentina, already has been expropriated and turned over to the labor unions.

Canada Plans To Ease Curbs On Red Trade

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government is planning to ease restrictions on trade with the Soviet and its satellites, federal officials said Monday.

An order-in-council likely will be passed shortly reducing the list of strategic goods banned from shipment to the Communists, officials said.

They were commenting on a London announcement that British and the Soviet Union have agreed to cut by one third the list of goods banned from trade with the Reds. The reduction goes into effect Aug. 1.

"We don't know about this British-U.S. agreement, but we do know that we have been pinning our own reductions," one spokesman said.

NEW ISRAEL CLASH

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel's military spokesman said two Israeli settlers and a member of the Israel frontier police were wounded Monday in a clash with armed Jordanians.

Must Stop Slaughter On Ontario Highways

WATERLOO (CP) — Magistrate J. R. H. Kirkpatrick said in court Monday that some action must be taken to "stop the slaughter on roads."

"We're losing an average of four people a day on the roads in Ontario," he said.

He remanded Kenneth Williamson for two weeks in custody for a pre-sentence report. Williamson, charged with dangerous driving, leaving the scene of an accident and driving while his licence was suspended, was caught by police after he allegedly struck a boy on a bicycle.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY, JULY 28, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — If you take a well defined stand you can come through with flying colors. Show altruism toward all and you'll come out on top. Don't hedge; be direct.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — You may encounter interference in matters you could handle well yourself. Be firm but diplomatic, and use your better judgment. Review before making decisions in business or finances.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Good prospects for sound financial activities. You are mostly on your own but there is help to be had. Conditions implement your own natural way of doing things. However, be observant.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Some uncertainties could cause confusion or disillusionment if you don't take things in stride. Don't get ahead of yourself, but aim to keep pace with events. Have confidence.

July 21 to August 22 (Leo) — Be thorough in all matters and thus avoid any possible mistakes. Have knowledge of what your interests demand. Outside help available if you seek it appreciatively.

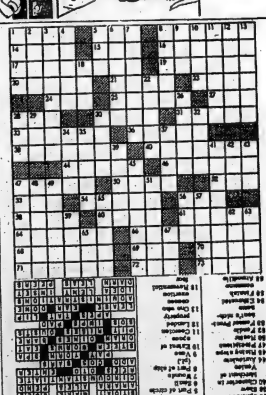
August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—You are likely to overdo, strain to accomplish certain things; this could cause loss of time and health. Be moderate in the load you propose to carry. Will it pay? Check carefully.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—You may find competition keen. Recognize this beforehand and save time and effort. Opportunities are not always readily discerned; study, wait and have faith in God and yourself.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—You handling money, estates, business contracts, making legal decisions should be extra cautious. Make ready to change your plans, opinion, if they are not right for the situation.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Carrying out vital activities at the proper time will help day's progress. Conscientiousness stressed, especially in handling others' money; also dangerous: tools, oils.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Don't let work, new duties, exacting demands cause you to feel "down." You are capable, efficient; be yourself and achieve. News during p.m. good.



January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Day may take some extra fortitude and earnestness but with these you can do more than you think. Opposition is good at times; it awakens us, teaches paradoxes, patience.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Things may not be entirely rosy today. You may have to take some displeasing orders, adhere to seemingly needless rules—take them calmly and in the end you will have gained.

YOU BORN TODAY are idealistic at times impulsive, fun-loving and rather daring. You usually meet adversity with a smile and will fight against odds if you think you are within your rights. Curb any leaning toward boastfulness, too much self-assurance. These harmful tendencies can defeat the realization you. You have capability, fine talents which, when properly cultivated and used, can bring you far up the ladder of achievement. Keep improving always, do things in moderation and seek God's help. Birthdate of Alexandre Dumas, "the Younger," Fr. Novelist and Dramatist.

Minaki Resident Fatally Hurt As Plane Hits Canoe

KENORA (CP)—Tom Young of Minaki, Ont., died en route to hospital here Monday after a plane owned by the Ontario department of lands and forests collided with the canoe he was paddling on Minaki lake.

R. L. Ringham, district forester, said the plane was landing at Minaki to pick up a three-man forestry canoe. Just as it touched down the canoe collided with one of the plane's pontoons, dumping Mr. Young into the water.

Doctors advised that he be flown here for treatment.

An inquest will be held.

British Papers Back U.S. Action In Air Incident

LONDON (Reuters) — British newspapers, commenting on the shooting down of two Communist Chinese fighters by U.S. planes, strongly uphold today the need for continuing Anglo-American solidarity.

The mass-circulation Daily Mirror describes the situation as "ugly as Hell," but says the Western countries are "eager to defend our ideal of democracy—the same ideal we have fought for in two world wars.

"Britain is proud to be a member of this vast alliance of free nations."

The Daily Mirror adds, "Molotov says that he believes in coexistence. So does China so-La.

"Then let them, on their side, create the right conditions and start. Extremists on both sides must stop their hair-trigger underlings in what is "peaceful coexistence" zone."

"UNFORTUNATE"

The Daily Telegraph, Conservative, says that in view of China's apology it was unfortunate that the American action in providing fighter cover for rescue work should have resulted in another shooting affair.

But the Communists think they can exploit the two incidents to drive a wedge between America they may be relied upon to do so. Indeed the Chinese attitude over the Geneva may perhaps be a tactical follow-up to Geneva, rather than a change of heart.

"We should not be in too much of a hurry to hail it as real evidence of mellowing in one part of the Communist world."

PEACEFUL PACIFIC

The Manchester Guardian, Liberal, says that before barking at the Americans for their belligerence a few essential facts should be recalled.

"First, no survivors of the British plane shot down by the Chinese would have been saved if American aircraft had not come to the rescue. . . .

"Secondly, after an incident in which the Chinese air force had shown itself to be criminally careless, to say the least, the United States authorities have the right to provide fighter escorts for their slow rescue aircraft. To do otherwise would have been folly.

"Thirdly, the two Chinese aircraft which were later shot down probably did attack the American planes first."

Pickets Allow Steel for Radar To Leave Plant

WINDSOR (CP)—An official of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO - CCL) said—Monday night 4,300 pounds of vital structural steel was allowed through picket lines at Canadian Bridge Company at the request of the department of defence production.

Peter Quemerville, president of Local 2471, said the steel was released at the request of Joe Devlin of the department. It will be used for construction of radar defences. Movement of the steel was supervised by the department and members of the union policy committee.

About 850 men struck at the plant Friday to enforce demands for a job evaluation program. The present basic wage is $1.62. The program would mean wage revision according to each man's job.

Big Crop Losses Facing Farmers Due to Drought

TORONTO (CP) — Southwestern Ontario farmers face crop losses of hundreds of thousands of dollars if the current dry weather continues, A. H. Martin, director of the crops and seeds branch of the Ontario department of agriculture, said Monday.

The Dominion meteorological office Monday reported rainfall is 50 per cent below the normal for July in areas of southern Ontario. Throughout the summer the average has been 20 per cent below normal.

The areas around Strathroy and Barrie have been particularly hard hit by the drought.

Northern and eastern sections of the province have had sufficient rain, Mr. Martin said.

South Kent farmers are using irrigation to save small crops. Sugar beets, tomatoes, soybeans, white beans and corn crops are suffering in the south. At least 10 wheatfields in Kent county have been destroyed by fire since July 15.

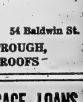
Hamilton-Caledonia district reports describe the drought as the worst in several years. Early tomato crops may be cut in some areas by as much as 50 per cent, and serious damage to potatoes is also expected.

SOLD TO MINORS

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Edna Hartwick was fined $10 and costs in juvenile court Monday for selling cigarets to juveniles, some reported to have been as young as 11 years.

Ruth Bryan Rohde Dies in Denmark

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, 68, the first woman envoy of the United States to a foreign power, died here Monday. She was the daughter of the silver-tongued William Jennings Bryan, three-time candidate for the U.S. presidency on the Democratic ticket.



Mrs. Rohde served as U. S. minister to Denmark from 1933 to 1936, climaxing an eventful career as a lecturer, member of Congress, writer, war nurse and university teacher.

Extremely popular with the Danes, who knew her from her diplomatic service, she returned to Copenhagen early this month to thank King Frederik for a medal he bestowed on her earlier this year. She was admitted to hospital last week suffering from heart trouble. Officials said death was due to coronary thrombosis.

COLLECTION AN ERROR

HAMILTON. (CP) — The recent collection of union dues from several teen-agers employed as temporary help in Hamilton swimming pools and playgrounds was termed a mistake Monday by acting city treasurer Paul Hickey. Mr. Hickey said the $1-a-month dues for the Hamilton Municipal Employees Association were deducted through an oversight on the part of his own staff. He said no attempt was being made to unionize part-time labor.

London Papers Catch Errors In Gen. Gruenther's History

LONDON (Reuters) — Two London newspapers today caught Gen. Alfred Gruenther, Supreme Allied Commander in Europe, in an error in his Second World War history.

In a speech Saturday at the small English coast village of Slapton, Gruenther told of a 1944 naval engagement which was one of the best-kept U. S. secrets of the war. He said a German submarine broke into a force of American naval vessels engaged in invasion training in the English channel and sank three LSTS (landing ship tanks) with a loss of hundreds of American lives.

GENERAL WRONG

The London Daily Mail and the News Chronicle agreed today that the attack took place much as the general had described it. But, they maintained, he got mixed up in his nomenclature.

It was not a "U-boat" but a force of "E-boats"—light, fast surface craft—that darted into the American maneuvering force and sank the LSTS, they maintained.

The newspapers also supplied another detail Gruenther omitted concerning the wartime "secret." The general said "hundreds" of lives were lost. The papers established the figure at 700.

Official British naval records of "the war at sea" appear to confirm that Gruenther was mistaken. They tell of an attack made by enemy E – boats on April 28, 1944 on a convoy engaged in Operation Tiger, an invasion warmup. The record that the E-boats escaped at high speed under a smoke screen.

HEARD RUMORS

Whatever the official degree of secrecy surrounds the battle, news of it came as a complete surprise to the inhabitants of Slapton and its surrounding Devonshire countryside. Natives of seven villages were moved out of their homes for a year's time in 1943-44 so that American troops could engage in pre-D day manoeuvres there.

Gruenther provided their first word of the affair when he dedicated a memorial in Slapton. Natives said after his speech that there had been a few rumors, but no one had guessed what actually happened.

BRIDGE C OLLAPSES

This 500-foot covered bridge at St. Pierre de Wakefield, Que., 20 miles north of Ottawa, collapsed the day after it was closed to traffic. Mayor George Cleary of East Wakefield ordered the bridge, fourth longest covered span in Quebec province, closed when weakened piers made travel dangerous. The piers were weakened during construction of a new steel span across Lake Wakefield. (CP Photo).

CAMPBELLFORD

Grass Fire Spreads Over Several Acres

CAMPBELLFORD. — Firemen from here succeeded in putting out a grass fire that had spread over several acres of land at Healey Falls near the power house, about six miles east of here about noon today.

The fire apparently got its start when some paper that was being burned on property owned by James Stephens, was blown about by the wind. The flames ate their way quickly over the Stephens' farm and also on to the farm of Harry Nicholas. Nearby farmers employed tractors to plough a fire-break around the burning area, while one or two other residents used light trucks to haul drums of water to augment the meagre supply carried by the Campbellford pumper.

FOLLOWED FENCES

The fire followed along several rail fences, consuming them as it progressed. Portions of the fences were chopped down ahead of the flames, so that the fire would burn itself out. A small out-building on the Stephens property was completely demolished by the flames. After about an hour and a half, firemen had extinguished the flames, except for a few scattered burning stumps, which residents took care of.

Less than an hour and a half after the truck returned to Campbellford, the fire siren sounded again, and the fire department made one of its frequent trips to the town dump, where blazing garbage was sending dense clouds of smoke rolling over the area.

TAX WRITE-OFFS FOR GRANARIES BEING STUDIED

Seek Way of Storing Big New Wheat Crop

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The government is toying with the idea of granting farmers quick tax write-offs to encourage an increase of much-needed grain storage space. But the hope may be dim because of a host of problems involved.

With warm weather increasing the likelihood of a fairly good harvest and with the prospect of this year's wheat crop still unsold, farm organizations have warned the government that the country may be heading into a critical scarcity of grain storage space unless steps are taken to encourage new building.

The government already allows elevator companies accelerated depreciation on new construction and farm representatives have suggested that similar benefits be extended to farmers "so they may build new granaries and other types of storage space on their farms.

Under the accelerated depreciation plan, companies can apply a bigger share of his construction and machinery costs against his taxable income.

In other words, the can, if the government agrees, write off in the entire depreciated value of a new building over a few years instead of many years, rather than, say, over a period of 10 or 20.

USED FOR DEFENCE

This is of particular advantage to a company that expects a large immediate profits, tapering off to smaller profits or even losses in the years ahead. The government allows the use of accelerated depreciation extensively in the defence construction industry, to encourage expansion of armament plants.

But government authorities question whether this kind of any great advantage to grain growers unless, of course, they think that their present profits will be a lot larger than those they may receive in future years.

Another major problem is how to define grain storage. Authorities fear that some farmers may try to build flimsy structures in an attempt to get big deductions, forcing the government to organize a large inspection squads to check each individual structure and assess its value for depreciation purposes.

Still another problem is that while the elevator companies keep a close and constant record of their financial transactions, some authorities feel individual farmers may not be so clear about their financial records, opening the way for new headaches in trying to ascertain the farmer's profits and construction costs.

Only Two Minor Incidents Mar Indo-China Cease-Fire

HANOI (AP) — The French high command said today that only two minor military incidents have been reported in North Viet Nam since the Indo-China cease-fire took effect here Tuesday morning.

Other reports of truce violations were incorrect, a French spokesman said.

He listed the two incidents which take place at the French post of Chi Dien, 37 miles northeast of Hanoi. There rifle shots were fired at a French ambulance helicopter in mid-morning as it came in for a landing. Fifty minutes later a single mortar shell hit the landing strip.

Previous reports that the Vietminh had continued attacking the Chi Dien post for several hours after the cease - fire were exaggerated, the spokesman said.

But on the political front the cease-fire was the signal for renewed feuding between rival anti-Communist factions in both North and South Viet. Nam.

In Hanoi, Viet Namese officials were locked in a struggle which a French official said might endanger the evacuation of Viet Namese civilians before the Communists take over the city 79 days hence.

Premier Ngo Dinh Diem co-operate with the French; the other insists that the evacuation be an all-Viet Namese show. Since the Viet Namese have neither ships nor planes, the French are at a loss to see how the native government could bring off the evacuation without French aid.

Immigrant Strangles Wife At St. Kitts

ST. CATHARINES (CP) —Antonnito Tripodi, 32-year-old Italian immigrant, was remanded for a week today on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of his wife.

The body of his 27-year-old wife, Domenica, was found clad only in a slip and stocking, lying on the floor of an upstairs bedroom of the Tripodi apartment house here Tuesday.

Police said she had been strangled. She had arrived in St. Catharines with her two children, Carmelo, 4, and Antonia, 2, only hours before the body was discovered.

Police said they discovered the body after Tripodi was reported to have walked into a neighbor's home and said: "I have just killed my wife. She double-crossed me in Italy."

TO EXAMINE CLOTHING

Tripodi was taken to Lincoln County jail following his court appearance today. Detectives went to Toronto with clothing worn by Tripodi and the dead woman and turned it over to Dr. Ward Smith, provincial medico-legal expert, for examination.

Tripodi has been in Canada two years working as a casual laborer. A few days ago he left Halifax to meet his wife and children who made the trip from Italy and he brought them to St. Catharines.

They went to an apartment rented by Tripodi's brother-in-law, F. Torpiglia, on downtown Page street.

WAITS QUIETLY

A short time later, police said, the husband, a swarthy five-footer with curly black hair, walked into the home of a friend, Frederick Ludovici and said his wife was dead.

He then walked out and entered the police station, where he sat quietly waiting for police to question him. He speaks only a few words of English.

The dead woman was the former Scaramonia Domenica from Bagaladi in the Italian province of Reggio Calabria.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synoptic:—Scattered showers will occur record in central and southeastern regions of Ontario during the night persisted until early this morning. Most portions in Ontario are obscured by cloud or local ground fog early this morning. The sun will penetrate this gloom later this morning but woods will develop in the afternoon and isolated showers and thunderstorms will occur over most portions of the south. The general pattern of weather will be repeated again in Ontario on Thursday.

Arrange to Educate Dutch Immigrants

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario department of education said Tuesday it will assume the cost of schooling for the five children of Dutch immigrants now living on an island in Lake St. Clair.

The families live on St. Anne's Island, which is part of an Indian reservation and therefore not subject to municipal taxation. Until now there would be no means of providing the children with the benefits of the tuition fees and transportation costs for the children.

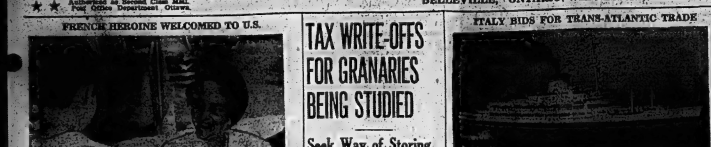
The department of education council of the provincial government ruled that the children should be given the same status for educational purposes as those living in territorial districts outside any school sections.

Under the new arrangements slated for a five-year period, the children will be ferried across the seven - fifty river to a nearby point on Dover township, about 12 miles west of Chatham.

Millions of Rusty-Brown Moths Stage Invasion of Kirkland Lake

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP) — Millions of rusty-brown moths have been streaming into this town from the surrounding bushland, battering themselves to death on brightly lighted store-windows and falling in heaps on the sidewalks.

They are the last phase of the infestation of tent caterpillars in Temiskaming district, a plague which has destroyed the leaves on every poplar tree in almost a 100-mile radius.



Forest - biology - ranger M. J. Thompson of the Canadian department of agriculture said there will certainly be a caterpillar and moth plague next year.

There is no hope of destroying the insects by air spraying or any other method, Thompson told the ranger, but they will eventually die off from starvation and disease in numbers as the plague continues.

Large black flies are increasing rapidly in the area and their maggots feed on the caterpillars while in the pupae stage — destroying 60 per cent before they become moths.

Northerners, who have blamed the government in the past for "not spraying" the irritating black flies — a rumor often denied — are now saying: "However they got here, we're glad they arrived."

May Call Session of House If Railway Workers Strike

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today that an emergency session of Parliament may be calle'd in August if Canadian railway workers were to strike in their current dispute with management.

Mr. St. Laurent made the statement on his return to Ottawa from his summer home at St. Patrick, Que., to attend a meeting today of the cabinet and to greet the Duke of Edinburgh on his arrival in the capital Thursday.

However, he added: "I hope it won't be necessary to call an emergency session."

Mr. St. Laurent referred to the possibility an emergency session of Parliament when he was asked if the second session of the 22nd Parliament would meet in August.

"Parliament may have to meet in August," he said, "if a strike vote now is being taken by the railway workers. That might require Parliament to meet."

The strike vote is being taken as a result of a contract dispute between the railways and their 135,000 non-operating employees. The result of the vote is expected to be known about Aug. 15.

British Troops Will Leave Suez Canal Zone by Mid-1956

By ROBERT HEWETT

CAIRO (AP)—All Egypt celebrated today at the announcement that Britain has agreed to pull her 80,000 troops out of the Suez canal zone, possibly by mid-1956.

Prime Minister Gamal Abdel Nasser and Britain's war minister, Anthony Nutting, put the finishing touches on a night signed a preliminary pact agreeing in principle to be incorporated into a formal treaty. Final accord is expected in a month or two.

The agreement ends a long era and to the long and often bloody dispute over control of the Suez canal and air bases which Britain built at a cost of $1,200,000,000.

It provides that all British troops will be withdrawn from Suez within 20 months after the final treaty is signed, but that Britain can use the bases again if any of nine eight Arab states or Turkey is attacked.

FOR SEVEN YEARS

Britain also will maintain the present military installations along the 104-mile-long canal for seven years with civilian technicians.

Col. Anwar Sadat, a member of Egypt's ruling revolutionary council, said Britain and the United States have agreed in principle to support Egypt with military aid now that the Suez issue is settled. Sadat said the present army level will be doubled within five years.

Egyptians were jubilant because the agreement, coming after years of bitterness and violence, means their country will have no British troops in it for the first time since 1882.

British-Egyptian committees will begin work Thursday on drafting treaty details. The final pact may be signed by September.

STANDS ASIDE

The U.S. officially stood aside in the Suez negotiations but the state department was known to have urged Britain to reach an agreement in order to present a united opposition with the West, particularly in building Middle East defenses against Communist aggression.

The preliminary pact embodies these main points:

1. The final agreement will last seven years. However, after 7½ months the two governments will consult to work out future arrangements.

2. British troops will withdraw from the canal zone in stages and not after conclusion of the final treaty. The Egyptian government will then be responsible for the security of the canal zone.

3. After the withdrawal, Britain may maintain "certain agreed installations" with civilian personnel employed by British or Egyptian firms.

4. In the event of an armed attack on Turkey or any of the Arab countries—Egypt, Syria, Jordan, Saudi Arabia, Yemen, Jordan, Iraq and Libya—Egypt will consult with Britain and afford them "such facilities as may be necessary for the latter to place the base on a war footing and to operate it effectively."

U.S. OFFICIALS FEAR FURTHER PLANE CLASHES

War Between Chinese Factions Carries Risk

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is not seeking by strong words and tough action to warn Communist China against the dangers of any more plane - shooting incidents along the Red coast of Asia.

But U.S. officials are by no means certain that such outbreaks can be prevented in the future. In fact, the existence of open conflict between Communist China and the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa is regarded as carrying a grave risk of more such affairs.

The state department Tuesday announced the dispatch of twin protests to the Red regime at Peiping, relayed through the British diplomatic representative there.

At the same time, officials said search and rescue operations by U.S. carrier-based aircraft will continue as long as "there is any hope of finding survivors or wreckage of the British plane shot down off Hainan Island Friday with apparent loss of 10 lives."

Two Chinese planes, said by the U.S. to have attacked five American planes taking part in this search operation, were shot down. From the ensuing came a defiant "great protest" saying the American "piratical" attacks were "barbaric attacks" on the Red planes.

IMPERIALIST AGGRESSION

"These acts are a repetition of imperialist America's aggressions," said a statement broadcast by Chang Han-fu, vice-foreign minister of the Peiping government.

Moscow joined in the protest. The Soviet Communist newspaper Pravda called the U.S. action in shooting down the Chinese planes "a provocatory act designed to give long tension to the Far East." Pravda said the Americans had violated the search without permission from the British authorities, and that Britain was angered at the U.S. intervention.

A Moscow radio account of the incident, heard in London, called the incident a "piratical" and "aggressive" act and "a dangerous attack" and said that the American military authorities used the incident with the British plane in order to maintain the state of tension in the Far East which has objectively eased as a result of the success of the Geneva conference.

But Moscow radio also gravely apologized to Britain for the attack on the airliner and offered to pay compensation. It sought to excuse the assault on the ground that the attacking pilots thought the plane was a Chinese Nationalist bomber.

Wants City Aid For Soo Jobless

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Dick Johns, president of Local 2251 of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CLC), said yesterday night his union will press the fight for relief for the 1,500 men unemployed in Sault Ste. Marie.

Mr. Johns told a city council meeting that he will appeal for Sault Ste. Marie to help the jobless and that the union has decided to "go into the hole financially."

He said he feels that further appeals to the provincial and federal governments will not bring results and that the city must find sufficient welfare assistance to care for the unemployed.

Mayor Herb C. Senale said the population of the city will increase to around 50,000 if the plan of the union was followed. "Unemployed persons will come here from all over the continent," he said.

Council decided to organize registration of unemployed and turn this over to the provincial and federal governments.

U.S. Pilot Wants to Go to Hainan To Search for His Missing Friend

HONG KONG (Reuters) — An American pilot who flew a Cub-Burth, said today he has hopes that his friend, Capt. Leonard Parrish, missing with his two small children from the shot-down British Skymaster, is alive.

Cuburth said he is willing to fly alone to Sanya, on Communist-held Hainan islands to find out.

He said he had received a report from Peiping that Parrish was in Saigon that a second dinghy had been sighted after the disaster last year, with sampans from Hainan rowing towards it.

"If the Chinese government gives permission I would still like to go to Sanya on my own," he said.

"I am a civilian and I might still be allowed to go in and look for them out. I am not going in to spy. I will make any sort of appeal they like. They can blindfold me if they like."

Churchill Moves To Quell Revolt Over Suez Pact

His Fate in Labor's Hands If 40 Tories Oppose Move

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill sought today to quiet a rebellion in Conservative Party ranks over the British-Egyptian agreement to pull Britain's troops out of the Suez canal zone.

An all-out showdown in Parliament could place the fate of his government in the hands of the Labor opposition.

Churchill met with his cabinet this morning to set the stage for a debate on the pact, and decide whether to demand a vote of confidence.

BOLT THREATENED

Conservatives hold an over-all majority of 20 in the House of Commons. A rebel bloc of 40 Conservatives has threatened to bolt and vote against any settlement that means British evacuation of Suez.

Churchill is reasonably confident of surviving the revolt, as an overwhelming majority of Labor members support evacuation.

The prime minister was reported moving fast in an attempt to announce a new British-American-France guarantee to all countries of the Middle East, including Israel, against any aggression from Egypt or elsewhere, before the debate takes place.

The British press greeted the Suez agreement with mixed feelings.

"The Suez area is a repetition of imperialist America's aggressions," said a statement broadcast by Chang Han-fu, vice-foreign minister of the Peiping government.

Moscow joined in the protest. The Soviet Communist newspaper Pravda called the U.S. action in shooting down the Chinese planes "a provocatory act designed to give long tension to the Far East." Pravda said the Americans had violated the search without permission from the British authorities, and that Britain was angered at the U.S. intervention.

A Moscow radio account of the incident, heard in London, called the incident a "piratical" and "aggressive" act and "a dangerous attack" and said that the American military authorities used the incident with the British plane in order to maintain the state of tension in the Far East which has objectively eased as a result of the success of the Geneva conference.

PATNA, India (Reuters) — Nine flooded rivers spread death and devastation among a vast area in Bihar and swept away entire villages in northern India today.

Scores of people and animals were seen floating on the rushing waters in the north of Bihar state after torrential monsoon rains and melted Himalayan glaciers set in spate.

About 1,000 square miles of land are inundated. Roads and railways have been swept away and thousands of farm workers are without work.

The raging muddy torrent of the river "River of Sorrow"—swirled waist high through 300 villages, leaving 200,000 people homeless.

In some areas villagers took to the treetops and nearby hills as the floods rose to roof level. Others were seen struggling in the river Baghmati to its highest level in 50 years.

Plant Crops Will Benefit From Rainfall

It is trite, and a cliche, But there were figurative dollars splashing in almost fields and gardens this morning. In other words the weather man finally came through with the proverbial "million-dollar rain".

When you realize that not an inch of rain fell on the city and district for two months in July, you can readily understand farmers' elation over last night's and today's downfall.

In fact from nine p.m. last night to 9 p.m. this morning 1.6 inches of rain had fallen. During the night and early today 2 inches of rain had been registered at the purification plant, officials say. In other words the entire rainfall for the current month up to 9 a.m. today is 3.1 inches.

The rainfall was general throughout the district and will be exceptionally beneficial to tomato, potato and corn crops. It came a few days too late to benefit raspberry crops to any great extent, farmers say.

George Baitley, Wellington farmer who has eleven acres of berries said the crow was somewhat below normal due to lack of early-season rains.

Farmers in that district were especially appreciative of the rain. "It is six weeks since we have seen a drop," one remarked today. "The rains went all around us. Belleville, Picton and other parts of the district had some downfalls, but we never had even the dew."

See Democratic Socialism As Growing Force

EDMONTON (CP) — The CCF national council asserted today that democratic socialism has become a "greater world force than ever before in history."

Reporting to the opening session of the CCF's national convention, it said that neither the Russian Communist" policies of Soviet Russia nor the "barren capitalist" policies of the United States can solve the economic and political problems of the world today.

"Only the philosophy of democratic socialism, at once scientific and humanitarian, with its emphasis on equality, on freedom, on justice, and above all on the dignity and worth of every human being proves hope for the world," it said.

The statement was read in the text of the council's report issued to the press before delivery.

REVIEWS DEVELOPMENTS

The report, read to the 200 delegates by national secretary Lorne Ingle of Ottawa, reviewed developments within the party and on the world scene during the last year.

It noted that the fighting has ended in Korea and Indo-China and reiterated the CCF view that "a more realistic approach to the problems of the Far East can only be made when the United Nations and its member states, including Canada, face the fact that a new government has for almost five years now been in effective control in China. . . ."

Turning to the United States, the policy-making council expressed belief that the Eisenhower administration in the United States has "veered sharply to the right."

"Consequently," it said, "where the CCF has felt American policies and actions to be wrong we have not hesitated to speak out strongly and firmly in the hope that these policies and actions of the leader of our alliance may be modified and altered."

POST-WAR BOOM OVER

On the home front, the council suggested that the post-war boom which had bolstered the Canadian economy and had been "artificially" extended by the Korean war had come to an end.

The council report preceded an opening address by M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, who gave a report on the parliamentary phases of party activity. He will deliver the keynote address before the annual banquet Thursday night.

Tuesday, more than 100 delegates met in a closed labor-trade union conference which, a press statement issued later said, agreed that farmers and industrial workers face "a most serious economic situation."

A SLIP 'TWIXT CUP AND RECEIVER

While Princess Margaret was presenting the American Cup for gallantry to Corp. John Price of the St. John Ambulance brigade, she dropped the base of the trophy. The Canadian officer's corps stooped and retrieved it. A gift of the USAF for the most gallant cadet, the cup was awarded Cpl. Price after last year's floods. Presentation took place in Hyde Park after "Meg" reviewed more than 8,000 cadets of the brigade.—Central Press Canadian.

Union Seeks to Exclude All American Entertainers

TORONTO (CP) — Walter Murdoch, Canadian executive director of the American Federation of Musicians, Tuesday pulled the welcome mat from underneath the feet of U.S. entertainers. After November no American singer or dancer will be able to appear in a Canadian theatre or night club or before the television cameras.

Mr. Murdoch announced that new contracts to be signed shortly by the musicians union will contain a clause stipulating that union musicians will not be required to play for members of the American Guild of Variety Artists.

The union chief said the new contracts will provide more openings for Canadian talent.

"Surely, we've grown up to that extent. There has always been a great demand for Canadian talent; political campaigns that have been fought on that issue."

Mr. Murdock sent a letter to all booking agencies in North America licensed by the AFM, advising them not to send AGVA acts to work in Canada.

"If any booking agent books any AGVA acts into Canada I will have no alternative but to recommend to the international executive board that the offender's booking license be cancelled," he said in the letter.

Tuesday's order forced the cancellation of the scheduled two-week appearance in Toronto of the London Palladium Varieties, now playing in the United States. The troupe, whose members joined AGVA in order to appear in the U.S., was also scheduled to play for one week in Montreal and also make appearances in Hamilton, London, Kitchener and Ottawa.

The order will also affect a planned Canadian variety club benefit show starring U.S. entertainers Judy Garland and Donald O'Connor.

Murray Little, manager of Toronto's Casino Theatre, Canada's only vaudeville theatre in operation now, said the theatre could not operate more than two weeks with all-Canadian acts.

Mr. Murdoch said between now and November present contracts will have expired and new ones containing today's ruling will be in force by that date.

The action is the latest in union jurisdictional feud which already has forced all Canadian singers and dancers out of next month's Canadian National Exhibition grandstand show. Mr. Murdoch said Tuesday the Canadians will be paid Toll union wages for the CNE showings, despite the fact they will not work. He refused to say who would pay the bill for the 11 girl dancers and 18 singers.

The Canadians belong to a branch of the musicians' union and AGVA said they could not appear at the CNE without joining AGVA.

Crack Appears At Falls' Brink

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)
A surface crack developed today in the rock on Prospect Point, famous observation area at the brink of the American falls, and the area was roped off for fear that a segment might collapse into the gorge.

A member of the staff of the Niagara Frontier state parks commission said the crack is below the edge of the river about 30 feet upstream from the brink of the falls and shot straight inland about 50 or 60 feet. He said it was probably about three inches wide.

The crack, as much as a foot wide in places, started at the edge of the escarpment about 50 feet downstream from the brink of the falls. It ran back from the edge of the 170-foot high cliff, then turned parallel to the edge and extended back toward the river above the falls.

The crack ran between the edge of the gorge and the masonry building at the top of the elevator shaft leading to the Maid of the Mist landing at the lower river's edge.

Bert Robertson Named Director Of Shipbuilding

OTTAWA (CP)—A Scottish immigrant who scaled the ladders of Canadian engineering to play a key role in the construction of many of Canada's bridges, boats and wartime ships today was appointed to direct Canada's $450,000,000 naval shipbuilding program.

He is R. M. (Bert) Robertson of Lachine, Que., 60-year-old operations manager of the Dominion Bridge Co., appointed by Production Minister Howe to succeed A. P. Craig of Hamilton as the defence production department's shipbuilding director. The change-over becomes effective Aug. 1.

Mr. Craig, a $1-a-year man on loan from Westinghouse Co. Ltd., where he is vice-president has been in charge of the government's ship program for the last two years.

The 62-year-old official resigns the government and Westinghouse appointments to become vice-president in charge of sales for Transcanada Pipe Lines Ltd., which has received a conditional permit to build a $300,000,000 natural gas pipeline from Alberta to eastern Canada.

CAME AT 13

Mr. Robertson, transplanted in Canada by his Scottish immigrant parents at the age of 13, is a First World War veteran with almost a half-century of experience in steel engineering.

As a Dominion Bridge official, he has been associated in the construction of many Canadian bridges, including some in Montreal and Vancouver, and directed steel construction operations in the building of Toronto's Royal York and other hotels.

During the Second World War, he took over operation of the Dominion Bridge's government ship contracts, turning out barges and cargo ships as well as landing craft for the Allied forces.

He will concentrate on a government shipbuilding program that calls for construction of complicated destroyer escort vessels, a number of minesweepers, frigates and the conversion of many other ships.

N. Hastings School Boards To Challenge Bus Regulation That Would Cost $150,000

Municipal and school board officials in North Hastings are worried about a department of education regulation to go into effect next year which would rule out the use of panel trucks for the transportation of school children.

Bancroft Reeve Theodore Tyron, speaking at Hastings county council on a resolution calling for more rigid inspection of school buses and drivers, said that a memorandum from the department of education called for all vehicles used for the transportation of school children must be designed by the manufacturer for the carrying of passengers.

He said that in the North Hastings area between 40 and 50 panel trucks were being used as school buses. If, according to department regulations, the use of these had to be discontinued it would cost taxpayers close to $150,000 to replace them with regulation buses and the bigger vehicles would be of no use during the spring break-up period when roads were muddy.

"Under our local conditions in the spring when the roads are muddy the big buses just cannot operate," he said.

GO TO TORONTO

Reeve Tracey Adams of Dungannon said he had heard there was an amendment to the memorandum from the department, but it was noted by both Mr. Adams and by Reeve Tyron that a delegation from the north would go to Toronto to confer with department officials on the matter.

The discussion on school buses arose from a resolution from Oxford county council calling for more rigid inspection of school buses and drivers tabled for endorsation by local councillors.

Reeve Harry Morrow of Sidney township noted that the Oxford county resolution had nothing to do with the matter referred to by Reeve Tryon as no reference was made to the type of vehicle used. The resolution was intended to ask for inspection to see that the vehicles were mechanically safe and to see if the driver was competent.

Reeve Victor Hughson of Wollaston said old type army vehicles were being used as school buses in his municipality.

He noted that the order referred to by Reeve Tryon would be a benefit to his municipality but he would not like to see the new order make the purchase of high priced school buses necessary.

Reeve Price of Elzevir noted that regular inspection of school buses was necessary. Many of the vehicles used were old and developed mechanical trouble quickly.

When it was agreed that the Oxford county resolution had no bearing on the department memoranda, council concurred in the motion calling for more rigid inspection of the school buses.

Toronto Firm In Highway Probe Goes to Court

TORONTO (CP) — The third Ontario construction firm charged in the province's highway scandal came before Toronto police court today, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government.

Standard Paving Company and its vice-president, Elmer Birdsall, are charged on the conspiracy count, together with Cecil E. Nelson, retired chief engineer of the Ontario highways department.

Preliminary hearings into alleged irregularities in highway construction contracting have already been held at Fort William and Whitby.

Toronto Bank Robbed of $4,000

TORONTO (CP) — Four men held up a Province of Ontario savings bank today and escaped in a car with loot tentatively estimated at between $4,000 and $5,000.

Police said one man sat in the car outside the bank with the motor running and the other three carried out the robbery. Eight staff members were in the bank at the time and none were forced at gunpoint to line up against a wall and others were forced to lie on the floor.

A police alarm sent a number of patrol cars converging on the area of the bank at Danforth and Fenwick avenues in Toronto's east end.

Eisenhower Sees Reds Trying To Divide West

WASHINGTON (AP) —President Eisenhower said today the Chinese Communist attacks on American and British planes are part of the Red plan to split the Western allies. He declared the United States means to defend its rights.

The president told a press conference the U.S.S.R. rescue planes which were attacked by the Chinese Communists were engaged in legitimate business.

The American aircraft shot down two Red planes after being attacked over the South China Sea.

Answering other questions, he said he is highly pleased with the agreement reached by Britain and Egypt on terms for settling their dispute over the Suez canal zone.

Hastings County Council Opens Earliest Summer Session

Hastings county councillors convened today for their summer session, the earliest summer session held since the decision to hold four meetings each year.

Warden Fred G. Mitchell welcomed the members to the session, noting that the session had been called early, principally for the convenience of farmer members.

Council took no action with respect to a letter from L. Calnan of the Picton Gazette, informing councillors that the tourist booklet advertising county summer resorts could not be continued unless it had county support.

Publicity committee chairman Reeve Ritchie Wells of Marmora, noted that the county had joined with the city of Belleville in the publication of a tourist booklet. He felt that the county should continue under the present agreement through 1955.

REPLIES TO RESOLUTIONS

Two long letters from the office of the Prime Minister of Agriculture, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, in answer to resolutions concurred in at a previous session with respect to surplus food and a request for an investigation into the price spread of agricultural products.

One of the resolutions called for distribution of surplus Canadian food to needy nations. In answer to this the office of the minister of agriculture noted there were no food surpluses in Canada with the possible exception of wheat and beef.

In reply to the second resolution the agricultural minister noted a survey had been conducted in the price spread in beef, the results of which had showed the consumer price level had fluctuated in accordance with the producer price.

Reeve Earl Sager of Madoc agreed that the figures quoted were undoubtedly correct but noted that the handlers of beef products were still getting their margin of profit while the price received by producers had been cut in two since 1952.

"The figures quoted are undoubtedly correct but the wrong impression is given. The fact remains that only the farmer has taken the cut", he said.

BEEF PRICES TOO LOW.

"I don't question that possibly beef prices were too high two years ago, but they are too low now."

Reeve Irwin McCoy of Marmora township said that despite increased production the stocks of meat are now lower than ever before and more cases were not keeping pace with the demand. He said it looked as though there might be a combine among the buyers.

Council concurred in a resolution calling on the federal government to assume a greater portion of relief costs. This was asked because of the increasing unemployment and the fact that the government immigration policy brought more workers into the field.

No action was taken on a Dufferin county resolution calling for a government grant to be paid to assist in paying the salary of local assessors.

The general feeling was that if governments contributed to the salary of local assessors they would be in position to dictate to the municipalities.

"We already expect too much of governments," declared Reeve John Anderson of Faraday. "We should be willing to accept a little responsibility ourselves."

Reeve Jim Sprackett of Tudor felt council should concur in the motion, pointing to the increased costs of re-assessing to comply with county assessing regulations.

Deputy Reeve Ketchason of Thurlow thought it would be more satisfactory for each municipality to pay the salary of its own assessing officers.

AGREE WITH RESOLUTION

Also along the line of assessments councillors concurred in a Welland county resolution asking that municipalities not lose educational grants because of higher assessments where re-assessments have been done under the county assessing plan.

In some municipalities it is feared that educational grants will be reduced because of increased assessment.

Reeve Sager of Madoc township thought there might be some danger in the resolution of upsetting the benefits of re-assessing. He noted it was the intention of the department to base educational grants on new assessments when they are equalized across the province.

THE RETIREMENT QUESTION

One can hardly pick up a newspaper these days without reading some new report in which an expert advises against retirement at 65—or at 70 or even 100.

There was a day, not so very long ago, when everybody was singing the praises of the pension plan, inviting us all to sit back and relax while we watched the screen conscience for the fifteen days ahead, the last of life for which the first was made.

This attitude was more than slightly silly and it is pleasant to observe the change in outlook.

Still, is not the pendulum swinging a little too far and little too fast? Is not retirement at least permissible, and in some cases even advisable?

The truth is that most men and women are interested in their jobs—and not all jobs are the type to interest those who hold them.

The persons who today are so free with their advice to stay in harness and avoid the plague of pensioned idleness are people whose work is of a type which interests them.

There is also a suspicion that they are of a type which regards all work as interesting. There is a cure for this attitude and it is experience.

The machine, which has lifted so much labor off man's shoulders, has also imposed a burden. In some fields of endeavor specialization, while increasing efficiency, has also introduced monotony into the working day.

Machines are hard masters, too. Persons who have never visited a modern factory are not always aware of the pace which workers have to maintain. Contrary to some incurable optimists, the man over 65 is not always as good a worker as the man forty years younger. He has slowed down.

Then there are some jobs which, although essential to the well-being of the community, do not, or at least should not, fill the soul with satisfaction. The garbage collector, we suppose, is entitled to the opportunity to retire at 65 and retirement may increase his life-span and his zest for living. His problem is a little different from that of the scientist who studies the effect of retirement on the personality. Even that of the reporter who records the scientist's findings.

There is no good reason why a man or woman should be compelled to quit work at 65 if he or she does not wish to do so; but we also see no reason why forty-five years of hard work should not entitle a worker to a life of retirement if he or she wishes.

TILTING AT A WINDMILL

A report from Ottawa says there is growing concern among government officials in the nation's capital regarding the undesirable effect on labor mobility of social security legislation.

That such a problem might possibly arise has always been fairly evident to thinking observers.

The suggestion that the problem has now arisen is a transparent attempt to find some convenient and valuable windmill at which to joust instead of wrestling with the stern facts.

Unemployment in Canada today is, it is true, largely the result of "technical recession," resulting from that experienced by certain industries which are resulting in the creation of large groups of unemployed in some districts.

But this suggest that unemployment insurance is aggravating the unemployment situation by causing those jobless workers reluctant to move to other areas is to overlook an all-important fact. That fact is that, while unemployment is much worse in certain districts than others, there is no area in Canada where employment is plentiful.

Until the time arrives when jobs are going begging in some districts while unemployed men and women refuse to leave centres where work is unavailable, government officials at Ottawa need not concern themselves too much with this problem.

It is just possible that the time will never arrive when they need to worry about such a situation. Most men and women possess more energy and initiative than some people believe.

SPEEDING REDUCED

Cpl. Pat Poland of the Ontario Provincial Police, stationed at Bradford, 40 miles north of Toronto, says that speeders are not as numerous as they were from last year.

Personal observation by most readers of this editorial will probably tend to confirm Cpl. Poland's statement. There does appear to have been a decided decrease in the number of speeders and perhaps it would be more accurate to say in the rate at which they speed. Ten miles above the speed limit seemed to be the accepted highway pace last year. This year it is only about five miles over the legal fifty.

Cpl. Poland attributes this decrease in the speeding menace "to newspaper articles on speeding and to cooperation from the public."

We think the average motorist also deserves some credit. True, newspaper reports of anti-speeding campaigns by police forces have been handed out by courts to some of the more flagrant offenders, have influenced the driving habits of many motorists. We also suspect, however, that many a man has decided to drive more slowly because he has become convinced that driving fast is not safe.

One point bothers us. Cpl. Poland reports that there has been an 80 per cent decrease in the number of speeders. There certainly has not been a decrease of 80 per cent in the number of accidents. This tends to confirm a belief held by many that, while excessive speed kills, the speeder has been blamed for many accidents which he did not cause.

If, next year, the police could start a new campaign, against the slow driver, against the road hog, against the man who passes on a hill or a curve—and if the newspapers and courts provided similar co-operation to that extended in the drive against speeding—perhaps these offences could be reduced by 80 per cent, too. The result might be a rather striking decline in the number of highway accidents.

PROFOUND ISSUES

There are 285,000 local congregations in the United States presided over by 180,000 clergymen. Fifty-five per cent of the population of the United States are members of some church organogue, which means that 41 per cent, or about 82,000,000 persons, are not connected by the ties of any church.

There is a job to be found in these church statistics. Fifty-nine per cent of our people now belong to some church, but in 1850 only six per cent were church members; in 1850, only 16 per cent; in 1900, only 38 per cent. There are more than a quarter of a million Sunday Schools in the United States with an enrollment of almost 33,000,000 persons. The growth last year was 6½ per cent over their previous year. Yet the number of young people not in Sunday-schools and receiving no religious training of any kind is so large as to fill the minds of all sensible people with profound alarm.

We are doing a good job of evangelizing our generation, but we are not doing a good enough job. There are some ways in which modern society appears to have reached new levels and lows and also ways it seems to have reached new highs. It is almost as if we were quivering in the balance. Shall we go on to triumph and a moral greatness which will bless the world, or shall we start down the Rome and nineteen other civilizations preceding us have begun their decline?

Let us not be too late with too little. The issues are life and death—eternal life and eternal death.

JUST FOLKS

THE CHANCE

We often hear it said: "Too bad! No chance in life that youngster had.
His only playground was the street.
Then how was destined for defeat".
Yet, hearing that, God might reply:
"You were one chance that passed him by.

"Had you stretched out your hand to him.
His life might not have been so grim.
It might have helped him had he known
That you a friendly, cheerful word.
Had you for him but shown the way,
That boy might not have gone astray."

If every youngster could depend
On one good man to be his friend,
His willing counselor and guide,
And understand that his needs provide,
In every trying circumstance
Throughout his life he'd have a chance.

Were we to set youth's pathway straight,
Our pity would not come too late.
But if as men we pass them by
And let assist them never try
Then we will be (and "that's too bad!")
The chance some poor boy could have had.

Most Wonderful Girl

(New York Times)

What does one say to a gangling lad who fancies himself in love with the most wonderful girl in the world? Since one has not yet seen this most wonderful girl the world it may be best to say nothing. It is best also not to be alarmed. This lad is not quite at the age when he can borrow the family car, and perhaps ride off to some Gretna Green, which is something for which to be thankful. But he is at the age when the problem of how to get to the high school junior prom seems to start each month, is a serious one. He is at the age when romance is a glowing thing — especially when the object of it is the most wonderful girl in the world. She is, because he has said so.

One could, if one were given to it, say a number of things to this lad—about love. One might say, if one were cruel, that this probably will not be the last number of wonderful girls—that it should not be considered impossible that if he wins her affectionate regard she will jilt him like Goldilocks for some more smooth character who drives an old Buick convertible and is also in this age—for she is his age, he says—are wiser than he: Indeed, that she will be wiser than he, and he had better watch out. One might add that this girl cannot only be fickle but also puzzling, that in her never-to-be-wholly understand them. But perhaps he knows these things already.

Perhaps, if one said these things and more, the lad would not hear any. If not all of them. He would hear only the last: That blue and steadfast (or whatever the expression may be for all that) and will be his forever and ever. Doesn't she have his class ring? Doesn't she wear certain instances in which childhood sweethearts (who do not in fact use that term) married later in life and lived happily ever after. Doesn't everything in this fact that this does not happen very often. And there would be at least a suggestion that girls are wiser than boys; girls are maturing in height and weighing of girls in general and not of the most wonderful girl in the world.

But it is spring, and at his age in this spring a girl who interests him is no more a year age obviously interests him very much indeed now. It is good that he is candid about it—that she says and what she does are matters with which this lad's family is familiar. One recalls that in another generation a certain young man kept (or was allowed) his junior prom love locked in his room and never released her precious name (what was it, anyway?) to his sister, to his friends or even with which this lad's admiration is expressed is refreshing and does not, at times his romance seems a little silly. One suspects that the most wonderful girl in the world is the voice one occasionally intercepts on line telephone asking, amid giggles, if that lad is at home. If one says no, but one will be glad to take the message, there are more giggles and the advice that he will call another time. One would like to meet Miss Giggles.

* * *

And then comes word that one may indeed have the opportunity to see this most wonderful girl in the world. She is coming. She wants to bring a few of his friends over. She thinks this wonderful girl in the world — around to the house for a few minutes to see her. She would like to meet Miss Giggles.

Recent Bride Feted by Showers, Trousseau Tea

Before the marriage of Mrs. Douglas C. Graham, of Peterborough, the former Miss Marilyn Andrews, of Belleville, a miscellaneous shower was given in her honor by Mrs. Reg Seabrooke, also of Peterborough. She was also entertained by Mrs. Robert Lucy and Mrs. Harold Robbins, of Belleville, at a kitchen shower. Presentations were made by her fellow associates on the Graham Bell Public School staff, Brantford, held by the Graham Bell Home and School Association and the grade one class of the school, her mother, Mrs. H. S. Andrews, of Belleville, entertained at a trousseau tea for her and Mrs. W. Graham, of Peterborough, mother of the groom, assisted to receive the guests. Pr. Ed.-Belleville Club Enjoys Annual Picnic

The Prince-Edward-Belleville club was again favored with ideal weather for its annual bus trip and picnic held this year at the lovely farm home of Mrs. Marshall Thompson in Hillier.

Warmly welcomed by the hostess, lunch was assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Orville Thompson, the ladies were seated around tables on the shady lawn, where a short program was enjoyed.

All were delighted to meet Mrs. Helen B. Anderson, always a honored guest, who expressed her appreciation and added some lovely thoughts in her own poetical phrasing.

PROGRAM

Short readings were given by Mrs. T. E. Lee, Frank Street, and Mrs. J. Garbutt, while Mrs. Abbot conducted a solo and all joined in old-time songs.

Heyseral, who were guests, expressed pleasure at being present.

The success of the afternoon was largely due to the untiring efforts of the hostess, Mrs. Thompson, to the bus driver, Mr. Percy Willington, to Mrs. Babcock all of whom thanks are extended.

All are sorry to know that one of the members, Mrs. Wilfred Thompson, R.R. 2, Belleville, is a patient in Kingston General Hospital. The club is sending a shower of cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward James Peter Greenfield are shown cutting the wedding cake following their marriage in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville. The bride is the former Miss Margaret Mary Matheson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Matheson, of Belleville, and the bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Greenfield, also of Belleville.—Photo by Percy E. Chambers.

Baskets of delphinium, gladioli, asters, pink carnations and gypsophelia, banked with ferns formed a lovely background in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, on Saturday, July 17th, at 9.00 a.m. for the marriage of Margaret Mary Matheson, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Matheson, to Edward James Peter Greenfield, also of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Greenfield.

The Reverend J. J. Buckley officiated.

The wedding music was provided by Miss Mary Florey who accompanied the soloist Mr. Robert Burke who sang "Panis Angelicus". "Ave Maria" and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride radiant in white Chantilly lace and nylon net over satin, fashioned with fitted, strapless bodice, accented by a matching lace jacket with long sleeves ending in "V" points over the hands, and small Peter Pan collar studded with seed pearls. Her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion was held by a coronet of matching satin sprinkled with seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Miss Edna Lalonde, of Belleville, was maid of honor, gowned in yellow net over taffeta in floor-length, with matching picture hat and mitts. She carried a bouquet of yellow 'mums.

Mr. Fred Alcock, of Montreal, friend of the bridegroom, was groomsman, and Mr. Keith Baider, cousin of the bridegroom, and Donald Matheson, uncle of the bride, both of Montreal, were ushers.

The wedding reception was held at the Golden Acre Inn, Kingston Road, which was prettily adorned with gladioli, asters and bells, where the bride's mother, wearing a navy blue nylon sheer redingote type gown with white accessories and corsage of pink roses, received the many guests. The bridegroom's mother, attired in rose figured nylon taffeta with white accessories, and similar corsage, assisted.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride donned a powder blue linen suit with seed pearl and bugle bead trim, with accessories and corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

Guests were present from Montreal, Lancaster, Ontario; Toronto and Oshawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenfield will reside in Belleville upon their return.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was honored by a kitchen shower held at the home of Mrs. John Jordon, Belleville, with Miss E. Lalonde, as cohostess. Friends and co-workers of the bride from the Northern Electric attended.

Blueprint for Government By Women Given in Talk

By PAULINE KENNEDY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Elsie Gregory MacGill, Canada's top — flight woman aeronautical engineer, has laid down a blueprint for the all-female government of the future.

"Women humanized law," she said Tuesday night. "They could apply the same principle to government."

The slight, red-haired engineer, partially crippled by polio, was speaking at a dinner meeting of the biennial convention of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

"The original idea of social legislation was a unique female contribution to Canadian political life," she said. "On that score alone women suffrage has proved a tremendous success.

"For one reason or another such legislation was outside the scope of even the most capable male administrator."

WOMEN OF FUTURE

Miss MacGill foresaw the women's government of the future laying down policies of equal pay, a national health insurance plan, better employment safeguards, expanded educational facilities and a realistic plan for peace.

In the end she blamed women themselves for their own timidness and lack of representation in government.

"Those who grumble about the lack of women candidates should take their gripe to their local political organization and into the caucus of their political party."

INTERNAL MATTERS

Discussion during first sessions of the convention Tuesday was confined to internal matters and changing of the existing constitution to be ratified by the federal government.

Two observers from England are sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Hall and Margaret Leppago, both national officers in Britain. They have been in the United States collecting material for a history of the International B and PW Federation.

"The great vitality and 'go' of Canadian and American women," the sisters said, is the most impressive sight on the continent.

Today the convention reverses its predominantly "female-first" attitude to hear a panel discussion entitled "the men, bless them."

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A LOYAL FRIEND WOULDN'T INTERPRET

Dear Miss Fairfax: —

My girl friend goes steady with a boy who often directs most of his attention to me. Since they have been going steady, they fight constantly, and after they do, he comes to me for advice.

I seem to resent playing second fiddle to this girl friend of mine, especially because I like this boy very much. I think it is wrong for me to like him because he does go with my best friend, but how can I help it when he pays so much attention to me? He often calls me just to talk, and I feel it is also wrong not to tell him to stop calling. I can't seem to make myself because I like to talk to him so much.

I don't know whether or not to tell my girl friend that I like this boy, because I am afraid of losing her friendship. Besides, he may not want me for a girl friend but just as a friend. I am really bewildered about it all.

Please help me settle this. I is so important to me and my friends.— B.E.W.

Dear B.E.W.: —

Why don't you try putting yourself in your girl friend's place? How would you like it if you suddenly found out that your boy friend was going to another girl with problems that should be just between the two of you? I'm sure you would resent being talked over in any such way, and feel that the girl should get out of your province.

If you want to be a loyal friend, then I think you will tell this chap to settle his quarrels with his girl friend himself, and not come to you for sympathy or friendship behind her back. A little plain speaking on your part will clear up your bewilderment, and I think you'll like yourself better if you do it.

YOUR BOY FRIEND IS RIGHT

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Six months ago I became engaged to a boy I had been going with for a year and a half.

Soon after, he found he was going into the service, and we decided we would be married. But at the last minute, he changed his mind and told me he didn't think we should get married because we couldn't afford it. This doesn't make sense to me, because I'm working and he has been, too.

Now I can't make up my mind whether it would be better to wait the two years he will be in service, or try and persuade him we should get married now. I am 16 and he is 19. — T.

Dear T.:

I would feel it far wiser for you to accept this boy's decision and wait until he's out of service before getting married. Even then, you will be only 18, which, in my opinion, is surely young enough for marriage; maybe, even, still too young.

I am quite sure that if you were to marry now, at 18, and then, as a wife, found yourself shut out from the activities and dates your friends of the same age would be enjoying, it wouldn't be long before you would be wishing you were free, too, to have the same kind of good times.

At 18, few girls are ready to tie themselves up for good to one boy, and it would be the part of wisdom to take the time this chap will be in service to find out whether or not your present feeling for him will last.

New Friends Are Fun Too

By Mary Moore

Do you agree with me that very few energetic people are pessimistic?

Do you believe that interested folk are interesting?

Isn't it a good story-teller who listens to and appreciates your story with rapt attention?

I feel today like Marianne used to feel when she was introduced into the next grade and met a new little classmate. She'd rush home from school and the moment she was inside the door say "Mummy I have a new friend."

Last night I met a truly remarkable woman at English birth, abounding with energy, interested and interesting, rushed off her feet with current projects and bubbling over with ambitious plans for the future.

We were invited to their country home to pick raspberries, which we did into honey pails slung around our necks. Then over a fire and while we munched hot dogs and ate raspberries until we rasped, the yarning started.

There were marathon talkers and the last yarn-spinner in turn. Among Phil's other business projects she handles the agency for Nylashes, which, as the name suggests, are artificial nylon eyelashes. My date is the advertising account executive for these and had a pair at the Press Club Conference I told you about last month. The three of us were then in turns to be the various press gals' amusement and gratification. The way we batted those eyelashes at a strictly feminine audience was something to behold.

We told Phil our experiences with plenty of embellishments. She was delighted with our novel advertising techniques, but it matched us yarn for yarn. One of her ambitions is to build cabins on their property as small compact homes for lonely aged folk who are still independent and able to wait on themselves. She says if they care to they may have a little garden plot.

This is not dream talk, for they have the sites chosen for an initial two cabins, and my sister Doris being on social work will know exactly where to go for suitable occupants.

We were stimulated and fired with ambition when we left and were happy to be invited back for a roast when the corn ripens.

Phil, wanted my recipe for chicken salad to serve to 25 people she has invited for a celebration, and so does Mrs. D. E. in this audience, Mrs. D. E. has to serve 60 so will increase the recipe by 2 1-2 times.

DE LUXE CHICKEN SALAD

(Serves 25.)

Simmer three 5-lb boiling fowl (dressed ready-to-cook weight) in water to cover with 2 onions, 2 carrot, celery, cloves, bay leaf and salt, in covered kettle, for 3 1-2 hours, or until tender. As soon as possible, and chill the meat, so that it will cut up cleanly. Slice large pieces. Measure 12 cups. You will also need 1 cup finely chopped chives, 6 cups finely chopping celery, 1 dozen hard-cooked eggs, 1 1-2 cups coarsely cut walnuts or blanched almonds, 3 cups mayonnaise or salad dressing, 1-3 cup wine or spirit vinegar, 1 cup whole milk, 2 teaspoons salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, about 3 large heads lettuce for bed, and 1 bunch watercress for garnish. If desired nuts may be sauteed in 2 tablespoons butter. Two soft one-half hours before serving time mix all ingredients but lettuce and watercress and chill thoroughly. This is good served with pickled pears.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

HOW DO YOU LOOK WHEN YOU SAY "HOW DO YOU DO?"

Let's face it . . . Your facial expression when you say your "How do you do" to acknowledge an introduction. When you are on your vacation the chances are that you will be meeting new people. You will want to make a good first impression, so you are introduced, they say you say your "How do you do" well, naturally, either the cline people to like you and want to know you better. . . or make them lose any interest in you or in knowing you. Watch this, for it is an extremely important fact. For also, so often when you muff the opportunity to make a good first impression, you never get the opportunity to make a second impression! So it makes good sense that you keep your "How do you do" brightly polished, always ready to be the powerful social asset it can be, should be.

HOW WIFE ADDRESSES HUSBAND'S RELATIVES

Dear Mrs. Beeckmas:

My husband and I were married last June, and we had to postpone our wedding trip until this fall, which is to be the latter part of next month. We are going to visit his home town, and for the first time I will meet his aunts, uncles, cousins, and other relatives. My parents are not living.) I've been wondering how I will be expected to address these relatives. "Mr." and "Mrs." do seem so cold and formal for these relatives to whom my husband is so devoted. (My husband's family is much above ours in social position, and several times before you have kindly and clearly answered questions I've sent you, thus saving me from making "social errors". It's wonderful to know, rather than to guess about these what-to-do questions! Thank you for helping me, Mrs. Beeckman.) Sue A.

And thank you for your kind words, Mrs. A., and for this important question you ask now. For your reassurance, there is a definite etiquette rule about this question: a wife addresses her husband's aunts and uncles and cousins just as he addresses them. So if he says, "Aunt Elizer", you say "Aunt Elizer". . .if he says "Uncle Jim", you say "Uncle Jim". And for a cousin either "Cousin Kate" whichever he uses. (And similarly, a husband addresses his wife's aunts and uncles and cousins as she addresses them.)

YOU CAN take your small baby calling without causing your hostess an accident moment even if a change is in order. Available now is a terry and plastic play mat with pockets for your supplies. It folds neatly and has an overarm strap for easy carrying.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

TREATMENT FOR OILY SKIN

According to her own lights, the girl with the shiny nose is afflicted with the worst of all beauty problems. But she shouldn't worry about it too much. In youth the sebaceous glands are nearly always over-active. The function of these glands is to keep the skin soft, and pliable. When they slow up, as they do later in life, the cutaneous covering becomes dry and then that condition becomes a problem.

A film of oil protects the skin from injury done by dry heat, wind and sun. When the glands are functioning normally this film is not noticeable.

It is possible, medical men tell us, to lessen the amount of exudations by changing the diet. It is reasonably certain that a diet that is rich in fats and sugar will have a stimulating effect upon the sebaceous glands. The girl who is worried about is completing that looks as if it has been freshly buttered and who finds the pores expanding and attracting atmospheric dust, should cut down on these foods.

For sweet deserts, fruit should be substituted. Cream should be removed from milk, for the time being. Those delightful sessions with the gang at the soda fountain should be limited.

The best local treatment consists of a thorough face washing at bedtime with soap that fluffs to a lather, and plenty of friction with the fingers after the wash has been used. A cold rinse afterwards will bring a reaction of the blood streams. Then, an astringent, such as witch hazel, should be applied.

Oily cosmetics must be used sparingly. Exposure to sunlight will dry the skin surface but, to prevent burning, a little vanishing cream should be used, to be removed later, and plenty of friction with soap and water.

British Empire Games Notes

VANCOUVER (CP) — All the further over steaks for Canada's Empire Games swimmers has simmered down and the swimmers will get their steaks.

They'll have small ones in the morning, large ones in the evening and they'll eat them in the Empire Village dining rooms.

The issue over the steaks appeared to be a great intra-Canadian ruckus. Other teams didn't appear excited although there was some hint that more steaks would be agreeable. No one disputed the plenteousness of food served in the dining rooms.

There were a few small grease spots that weren't erased with settlement of the steak issue, at least so far as information on the subject was concerned.

WHO'S GOING TO PAY

One was: Who is going to pay for the extra steaks? The other: what will members of other teams —Canadian or otherwise — think when they see Canadian swimmers having steak for breakfast and steak isn't on the menu.

Before the settlement was reached, coach Percy Norman of the swimming team, said his swimmers—men and women—had "lost 10 pounds per kid." He added that "these kids burn up a lot of energy training and they need steaks for breakfast."

The Canadian Amateur Swimming Association was of the same opinion. Tuesday morning the swimmers ate steaks at a restaurant in the University of British Columbia gymnasium, at one end of the glittering Empire pool.

ALL SETTLED

Several hours later Hy Herschorn of Montreal, general manager of the entire Canadian team, said everything had been settled.

"I didn't know of the matter until a few hours ago. Then it took action. The swimmers will not eat outside the village. If they want 16 steaks they can have them if any team manager wants steaks for his athletes he can come to me with his problems."

Who is paying for the steaks, the Games organizing committee or the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association?" he was asked.

"That's not my affair," said the general manager.

Roy Ashworth of Montreal, CASA president, said the question of who pays for the steaks "didn't come up."

Asked what he thought of the situation of other teams not having steak for breakfast, Ashworth replied: "That's something for managers of those teams. I am concerned with our swimmers."

TWICE DAILY

Meat, not necessarily steaks, has been on the menu daily. Steaks were served for dinner twice in the last three days.

George Gravas of Montreal, coach of the Canadian cycle team, said his athletes have been getting plenty of food although he had suggested to the cyclists management that there be more steaks. Camp commandant J. P. MacKenzie was inadvertently caught up in the Canadian squabble.

"I am afraid the impression is getting around that we aren't feeding the athletes enough," he said.

"Any team can get anything extra it wants, even bird eggs, if it pays for them."

He displayed a questionnaire. He said a circular had been sent to all Empire team managements months ago. It contained varied sample menus it was proposed to serve the athletes.

"Some countries didn't reply at all," he said. "But those that did approved the menus and made no objection. I am sure we are serving well-balanced meals. We are paying more than $1 a pound wholesale for steaks. If a team requires six steaks per person per meal, we will oblige but we will have to charge extra."

Find 'Some Form,' Possibly Ship, On Mount Ararat

ISTANBUL (AP)—An American who set out to climb Mount Ararat in search of the remains of Noah's Ark has found "some form covered with ice and snow which could possibly be a ship," the district administrator of the area said Tuesday.

The American was identified by the Turkish Interior ministry as John Leeby, a native of California, representing the American Outing Club.

In a cable received here Tuesday Nedim Boysan, district administrator of Dogu Bayazit at the base of the 16,946-foot mountain, said:

"We encountered not the ruins of Noah's Ark but some form covered with ice and snow which could very possibly be a ship. Due to bad weather, we could not go near it or photograph it."

BAD TARGET

WHITLA, Alta. (CP) — Rancher Harry Hall was rounding up horses when one of the animals suddenly charged the vehicle he was driving. The horse's neck was broken. The animal had to be destroyed and $500 damage was done to the car.

Milton Couple Wed Many Years, Husband Is 111

MILTON, Ont. (CP)—This small town 30 miles west of Toronto is the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hemstreet, considered one of the oldest married couples in Canada. Mr. Hemstreet claimed to be 111, his wife 99.

They were childhood sweethearts who met in Oakville in this district about midway between Toronto and Hamilton.

For 30 years Mr. Hemstreet ran a general store in Milton. An enthusiast about civic affairs, he served 15 years on the town council and 26 years as clerk and treasurer. He's still spry enough to keep an eye on the town's progress.

Mrs. Hemstreet, frail now, divides her time between resting in bed and sitting on the wide verandah of her home to watch passers-by. Her hands have knit socks for service men in three wars.

In all their married life they have hardly stirred outside of Milton. "Home is where to find contentment," Mr. Hemstreet said in an interview.

The Hemstreets' daughter, Mrs. J. P. Hardiman, wife of a Timmins councillor, looks after her aged parents.

RAWDON

History of Hubble Clan Given At Family Picnic at Frankford

RAWDON—Almost 100 members of the Hubble clan gathered at Frankford community hall last Sunday and enjoyed a delightful day together. The Hubbles came from Montreal, Quebec, Toronto, Kingston, Belleville, Wooler, Campbellford, Brighton, Wooler, Read, Fenelon, Stirling, Menie, Mount Pleasant, Birge Valley, Stockdale, Ohio, Ross, Alkens, Tabernacle and other points.

Tables set up in L shape in the dining hall were well filled with an abundance of delicious goodies and tarts. The association furnished all the ice cream that each one could eat and Rawdon Women's one members remained for supper before returning homewards.

SHORT PROGRAM

Following the noon meal, Mr. Everett Hubble, Belleville R.R. 2, presided over a short program, with Mrs. Don Terry, Frankford R.R. 1, was secretary pro-tem.

The prizes were given out as follows:

Oldest Person—Mrs. Elgin Jackman, Stirling, 84 years.

Largest Family—Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hubble and four children, Glen Ross.

Those who travelled the longest distance, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Tucker, Tweed. There were lots of others who were holidaying in this vicinity with relatives for the week-end hence they could not qualify for this prize.

Most recent bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hubel, Brighton, married 1953.

NO TAKERS

A prize was in reddiness for any person contemplating marriage soon, but there were no takers; at a later date, all the children were treated to confectionery.

The proceedings of 1953 were read and the bank balance was $36.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen traced the Hubble history from Nehemiah, the pioneer, and outlined what had been accomplished by the three historians.

Mrs. Russel Hubel explained in detail the idea of publishing a book containing a full history, and Mrs. Don Terry spoke briefly and distributed a mimeographed copy of the clan history to each family.

A vote of appreciation was tendered the girls for their work in tracing each family back through five generations to the pioneer Nehemiah, who first came to "Hubble Hill", sometime between 1783 and 1788. Authentic records show that Nehemiah settled in this part of Rawdon township 157 years ago.

Brief addresses were given by Ross Hubble, Mrs. Clarence Hay, Mrs. Selburne Westover, Mrs. Hermon Tucker, Mr. William Theed, and Mr. Elton Huble. All were in favor of having a family reunion.

A ways and means committee will have to plan some special idea for producing the funds early in 1955. The historians definitely want to have all names, data, all particulars of the younger generations and any corrections in their hands by December 31st of this year. Unless it is available at that time, it will not be used for the 1955 reunion.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Mr. Ross Hubble conducted the election of officers which were: Newly elected president, Cecil Hubble, Foxboro; vice president, Everett Hubble; secretary treasurer, Mrs. Hermon Tucker, Tweed; corresponding secretaries, Mrs. Selburne Westover and Mrs. Everett Hubble.

The historical committee appointed in 1953 for three years consisted of: for three years, Mrs. Don Terry, Mrs. Russel Hubel and Mrs. Percy MacMullen.

Sports committee, Marion Hubble and John Schwass; arrangements for hall and ice cream, Mrs. John McColl.

The 1955 reunion will be held the last Sunday in July at Frankford Community Hall, when ice cream will be supplied. Tea can be made at the hall and each family can bring their own dreable.

Appreciation was extended the retiring president, Ernest Hubble, who has served so faithfully during his term of office.

All members were asked to register in the book and the collection amounted to $27. It was suggested that a report be published for the benefit of the clan unable to be in attendance. This year almost 100 invitations were mailed.

Newcomers to the picnic were, Mr. and Mrs. William Theed, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Elton Hubble, Donald and Milton, Campbellford. Some of the clan were absent because of illness. Each person wore a name card and this helped to identify the group. It was noted that another group was using the spelling Hubble.

"THE HUBBLE HISTORY"

"We three historians (Thora, Keitha and Florence) are indebted to many people for our data re the Hubble clan, the Hubble Clan. We have studied reams of material, checked past records, old and still there are errors and omissions. This year we have tried to trace our ancestry from the Pioneer Nehemiah (who came to Hubble Hill about 1783) down to our generation, then later we hope to complete the job.

Records state that Nehemiah settled permanently in Rawdon township in 1788 and that in 1797 he had a wife and nine children. We have no record of his wife but we have a good record of all branches of his family except William." We have a lot of material relating to those early days, from the time of John Wesley in England; the crossing over to Europe, and then later returning to Plymouth, (Devonshire), England. From here they emigrated to the United States and later to Canada

SAILED ON "MAYFLOWER"

Some of the Hubble ancestors sailed on the "Mayflower," September 1620, under Captain John Scott. Forty-one passengers landed December 21, 1620, at "Plymouth Cove", tired and weary from the long voyage across the Atlantic. This group known as "The Pilgrim Fathers", settled near Boston, Mass., in U.S.A., and created new homes in that unsettled country. We have several stories of their hardship and privation, as well as the one, where an Indian chief taught them how to plant corn and fertilize each hill with a dead fish. We have a lot of material of interest and there is a splendid movie entitled, "The Plymouth Adventure" that is well worth viewing.

TREK TO CANADA

Following the Declaration of Independence in 1776 the Hubbles began their trek (with other friends) to Canada. A few came, looked the situation over, returned to Boston, and encouraged others to emigrate to this new country. Sometime during the years 1783-1788 Nehemiah Hubble and two brothers (or more) came to Canada with, "The United Empire Pilgrims." They were the first settlers at "Hubble Hill" where they built a small cabin. The first person to come to this district was a Mr. Rosebrugh who squatted for a few months and then left for Sidney township. At a later date these "Hubble" brothers built another log house on "Pump Street", Mount Pleasant, (pardon, where Mr. Allen Simpson now resides. The present home was built by John's "Ira" well over 100 years ago. Another brother, Nathan, remained in the United States and was a general in the army. This accounts for members of the clan living in Arizona, New Mexico, Wisconsin and many other places outside Canada.

SETTLES AT HUBBLE HILL

Authentic records in my possession prove that Nehemiah settled permanently at Hubble Hill 157 years ago. Records are on file that at Ernestown May 25th, 1797, Nehemiah Hubble naturalized Hon. Peter Russell, administrator of the government of Upper Canada for a location of land. He had served seven years, 1778-1785, as a soldier in the Prince of Wales Regiment commanded by Col. Brown. He resided in this province of Ontario since 1783 and had a wife and nine children. Transportation and letters took years in those days and on this land, the Deputy Surveyor General Robert, stated that Nehemiah was settled on Lot 20, Concession 3, Rawdon township, where Ezel Dunkley now resides. When the land certificate was official his affidavit stated "he had lived at Hubble Hill upwards of twenty years."

The Crown deed was issued October 4, 1823. We have records of the first coal oil lamp in Rawdon, the apple orchard near the Allan School and many other stories of early days. We have inscribed dates wherever they were available and this added interest to our record. We need full information of all the material each family has in its possession, especially what is contained in the pioneer Bible records. In order that your committee can make a success of their assignment. We three have decided that it is up to each one of you to forward your material to us not later than December 31, 1954.

Early next year we plan to arrange for the 1955 reunion and we hope to bring the Hubble clan up to date. Then too, we cannot be responsible for the spelling of names. Each family had a different version and we are not presuming which is correct. In several cases we have used our best judgment. We hope this account of our ancestors will be of interest to you and that it will be treasured as a prized possession as it has taken several hours of study and time in order to produce it. Our ancestors found Rawdon wilderness, here they hewed timbers and built homes, schools and churches. Gradually they cleared the land and then moved further afield and today, July 28, 1954, we owe our great heritage to these stalwart pioneers. Every side-line in Hastings County is rich in memories of chivalry and romance and we honor them and their descendants.

ANCESTRY TRACED

We have traced the ancestry as follows:

Nehemiah Hubble — the pioneer

Nine children

Elijah — died in infancy;

Nehemiah the Second — three children — Nancy, Nehemiah the Third;

Elijah Allan (sometimes called Ezekiel) had eight children: Alonzo, Nahemiah called (Big Myer), Ami, Peter, Reuben, Katie, Huldah and Lovica.

William — no record — he probably died in his teens;

Reuben — four children — William, Alonzo, Hannah and Rebecca;

Reuben (called Big Reuben) had six children: Nelson, Beshel, Alberson, Dexter, Huldah and Adeline.

John — Nine children: James, Henry, Elijah, Samuel, John, Ira, Levi, Abigail and Harriett.

Sarah—presumed to have died in her teens.

HUBBLE BOYS

An early directory dated 1880-81 gives sixteen names of Hubble boys in Rawdon and Sidney townships. Some were yeomen, others laborers, while Ira was a blacksmith and one girl, Phoebe, listed as a spinster. In the next four years 12 more Hubbles were listed and in 1889 the directory listed 30 more Hubbles with farms and Ezekiel was a blacksmith.

Full particulars were given of each of these nine children and they were traced down five generations to 1954, and the remainder will be completed for the next reunion tracing down seven generations.

A brief picture of this history is now sketched for the public but a full mimeographed copy was given to each family.

Dr. Harry W. Mach, Detroit is a descendant of Nehemiah the Second.

The Elijah Allen branch, third son of the pioneer had no representatives from Alonzo, Ami or Peter.

From "Big Myer" there were Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hubble, Foxboro; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hubble, Murray township; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hubble and family, Rawdon township; Mrs. Lorne Hubble and Mrs. John McColl, Frankford; Mrs. Elgin Jackman, Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Pollock, Campbellford, R. R. 1, and their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Irvin, Stirling R. R. 4; Mr. and Mrs. William Theed of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Selburn Theed and family, Valois, Quebec; Mr. and Mrs. Horace McMurter, Carrying Place.

From the Little Reuben branch, fifth son of Elijah Allen, there were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hubble, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnston, Glen Ross, and other members of that family.

The daughter, Huldah Hubble, married the United Empire Loyalist, James Wescott. This group were represented by Edward Montgomery, Foxboro; Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Stirling R. R. 2, and their granddaughter Patsy MacMullen, Belleville.

DESCENDANTS PRESENT

James Hubble, fifth son of pioneer Nehemiah. Members of this group in attendance at the reunion were: Mr. and Mrs. Hermon Tucker, Tweed; Mrs. Delbert Uman, Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hay, Belleville, R. 1; Mr. and Mrs. Selbourne Westover, Belleville.

Ray Hubble, sixth son of the pioneer, was represented by Mr. Clarence Chard, Stirling R. R. 4.

John Hubble, seventh son of the pioneer, was represented by Lorne Wescott, Read, Ontario, grandson of Ira Hubble and Mr. and Mrs. Elton Hubble, Campbellford, grandson of Oak Lake Sam.

Peter Hubel, eighth son of pioneer, was represented by Mrs. Russell Hubel and family, Glen Ross; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hubel, Brighton and Mr. and Mrs. Don Terry, Frankford R. R. 1.

Space does not permit giving more names of those in attendance, but this will give a broad view of the "Who's Who" of the Hubble clan, which is spelled various ways. The historians are anxious to hear from the "lost Hubbles" of which they have no record.

CONVENT INVADER JAILED

ST. ALBANS, England (R) — A 35-year-old laborer, Ronald Hector McGuire, Monday was sentenced to jail for two years for indecently assaulting a nun in a convent near here. Sister Mary Winifred, the prosecution alleged, woke to find McGuire standing by her bed after he had broken into the convent.

RYLSTONE

Fickle Weather Lessens Crowd At Band Concert

RYLSTONE — The second open-air concert sponsored by the Rylstone Women's Institute, was held at the picnic grounds, Crowe River Bridge, on Sunday evening. There was not as large a crowd, as attended the first one a week ago, on account of the uncertainty of the weather. Showers threatened all afternoon and evening, though not much rain fell, it did keep several people from attending.

Mrs. Donald Kerr, convener for social activities for the Institute, acted as master of ceremonies, and introduced the performers and announced the following program: theme song, "Church in the Wildwood", sung by the audience with phonograph accompaniment; speech of welcome, by Mrs. Wilfred Spencer, president of the Rylstone Women's Institute and by Mr. Bourne, operator of the picnic grounds; vocal and guitar duet, "How Can You Refuse Him Now," by the Toms twins, Lillian and Bill, of Havelock, encore, "From the Manger to the Cross"., community singing, led by Mrs. Murray Mehlenbacher, "We'll Sing in the Morning", "Joy Bells", "Shower of Blessing", "Shall We Gather at the River", "What a Friend we Have in Jesus", "Abide With Me" and others. During the community singing, the Salvation Army Junior Band of Campbellford, arrived and accompanied the singing, with their music; bagpipe solo, by Carl Linn, of the Havelock pipe band; vocal and guitar duet, "When Jesus Comes and Gathers Us Home," by the Toms Twins, Lillian and Bill, encore, "Can't You Hear the Blessed Saviour Calling You?"

THREE SELECTIONS

The crowd was then asked to sing three selections according to age. Those up to 14 years of age sang, "Jesus Loves Me". Those 14 to 40 sang, "Junaite", and those over 40 sang, "He Leadeth Me" in which the Salvation Army Band joined in. The Band also played a few more instrumental numbers which were much appreciated, such as "Onward Christian Soldiers", "Rejoice, The Lord Is King".

Mrs. Don Kerr thanked all those who contributed to the program.

A silver collection was taken up, and the Band led in singing, the National Anthem.

Another good program is expected next Sunday when George Nicholls, of Campbellford, will arrange the program, and Sentinel Pipe Band will be in attendance.

Kelvinator Strikers Plan To Picket Again

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A full-scale picketing of the Bradley Warehouse and Refrigeration Supplies Co. Ltd., plant in London township is to be resumed by striking Kelvinator production employees.

This was announced in a statement from Brantford by Tom MacLean, assistant director of the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) following Labor Minister Daley's attempt to arrange a meeting between company officials and union representatives in Toronto Tuesday.

In his statement Mr. MacLean charged Kelvinator of Canada Limited with "arrogant rejection" of Mr. Daley's efforts to get negotiations reopened in the Kelvinator-UAW strike dispute.

Some 400 production workers have been on strike since June 28 over a contract dispute. The refrigeration equipment company offered them a five-year contract but the union wanted a one-year agreement.

Kingston Choir Off to Britain

MONTREAL (CP)—St. George's cathedral choir of Kingston, Ont., sang Tuesday night to a capacity audience at Christ Church cathedral on the eve of their departure for England and duties in famed Westminster Abbey.

The choir of 24 boys and 16 young men will sing at daily services at the abbey Aug. 9-30, the first time a group from outside Britain has performed regularly in an English abbey or cathedral.

They were invited to sing at the abbey after a visit to Kingston two years ago by Sir William McKie, abbey organist, who was impressed with their interpretation of the Church of England services.

"Sir William asked me if the choir would like to sing in the abbey and we gladly accepted the honor," Very Rev. Brierly Browne, rector of Kingston and Anglican dean of Ontario, said. He was in Montreal to attend the special evensong service.

The choir will be accompanied to England by George N. Maybee, organist; Rev. Derwyn Jones, London, Ont., chaplain, and J. K. Edmiston of Palmerston, Ont., choir supervisor.

Sept. Upturn Forecast For Steel Industry

NEW YORK (AP)—Prospects for a September upturn in steel business are "brighter than ever," Iron Age, national metal-working weekly, says today.

"Producers are cheered by reports that the long downtrend of warehouse business has been reversed," adds the publication. "Despite an expected dip resulting from July vacations, steel mills can expect more orders from warehouses. About one-fifth of all steel produced is sold through warehouse distributors.

"An early start on new car models is expected to bolster steel demand from the auto industry by September. The auto industry accounts for another fifth of steel consumption."

Benjamin F. Fairless, board chairman of United States Steel Corp., Tuesday said he believes his own company and the steel industry will operate at between 70 and 75 per cent of capacity for the rest of the year.

Canada's First Eskimo Dictionary Compiled by Arctic Missionary

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A Roman Catholic missionary has dipped into notes compiled by members of his order over the last 8 years and produced what he describes as Canada's first Eskimo dictionary.

Until now the Oblate fathers' knowledge of the Eskimo language was kept a secret and restricted to missionaries of the order. But Rev. Arthur Thibert's English-Eskimo and Eskimo-English dictionary will change all that.

The 55-year-old priest, who has spent 37 years on and off in the Arctic, said in an interview that recent developments in the north made publication of the dictionary a necessity.

IN CLOSER CONTACT

Eskimos and white men are coming into closer contact all the time, he said. Eskimos suffering from tuberculosis come to the white man's hospitals in big Canadian cities. A small number work in Arctic mining developments and defence bases or operate their own trading posts.

In the foreword to his dictionary he said:

"I have had no other aim than to provide the missionaries and all those who work in the Arctic or care for the social welfare of the Eskimos with a suitable tool for their task."

He hopes his dictionary which includes some basic rules of Eskimo grammar will help minimize the language barrier. It is put together along the lines of Spanish-made-easy texts used by tourists in Latin-American countries.

Father Thibert, bald and heavily bearded, learned the Eskimo language the hard way—picking up words and phrases from his guides during his travels in the eastern Arctic and along the west coast of Hudson bay. At the same time he studied mimeographed lexicons and manuscripts prepared by Oblates who worked in the Arctic before him.

SPEAKS ESKIMO FLUENTLY

Now, the missionary who unconsciously mixes the odd English word in his French conversation—the result of early schooling in New England—speaks the Eskimo language fluently.

He said Rev. E. J. Peck, a protestant missionary, published an Eskimo dictionary in 1925, but, he added, it was not an all-Canadian effort. It was a translation of a German-Eskimo text published in the 1860s by Friedrich Erdmann, German explorer.

As dictionaries go, Father Thibert's 4,000-word book is thin, only a half-inch thick. But the Eskimo language is full of gimmicks. A series of declensions and some 30 inflxes can result in 180,000 variations of a single root word. Inflxes are groups of letters inserted in the middle of a word to change its meaning slightly.

Father Thibert thinks the Eskimo language is more precise than either English or French. For example, an uncle on the father's side is "atkak." An uncle on the mother's side is "angak." The same distinction is made for all other degrees of family relationship.

Too, Eskimos give a primitive and elementary meaning to their words for things brought to the Arctic by the white man. For example, their word for radio is "nalaut"—literally "the instrument which hears from afar."

SLIGHT VARIATIONS

The veteran of the north said there are some slight language variations among Eskimo tribes, but it is possible to travel from one end of the Arctic to the other and be understood everywhere.

While the language in Greenland and Canadian Arctic is almost free of foreign influences, Alaska Eskimos use some words of Russian origin, he said.

There are an estimated 26,000 Eskimos in the Arctic, including about 9,500 in Canadian territory.

Father Thibert, a native of Sherrington, Que., south of Montreal, worked on the dictionary two years. He spent six months last year at Chesterfield Inlet where he checked every word with an old Eskimo friend, Kobluktuk. The Eskimo, once a great hunter who was stricken by polio and left paralyzed, now earns a living with his ivory carvings.

A French-Eskimo version of the dictionary will come off the presses later this year.

ESKIMO EXPERT

Rev. Arthur Thibert, Oblate missionary who speaks French, English and Eskimo has written what he describes as Canada's first English-Eskimo dictionary. He used notes compiled by members of the Roman Catholic order in the last 50 years. A French version of the dictionary will be published later this year. (CP Photo)

AFL Union Seeks to Head Shipping Workers

CHICAGO (AP) — Harry F. O'Reilly, director of organization for the American Federation of Labor, said Tuesday that the labor organization aims to represent all shipping workers in the United States and Canada.

He addressed delegates to the constitutional convention of the new AFL International Longshoremen's Association, the dock workers' group which is battling an independent union of the same name for control of the New York waterfront.

O'Reilly said the federation hopes to bring into its maritime trades department sailors, longshoremen, communications workers and on-shore workers in the shipping industry in both countries.

Yearling Sells For $86,000

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A chestnut colt by Nasrullah-Lurline B. sold here Tuesday night for $86,000, the highest price ever paid for a thoroughbred yearling at an American auction.

The colt was purchased by F. J. Adams of Fort Worth who represents the Adams Syndicate. He bought the colt after a bidding duel with A. E. Reuben of Toledo, O., who owns Hasty House Farm.

The previous record price was $75,000 paid for New Broom at Saratoga in 1928. The colt was consigned by the Walnut Springs Farm of Clifford Moores.

All told, 86 head were sold for $949,000, for an average of $11,045.

Holes in Clothes Chief Evidence In Murder Trial

PERCE, Que. (CP) — Defence lawyers in the Wilbert Coffin murder trial have drawn an admission that conclusions concerning the shooting of Richard Lindsey are based almost solely on examination of clothing he is alleged to have been wearing when he met his death.

The admission was made Tuesday as the Crown sought to prove that the 16-year-old youth, his father, Eugene, 47, and Albert Claar, 20, were ambushed and shot in cold blood.

Coffin, a 43-year old prospector, is charged with the slaying last summer of Richard, whose body together with those of his two companions was found deep in the bush. The three, all from Holidaysburg, Pa., were on a hunting trip when they were killed.

Questioned by Raymond Maher, defence counsel, Montreal medico-legal expert Dr. Jean-Marie Roussel said marks on the younger Lindsey's body "could have been caused by a bullet but could also be the result of gnawing by animals."

"In other words, you cannot say that marks on the bones of Richard Lindsey were made by a projectile from a rifle?" Mr. Maher asked.

"That is correct," Dr. Roussel replied.

BASED ON EXAMINATION

He said his conclusions were based on examination of a woollen shirt, a green cotton shirt and a bloodstained white sweatshirt, each pierced by a bullet over the heart.

Chemical analyses by Dr. Roussel, and his assistant, Bernard Peclet, tended to show a bullet from a rifle, possibly of 32/40 calibre, pierced the heart and upper left lung of Richard and struck the butt of the elder Lindsey's rifle.

But under cross examination by Mr. Maher, Dr. Roussel said the perforations could have been caused by bullets from more than one rifle, fired perhaps from two directions.

KEEPS 'EM GUESSING

Jovial Camillien Houde, Montreal's colorful mayor, has Montreal burning with rumors that he is considering retirement after serving seven terms since 1932. Mr. Houde, now 64, is eligible for a $12,000-a-year pension on retirement. He has held office continuously for the last 10 years and since 1928 has a record of 18 years in office. (CP Photo).

Dr. Roussel originally had theorized that Richard was ambushed by someone who fired from a higher point than where he was standing.

Mr. Maher also tackled Mr. Peclet on his evidence that bullets from a 32/40 calibre rifle do not contain potassium in their powder, unlike other bullets. Mr. Peclet said no potassium was found near the bullet perforations.

"Could the potassium have been contained in the bullet and yet not have appeared around the perforations," the defence counsel asked.

"That is correct," answered Mr. Peclet.

He also agreed that a bullet from any calibre rifle could have caused the death of the youth.

All Bush Fires In Province Under Control

TORONTO (CP) — All forest fires in Ontario are under control, the department of lands and forests reported today.

Nevertheless, lands and forests minister Clare Mapledoram warned: "The forest fire hazard in southern Ontario is severe and increasing."

High temperatures and low rainfall in June, followed by the driest July for 18 years had greatly increased the fire danger in forested areas, he said.

A force of 350 firefighters, aided by the department's 38 planes, is battling to extinguish the 43 outbreaks still burning in many parts of the province. They were started by an electrical storm Sunday when lightning sparked tinder-dry brush into flames in areas reaching from the Manitoba border to Quebec.

Tuesday, 63 fires were burning, three of them out of control.

Fifteen of these were extinguished in the last 24 hours.

All types of woodland growth have been affected by the fires.

Fires are now burning at Parry Sound, 8, North Bay, 1, Lindsay, 1, Sudbury, 17, Geraldton, 1, Sioux Lookout, 1, White River, 4, Kenora, 2, Port Arthur, 2, Chapleau, 6, Fort Frances, 1, Sault Ste. Marie, 8.

Paper Urges U.S. Navy End Survivor Hunt

HONG KONG (Reuters) —The British - owned newspaper China Mail today urged United States Navy to call off the search for survivors of the British Skymaster shot down by Chinese Communist fighters off Hainan island last Friday.

The newspaper asked that the continuing hunt be ended so that the "situation can return to normal as quickly as possible."

The mail's editorial says "As long as American planes continue flying in the area the dreadful uncertainty of a new attack, followed possibly by grave consequences, remains with us."

Renewed criticism today of the United States by Red China blamed the whole affair on American Far East policy.

The Communist New China news agency, reporting the attack in the Peiping People's Daily, said the "accident" to the British airliner happened "precisely because of the situation created by American imperialist hostility to the Chinese people."

Amendment Kills Talkfest On Atom Power Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 13-day Senate talkfest by critics of President Eisenhower's atom program collapsed quickly Tuesday night as weary senators approved an amended version by a vote of 57 to 36 and hurried home for a good night's rest.

ORE SHIPPING DOCK

Iron ore from north-eastern Quebec and Labrador soon will be flowing to United States steel mills over this shipping dock at Sept-Iles, Que., on the north shore of the St. Lawrence river. Eventually, the Iron Ore Company of Canada will be shipping 20,000,000 tons a year. This photo shows the conveyor system which will carry ore from freight cars to waiting ships. It is the largest of its kind in the world. (CP Photo).

Ungava Production Begins 4 Years, $250,000,000 After Project Started

By BOB JOYCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KNOB LAKE, Que. (CP)—Nearly 5,000 men are bringing into the production stage Canada's largest mining development in the wild unfriendly country of northeastern Quebec and Labrador.

They have built a $20,000,000 rail and ship terminal at Sept Iles, Que., pushed a 357-mile railway north through rock, sand and muskeg and lopped tons off two mountains near this little mining community to uncover millions of tons of iron ore.

Iron ore will start to flow to Canadian and American steel mills Saturday when Quebec's Premier Duplessis and Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland officially open the docks at Sept-Iles. By then the Iron Ore Company of Canada will have poured $250,000,00 into the undertaking.

MOVE BIG SHIPMENTS

This year before the snows close in again 1,500,000 tons of ore—worth about $8 a ton at Sept-Iles dock—will be shipped up the St. Lawrence to Contrecoeur, Que., or to Baltimore or Philadelphia. Eventually 20,000,000 tons will be shipped every year.

Here at Knob Lake where the Quebec-Newfoundland border meanders through the ore fields, the ground runs red with iron when it rains and even in the winter the snow takes on a pink tinge.

This town, 800 miles northeast of Montreal, walks on rusty feet, the colors the roads, there are traces of it in the new townsite three miles away and red rust even covers the clothes of playing children.

Iron once forced the town to move. Plans to build the little settlement at Burnt Creek, Que., were scrapped while the first buildings were going up.

A worker testing a new drill outside the camp kitchen struck ore. That was April, 1947.

SEARCH FOR IRON

The land had drowsed for years, disturbed only by Indians who came north in winter to hunt or by prospectors looking for more valuable metals such as gold or lead or copper.

One man, Miles Timmins of Hollinger Gold Mines, sent prospectors into the area in 1942 to check on iron deposits, figuring if there were at least 400,000,000 tons of ore, the expense of development could be met.

By 1947 the presence of enough ore was proved. Within four years the railway started to creep north from Sept-Iles, on the St. Lawrence north shore, in February this year. Timmins, now president of the iron ore company, drove the railway's last spike at Knob Lake.

Until then all supplies—food, oil, lumber and steel—had to be freighted in by air. Heavy ore-carrying trucks and graders took six weeks to make their way over rough tote roads and frozen lakes from Sept-Iles in the spring of 1953.

The rich ore lies in pockets of various sizes. The company has 44—25 in Quebec and 19 in Labrador—with the northernmost about 35 miles from here. Some contain as much as 50,000,000 tons.

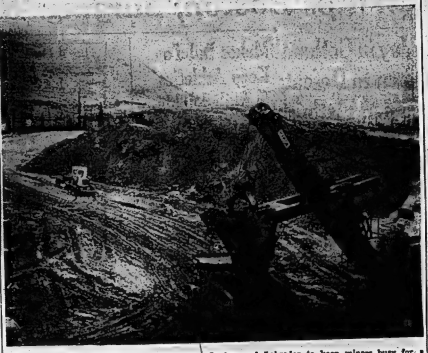
At present two mines at Ruth lake, Labrador and Ferriman, Que., are being worked. Three-quarters of the output will come from the Labrador workings.

TARGET FOR 1955

Next year the production target is 5,000,000 tons and for 1956, 7,000,000 to 8,000,000 tons. Company geologists still take prospecting parties by plane and canoe from nearby Squaw lake to search out new sources. They say there is enough iron here for 100 years of mining.

Immense shovels scoop away topsoil—miners call it over-burden—then remove ore at the rate of 700 cubic yards an hour.

Long lines of 10-wheeled trucks carry it to the screening plant where the rock is crushed to five-inch size and carried by conveyor belt to waiting trains.



One of these $750,000 plants is in operation. Another is being built and two or three more will be installed next year. They handle 1,500 tons an hour and the pace is so fierce that crushing paws made from tough manganese steel, have to be replaced every month.

Big Bill MacInnis of Montreal, boss of screener No. 1, says his plant can handle 3,500,000 tons in a five-month operating season.

The operating season may be extended if a way to prevent freezing of the ore in the railway cars is found.

Meanwhile they work around the clock while they can and the roar of trucks and shovels blends with the snarl of diesel locomotives. Only over the hills in the townsite is it quiet and even there the graders and scrapers toil through the night.

OPEN-PIT MINING

Enough ore has been found in northeastern Quebec and Labrador to keep miners busy for a century. At Knob Lake, Que., centre of Canada's largest mining development, great machines like this electric shovel are scooping the ore from the ground and loading it into big 10-wheel trucks. On this site alone the Iron Ore Company of Canada miners had only to scrape away the top soil to get at the rich iron ore underneath. The trucks carry the ore to the railhead at Burnt Creek where it is freighted 357 miles to the shipping piers at Sept-Iles, Que., on the north shore of the St. Lawrence river. (CP Photo).

TCP gives you up to 15% unexpected power from your engine

Now blended into both Shell Gasolines, TCP* releases power locked in by lead and carbon deposits. It's the greatest gasoline development in 31 years.

YES, your engine may be 15% more powerful than you think!

And the reason is this:

Lead and carbon deposits are constantly building up in your engine. They "lock-in" power that you should be getting.

These deposits get red hot and set off the fuel charge ahead of time . . . before the piston reaches its proper firing position. Power works against you—not for you. This condition is called pre-ignition, and automotive engineers consider it the biggest cause of power loss.

You also lose power when these deposits make your spark plugs misfire. Building-up on spark plug insulators, they short-circuit the spark.

Both of these power robbers—pre-ignition and short-circuited spark plugs—are at their worst when you need power most—when climbing a hill or accelerating.

Now, however, you can change all this. TCP, a Shell-discovered additive, blended into both Shell Gasolines releases the "captive power" in your engine.

First, it "fireproofs" the deposits in your combustion chambers—to stop pre-ignition. Second, by making the deposits non-conductive, TCP additive stops the short-circuiting of your spark plugs.

Shell with TCP acts quickly, too. In fact, before you've finished your second tankful, you'll feel your engine's had a tune-up. But, remember, because these deposits accumulate constantly, continued use of Shell gasolines with TCP additive is essential to retain full benefits. It is the greatest gasoline development since the discovery of tetraethyl lead.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

STOK JOX TONIGHT

Ken MacNeil and his merry Kinsmen will send their roaring ballions over the Exhibition Park track tonight in the second edition of their stock car race meets. The inaugural meet last week was full of thrills, spills and not a few chills, and some 7?8 of the faithful had nary a complaint. Tonight, the Kinsmen say, some twenty-five ratzling heaps will be on hand for the bonor, glory and what goes with the galloping mechanical steeds in their quest for top spot. The best drivers from the district including Kingston, Picton, Trenton, etc., will be on hand and no doubt smashes, bashes and crashes will feature this popular sport.

MIGHTY MITE!

Tito Infanti, one of the mighty midgets who will mangle, maul and mayhem one another in Memorial Arena Friday night was born in the splendor and glamor of an old hacienda in Tampico, Mexico. He had a secret ambition to become a great matador, but the mighty mite discovered his size would not permit fighting bulls. So he started slinging beef-midget beef, that is—in the pro wrestling rings. He weighs 85 pounds, stands four feet eight inches, but pound for pound is all dynamite. Along with the colorful Brown Panther, the Mighty Schultz and Otto Bowman, the Tito will stage a ragteam match for miniatures such as have never been seen here before. Then, of course, there is the popular Paul Baillargeon, and the Zebra, who will square a personal account, while Pat Flanagan will try to whittle Ski Hi Lee down to man size.

RACE OF THE CENTURY!

The winged feet of John Landy, Roger Bannister and Murray Halberg, the Mercurys of the British Commonwealth, flying over the mile course will be a living-death effort on the British Empire Games being held in Vancouver in the next week or so.

The cinders from the flying heels of the trio are dropping to the ground with a decided golden tint. When Landy galloped the three-quarter mile the other day in 2:59.4 the turnstiles got quiet in the slipstream and the rpm's upped at a pleasurable rate.

Landy's remarkable practice time caused the ringside experts, who predicted the four-minute mark would not be broken in the forthcoming clash between those giant milers, to indulge in a little negative-scratching. It also caused a large number of potential spectators to make up their mind to see these Commonwealth stars in actual action and as a result the ticket-sellers had to take their lunch in the office.

The dream race between the world's best milers bids fair to outshine any other attraction at the games. For this event, and none other, many of the curious will purchase tickets, while thousands of eyes will be glued to television screens when the "live" program is aired.

But while the Mile-of-the-Masters spotlight naturally is focused on Landy and Bannister, the wise ones are not overlooking modest Murray Halberg, 29-year-old New Zealand Star. In fact some have gone so far as to predict the lithe lad from the land of the Wallabies might upset a few calculations. He ran the mile in 4:04.6 in New Zealand "with no one to push him" and says he is confident he can equal that mark here.

Seventeen milers will face the starters' guns in two heats in this race of the century. Nine will start in the first heat and eight in the second on Thursday, August 5. The finals—ah, this is it—will be run on Saturday, August 7, the closing day of the games.

In the heats on Thursday it is likely Landy will run against Chris Chataway, the English runner who paced him so superbly in his recent run. Bannister will likely be pitted against Halberg in the second heat.

No sequence of events could have focused attention on the Empire Games as directly as the shattering of the four-minute mile. The fact that so few mile-post of track history is shared by Empire athletes proves once again that Commonwealth sportsmanship and unity are significant factors in the world of athletics.

Meanwhile, south of the border, Wes Santee, Kansas miler, has been doing his running from a speaker's platform. Santee predicted in a service club address that the mile will be run in 3.55 and that he would be the man to do it.

Mr. Santee is reminded of the paragraph in Dan (New York Mirrir) Parker's column the other day. Said Parker "Why does not Santee stop talking and start breaking the four-minute mark—and go out and do something about it."

While all indications point to the "dream race" being between Landy and Bannister, some margin should be allowed for upsets. Remember, Mr. Chataway is a distinct threat to Bannister, while Halberg should chase Landy to the wire. Chataway, who has always been a bridesmaid in those mile weddings, might wake up at the church and discover himself wearing the bride's apparel.

However this department picks the modest Landy, from "down under" to come up with the laurel wreath. He has been the more consistent runner, and his condition after breaking the world's record showed he had plenty to spare which cannot be said in the case of Bannister.

'There Ain't No Joy in Gotham' As Teams Go Down to Defeat; Victory Suds Foam in Flatbush

By Joe Reichler

Associated Press Sports Writer

Hank Greenberg, whose player deals during the past few years have backfired more often than a 1929 jalopy, finally appears to have found a live one in Vic Wertz. Each day, the slugging outfielder-first baseman looms larger and larger in the Cleveland Indians' pennant plans.

Tuesday night, for instance, Wertz slammed a home run and double and drove in three runs as the Indians whipped Boston 5-3 for their 14th victory over the Red Sox in 15 decisions. Two other games ended in ties.

That triumph boosted the Tribe's lead to 2½ games over the New York Yankees who were shut out by Chicago's Virgil Trucks 4-0.

It was a bad night all around for New York as the St. Louis Cardinals thrashed the Giants 7-4, after Brooklyn's onrushing Dodgers had won a 7-6 slugging bee from the Chicago Cubs. The turn of events caused the Giants' once handsome seven-game lead over Brooklyn to dwindle to a mere two in the space of six days.

Petes Lose To Dependables; Elgins Slump

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

St. Thomas Elgins, good at home have shown again they can't stand the gaff on the road.

They took their 14th road defeat of the season in London Tuesday night, a 9-7 defeat by the second place Majors.

Not so long ago the Elgins held first place in the Senior International baseball league standings. Today they are in fourth place, 2½ games behind first.

Although the Elgins have the best winning record at home of any club—13 wins, five defeats—they are the second worst club on the road where they have won only five games out of 18.

Guelph-Waterloo Royals, the club with the worst road record, defeated Kitchener Panthers 9-7 in 12 innings at Kitchener in the league's other game. It was the fifth victory for the Royals on the road against 16 losses.

NICKEL BELT

In Sudbury the last-place Frood Tigers broke the Nickel Belt Senior League's longest winning streak when they defeated Copper Cliff Redmen 7-1. Copper Cliff had previously won six consecutive games. In the other league game, also at Sudbury, the home-town Shamrocks moved to within half a game of first place by walloping the league-leading Creighton Indians 12-4.

Toronto Caterers edged Peterborough Petes 6-5 in a Viaduct Ontario Baseball League game in Toronto.

More than 3,000 fans, one of the largest crowds of the season, saw first baseman Jim Halkett slam a ninth inning home run that broke a 7-7 tie and gave London the edge over the Elgins. London right-fielder Don Mayes hit the game's other round-tripper and also batted in two runs.

Reliever Bob Brake, who held the Elgins runless and offered only three hits in 4-2-3 innings, won his eighth game of the year against four losses.

The 35-hit slugfest at Kitchener took three hours and 40 minutes. Batters slugged out five doubles and two triples and fielders made a limited seven errors—four by the winners.

Three Guelph hits and two Kitchener errors gave the Royals the winning margin in the 12th. Gord Arias, the third Guelph pitcher, was credited with the victory—his third against seven losses.

VIADUCT WIN

Trailing 5-3 Caterers scored two runs in the seventh inning and added another in the eighth for their victory over Peterborough. The win kept their playoff hopes alive.

Don Couch followed Joe Di-Fiorio's double with a home run to tie the score for Toronto in the seventh after Caterers had blown a 3-0 lead. Peterborough pitcher Gerry Kearns banged out four hits and Joe Lowery, manager of the Petes, knocked in four runs and had two hits.

Havana Snaps Leafs' Win Streak; Wings Win

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs' longest winning streak of the season was snapped Tuesday night but they still are leading the International League by a comfortable 4½-game margin.

Havana's Pedro Formental slammed a ninth-inning homer that broke the Toronto 11-game string and gave the Sugar Kings a 3-2 victory over the Leafs. Formental hit the first pitch of the season by Barnes over the right field fence and gave veteran Ken Raffensberger his second victory of the season.

Havana scored two unearned runs in the fifth after Sam Jethroe had put the Leafs ahead 1-0 in the fourth with a homer. Archie Wilson scored on Mike Goliat's single and Formental's double.

In the other games, Syracuse Chiefs swept a doubleheader with Montreal Royals 9-5 and 1-0. A fourth-run ninth-inning rally gave Buffalo Bisons a 6-5 victory over Columbus Athletics.

Jim Owens' four-hitter and Bob Bowman's homer in the eighth inning was all that Syracuse needed. Owens struck out nine, walked three and gained his ninth victory against six losses.

Martin Stanford belted a home run and Lynn Lovenguth bested Joe Black, former Brooklyn Dodger star, in the opener. Dixie Howell blasted a grand-slam homer in the fifth inning but it wasn't enough for Montreal.

The A's had a 5-2 lead going into the finale, but Buddy Hicks singled in two runs, Al Lakeman singled in two runs, Al Lakeman singled home Hicks and John Baumgartner doubled home the winning run.

Pt. Anne Blanks Bobcats 12-0 In Final Game

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Pat Maracle rang down the curtain on the Belleville and District softball league schedule last night by pitching a one-hit, 12-0 victory for Point Anne over the Belleville Bobcats at the Alemite Field.

Maracle was robbed of his third no-hit game this year by Buck Burshaw. Burshaw looped a single just over third base in the third inning but died on the base paths, as did two other runners who reached the bags via walks.

The Bobcats put up a real good fight for the first four frames, holding the league-leaders to a 1-0 lead on singles by Bob Strahan and Pat Gilmour, a sacrifice and long fly by Maracle in the second inning. They notched another trio in the fifth with a hit batter and single by Green, Bob and Bill Strahan, Maracle and Hull accounting for the runs.

Five errors put Maracle on second base to open the seventh frame. Gilmour walked while Hull was hit by a pitch to load the sacks. Leo Coyer lined a single to left for one run with Gilmour out at the plate on a fielder's throw by Bert Whalen. Green flied out for another tally while Wade Hill hit a three-base single to centre for a 7-0 score.

A walk, throwing error and Elliott's pinch single and a fielder's choice loaded the bases again in the eighth with Hull hitting a single to centre off Whalen's delivery for another pair of runs. Coyer drove home two more with a clean single and scored later on Duesbury's error for the Pointer's twelfth and final marker.

Maracle set ten down on strikes in the closing affair with seven of them coming in the first three innings. He issued free tickets to nine batters while hitting one.

Doug Thompson hurled the route for Temple's gang, allowing the Pointers 14 safe hits, all of which were singles and were split up among all the Bobcats. Thompson got one on strikes, walked nine and hit two while his mates committed seven errors.

Doug Hull, who unofficially won the A' section batting title, was one of the victors' top hitters with two singles while Leo Coyer, Bob Strahan and Pat Maracle had the same stack. Elliott collected a single, while the others went to Gilmour, Green, Wade, Sero and Bill Strahan.

The line ups:

Point Anne: Gilmour, Hull, Coyer, Green, Wade, Sero, Bob Strahan, Bill Strahan, Elliott, Maracle.

Bobcats: G. Donovan, Nolan, Doran, Bonn, Dunaway, Wardhaugh, Whalen, Reid, Burshaw, Thompson.

Umpires: Mr. Jones.

MIMICO (CP) — St. Catharines Athletics took a one-point first-place lead in the senior league of the Ontario Lacrosse Association Tuesday night by defeating Mimico Mounties 13-4 in a scheduled game.

Ross Powless and Derry Davies were top scorers for the Athletics with three goals each. Ted Howe notched two and Bruce Bell, Jim Croft, Don Moore, Norm Corcoran and Bill Bradshaw tallied one each.

Chick Harbert Whips Burkemo For Pro Title

ST. PAUL (AP)—Chick Harbert's long and disheartening quest for the United States Professional Golfers Association championship ended Tuesday when the burly, chested Norristville, Mich., pro shook off an atrocious start to whip defending champion Walter Burkemo, 4 and 3, in the 36-hole final at the Keller course.

The 38-year-old Harbert won as perhaps no other champion ever won a big title event. After losing three of the first four holes, he played the next 29 in eight under par.

He hit into a cornfield, under a fir tree, onto an asphalt road, on a dozen traps and more rough than fairway, yet sheer bull strength and refusal to quit carried him past a tiring Burkemo, showing the strain of the week-long ordeal.

NINTH BID

It was the ninth PGA bid for Harbert, who never before got farther than the finals which he reached in 1941 and 1947. It was the third final in four years for Burkemo.

Harbert started the match by losing three of the first four holes without putting the ball on the green. The crowd suffered with him and might have excused him if he picked up his clubs and called it quits.

Instead, he squared his football shoulders, pulled even with Burkemo at the 11th, went ahead at the 14th and never gave the champion an opening after that.

After the third hole of the morning round, where he took a nightmarish two-over-par seven, Harbert never was over par.

From the fourth hole, where Burkemo won three up with a birdie deuce, Harbert went 21 holes from the fourth to the 25th—without losing a hole.

On the 25th—a 546-yard par five on the number-two stretch—he second shot onto the middle of a paved road. He had a fine chip over a trap to the green. He didn't make it and so lost the hole to a birdie four.

It was the only hole Harbert lost after the three-hole stretch of 7's in which Burkemo beat his head against the wall with no headway.

This cut the advantage to two holes for Harbert, who had finished the morning round one-up and had gone three-up with two remarkable wedge shots dead to the pin for birdies on the 16th and 20th.

But Harbert won the 28th when he laid a 30-foot putt for a little three and the 32nd was halved in pars, and the match was over.

Track Profits Go to Help Needy Youngsters

DEL. MAR, Calif. (AP) — Del Mar has received the official green light from the state of California to become the only race track in the United States whose net profits will be dedicated to a drive against juvenile delinquency.

Deputy Attorney-General William V. O'Connor, speaking over the track's local speaker to the fans announced Tuesday that the California horse racing board has formally approved the steps taken toward this end and had granted the new regime a temporary license to operate the seaside track.

At a press conference it was announced that Texas multi-millionaires Clint W. Murchison and Sid Richardson have already bought approximately 2,100 shares of the 7,000 total shares. This represents an outlay of around $2,500,000.

Under their plan, 90 per cent of the profits of the track will go directly to their new project, Boys, Inc., which will help needy youngsters and fight juvenile delinquency.

Ten per cent of the profits will be diverted to operating the track proper.

South opened with a bid of one spade. He has a bidable spade suit and better than average in high cards and sure tricks. In the department of tricks he has a count of exactly five.

How does he know he has five tricks? He simply counts one for each high card (each ace or king or queen) and one for each short of a ace; the short in hearts.

With exactly five tricks he has consumed his entire package of trick count. Thereafter any bids by this player must not contain a raise in number. Not any raise of any kind.

If partner forces him to bid again he must bid. But any bid he is forced to make must not contain a raise in number. Definitely.

Without any more all raises ignore.

Centenary

CENTENARY — Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Slingerland and family are holidaying at a summer cottage near Springbrook.

Her many friends are pleased to see Mrs. Charles Skinkle up and around again, following her prolonged illness.

CENTENARY S. S. PICNIC

Centenary United Church Sunday School held its annual picnic at Scarle's Beach, Oak Lake, on Saturday last.

A fair-sized crowd sat down to a bountiful picnic dinner.

After the tables had been cleared, the races were held. Winners were as follows: Girls under 6, Heather Sutherland; boys under 6, Brian Harder; girls 6 to 8, Joan Elliott; boys 6 to 8, Rural Lewington; girls 9 to 12, Dawn Woods; boys 9 to 12, Bobby Gray; girls 14 to 16, Marilyn Christopher.

Ladies' relay race, Mrs. Percy Sutherland, Mrs. Colin Bain; ladies' broom sweeping contest, Mrs. Reg. Edmondson's team.

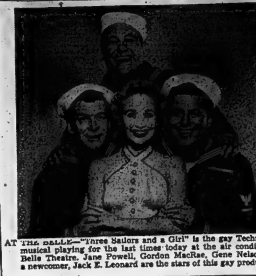
All little ones were supplied with a sand pail, candy and ball suit and better than average in high cards and sure tricks. In the department of tricks he has a count of exactly five.



Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hart were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Pitcher at their summer cottage at Glen Ross.

Mr. William Slavin and his Explorer Group of boys, motored to Kingston on Sunday last, and toured Fort Henry. Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Hart also accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard May and family were recent Thursday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garrison at their summer cottage near Kaladar.

AT THE CAPITOL — In "Riders to the Stars", color film which opens Thursday at the Capitol Theatre, three men are sent out in rocket ships to capture a meteor and bring it back to earth for inspection. The reason for this dangerous undertaking is to learn why metals are not destroyed in a meteor as it speeds through space. One of the rockets explodes in flight as shown above. The other (color picture) wanders off its course to remain forever a part of the universe for there is no gravitational pull to return it to earth. The other space ship, piloted by William Lundigan, shown receiving a briefing in top photo, returns to earth with a meteor and its secret is discovered. On same program "The Yellow Tomahawk" in color. Both hits are first Belleville showings.

AT THE McCARTHY

PRAISE FOR AKIM

A genuine tribute came from famous Hollywood actor, Akim Tamiroff, during the film of "You Know What Sailors Are," closing tonight at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre. Akim, who stars with Donald Sinden, Sarah Lawson and Maunton Wayne in this Julian Winile production, was enthusiastic about the first-class acting talent he had found in film studies over here.

"These British actors are deceptive," he said; "you do a scene with them and think you can 'steal' it easily. But when you see the rushes, you find out just how mistaken you were."

Akim and his wife Tamara spent most of their free time in this country visiting out-of-the-way theatres and art clubs. In Hollywood, Tamiroff is a leading light or the little theatre movement and he was impressed by the development of this form of entertainment in Britain.

In "You Know What Sailors Are," Tamiroff has one of his finest comedy roles for many years.

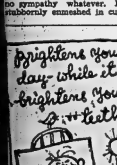
The Kibitzer



Your main purpose in making an opening bid is to tell partner you have a hand that is better than average. Your start with a bid of one announces that your hand must take seven tricks.

Average for each player is three tricks. Too often, however, a partner turns up with less. So, for practical purposes it is wise to first count on your partner for only two tricks.

This being so, there is only one excuse for opener to say the partner has seven tricks. This is if his own hand can take no less than the other five. Thus is formed the basic rule of tricks.

Among other things, an opening one bidder promises a minimum of five tricks; his responder is assumed to have two. Each raise in the number by either shows a trick in addition to his bid.

This is the simplest, most understandable, most accurate recipe for bridge. Any unsound player who ignores it deserves no sympathy whatever. He is stubbornly enmeshed in cumber-

YOU BORN TODAY are rarely ever dull or uninteresting. You are highly-strung, quick to act; possess plenty of ability. Education and religion will help you reach the top goal in life and hold it. Keep yourself in hand always; don't spend money or time foolishly and discriminate between your real friends and those who are not. You have many fine qualities and should use them to advantage. Learn to take orders as well as give them; be honest always. Birthdate of: Booth Tarkington, Amer. novelist.

TOO REALISTIC

ROME, (AP) — The siege of Troy came to a stop Monday because of a Second World War American bomb. The bomb was found buried in the sand on a beach where several thousand extras were "fighting" each other with spears and arrows in a scene for Warner Brothers' film "Helen of Troy." The battle was halted hastily and modern army bomb disposal experts were summoned.

Canadian Tennis Stars Under Fire, Main, Bedard Centre of Argument

QUEBEC (CP)—Tennis star Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., said Tuesday he and Lorne Main of Toronto are under no obligation to play in the Dempsey Bedard tennis championships being held this week.

Bedard, in Quebec with Main to play exhibition games a e g i n s t members of the Chilean Davis Cup Team, commented on a Toronto report that a protest has been lodged with the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association because they did not play in the Ontario championships.

In a telephone interview Bedard said he and Main felt they needed a week's rest from tennis before going to Mexico to compete in North American Davis Cup eliminations. The pair recently played in the Canadian tennis championships and in Davis Cup competition against Chile.

In Toronto, Staff Beck, president of the Ontario Lawn Tennis Association, said Main, Ontario's top-ranked tennis player should be required to play in the Nourse.

"We don't mind him taking a rest . . . but he tells us one thing and then goes to Quebec to play exhibition matches. That makes me mad."

In Montreal Harry Marpole, president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association, said the matter is not serious and can be straightened out between the OLTA and the CLTA.

"We can't force these boys to play anywhere," he said.

It was not likely Bedard and Main would lose their national rankings even though they may have played only two tournaments —the Canadian and the Quebec— by the end of the year. CLTA's bylaws stipulate a player must compete in three to be ranked.

"If one of them wanted to play the Nova Scotia championships Aug. 9-15, and they would have if the CLTA hadn't asked them to pass it," Marpole said. We want them to get to Mexico City at least 10 days before the Davis Cup tie Aug. 20-22 so they can get used to the high altitude. The CLTA can't very well refuse them a ranking for playing only two tournaments when we asked them ourselves to miss the third."

Checker Taxi defeated Maund's Cleaners 18-6 in a bantam game played at the Fireball last evening.

Hook pitched for the winners, allowing four hits, fanning five and walking seven. Reid and E. Keller shared mound duties for the Cleaners, giving up nine hits, whiffing three and walking eight.

Goyer was best at the bat for the winners with a brace of doubles while Bull chipped out a double and single. Reeves claimed two singles with Masters and Young getting one apiece. T. Keller hit a homer for Maund's with Zekos, Reid and Colligan claiming singles.

Woodbine Track

TORONTO (CP)—The drought appears to be over for Jack Mehlenbacher, the National Hockey League referee who led the harness horse drivers at the Thornecliffe raceway last season.

He won three weeks of the current 35-day meeting at Woodbine track, to which the Ontario Jockey Club transferred its harness charter this season, Mehlenbacher scored only one victory.

But starting last Saturday, the 217-pound veteran of Sugarville suddenly found his touch. He won a photo finish with Carter Chips third behind Carter Chips and with the same horse on Monday in a repeat photo victory.

Tuesday he didn't need a camera as he drove Little Leo, a four-year-old gelding owned by A. Lewenton of St. Thomas who, incidentally was driven by Carter Chips. Mehlenbacher completed the second half of a $38.15 daily double with his victory as the combination paying $8.50 to straight bettors.

The lucky double would have had been spot in the first race by Elsie Lee, a five-year-old mare owned by L. L. Hendrick of Markdale, Ont., which returned $13.70 to investors who risked $2 in her victory.

Mehlenbacher made it two for two on the day when he drove his own horse, Murray Brook, to a sandy win in the $500 eighth race.

Fisheries Dept. Minister Sees Whale Harpooned

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fisheries Minister Sinclair, who has already seen just about every kind of Canadian fishing operation, has added to his education off Canada's westernmost coastline.

Mr. Sinclair last week-end stood behind the man who man the harpoon guns of the west coast whalers and, in addition to taking in every phase of the work, saw "one of the luckiest shots of the season."

The minister didn't pull the trigger once during his two days in the Polar 5, but he watched the explosive artistry of Gunnar Pettersen.

It was almost an unlucky day for Pettersen. The boat had chased up to 20 whales, starting at 4:30 in the morning. But it couldn't get into firing position on one until 9:30 at night.

The line attached to the harpoon is 300 feet long—and when Gunnar Pettersen lined up his sights on a 60-ton humpback whale, 298 feet paid out before the barbed shaft sank home.

The feat, which has taken 428 whales so far during the six-month season, hopes to have a total of 650 by the time the season closes.

The fisheries minister, while not in on the actual kill of the "fin" whale, proved he knew to handle a line, by hooking large salmon on his way back from the whaling grounds aboard the patrol vessel Howey.

Capt. Einer Jenson, a Norwegian who turns to herring when whaling season ends, showed Sinclair how the dead mammal pulled alongside and fastened air before being towed to Harbor on the west coast of Vancouver Island where every part it is used in one form or anot

Western Ontario Drought Eased By Showers

TORONTO (CP) — The weather forecast for central and southwestern Ontario today read: Scattered showers today and Thursday, continuing very warm.

It means some relief for farmers fighting a losing battle with the sun to keep some of their rain-starved crops alive. But it will take more than isolated showers to ease the threat of yet another day of hot and 90-degree temperatures.

A. H. Martin, director of the crops and seeds branch of the Ontario department of agriculture, said Tuesday farmers face crop losses of hundreds of thousands of dollars if the current dry weather continues. The Windsor Star, in a front-page story Tuesday, said a survey of Essex, Kent and Lambton counties showed producers face losses amounting to millions of dollars.

The Detroit weather bureau said at Windsor area has not received a one-inch rainfall all summer.

Some Lambton county farmers are hauling water for drinking purposes. Ten wheatfields have caught fire in Kent county. Irrigation has saved some crops in South Essex.

Prison Quiet After Strike

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP)—An uneasy quiet settled over the Washington state penitentiary today and the state patrol sent additional men here to reinforce guards watching for any outbreak of violence among some 1,200 hunger-striking prisoners.

The silence was broken by one minimal war whoops from "toughies" in the segregation wing, but warden John Cranor said a midnight check showed most of the inmates, who were locked in their cells after they had passed up the evening meal, had retired for the night.

The hunger and sit-down strike started in the prison laundry Monday noon Tuesday it had spread to virtually all the men within the prison walls.

Has Difficulty Keeping Date

STRATFORD (CP) — Elwood Jackson of Owen Sound was scheduled to appear in court here two weeks ago on an assault charge but while driving from Owen Sound his car had a blowout. He was remanded until Tuesday.

He didn't make it this time either. Magistrate A. F. Cook was told Jackson is in jail in Owen Sound on a drunken-driving conviction.

Double Charge May Plug Hole In Traffic Laws

TORONTO (CP)—Suburban Toronto police chiefs, after a special meeting on Tuesday to decide on tactics to make speeding charges stick, have been advised to lay a double charge, using two sections of the revised Highway Traffic Act.

Police hope the strategy recommended by crown attorney William Gibson will plug the legal loophole which has resulted in charges against speeders being dismissed because police could not identify them.

The new charge will be laid under sections 28 and 49 of the act. Previous charges have been laid under section 28 only.

The new charge will read: "... was the owner of a motor vehicle (number) which was driven unlawfully on (date) at the said municipality by an unknown person at a greater speed than 30 miles per hour contrary to sections 28 and 49 of the Highways Traffic Act."

Earlier Tuesday, magistrate Norman Glanelli, in suburban Etobicoke traffic court, made a plea for "something to be done soon." Magistrate Glanelli dismissed charges against 16 drivers charged with speeding, because police could not identify them as drivers of the cars involved.

Says Fascist Thinking Grows

EDMONTON (CP) — Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan said Tuesday night that fascist intentions and fascist thinking are developing in Canada.

Addressing a public meeting in connection with the CCF national fascism is "the attempt by the ruling class to destroy political democracy when the people try to gain control of social democracy."

Mr. Douglas said there is a place for private enterprise in a socialist economy if it is not monopolistic and if it will live under proper labor legislation.

Canada Accepts 2-Year Assignment Supervising Truce

Refusal of Ticklish Task Might Have Serious Results

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has formally agreed to be a member of the three - nation Indo-China truce commission and has described the ticklish international obligation as an onerous but honorable assignment.

In accepting Wednesday a seat on the three commissions which will supervise the Indo-China cease fire and armistice agreements, the government said it has no illusions about the magnitude and complexity of the task.

The external affairs department, in a statement issued following a cabinet meeting Wednesday, said a Canadian delegation will leave by air from Dorval airport, Montreal, for New Delhi to take part in preliminary organizational discussions with India, chairman of the commission, and Poland.

TO NAME REPRESENTATIVES

Canadian representatives on the three commissions to be set up in Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia will be named later.

The statement said the government considers that the commission have a reasonable chance of operating effectively and making a constructive contribution to peace in Southeast Asia. It added that Canadian participation in the work of the commissions could delay and complicate implementation of the cease - fire agreements which are happy and possible even serious results.

"We have no illusions that the task we are undertaking will be difficult or short distance travel but we take satisfaction from the fact that in participating Canada will be playing a worthy and responsible part in an effort to strengthen peace," the announcement said.

The government said that if the commissions are frustrated by obstructions the useful purpose would be served by continuing their existence."

Canada was asked July 21 to be a member of the supervisory commissions by British Foreign Secretary Eden and Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, the joint chairmen of the Geneva conference conference.

TO TAKE TWO YEARS

It is understood that the job will take about two years and will require between 150 and 200 Canadians on the three commissions, an estimate made last week by External Affairs Minister Pearson.

The announcement emphasized that Canada's acceptance of membership on the commissions does not mean this country will be called on to assist Indo-China disease-fire "nor does it involve any new military or collective security commitments on the part of Canada."

The Canadian delegation which left for New Delhi for preliminary talks with India and Poland included R. M. Macdonnell, assistant under secretary of state for external affairs, and Air Commodore H. H. C. Dowler, coordinator of the joint staff of the department of national defence.

PRELIMINARY SETUP

Mr. Macdonnell and Air Commodore Rutledge will take part with Escott Reid, Canada's high commissioner to India, in the preliminary negotiations. The conference has been arranged by India and will bring together representatives of the truce commissions, France, Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam.

Mr. Macdonnell and Air Commodore Rutledge will return to Ottawa after making arrangements for Canadian participation in the supervisory commissions.

THE WEATHER

Early morning fog patches were reported in many localities in Ontario after a calm clear night. A weak disturbance brought some cloud and a few light showers to the northwest Wednesday morning and this shower activity will spread across all of southern and eastern Ontario.

Fresh winds from the northwest overlie cool air mass in Manitoba during the night. The leading edge of this cooler air will advance across the entire northern half of the province tonight and Friday preceding by increasing cloudiness and scattered thunderstorms.

Friday will continue to be very warm in southern Ontario with the possibility of isolated thunderstorms in the evening.

Smart Contractor Gets Earth Dirt Cheap

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—Al Davis has himself a contract—for one cent he's going to excavate 50,000 yards of earth to form a sump, a huge hole in the ground, where storm water is collected and returned to the soil.

The Nassau county board of supervisors, which had asked bids for the excavation, had been ready to go as high as $25,000.

Naturally the board was delighted by Davis' penny bid but asked "How come?"

Replied Davis:

"Where else can a guy get 50,000 yards of high grade soil, sand and gravel for a penny?"

British Launch At Hong Kong Disappears

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Ships and planes here and nearby waters joined in a British search launch feared to be in the hands of the Communists.

British sources speculated that the launch may have been seized by Communist authorities or that its 10-man Chinese crew may have come over voluntarily to them.

It was last heard of early in the morning when it was moored in Saikung, in the inner port shelter area of Hong Kong's new territories, which are linked to the mainland of Communist China.

Authority said the British officer commanding it, C. J. Cunningham, came ashore Wednesday night, leaving a Chinese police corporal in charge.

The launch failed to make its usual half-hourly report by radio telephone at 7 a.m. as it had done throughout the night, and Cunningham, who went to investigate, found the launch missing.

Says Quarter Of Oshawa Folk Will Be Jobless

OSHAWA (CP)—William Ruthford, vice-president of local 22, United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL), Wednesday night predicted 10,000 persons, about 25 per cent of the Oshawa district's labor force, will be without jobs within the next three weeks.

He addressed a meeting of the unemployed which set up an emergency committee to look after the interests of the Unemployed. Robert McMaster was elected president.

Kremlin Uncorks Choicest Vodka For Party Honoring Chou and Pham

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin chiefs uncorked their choicest vodka Wednesday night to honor Premier Chou En-lai of China and the Vietminh deputy premier, Pham Van Dong, triumphantly back in Moscow from the Geneva conference.

Toasts by the dozen to peace and coexistence were bolsted at a gala reception given by Foreign Minister Molotov for about 1,000 persons, including Western diplomats and correspondents.

The get-friendly theme appeared to be struck by British ambassador Sir William Hayter, who sat at the head table with guests of honor and top Russian officials.

In a jovial moment toward the end of the evening, the Soviet Communist party secretary, Nikita S. Krushchev, raised his glass to the British diplomat. "You British don't want to capture Leningrad," Khrushchev said, "and we don't want to take Glasgow."

"Leningrad is a very nice town, Mr. Ambassador," Hayter replied smilingly replied.

U.S. embassy officials passed up their invitation to the evening.

Premier Malenkov topped the toasts. The Soviet premier was amiable and all smiles, but he offered no humor.

As the vodka compliment mounted through the night, Khrushchev raised the head table, Khrushchev and the internal trade minister, Anastas I. Mikoyan, and Hayter gallantly saluted and high-spirited.

Even after the guests rose to leave, Khrushchev kept tipping his glass with the British ambassador and exchanged hearty toasts nearby.

"Together we don't want any war, and we are not afraid of each other," the party chief said.

The Prime Minister of China, he added:

"Over here's a good example of friendship — the Soviet Union and China. That's how we all should be friends."

"I'm the secretary of the Soviet Communist party," Khrushchev continued, "but in this question of coexistence, Prime Minister Chou En-lai and British Hayter complete agreement with me. Lenin laid down this principle and very rightly."

Rail Strike Vote Result Will Be Known By Aug. 11

Hall Says Union Body Will Meet at Montreal

MIDLAND, Ont. (CP)—Frank Hall, chairman of the negotiating committee representing 135,000 non-operating railway employees, said Wednesday the result of a strike vote now being taken should be known by Aug. 11.

On that date, he said, the negotiating committee is meeting in Montreal to consider the position of the non-operating unions in their contract dispute with the Canadian National and Canadian National Railways.

Told of Wednesday's announcement by minister of labor St. Laurent that an emergency session of Parliament might be held next month to deal with the railway strike threat, Mr. Hall said it was the first he had heard of it, but it would not change union plans.

An Ottawa dispatch said Parliament probably would pass legislation to prevent a strike taking place or end one already in progress. The legislation would be similar to that approved to cut off the rail lieup which paralyzed Canadian train transport and left the country economically limping for nine days in 1950.)

Photograph Speeders From Police Cruiser

TORONTO (CP)—Speeders who are photographed by provincial police using speed traps may soon have to cope with flashbulbs as well.

A spokesman for the RCMP said police cruisers equipped with a special camera that photographs the driver of an offending vehicle and records the time, date and speedometer reading of the police cruiser, will be assigned to the Toronto area.

Canadian Farm Experts Will Visit Moscow

OTTAWA (CP) — Four Canadian farm experts will get a first-hand look at what Soviet agricultural science is doing.

Dr. D. C. Harrington, director of the federal government's experimental farms service, and J. Gallagher, vice-president of the agricultural prices support board, will head a delegation to Moscow to attend the Soviet Union's all-union agricultural exhibition.

In Gallagher's party will be joined by Dr. W. F. Hanna, chief of the plant products division, and Dr. Orlan Hall, assistant veterinary-general. Interpreters, who are tourist British.

Government officials said this is the first instance they can recall since the Second World War of an agricultural delegation invited to a Soviet agricultural exhibition. Previous visits by groups of individual Canadian agricultural scientists visited Russia shortly after the war.

Labor Party Backs Churchill On Agreement to Quit Suez

LONDON (CP)—The Labor party today lined up behind Winston Churchill government's decision to pull British troops out of the Suez canal zone.

The Labor support is expected to keep the government in power in the face of a threat by 40 Conservative "rebels" to vote against the Suez agreement.

Labor party leader Clement Attlee placed his party on record in support of the agreement when he said: "We endorse the decision for evacuation of our troops from Egypt."

Prime Minister Churchill's majority in the House of Commons is so small that if the Labor party had decided to vote against the government, the vote would have been a tie and Conservative "rebels" would have easily brought about the government's downfall and resulted in a new election.

War Minister Anthony Head, who initialled the British - Egyptian agreement on withdrawal of 83,000 British troops, defended the government's decision earlier in the debate.

He said the hydrogen bomb has considerably reduced the likelihood of large-scale land campaigns in the Middle east in the event of war.

Churchill's majority in the 625-member Commons is only 20 and this fact put the prime minister in the uncomfortable position of put his policy across.

Rock Fall in N.S. Colliery, Kills Two Men, Injures 12

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP) — A widely careening four-ton boulder that tore a path through tons of rock and debris with it plunged down a mine slope here early today, killing two men, seriously injuring two others and sending at least 10 more to hospital with minor injuries.

There may have been others just getting on an ascending rear-mine passenger car when the boulder struck, but if so they escaped or did not require hospital treatment.

The dead: Russel Gilroy and Everett Knowlton.

Seriously injured: Arlie Smith, Leo White.

Others: Lewis Austin, Paul Brenton, Darrell Casey, Henry Harrison, Percy Harrison, Howard Lee, David McDonald, James MacDonald, Wilfred Rector and David Webb.

Four others received minor cuts and bruises and were treated at the colliery.

The rock fall of miners knock-ing machine here sometime after midnight, and the boulder was moving up the long incline to the pithead when a heavy prop-like signalled the start of rock and earth.

Only vague and unofficial reports were available but it was understood the fall fatally buried two of the miners and sent a shower of rocks over their companions.

On the surface, the penetrating force of the disaster was felt by stunned emergency crews to the pithead.

They immediately went below and began the rescue operations under hazardous conditions and within two hours all dead and injured had been removed to the colliery. Doctors and ambulances, some of them from the neighborhood of Springhill, were on hand to render emergency treatment.

Many of the miners' families lived in Springhill and when they heard the disaster whistle. Most of them had heard it before and had lost a father, son, dead and injured but few of them remembered by comparison the great disaster of 1891 when 125 were killed, the biggest death toll in Nova Scotia mining history.

The second worst disaster in the province's history was in 1958 when 39 were killed in the Allan shaft 20 miles away at Stellarton.

Springhill, which is situated in rolling hills in the Cumberland coal country near the isthmus of Chignecto, is 16 miles west of Amherst.

Worst Rock Fall Since 1931 Gives Niagara Falls New Face

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)— The American Falls presented a new face today as thousands of tourists—a face strangely distorted by the collapse into the Niagara river gorge of a huge rock that made up the popular observation area, Prospect point.

Before the awed gaze of countless visitors to this famed cataract, an estimated 185,000 tons of rock slumped in a thunderous roar Wednesday night to choke the 170-foot chasm.

It was the worst rockfall here since Jan. 11, 1931, when a huge section of the American falls crashed into the river.

The sudden and spectacular facelifting ripped away a section of Prospect point and carved out a tremendous pie-shaped bunk of the American falls lip.

Engineers for the Niagara frontier state parks commission estimated the fall at 80 feet wide at 400 feet long from the lip of the gorge, 30 feet high and 50 feet deep. An estimated 20 feet of the falls crestline crashed to a point 10 feet down the face.

The collapse did not come without warning. Throughout the day park officials had cast uneasy eyes on some widening cracks in the deep. An estimated 20 feet of the falls crestline crashed to a point 10 feet down the face.

The area was fenced off by workmen as a precautionary measure to find out what was causing the break. There were no injuries when the area let go.

The entire drop took nearly 10 minutes. Huge chunks tumbled rapidly in the asphalt pavement and the lawn of the observation area.

Then the wire and iron fence separated in sections, hung briefly, up in huge pieces and crashing to the floor of the gorge.

The river was not affected, however, hurling huge slabs off the crest in misleadingly placid fashion.

TREE STILL STANDS

One section of the point which had a mature tree growing on it was left standing, but engineers said it will have to be blasted away if it doesn't fall of its own weight.

W. M. Anderson, chief engineer and executive secretary of the commission, said his immediate reaction was that the fall will result in improved appearance of the falls. Visitors now will be able to get a head-on view of the American falls, he said, instead of through the falls of an elevator building perched on the point down to the Maid of the Mist steamboat landing on the gorge floor.

By Wednesday morning the gorge was littered with huge rock breaks in the walls and flooding a souvenir shop on the ground floor of the Maid of the Mist.

Anderson said water ceased completely to flow Wednesday after the fall relieved pressure. He said damage to the building was not extensive, but it will be closed indefinitely.

Hopkins said there appeared to be no connection between the fall and the huge engineering project under way at the Horseshoe falls to divert additional water into the west on the Canadian side. That project is aimed at spreading the flow of water over the falls to reduce the ducing erosion at the brink.

Hopkins said that in the area viewed the rockfall from an unusual vantage point. They were on the steamer, the Maid of the Mist which was making one of its many trips to the base of the falls.

"We were above the Cave of the Winds when the rocks let go," said Capt. Clifford Keech, skipper of the boat. "We heard a crash, saw rock slide before, and it gave me a pretty sinking feeling. I'm people on that trip got their money's worth."

Month-Long Drought Sears Farms, Forests

Ontario Crop Losses May Hit $40 Million

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's rich farm and forest lands faced yet another day of searing heat as government officials began totaling up multi-million dollar losses resulting from the province's month-long drought.

The Dominion weather office Wednesday night predicted 90-degree temperatures with widely-scattered showers for the entire province today. It has been this kind of rainless weather that has resulted in the destruction of thousands of acres of crops and forests.

The department of agriculture said grain losses will amount to $40,000,000 and that the total yield in grains this year would be about 8,000,000 bushels less than in 1953.

LOSS ESTIMATE HIGH

Thomas L. Kennedy, Peel county farmer and M.P., who is parliamentary assistant to agriculture minister, estimated crop losses will run as high as $40,000,000.

J. J. Morris, director of the field-crops branch, said the situation now has reached the stage where only a miracle can save the loss.

Parched fields in the London district were fired earlier this week, and Lands and Forests Minister Lapalme said the cause in southern Ontario that the fire hazard in the north area is rated as severe and increasing.

Crops may yield 25 per cent less than last year. Only a heavy rain or drop in rainfall, although excessive rainfall has been reported in eastern and northern Ontario.

46 FOREST FIRES

Some 350 firefighters are battling 46 forest fires still burning in parts of Ontario which started from an electrical storm July 21.

Sarnia district dairies may be forced to buy more supplies of milk as rain area if the drought continues.

C. D. Graham, deputy minister of agriculture, said Ontario's milk comes very soon "the situation will be serious for the dairies." Rudford district tobacco farm reported a loss of many acres of tobacco, but the southwestern district's tobacco crop it said to be satisfactory in spite of the lack of rain.

Army worms, aided by the dry weather, have damaged crops in the Ottawa area, it said. However, they are expected to burrow in the ground by the end of next week where they will change into moths.

Other-Side-of-Fence Trip To Be Devoid of Ceremony

OTTAWA (CP) — The Duke of Edinburgh arrived at Ottawa today to begin his three-week tour of Canada.

The RCAF luxury V-5 aircraft carrying the duke landed at Ottawa's Uplands airport at 9:38 a.m. EDT.

As air force honor guard snapped to attention as the big plane taxied in to a carefully-chalked position. The duke's personal standard fluttered from a mast above the plane's cabin.

WARM WELCOME

The duke stepped from the plane in the uniform of a Marshal of the RAF, with blue sash. He saluted as he stepped to the ramp then walked down to the tarmac where he was warmly greeted by the governor-general and Prime Minister St. Laurent.

"We are delighted to welcome you back to Canada," the prime minister said.

"It seems very much; it's a pleasure to be here," replied Philip.

Wearing his sword, the duke then strode along a red carpet to the waiting limousine.

The band played the royal salute and the Royal Canadian Regiment started the 21-gun royal salute.

Tall and erect the duke walked along the ranks of the guard of honor drawn from the RCAF.

He stopped and talked to several men in the ranks.

REVIEWS GUARD

After reviewing the guard the duke talked to the leader of the RCAF band and then was presented to a group including members of the government. Mr. Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa, and others.

He also reviewed a group of RAF air cadets on a summer tour of Canada before entering a sky-blue convertible for the drive through the Governor General's residence.

Governor - General Massey sat beside the duke for the drive to Rideau Hall, the vice-regal residence where he will remain until Sunday morning.

Three Children Perish in Fire At Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — A grief-stricken mother told Wednesday how a mid-morning fire took the lives of her three young daughters.

Dead are Roberta, three, Columbus Amelia, 1, and Mavis, 2. The three were discovered by rescuers under floor bedrooms as the flames roared up from the basement.

Mrs. Waddell was burning rubbish in the furnace when she said there was a sudden flash of flame, and then lots and lots of smoke.

She grabbed her two sons, Lennie, 4 and Peter 3, and rushed them to a neighbor's home.

She started back into the flame-engulfed building, but the neighbor's home for aid, then was forced to watch helplessly as the building sucked up the side of the frame house to where her children lay, bed - ridden by severe colds.

The neighbor, William Spring, said rescue was impossible because the whole front of Waddell's house was a sheet of flame.

Treasury Board Meets to Study Road Contracts

BULLETIN

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost announced today that three construction projects involved charges of conspiracy to defraud the Ontario government will not be prosecuted in the light of the higher contracts until their cases have been disposed of by the courts.

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost of Ontario interrupted a vacation today for an emergency meeting of the provincial treasury board to review highway contracts, reported awarded Wednesday to two firms charged with conspiracy on road construction in the Fort Erie area.

Today, Highways Minister Doucett said no new contracts had been let to the two Stanstead Paving and Tomlinson Brothers.

Wednesday a routine press release from the highways department announced that Stanstead Paving was awarded a $1,023,374 contract for work in the Toronto area and that Tomlinson Brothers got two contracts, worth $315,969 and $139,345, for work in the Georgian section of northwestern Ontario.

COVERING BIDS

Mr. Doucett said today that the announcement simply covered the amounts of bids. Those by Stanstead and Tomlinson were the lowest for the jobs.

But the Toronto Star quoted the minister as saying: "All contracts will be signed by me. I was absent from yesterday's opening of bids because I was told all were held up for my signature today."

The Toronto Telegram reported that the minister said he was "considering reviewing the three contracts although he declined to make a statement until later in the day."

CRITICISM VOICED

Wednesday's announcement from the department of highways followed last week's sharp work on the Stanstead Contract would start immediately on highway 401 from Lib-eral and CCF spokesmen.

COIN DATED 1779 FOUND AT PICTON

An old British coin, dated 1779, was unearthed yesterday by Mrs. Florence Normandin in a tomato patch behind her house on R.R. 1, Picton.

The coin, made of copper and black with age is the size of an old British halfpenny. On the top side of the coin is the head and legend of George III, while on the reverse side is the figure of the empirical Britannia.

The coin was found by Mrs. Normandin while picking tomatoes on a patch of ground recently cultivated by her husband. She said most discarded it as a lead slug. It was the first old coin she has found on her property.

Menninja Wins Stock Car Race Feature

Fred Menninja of Trenton and Bud Young, Odessa, staged a thrilling battle in every bout they entered at last night's stock car racing tourney in the Exhibition Park.

Menninja came out on top with two wins, one of them in the feature event, and a second placing, while Young took first, second and third seatings in the same bouts.

Menninja's first win came in the second qualifying heat with Young taking third place, and Dusty Scott, Ford, Belleville, placed second.

Both drivers gobbled up the dust in the consolation event with Menninja trying to pass but Bud Young held the lead all the way to win. Third was Ron Sharpe, Belleville.

A repeat performance was given in the following final feature when Menninja took the lead with Young hustling for the honor a close second. Goldie Coldfinch, Kingston, took third place behind the duellists.

A crowd of over 850 watched last night as 18 drivers ploughed through an inferno of fairly mild racing fortunately devoid of the usual smirkangelment of pile-ups and dangerous spills.

Most exciting contest, outside the final feature event was the one-lap and semi-final with George Jones of Belleville pipping for the lead. Jones proved his junk heap's mettle by winning the heat, while Clair Johnson, Belleville, was placed third.

Johnson also won the opener from Ron Sharpe and Fred Gibson, Kingston, who came third.

Goldie Goldfinch and Rip Hartley, both of Kingston, took first and second positions respectively, followed by Ernie Perrin, Belleville, in the first semi-final.

Properly Equipped Trucks Can Be Used as School Buses Roscoe Robson, M.L.A., Says

Panel trucks fitted for passenger carrying and with the proper ventilation and windows, will come within the requirements of vehicles used for the transportation of school children to and from school.

This was the assurance made Wednesday afternoon by Roscoe Robson, M.L.A. for Hastings East, to the Hastings County councillors that the recent regulation from the Ontario Department of Education, calling for all vehicles used for carrying school children to have been designed by the manufacturer for passenger carrying, had been changed.

Mr. Robson said that the regulation had been amended when it was learned that it would cause a hardship in certain areas where specially fitted panel trucks were being used.

The amendment will allow panel trucks to be used providing they have the necessary ventilation and windows.

CONCERNED ABOUT SAFETY

"The Department was concerned about the safety and comfort of school children while travelling to and from school and apparently they went a bit too far," he said.

The matter had been brought to the attention of county councillors previously by Reeve Theodore Tryon of Bancroft, who said that the department memorandum received by school boards would mean a lot in taxpayers' money if panel trucks used in his district had to be replaced by bus type vehicles.

School boards have not yet received notification of the amendment to the memoranda and Mr. Tryon said that if this was not received within a few days a delegation would still go to Toronto to confer with department officials.

The Wednesday afternoon session was short with little business being considered.

No action was taken on a Welland county resolution opposing any amendment which would give the Ontario Municipal Board any further powers with respect to municipalities.

Mr. Robson said that private bills regarding annexation applications previously came to the legislature but there were so many applications that certain powers had been given to the municipal board to deal with them.

Reeve Buskard suggested the matter be laid aside as no one in council seemed to know what powers the municipal board had been given in that respect.

Neither was any action taken on a Brant county resolution calling for decreased staff by motorists ch school zones.

Reeve Tryon of Hastings said a similar resolution had been passed at the convention of rural municipalities, Reeve Lewis Harry Morrow noted that it seemed unfair to restrict motorists to only a day, when school children were using the highway only for about an hour.

WOULD EDUCATE PUPILS

"Education of the pupils is safety by far much more than much further," he said.

Council did concur in a Wentworth county resolution which asked that counties be given the power to take property or other assets from a home for the aged inmate who was in a position to pay for maintenance.

Committee reports were given by Reeve Rickard, Wells as chairman of the publicity committee and by Reeve Irwin McCoy, chairman of the agriculture committee.

Reeve Wells referred to the tourist pamphlet put out this year by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce and paid for jointly by the city and the county. He said a good job had been done this year and there was no reason a better job could not be done another year. Fifteen additional tourist centres are listed in this year's pamphlet, which he said was excellent and could be read quickly.

Reeve McCoy reported on a conservation trip which he and Deputy Reeve Cecil Ketcheson had taken to Guelph.

Belleville Duck Hunters Will Enjoy Three Months' Shooting Under New Govt. Regulations

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has decided to extend the duck hunting season in most parts of central and western Canada this year to allow longer birds out of northern areas before the wilderness.

New regulations, outlining the 1954 shooting dates along with a number of other changes, were announced by the resources department today. For the most part, with the exception of season dates, they follow the 1953 rules.

Under the new regulations an area of several thousand square miles, which includes the Belleville district, has been transferred from the southern to the central district. The switch was made at the request of the Ontario department of lands and forests for conservation reasons.

Power boats have been banned on the marshland sport for some time. But under the new regulations a hunter can take a power boat if he detaches the motor from the craft while he is in the duck area. The ban on power boats is lifted completely in the Yukon and Northwest Territories and the Yukon.

Lengthening of seasons, which may bring greater enjoyment to the duck hunter this fall, will apply to Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Some zoning changes have been made in Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the department suggested interested hunters should examine the new regulations which have been shipped out to post offices, other government buildings and enforcement buildings across the country for public perusal.

In the northern district, formerly called the Hudson area, the season for ducks, geese, brants, gallinules, woodcock and Wilson's snipe will extend from Sept. 15 to Dec. 15. Last year it ended on Nov. 15.

In the central district, formerly called the southern area, the season runs from Sept. 18 to Dec. 15, compared to Sept. 18-Nov. 17 last year.

In the southern area it will run from Oct. 2 to Dec. 15, compared to Oct. 3-Dec. 1 a year ago. In Essex county, the open season for geese will be Oct. 3-Dec. 31 inclusive, a new zone this year. Nov. 3-Dec. 31 last year.

The southern district comprises: Prince Edward, Muskoka district and Simcoe county lying west of Highway 26; in Ontario county those parts of the townships of Rama, Mara, Thorah, Brock and Reach lying west of Highways 69 and 12, and the townships of Scott, Uxbridge, Pickering, Whitby, and East Whitby; in Durham county, the townships of Darlington and Clarke; the counties of Brant, Bruce, Dufferin, Elgin, Essex, Grey, Haldimand, Halton, Huron, Kent, Lambton, Lincoln, Middlesex, Norfolk, Oxford, Peel, Perth, Waterloo, Welland, Wellington, Wentworth and York.

Mutts and Moppets Have Their Day At Opening of Kinsmen Carnival

Every dog in the district had his waxing overly enthusiastic towards day when the Kinsmen Club gave a feature opening for their fourday carnival at Pandora Park last night by holding a mutt show.

Over 60 bouncy beagles matched their assortment of tricks and their young masters to turn the event into a zoo poem of mutts and moppets.

Properly the judges Mel Newton and Stan Portch, representatives of Dr. Ballard's animal good company, discarded the conventional method of judging a dog by his pedigree, basing their verdicts instead on such qualifications for the dog having the fastest tail, or the shortest one, the biggest dog and the best dressed dog.

The event got under way with a parade of the pooches from the campus of Belleville Collegiate. Led by a section of the Kinsmen's boys' band, the cotton-tail pageant also marched down Bridge Street to the park and the judging arena, where silver dollar pieces were awarded the winners.

There were buskers and Chesapeakes and just ordinary pekes; spaniels, setters and even a bassett hound. Despite such a gathering of the canines however, there was little disturbance, only one chihuahua-versus collie being disqualified for quest and Diane Menzie.

The company.

First prize of the evening went to Barbara Smith, Alsatian pet, Whitehart's Flash, was adjudged biggest dog there. Second and third placings went to Pat Matthews and Colin Adams. Saury, a chihuahua owned by Esther Casselman, took the prize for the smallest dog, with pooches either by Candy Cooper and Garth Bird also being placed.

Pat Matthews' Chesapeake Laurie, took another win for having the longest tail (15¾ inches) and Colin Adams' Collie came second with 14½ inches.

A cocker, Butch, rigged as a gangster complete with holster and shooting iron, won first prize for Brian Wilson as the best dressed pooch with Drew Ritchie's, Perky, clad as a Scotsman, taking second. The pets owned by Sandra Fielding and Jerry Langman shared the prize money for the dogs with the shortest hair.

The event closed with an eating contest run by Kinsmen Owing the winners were George Telford, Betty Easton, Mary Lewis, Joan Dickie and Roger Ling.

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chances are that the two Communist fliers who fled with their helicopter before plan attempting to hitch a ride on a helicopter.

The Chinese Nationalist air force said one of its pilots grew to copter and was held for emergency repairs.

Two farm hands who had been watching ran to the craft and clung to its framework when it started to take off. The copter soared almost instantly to 1,000 feet.

The pilot, only then aware he had passengers, began a gentle descent over a field of farm hand let go, dropping a few feet to the ground.

Lieut.'s Death 'Accidental' Says Coroner's Jury

TORONTO (CP) —A coroner's jury Wednesday night returned a verdict of accidental death by drowning in the death last June 6 of Sub Lieut. Arthur Corscadden, 22.

Four sea cadets also died when a naval whaleboat in which they were sailing with the officer capsized in rough water one mile out in Lake Ontario off east Toronto. Five cadets were rescued.

The jury recommended that lifelines be attached to all boats used by sea cadets. It urged the development of "more practical type" of life-jacket and said all cadets should be compelled to wear them at all times when sailing.

The jury report said: "We commend the conduct of Sub Lieut. Corscadden and his crew of fine young boys and the way in which they so admirably behaved."

5 Soldiers Found Dead

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Five French soldiers, presumably kidnapped by terrorists earlier this month, have been found dead with their bodies mutilated, the newspaper Tunis Press said today.

There was no confirmation from French authorities, but the newspapers reported an angry stir among French residents here.

Want Children's Aid Wards To Be Returned From Centres Where Maintenance Cost High

Hastings county councillors Thursday morning concurred in a Durham and Northumberland county resolution seeking authority for county children's aid societies to obtain the return of wards for whom they are responsible where such wards are being maintained in centres where the costs are greater than their own.

Reeve James Roberts of the county representative on the county children's aid society said he thought this would be a good thing. The cost in Hastings for maintenance of C.A.S. wards was the lowest in the province while the county was paying as high as $2.43 a day for maintenance of wards in other municipalities.

His report for Hastings had been $1.10 per day although this had recently been increased.

Councillors entered into considerable discussion on the subject including the matter of transportation costs and other phases of the subject.

Consensus of councillors was that the return of wards being maintained in other municipalities would mean a saving. "After all it is dollars and cents that we are concerned with here," noted Reeve McCoy.

Mayor John Both of Belleville briefly addressed the council expressing his pleasure at being able to attend the session.

Committee reports were read by various chairmen.

RECORD NUMBER IN HOME

County home board chairman Reeve Graham noted there were 190 patients—an all time high—over at the county home. The committee was giving consideration to entrance gates, lights and a satisfactory sign to denote entrance to the new home.

The committee would visit other institutions to see the types of entrances which had been chosen.

The Juvenile and Family Court and C.A.S. representative, Reeve J. H. Sprackett, reported for these committees, giving the financial statement for the first six months of the year.

He noted that the C.A.S. charged for ward maintenance, effective June 28, had been increased from $1.10 to $1.33 per day. Despite the increase the rate in Hastings was still the lowest in the province. The increased rate would mean an increase of from $8,000 to $9,000 per year for the county, he said.

Reason for the increase was the increased cost of clothing for the wards, and also the increased cost of board.

A detailed report of repair work done at the county buildings this year was given by the finance and public property committee chairman, Reeve Russell Wells, of Stirling.

He noted that a new water main had been installed and a new sewer line built. A new electric stove had been purchased for the jail kitchen, as recommended by the jail inspector. A new boiler was to be installed in the jail, this work now having commenced.

He noted that all the repairs had represented an expenditure of considerably more money than had been provided in the year's estimates and recommended that strong consideration be given by future councils to keeping up the condition of public property to prevent the necessity of so much work in one year.

The report of the Administration of Justice Board was given by the chairman, Reeve C. Buskard of Delora. The report included the financial position for the first quarter of the year.

Construction Co., Two Individuals, Will Stand Trial

TORONTO (CP) — A key witness was recalled to the stand for questioning before a construction company and two men were committed for trial Wednesday for conspiracy, the latest development in the investigation — begun 16 months ago—into the Ontario highways department.

Magistrate P. S. Elmore ordered Patrick J. McDonald, instrument man in the Fort William division, to return so he could ask the witness questions after defence counsel argued the crown failed to produce enough evidence for the committal of Standard Paving Ltd., its vice-president, Elmer Birdsall and former highways department chief engineer C. H. Nelson.

All were charged with conspiracy to defraud the Ontario government during the execution of contracts on the trans-Canada highway in the Fort William division.

A similar charge against R. F. Peterson, trans-Canada highway engineer for the federal department of public works, was withdrawn.

During Wednesday's hearing McDonald said he was ordered by Arthur M. Mills, former division engineer at Fort William, to boost the figures showing the amount of earth and stone removed by Standard Paving in its contract for work on a section of the Trans-Canada highway near Upsala in 1950.

FIGURES PRODUCED

Figures produced in court showed the department paid for the removal of 364,300 cubic yards of earth and stone while the company listed 126,454 cubic yards as "work actually done."

McDonald said Mills told him to revise the figures to "help them (the company)" out. He said he did so because he felt the department confirmed the practice.

Standard Paving's estimate of the cost of the Upsala stretch of highway was $1,036,306. Payments totalled $1,348,957.

When C. A. Robin, special crown prosecutor, wound up his argument Joseph Sedgwick, counsel for Nelson, and E. J. Robinette, counsel for Birdsall and Standard Paving, argued there was not enough evidence for committal.

McDONALD RECALLED

Magistrate Elmore then recalled McDonald and questioned him. After a five-minute adjournment the magistrate said that in considering committal he was "far from drawing any conclusions that the defendants are guilty of any offence."

However, he said that some inference might be drawn from the evidence which would require some explanation.

Despite objections of defence counsel, magistrate Elmore ruled as admissible evidence letters seized in a company office which the crown argued indicated that Nelson was given a free trip to the Bahama Islands at company expense. Other letters indicated Nelson and H. Beverley Zavitz, assistant manager of the company, had taken trips together to Florida and the Caribbean.

The hearing was the third launched so far against 10 individuals and three construction companies as a result of the government investigation. Earlier this month preliminary hearings were held at Fort William and Whitby, Ont., and 10 men and three firms were committed for trial on conspiracy.

Hospital Delegation Requests County to Pay Full Cost Of Services for Indigent Patients

Hastings County councillors will consider a request of the Belleville hospital board to pay the full cost of special services for county indigent patients.

A delegation from the hospital board, headed by J. N. Yanover as chairman, appeared before county council this morning with the request, noting that the cost to the hospital for special service for county indigent patients for the first six months of the year was $7,850. The request was for payment retroactive to the first of the year.

Addressing council, Mr. Yanover noted that as an experiment the city of Belleville was now paying the full cost of indigent patients. However, the request from county council was for special services only.

COST OF $15 A DAY

By statute municipalities were now required to pay $8.25 per day toward the cost of indigents, while the province paid an additional $1.71, bringing the total amount received to only four cents less than charged for public ward beds.

Total cost per patient day at the hospital, including special services, drugs, etc., was just over $15, Mr. Yanover said.

Reeve Irwin McCoy of Marmora township stated that the income of farmers had been cut, all hospital patients now had some form of hospitalization benefits. On the other hand such benefits did not always mean crowded hospitals.

PLANS NEARLY READY

Mr. Yanover noted that plans were rapidly being finalized for the proposed new hospital wing and it was expected the building program would be well underway by the end of the year. Actually start was expected some time in September.

In answer to a question from Reeve Ritchie Wells of Marmora village, Mr. Yanover noted that plans for the wing were such to provide a maximum number of beds. All rooms in the new wing would be public wards or semi-private.

The request from the hospital board was referred to ways and means.

THE HAINAN INCIDENT

Sufficient time has now elapsed since the shooting down of the Cathay Pacific airliner off Hainan last Friday for it to be possible to make some evaluation of the significance of the event.

The plane was deliberately shot down by Chinese Communist, pilots.

The reason for the attack? Peiping says it was a case of mistaken identity, that the pilots thought the plane was a Chinese Nationalist craft. In the face of the fact that there has been no solitary reference to any unsettled weather conditions in the area at the time of the attack, it appears extremely doubtful whether this explanation is adequate.

And yet it was possibly a mistake, in one sense, if not of identity then of instructions.

The Peiping radio broadcast somewhat conciliatory attitude in respect to Indo-China and being anxious to be admitted to the United Nations, what possible reason could the Chinese Communists have for shooting down an unarmed British plane?

The Associated Press suggest that the Chinese Communist pilots' actions, both in shooting down the airliner and then attacking U.S. rescue planes, "show the nervousness of the Peiping regime over the security of Hainan Island." The Reds fear Chiang Kai-Shek.

Something more than fear of Chiang, though, is needed to explain the warning by Canton air traffic control "that a Sunderland already in the area would be permitted to remain but that any other war planes sent to search would be fired on without warning if they approached land." Britain, which has accepted the original Chinese apology for the shooting down of the airliner, is sending a second note of protest to Red China as the result of the Canton message, which it describes as "against all international custom and behavior."

What is the explanation for the Canton message? The Sunderland, Britain's prime, was to be permitted to remain, so it seems evident that the message was not primarily designed to prevent rescue operations from revealing the true cause of the crash.

Perhaps the clearest hint were aware that the only other war planes likely to join in the search were U.S. Navy planes, it may be that the Chinese Communists, opportunistic as always, hoped to twist the whole incident in such a manner as to widen the existing breach between Britain and the United States on policies in Asia. Britain, of course, had long been sympathetic to the Indo-China truce agreement, the United States had not.

If this was the hidden meaning of the warning, then the Reds' effort has failed. It is true that some Britons are not in a happy mood as regard that had the U.S. commander-in-chief in the Pacific has stated his forces have standing instructions to be quick on the trigger. But Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons away from a discussion of this point when it was raised by Labor member Desmond Donnelly. British newspapers, meanwhile, have expressed approval of the action of U.S. Navy planes in shooting down Communist planes.

The Manchester Guardian says that to have failed to provide rescue craft with fighter escorts "would have been folly." It adds that the Chinese must have known that which were later shot down probably did attack the American planes first." It is doubtful whether, when this Guardian editorial was written, the Guardian knew of the warning issued by the Canton control tower. On the light of Eden's statement on this point, surely there is not the slightest doubt that the U.S. planes were, indeed, "fired on without provocation" as the Reds had threatened.

The United States complained that these attacks took place over the high seas. Eden placed the attack "approximately 13 miles from Hainan," well past the limit for coastal waters, either child's play or sheer stupidity, or seven miles. It needs to be remembered, though, that this limit, which once afforded some protection against surprise attack in the days of slow-moving sailing vessels, is no protection at all in this jet air age. Chinese planes will almost certainly continue to patrol beyond this limit. The only way in which further incidents can be avoided is for the Canton warning, what is the same thing, the Manchester Guardian, was at the least "criminal carelessness" in erroneously identifying the airliner as a Chinese Nationalist aircraft.

There is just a possibility that Peiping authorities, listening to the angry mutters arising from Britons whom they had hoped might assist them to win a U.N. seat, will agree with the British people in the matter of the pilots' actions. If they do the purge will be quick and effective. But that is no guarantee that another airliner may not be shot down later—or that, if last Friday's shooting was a mistake, the next shooting will not be planned.

The only nation which emerges from the incident with credit is the United States. It took quick action to rescue the survivors from a plane of another nationality. If U.S. Navy planes had not acted, there might have been no survivors, for the Toronto Daily Star's William Stevenson reports from Hong Kong that authorities there, fearful of offending Red China, "held futile conferences while survivors, including women and children, drifted in a life-raft."

TRUE FISH STORY

Back from the stream, I couldn't
Show
How large the fish that got away;
So quickly it slipped off the hook
At it I had no time to look.
But I recall, and this is true,
Both water and the sky were blue.

A luckless fisherman was I.
What lures I threw the bass went by.
But here's most amazing thing:
I heard a country church bell ring.

And walking proudly, side by side,
I saw a youthful groom and bride.

I looked at gently swaying trees
And shared with them the summer breeze.
On shore a deer I chanced to see
That plainly showed no fear of me.
No fish, but still I managed well.
I did not have a lie to tell.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In the illustrated papers these days are the same stories about learning what to do if your canoe upsets. The pictures display experts upsetting the canoe, then emptying it, and crawling back in over the ends, safe and sound.

That is as I love a canoe. It seems to me nothing should ever be spoken or published that inspires confidence in the canoe. They should be treated with alert suspicion at all times, and the less said about them the longest so treat them. In canoe tragedies the canoe upsets and the human upsets is of little importance in contrast to what you should have done before it upsets.

A typical canoe tragedy is the following. A party of sixteen girls and nobody for his age, a first class high school athlete, arrived at the summer resort for the week's swim and dive to perfection around the dock and diving board. He had never been in a canoe, but because he was such a swimmer and diver he was, of course, allowed a canoe.

He got out in the canoe the first morning after his arrival, got in a canoe, sitting in the stern, with the bow high out of the water and the point of balance in an extremely dangerous location. A little wind was blowing. He paddled out of the calm shelter of the boat-house and wharf and the wind took charge. The boy did not know enough to move ahead to the middle of the canoe where he could have had control of it.

A friend of mine whose cottage is about two hundred yards down the lake from the hotel happened to rise early, and glanced out the window. He saw the boy struggling with the canoe. He made many desperate efforts to turn it into the wind, but of course the wind turned it back as soon as the boy's strength and energy were exhausted. The the boy would resort to backpaddling, forcing the canoe stern first into the wind. He would gain a few yards and then try for another turn.

My friend dressed hurriedly. He got into his outboard motor skiff, even as he did, he saw the boy upset in one of his attempts to turn. The canoe, right side up, floated. It was out of reach of the boy instantly. By the time my friend reached the boy, he was already drowning, exhausted by the canoe, with no energy left to swim 200 yards to shore.

It took a little time to resuscitate him on shore. But only the miracle of a man getting up early and glancing out the window saved a drowning tragedy. It was not all the canoe's fault, of course. It was canoe plus ignorance. A canoe is a little gem of a thing that places a grim premium on ignorance.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

SUBJECT PEOPLES

A woman missionary was telling recently of being present at the consecration of a group of native missionaries in India. She was rather astonished to see this group of native people being consecrated for missionary work in their own country. Upon inquiring she found that they were to serve tribes at the foot of the Himalaya Mountains. "But do not the churches of England or the churches of America have missionaries that might be sent, thus releasing these people for local work, where established congregations here in India?" The native Indian church official of whom she made inquiry smiled significantly and said: "We are sending our own people as missionaries to the tribesmen to the north. They don't like white men."

There can be no doubt that the white man in his contact with Asia and African peoples has brought them many advantages, but he has also brought them many stress disadvantages. Too often his attitude toward them has been one of lofty superiority. He has exploited them in industry, introduced them to new vices, although they had plenty of old vices to contend with in their own civilizations.

History will have much to say about the benefits and evils of colonization, but certainly almost every nation has much to repent of in our treatment of these subject peoples.

Lonellest Spot in U.S.

(By Kenneth S. Love—Writing in The Bulletin of the Lake Carriers' Association)

Lighthouses are invariably surrounded in the public mind by an air of romance and loneliness.

There is no question that on occasion "duty" has been the scene of much exciting activity. Loneliness probably prevades all lighthouses, but one Great Lakes lighthouse, Standard Rock, has earned the reputation of being "the loneliest spot in America."

Standard Rock is the most remote lighthouse operated by the U.S. federal government. Located southeast of Keweenaw Point in Lake Superior, it is 15 miles from the nearest shore.

For two of four intrepid souls—two civilian and two enlisted men of the Coast Guard—keep the light burning throughout the shipping season to warn lake vessels away from the long, reefs that extend from the station. The crew is prepared to expect any kind of weather at any time of the year, and scarcely a season passes without a memorable gale on the Rock.

Operations generally begin early in April, although in 1933 the tower was not opened until May 10, the earliest opening in its history. The latest closing was in December 1926. Louis Wilks of Marquette, Mich., who is now in his 19th year of service, first opened the Rock in 1936 when heavy ice conditions kept the tender from reaching the Rock" until June 27. Throughout the preceding month practically the entire crew, including the cook, lived from the water level, were stashed in their ice.

The first task confronting the crew each spring is to remove the winter's debris from the boat. Rock was constructed in the period 1877 to 1882. The base of the lighthouse tower might be protected from Lake Superior's often furious moods, a concrete crib was erect a crib on the surface of the sloping submerged reefs. It is 74 feet long and the crib's base is 12 feet under water, tapering to a width of 40 feet on the exposed side.

The crib projects 22 feet above the normal water level, but during storms the waves wash completely over the crib and are battered by variably the deck and the base of the tower are ice coated in the winter. The tower, covered by use of a steam hose, crew members become cautious during these operations to avoid slipping and dropping into the frigid water below.

After the ice has been steamed off, the crew sets about drying out the huge granite block tower, a task that usually requires about a week or so, during which time the men also clean sleep on bed springs until their mattresses have had a chance to dry.

Watches are stood in shifts of six hours each, two men constituting a duty section. Each section is relieved on the rock for three weeks and then spends one week ashore after that, out of each month, there are two weeks when only two men are at the station and the other two have the full complement is present. When one of the sections is ashore, each member of the other section stands his watch alone.

When a man is on watch, there is usually plenty to keep him occupied.

"We maintain our own equipment and that takes a lot of time," Wilks remarked.

Keeping machinery in running order, making log entries, operating the Coast Guard radio station, checking the weather, painting buildings—these and other routine duties serve to keep the crew members from becoming utterly bored with life on their lonely manmade island.

There is housekeeping. The crew prepares its own meals and does its own laundry, in addition to cleaning, during and painting living quarters, which are situated on three of the tower's nine levels.

• • •

When not on duty, the men have available facilities. Card playing and reading are favorite pastimes, and radio keeps them in touch with life on the mainland. Trolling for lake trout usually yields enough fish to add variety to the menu.

Swimming is seldom indulged in intentionally by Standard Rock personnel because of the lake's exceptionally cold water and because of the strong currents that swirl around the base of the crib. The narrow, crowded "promenade" which encircles the tower at its base affords opportunity for any type of physical exercise other than strolling.

• • •

Frequent storms which strike across Lake Superior, while hardly dangerous to the lighthouse and its crew, certainly help keep things lively at the Rock. Storms of the variety for which Lake Superior is notorious may crop up almost any time during the season, but they are most frequent in November.

For this reason, none of the crew members leave on regular shore leave during that month. The possibility is that the station's little 25-foot commuter launch might be swamped during the run from the Rock to Grand Marquette, Mich., the station's supply point which is 45 miles south of Standard.

When the Standard Rock tower was first built, provision was made to safeguard the structure from the terrific battering it would get from the lake, by making the tower walls 10 feet thick in some places. Even so, during severe storms the tower reportedly have trembled under the impact of storm-tossed waves.

• • •

When heavy seas lay siege to the lighthouse, crew members have perilous lifelines on their bodies whenever they go outside to secure objects on the deck. No one has yet lost his life while serving on Standard Rock, but lives of several crewmen have been endangered during storms, and the chances are that sometime one might be swept overboard, particularly in a heavy nor'easter, are practically non-existent.

At the end of November, marked by the closing of navigation, most of the men are naturally jubilant when a Coast Guard vessel arrives to relieve them on the Rock. By that time, the 140,000-candle power light has been secured, a 24-operated light has been put in operation for the winter season, and the men are ready for a few days at home at Christmas with their families.

They can take with them pride in the knowledge that they have played an important part in helping to keep the Great Lakes safe throughout the navigation season.

Churchill's Farewell

(By I. Norman Smith, writing in the London Daily Mail on Sir Winston Churchill's recent press conference in Washington.)

It was his main—virtually his only—public appearance in this Washington visit. And not a man present, least of all Churchill himself, had any intention of "Ike and Wooton's "until we meet again." It was a triumphant farewell, but it was also a time for tears and reporters hung about silently and watched him pause to light his cigar and search carefully for a match. Then he looked watched until the car had gone around the corner and out of sight.

It was almost funereal — a splendid tree fallen in the forest, a great man going from among us. And yet his speech had been virile, witty, moving, tender and—oh yes—humorous. He had met the world's great nations and answered them without side-stepping. The sadness was not in the words but in the mind of one a great man who had hung on to life and fought it on roof saying that it is seldom fully appreciated until it is about to be thrown by tyranny. While it expresses the will to survive of every individual in a democratic state, and especially under the care of the whose training should have given them the ability to think.

(Decatur, Ill., Herald)

If you don't care for the idea of "peaceful co-existence," how would you like to try "simultaneous mutual annihilation"?

Sneaky Trick Played on Japs

(New York Herald Tribune)

A Japanese inventor has come up with a device to keep taxi cab fares honest and to keep drivers who fail to turn on the meter lights alert to work.

Passengers sit on seat, thereby pressing button underneath. Button lights up on roof saying cab is occupied and meter ought to be turned on. Button also turns on counter which checks distance traveled between stops and records amount meter gets going.

Result: Figure of Tokyo taxi drivers, 2,000 of these sneaky devices have been ordered by the fleet owners.

Great Blessing

(Ottawa Citizen)

Sane and just government is too great a blessing to be lightly treated; the tragedy is that it is seldom fully appreciated until it is about to be thrown by tyranny. While it expresses the will to survive of every individual in a democratic state, and especially under the care of those whose training should have given them the ability to think.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

SEVEN FIFTY A SHOOT

"Feeling tired all the time. I want to see a doctor. What's understandable," she said, as soon as I told why I had come. "It is evident you are anemic. You need ——" Shots, which will be $7.50 a shot. ——But I can't afford. (Miss K.D.) If the doctor made no examination of my blood she was just guessing. The medicine she said you needs cost approximately 30c per ampule and a charge of $7 for injecting a dose of medicine is outrageous in my opinion.

It may be justifiable to administer liver extract via "shots" in some cases or pernicious anemia and in exceptional circumstances it may be necessary to administer vitamins or iron injections. But in my opinion there is no good evidence that medicine so administered is more effective than the same medicine is when taken by mouth.

To be sure, simple souls are impressed by "shots." They imagine the medicine or vitamin and is more powerful influence when injected than when ingested. The poor idiots.

One doctor, irked by my teaching on "shots," recently told me that he is really convinced that thiamin (vitamin B-1) injected under the skin, into muscle or directly into a vein, gives a greater "lift" than an equal or larger dose of thiamin given when taken in the natural way. Well, if his customers are gullible enough to pay a tremendous premium to him or his office girl who gives the "shots," you and I needn't care. The man has a kindick racket and caters to the $400 mode.

Let us readers infer that I don't believe in the injection of medicine. On the contrary I believe physicians should employ the needle much more frequently than they do in the treatment of hemorrhoids, hernia, varicose veins, and in the emergency of first aid treatment of sprains and strains.

We folk, well, all right, maybe I should say the medical profession) should be ashamed of this unwarranted faith in simple people with "shots." But, come to think of it, the gullible is not confined by members of the profession. It is one of the slick rackets practiced by men and women in medical business.

Nice Pythons In the Garden

(Ottawa Journal)

We read of a Belgian lady, wife of a big-game hunter, who announces that she has no snakes at the bottom of her garden except the "two rather nice pythons", she says.

There is no accounting for pets, predilections and preferences. Most people are content with a dog or a cat, or a canary or perhaps a budgie, but some have exotic tastes that are to be satisfied by nothing less than a lion cub, a deodorized skunk, a baby alligator or a nest of serpents.

But if we had to choose a pair of pythons, even rather nice pythons, we should want them kept at the bottom of the garden—and we should insist upon a garden about half a mile deep and enclosed with a snake-tight wire fence with the snakes on the outside so that the python's food could be kept safe from possible harm. Think of the grief in the family, for example, if the pet python, whether a 300-foot specimen from Malaya, a mere 20-foot anaconda, or the smaller green species from New Guinea known formally as Chondro-python viridis and familiarly as little Chondro—well, whichever it was—should feel it he slithered his way up the path from the end of the garden to the area of the house itself and lost a foot off his tail when he bounced down the last step.

If we must look at snakes we like them best when digesting heavy plate glass or an inspection-lamp meal, but failing a python is not our idea of a satisfactory pet, whether in the parlor or at the bottom of the garden. So far as we are concerned the budgie may keep the nice pythons, and the farther away the better. They could make life extremely hard for the quiet, and those are conditions not to be despised, there seems to be said for the patient goldfish.

Hamilton Group To Go to Ottawa On Job Problem

HAMILTON (CP)—A delegation of two city officials and a representative from each of two labor groups in Hamilton, will meet with labor officials in Ottawa in an attempt to find a solution to the unemployment problem, it was announced Wednesday.

Mayor Lloyd Jackson appointed the delegation at a meeting of board of control following an appeal by members of the United Steelworkers Union (CIO-CCL) for some action.

John Bellingham, a Steelworkers official, at the International Harvester Co. Ltd., told the board another 310 employees of the company would be laid off Friday. This will bring the layoffs to 1,000. In the last few weeks, of whom 3,100 will return to work Sept. 27.

Pro-Labor Film Shown for Press

TORONTO (CP)—The controversial motion picture "Salt of the Earth" Wednesday was given a press screening in advance of its Canadian premiere.

The pro-labor film was made by International Production Corporation in co-operation with the Communist-aligned International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.).

Using a few professional actors and many non-professional, it tells in vigorous, semi - documentary fashion the story of a New Mexican zinc mine strike in which racial discrimination is one of the main issues.

A previously scheduled press showing was cancelled a few weeks ago after a projectionists' union refused to handle the film. Later the projectionists agreed to show it.

The film starts its first Canadian run here Aug. 9. George Herman of International Productions said it is hoped the film will be shown later in theatres in Sudbury and elsewhere in Canada.

GM Earns Half Billion In Six Months

NEW YORK (AP)—The huge General Motors Corp. had net profits of $435,250,383 in the first half of this year for a 36-per-cent gain over the corresponding months of last year.

The increased earnings came on sales of $5,068,028,218, down seven per cent from the $5,440,545,856 in the first six months of 1953. But GM's total tax bill of $457,940,000 was only a little over half of the $764,446,000 a year ago when the 30-per-cent excess profits tax still was in effect in the United States.

The first half's net income was equivalent to $4.70 a common share and compared with $312,845,-787 or $3.51 a share in the first half of last year, both pre-share figures being after $6,464,000 in preferred dividends.

The report to the company's 494,000 shareholders by Harlowe H. Curtice, president, and Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman, said the sales level for the first half "confirms the confidence in the business outlook expressed by Mr. Curtice last January when he announced GM's billion-dollar expansion program."

DUKE

Philip smiled and waved to the crowd of some 2,000 and saluted as he drove through the gate to the highway. Two other cars carried the remainder of the duke's and official parties.

The welcome ceremony was over in 10 minutes.

Canadians ogled him and the then Princess Elizabeth during the 1951 royal visit. Now, tour officials said, Philip wants to see Canada and Canadians.

It's being called the "other-side-of-the-fence" tour.

The RCAF C-5 plane which brought the duke from Tangmere, England, made two stops on the long trans-Atlantic haul—at Iceland and Goose Bay, Labrador. Philip will end his tour at Goose Bay Aug. 17 after a two-day fishing trip.

FULL-FLEDGED RECEPTION

Because the tour is supposed to be as informal as possible—at the specific request of the duke—Ottawa was only one of three places where he was greeted by a full-fledged royal reception, with guard of honor, band and 21-gun royal salute. The other two places will be Victoria and Quebec City.

Tour officials said they had a hard time convincing dignitaries across the country that the duke doesn't want parades, official receptions and state dinners. The dignitaries were all for a tour chockful of protocol.

When the tour was planned, the duke made it clear he wanted to see something of Canada's industrial progress and of the northland.

So he will start off with a heavy dose of science.

TO SEE CHALK RIVER

Saturday morning will be taken up with a visit to the laboratories of the National Research Council where the duke will see a model of the St. Lawrence seaway project, a hydraulic basin for testing stresses on ships' hulls, a new grain-drying machine, a sail-operated fog alarm and a device known as a "hot joint detector," which can pick up the heat of a person's hand at 30 paces.

Saturday afternoon, Philip will visit the RCMP training division here and watch demonstrations of ju-jitsu, tracking by dogs, small-arms firing and horsemanship.

Sunday morning, he leaves for the west.

Minor Baseball

The Bantam playoffs for the city championship got under way at King George School last evening with the Y's Men taking a 16-6 decision over Vaughan's, thus taking a one-game lead in the best of three semi-finals.

Young and Masters shared hurling duties for the victors, between them giving up six hits for six runs. Gord Vaughan and Dave Poirier worked in relief with Y's Men pounding out 17 base hits of their combined attack. Masters was the winning pitcher while Vaughan suffered the loss.

Keller had a perfect night at bat for the winners with three singles, a double and a walk in five trips while Latchford powered two home runs and a double. Regent hit a two-bagger and single for Vaughan's, with D. James adding a triple.

Line score:

	R	H	E
Y's Men	342	142	0—16	17	1
Vaughan's	002	300	1—	6	6	4

Young, Masters (4) and Latchford. Vaughan, Poirier (5) and Poirier, Goyer (5).

MEMORIAL TO 12,000

LONDON (Reuters)—A memorial to nearly 12,000 Commonwealth officers and men killed in the Second World War will be unveiled at El Alamein by Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery in October, the Imperial War Graves Commission announced Wednesday. The ceremony is scheduled for Oct. 24, 12th anniversary of the battle of El Alamein which turned the tide against the invading axis forces in North Africa.

London Lawyer Will Help Finn In Murder Case

TORONTO (CP)— D. A. L. Smout of London, Eng., has been retained under the Ontario legal aid plan for the Law Society of Upper Canada to appear on behalf of a Finnish immigrant at a special commission in Helsinki. He will be appearing for Eric Walter Kalpiainen, now of Port Arthur, who stands charged with the murder of his five-year-old son Nov. 29, 1953.

Kalpiainen pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity at his first trial. But he was found guilty Oct. 9, 1953 and was sentenced to be hanged Dec. 8 last year. The Ontario Court of Appeal, however, ordered a new trial because evidence concerning Kalpiainen's previous mental illness while serving in the Finnish Army was not available at the first trial.

Civic Holiday Spreads to West

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

All Ontario cities and three in western Canada take a mid-summer breather next Monday, with their usual Civic holiday.

In Ontario, the first Monday in August has been a holiday for years, proclaimed in each year by city councils. Winnipeg, Brandon and Edmonton now observe it as well.

Stores, banks and other business places close for the day. Some industrial plants operate, depending in part on whether the day is recognized as a holiday under their labor agreement.

Will Study Food, Drinks and Air In Cancer Fight

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Some of the things we eat, drink or breathe are going to be studied throughout the world as possible criminals causing human cancer.

The studies, covering food, dyes and additives, city air, chemicals in industry and smoking, will be part of a broad new attack seeking ways to cure and prevent cancer.

The program was launched today by scientists of 54 countries meeting here at the sixth international cancer congress.

The experts find two reasons to suspect that certain chemicals people are exposed to may be cancer hazards. Some chemicals produce cancers of one or more types in animals under laboratory conditions. Industrial and other studies find a high incidence of particular types of cancer among certain groups of humans.

The Cancer Union, sponsor of the Sao Paulo congress, has appointed two new commissions to carry on the work between congresses, which are held every three or four years.

PARKS—HUNT

A lovely double-ring wedding ceremony was solemnized on Saturday, July 17, at 10.00 a.m., in Holy Rosary rectory, Belleville, when Father Cletus Fitzpatrick united in marriage, Valerie Frances, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hunt, of Plainfield, Ontario, to Harold Glenn Parks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orley Parks, also of Plainfield.

The bride was charming in her bridal gown of tulle over taffeta with over jacket of lace. Her lace scalloped veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a coronet encrusted with seed pearls, and she carried a nosegay of red roses.

Miss Lorna Hunt, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, was gowned in French blue tulle over taffeta with pink feathered headdress. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Ross Parks, of Belleville.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was held at "Club Cedars" for the immediate families.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was honored with a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Earl Rivers, 103 Cedar St., Belleville, given by her girl friends.

AKEY—DENARD

Whiteley united in marriage Barbara Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Whitney Denard, 40 Washburn Street, Picton, and Leon Gerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Amey, Collins Bay, Ontario.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a gown of nylon lace over taffeta. The gown was cocktail length, featuring low neck, tight bodice and long sleeves pointed over the hands with tiny covered buttons. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held by a headdress of seed pearls and rhinestones. Her only jewellery was a double strand of pearls and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Carole Denard, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, was gowned in mauve net over taffeta with matching halo of pleated mauve net and sprays of miniature flowers. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The reception was held at the bride's home. The bride's mother attired in navy crepe with white accessories and a corsage of red roses, received. The bride's table was decorated with pink and white streamers and centred with a three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature wreath of flowers with bridal bells and cupids carrying wedding rings.

Mrs. Ronald Garrett, Mrs. Gladys Mindle, Mrs. Manford Galway, Miss Rita Denard and Miss Kathy Denard, were in charge of travelling to Peterborough and points west for the bride's change of dress of blue nylon and white accessories. She wore a corsage of "Talisman roses.

Guests were present from Cataraqui, Rochester, Toronto, Belleville and Bath.

The church was profusely adorned with gladioli and ferns, while the guest pews were designated by white satin bows. The Rev. Bert and C. D. McLellan, of Napanee, officiated, assisted by Mr. J. V. Bryson, student minister of the church.

During the processional of the bridesmaids, Mr. Robert Clarke, of Camp Borden, formerly of Tamworth, rendered "Because," and "I Love You Truly", at the signing of the register, Mrs. Pearl Rogers presided at the organ and rendered the wedding music throughout the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was most charming in her bridal gown of white satin, lace, and net featuring a lace bolero and net overskirt in floor-length. Her fingertip veil was caught to a headdress encrusted with rhinestones and seed pearls, and she carried a horseshoe-crescent of Sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

Miss Betty Hannah, of Enterprise, as maid of honor, was gowned in sky blue, floor-length dress with matching headdress and she carried a nosegay of mixed summer flowers.

Mrs. Evelyn Eaton of Kingston, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, was attired in a floor-length gown of coral lace, with matching headdress, and carried a bouquet of harmonizing flowers.

Little Sharon Rombough, of Tamworth, niece of the bride, was flower girl, demure and sweet in her pale green frock of taffeta with matching headdress. She carried a nosegay similar to those or the other attendants.

Mr. Garry Bradshaw, of Tamworth, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. Kenneth Rombough, brother of the bride and Gerry Gadbery both of Tamworth were ushers.

Following the ceremony a wedding reception was held at the Legion Hall where the members of the Women's Association of the United Church served a turkey dinner to one hundred guests. The bride's mother received, wearing a gown of navy nylon sheer, with white accessories, and corsage of red roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Jack Bradshaw, who wore a gown of pink nylon sheer, and corsage of white roses.

Mr. McLellan acted as toastmaster. Mr. Bryson proposed the toast to the bride, to which the bridegroom responded, while that to the bride's attendents was proposed by Mr. Garry Bradshaw.

After the reception, the happy couple, amid showers of confetti and good wishes, left for a trip to several points in the United States, the bride travelling in a pale blue nylon sheer dress with white hat and gloves and corsage of pink roses. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin will reside in Napanee.

Guests were present from Smiths Falls, St. Catharines, Prescott, Napanee, Toronto, Harrowsmith, Camp Borden, Belleville and Picton.

ANDERSON—MALLORY

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Bloomfield, on July 17, when Ann Elizabeth, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mallory, became the bride of Donald Roy Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson, of Cannilton.

The bride was lovely in a pale blue nylon gown, white picture hat and white accessories with a corsage of white roses.

The bridesmaid, Mrs. Francis Powell, of Kingston, was gowned in pale blue sheer, white picture hat, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mr. Ross Anderson, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, while Mr. Francis Powell, of Kingston.

The Rev. Hudson Hilsden, brother-in-law of the bride, and the Rev. R. J. MacLean, of Bethel Temple, Trenton, officiated at the wedding ceremony, which was performed under an arch of white, with pink and white bells.

A buffet luncheon was served to thirty guests at Stayner, Toronto, Belleville, Cannilton and other places.

The happy couple left, amid a shower of confetti and with the best wishes of all guests, on a short honeymoon. They will be at home to their relatives and friends in Belleville.

Prior to the wedding, the bride was entertained at the home of her aunt, Mrs. George Arthur, and presented with a linen shower. The bride's friends from Bethel Temple, Trenton, met at the home and presented her with an array of miscellaneous gifts.

WOOD—CRAWFORD

Pink and white carnations lined the chancel rail of St. Thomas Anglican Church, Belleville, on Saturday, July 24, at 4.00 p.m. for the marriage of Joan Louise Crawford, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Crawford, to Lawrence Joseph Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wood, of Belleville. The Rev. Reverell P. Smith, assistant rector of Christ Church, officiated.

Guest organist, Mrs. William Hurst, rendered the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her bridal gown of white Chantilly lace fashioned with fitted bodice and full, skirt over a graceful Cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held by a matching headdress, and she carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of red roses.

Miss Greta Galbraith, of Belleville, attended the bride, as maid of honor, attired in yellow silver-threaded nylon net over taffeta fashioned in semi-formal style. She wore a matching headdress and carried a nosegay of sweetpeas and pink roses.

The train bearers were little Sandra Crawford, niece of the bride, and little Judy Wood, sister of the bridegroom. The former was frocked in yellow nylon with matching floral headdress, and the latter in yellow organdy with matching floral headdress.

Mr. William McMahon, of Belleville, attended the bridegroom.

The reception was held at the Eglo, where the bride's mother, wearing green and white nylon in street length, white accessories and corsage of pink roses, received. The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing navy blue linen with white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood will reside in Belleville.

Guests were present from Ridgeway, Ontario, and West Lake.

Milady Now Learning Dottle-Knocking Knack

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Of course it may take a little time before men get the hang of loving a girl who smokes a pipe.

But there's every indication that the gentle sex in some numbers is learning to puff, ream, tamp and dottle-knock. For the benefit of you fellows who have been smoking pipes for years and didn't know what dottle is—it's that black stuff that collects in the bottom of the bowl.

The fire responsible for all this smoke was the recent survey reported to the American Cancer Society, which heard that cigarets may be a good deal more hazardous to health than pipes or cigars.

One notable, if not wholehearted convert, is Mrs. E. Cuyler Hammond. Her husband, a visiting professor in charge of statistical research for the cancer society, and one of the men who backs the report, Mrs. Hammond is taking up pipe smoking, but says she still prefers a cigar—a day—in the reduction from her three-packs-a-day consumption before the survey.

Yvon La Jolla, Calif., where the Hammonds are vacationing, a New York fire pipe companies are pitching a big campaign. Leading fire retailers here offers adorable "purse-sized pipes for the lady smokers" and "handsome pipes" than 100 a day. He stocks them in red, blue, mains and green, in six shapes. He also reports big business in "dainty" tobacco, a mild blend put up in tin humidors wrapped in baby pink.

Some of the city's biggest department stores is advertising ladies' pipes and mild, mild, mild tobacco. One of the biggest department stores—stuck with a load of girl-sized briars after the wartime cigaret shortage—says he's getting inquiries and hurry-up orders for them again.

But a casual survey among feminine leaders here often found a fashion-gun indicates some hesitancy in accepting this new trend. Here is some sample comment:

"The more that women coby men's habits, the less attractive they become to men."—Ann Miller, actress.

"Pipes and pretties. Oh, No!"—Donna Reed, actress.

"When I see a girl making pipes out of chlyophyll I may have some interest."—Rosemary Clooney, singer.

There is, however, a strong, if small, pro-pipe contingent among the ladies. Outstanding is Mrs. Hugo Casan of Jefferson Valley, N.Y., wife of an interior decorator, mother of two, who is the inventor of the "woman's pipe" smoker, duly crowned last summer after she won a contest with 18 other lady puffers by keeping her bowl alight for one hour, 22 minutes, six seconds.

"It's very relaxing," she explained. "The idea is to puff slowly—it's a knack. And it beats anything else to do while watching Hugo Casan of Jefferson Valley, N.Y., wife of an interior decorator, mother of two, who is the inventor of the "woman's pipe" smoker, duly crowned last summer after she won a contest with 18 other lady puffers by keeping her bowl alight for one hour, 22 minutes, six seconds.

"It's very relaxing," she explained. "The idea is to puff slowly—it's a knack. And it beats anything else to do while watching television."

Although some women maintain that they can smoke a pipe as gracefully as she can do anything else, other broad-minded females aren't so sure. Take, for example, Ilka Chase, actress and writer.

"Personally, I'm a cigar smoker," she explained. "I tried pipes, because it seemed to me that men always looked so comfortable in them. Then I came against their noses and fussing with them. But I discovered that it's a life's work just keeping them lighted."

Urges Business Women 'Demand' Equal Pay Law

By PAULINE KENNEDY

TORONTO (CP) — In—busy, sometimes stormy sessions Wednesday the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs got through a pile of reports and wrangled over 13 resolutions.

The 400 delegates were told by Regina lawyer, Ruth McGill that they should "demand" federal equal-pay-for-women legislation —not "request" it.

Miss McGill, chairman of the organization's employment committee, suggested the federation get other women's groups and trades unions behind the idea.

Twice in 1953 equal-pay bills were introduced federally by Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Hamilton, without success.

Miss McGill says such legislation should be introduced by the minister of labor or a supporter of the government.

Her report also urged continued pressure on problems of part-time work for women, employment for older women workers, discrimination against married women workers and appointment of a woman to the civil service commission.

Miss McGill's report, the federation will petition the federal government to act on the civil service commission and it will also make a study of the plight of part-time women workers.

Legislation committee chairman Mrs. Daisy McCullagh, a lawyer from Cobourg, Ont., summarized the federation's accomplishments in individual provinces. She said Quebec finds it difficult to obtain legislation for women "because the passive and uninterested attitude of many rural women."

Today, the 400 delegates take a holiday and will attend a performance of the Stratford Reports given Wednesday in Shakespearian festival, Oshawa, on the United cluded one by Mrs. Gordon Con- Nations.

ARMY WORMS HIT FARM

The destructive army worm, on the march in many sections of Ontario, caused thousands of dollars damage on the farm of Gordon Scarfe in Manotick, Ont., 13 miles southwest of Ottawa. Mr. Scarfe's daughter, Sylvia, shows the work of the worms on her father's 20-acre field of oats. She holds in her right hand damaged oats with heads stripped. In her left hand is the healthy crop as yet untouched by the hungry hordes. — (CP Photo.)

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SEE INVENTS EXCUSES TO GET OUT ON DATES!!

The very common problem of teen-agers, who write to me is described to the following letter:

"I'm a girl who is very shy and bashful when around boys.

"When a boy is nice enough to ask me if I was going to a certain party, I lower my head the way he acted that he wanted to go with me, yet I made up an excuse and told him I couldn't go, because I was afraid there was no reason why although there was no reason why I couldn't. A few weeks later he asked me if I was going to a ball g..me, but I made up another excuse. I did this even though I like this boy very much and I know he likes me, but I don't know how to overcome my shyness and when I think a boy is going to ask me for a date.

"Please tell me how I can learn to accept when I am asked on dates."

Well, learning to accept an invitation for a date would be just one small part of the big problem of learning to be natural and unself-conscious.

For I suspect that this teenager's hesitancy in making up excuses for not accepting dates has risen from fear on her part that if she did go on a date with a boy, she wouldn't know how to talk to him and she wouldn't be able to make herself an entertaining companion; she thinks other girls always are. So, even if she manages to summon up the courage to say 'Yes' the next time she is asked out, I'm sure she'd spend all the time until the day of the date worrying about what she was going to say and do. If she, felt quite sure that everything would go smoothly and delightfully, and that both she and the boy would have a good time, she wouldn't be tempted to make up excuses to get out of going.

In other words, her inability to accept a date is only a symptom, not the ailment itself. The ailment itself is, of course, extreme self-consciousness.

So here is what I would say to this girl:

Let me tell you, first, that it's not at all necessary for you to try to be lively and talkative on a date. All girls aren't the same, by any means. If you're the quiet type, don't try to be something different. The secret of social success is to be natural, and if you're trying to be different from the way you naturally are, you'll only make your self-consciousness worse. Besides which, there are boys who prefer the quiet type and this particular one about whom you write me may be just that kind. Anyhow, he must like your type or he wouldn't invite you out.

Another secret of social success is to be so interested in other people that you're a good listener to what they have to say. If you know what a boy's interested in, ask him to tell you about that interest; if you don't know, find out from him. Everybody likes to talk about their interests and, oddly enough, a person who is a good listener almost always gets the reputation of being a good talker, too.

Again, if you're good at the things the boys and girls of your age enjoy doing—sports, dancing, hobbies and so forth—you'll find that you and the boys have a lot of interests in common that provide plenty of material for conversation.

Finally, make yourself just as pretty as you can be being always well-groomed, wearing becoming and appropriate clothes, and a hairdo that suits you, and at all times be friendly, happy and a good sport.

I have some more detailed suggestions on how to be popular, and a list of books that give you some helpful ideas. If you'd like to have these, send me a stamped self-addressed envelope.

MESSMATES is to be expected, of course, when you let begins to eat "all by herself." You won't mind it so much if you're prepared in advance for spills and dribbles. A generous-sized plastic apron—left to serve the child and plenty of newspapers to cover the floor should make your clean-up job.

English Woman Makes Appeal For Clothing

An appeal, described as a "leap in the dark" yesterday reached the Ontario-Intelligencer offices from an English rural district outside the royal town of Windsor.

Forwarded by Miss Mabel Cave, of Dedworth, Berkshire, the letter to the editor is a tentative request for bundles of used clothing to tied over the needy in her community.

In part, Miss Cave, who is a commercial school principal in Windsor, writes: "... we live in a rural district outside Windsor, and there are a large number of people who have been councill and prefabricated houses.

"Their rents are by no means moderate and they just find it impossible to clothe their children, and themselves, too, decently.

"... I do so want to do something for some of them this approaching winter, and do hope someone could help—and I ask it just a tiny bit of help."

It seems the idea of appealing to Canadians for aid in her praiseworthy campaign came to Miss Cave from an old geography textbook in her school which contained a map of Ontario.

She writes: "... I am anxious to write to Canada, as we have heard so much in favor of your Dominion and the extreme kindness of its people."

In making her request she also is anxious that any Canadian filling it should suffer no postal expense.

"We have a small fund and could send you something from our Old Country to help defray these," she offers.

Anyone wishing to aid Miss Cave in her charitable drive, can contact her at 3 Kentons Lane, Dedworth, Windsor, Berkshire, England.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

HOW TO BE A "GOOD GUEST"

1. Answer your hostess' invitation at once. Don't leave her in doubt. Remember that she must make her plans.

2. Arrive when you are expected to arrive.

3. Be appropriately—dressed and as well-groomed as possible when you arrive. And when you open your luggage be proud of the condition of your clothes and travel-accessories.

4. Bring enough clothes. ...try never to be overdressed or overdressed, especially to bring the right kind. (Your hostess, in her invitation, should give you helpful suggestions about this. If she doesn't, ask her, by telephone or note.)

5. Bring all necessary equipment for any sport in which you plan to participate and no borrowing guest! is a pest.

6. Be on time, for meals, and for engagements with your hostess or other guests.

7. Be alert to find the customary routine of the household—mealtimes as to breakfast-service, hours for meals, whether or not you may help with the house work, and so forth.

8. Be "neat and tidy." Keep your bedroom and bathroom neat ...and when you share a bathroom with others, always wash the tub and tidy the bathroom before you leave it.

9. Don't have "food notions." That's a grim problem for a hostess to cope with.

10. Be cooperative. ...be responsive. It's the guest's responsibility to do his or her best to be thoughtful and entertaining, to make things easy for the hostess and family, to be pleasant to the other guests.

11. Be amiable. ..be amiable. ... Be Amiable! Be eagerly ready to fall in with your hostess' plans, even if you don't particularly enjoy some of the plans she makes! And if she offers a choice, she'll be grateful if you will be direct about your preference.

12. You'll expect to be "entertained" every minute of your visit. Naturally your hostess will want some time to herself and for her duties, and the thoughtful guest will "disappear", to rest, to write letters, to read.

13. Respect your hostess' property. Don't monopolize the telephone, either by receiving or using it. Don't wipe cleansing cream on towels. ...tissues are for that. Don't be careless with lighted cigarettes, don't be careless with cigarette ashes. And be kind to furniture.

14. Be well-groomed, and always appropriately dressed.

15. Leave when you are supposed to leave. Even if your hostess begs you to extend your visit, remember it may be her politeness rather than her real wish or her convenience. Say "Good-by now" ... and do mean now.

16. When you leave take all your belongings with you. It's a bore and a chore for a hostess to have to send to careless guests the belongings they have left behind.

17. Write an enthusiastic and sprightly bread-and-butter letter to your hostess ... and write it promptly. And if you haven't taken

Canning Notes

By Mary Moore

When you open a can of vegetables there is no doubt in your mind about its goodness. That is because processed canners sterilize their products by a steam pressure method. You have to know they are sterile.

Year in and year out I warn readers not to try canning vegetables (except tomatoes) if they do not have pressure canners. Year in and year out I receive letters from a few readers saying they do not sterilize their vegetables by pressure and they always keep. I still cannot recommend non-pressure sterilization of canned vegetables. I am duty bound not recommend any but the method that is safe and sure. This is especially important in the canning of peas, beans and corn.

The rule for canning fruit is not quite so strict but I would not can fruit without steam pressure. If I'm going to spend money and time on canning I have to know that every jar or can will keep perfectly until I'm ready to use it.

HOME CANNED YELLOW OR GREEN BEANS

Use only freshly gathered young beans. Wash well and cut into places of desired size. Blanch by covering with boiling water and simmering uncovered for five minutes or until the beans are tender but still bright in color when breaking. Using sterilized handling equipment pack the beans firmly into jars, adding 1-2 teaspoon non-iodized salt to pints, 1 teaspoon non-iodized salt to quarts. Cover with hot cooking liquid, leaving 1-2inch headspace. Fill with sterile rubbers and rings. If screw top is used screw metal bands tightly then unscrew 1 inch. If spring-top is used push bail into first notch but do not push down the lower bail. For vacuum-type sealers screw metal band tightly as possible. Process 20 oz. jars or cans 30 minutes at 10 lbs. pressure; quarts 40 minutes. "quarts" or 22-oz. cans 35 minutes.

PICKLED BEETS

Do not use iodized salt when you pickle beets. It causes cloudiness.

Select beets of uniform size, preferably small. Cut off tops, allowing at least 1 inch of the stems to prevent bleeding. Do not bleed and lose color and sweetness. Wash and cook until tender. In water to cover. Plunge into cold water, slip off skins. Trim beets and pack left whole. Larger beets may be diced or sliced. Pack into sterile jars, and to each pint add 1-2 teaspoon non-iodized salt. Cover with a boiling hot vinegar syrup made by boiling together 1 cup each vinegar, water and sugar (brown sugar may be used if desired), and if desired a few whole cloves. Season the liquid is composed of vinegar and sugar pickled beets may be processed by hot water bath method. Process pints and quarts 30 minutes in hot water bath.

Annually I hear from readers who would like recips for Canned Fruit Salad. The following one with melon is increasingly popular.

CANNED FRUIT SALAD

(Courtesy Mildred L.)

Six peaches, 6 pears, 3 firm apples, 1 honeydew or ripe cantaloupe, 1 No. 2 can crushed sliced pineapple, 1 small bottle maraschino cherries. Peel, core and cube peaches, pears, apples and cantaloupe. Add pineapple and blend fruits well. Try serving 3 cups prepared fruit add 1 cup sugar and place mixture in extra large mixing bowl and allow to stand, covered, for 4 to 6 hours. Add cherries and place fruit mix in sterile jars. Process in hot water bath for 15 minutes, counting time after water returns to boil. Bananas sliced, and grapefruit sections are good additions when serving three arrives. Hot water bath process is adequate because of the high ratio of sugar.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMESON

FOR REDHEADS ONLY

The redhead has always enjoyed a certain distinction. She is favored by the artist, the color-photographer and the fiction writer.

Unlike the blonde whose tresses often darken, the auburn-haired girl seems to have a color guarantee. And, in the course of the years, her care, the lovely lights and shadows that make up its color charm will remain through the years.

The weekly shampoo is a must if the growth is to carry lustre. She can use a liquid soap or a cramy medium. If her hair is heavy, shoulder length, there should be three applications, though two will suffice for the short cut. The shampoo should start with a vigorous brushing to remove surface dust, followed by a rinsing with the bath spray. Casual applications will not result in a thorough job. The shampoo medium should be rubbed into the scalp until a foamy mass. Massaging in this manner stimulates circulation, acts as a scalp treatmen. Drying the hair in sunlight helps to bring out the bright, attractive coloring.

Make-up is a touch problem for this-together girl. If the eyes are hazel or brown, rouge should have an orange-undertone. If the eyes are blue, green or gray and the skin fair, a flesh colored powder is the best bet. Choose the matter-what the color of the eyes, what the tone of the complexion, blue-red, shiny nose and frosted rouge and lipsticks must be avoided.

If the redhead has light-colored, a red-brown crayon should be passed over them with short strokes. On the lashes a dark brown mascara is recommended.

The one matter of dress, the color of the fabric must be carefully considered. Greens of course were simply made for red-gold girls. Browns and reds are not recommended. Black is wonderful as it brings out the loveliness of hair and complexion.

Medical Research Aide Weds Minister

BRISTOL, England (CP)—Joyce Duffield, a Bristol girl who emigrated to Canada two years ago, will return to that country this fall as the wife of a Canadian minister.

On her arrival in Canada, Miss Duffield worked as an office girl, nurse and medical research aide in Winnipeg, where she met Rev. Peter Park.

They came to Britain together and were married in a Bristol church July 17. Later the minister will help conduct services in the same church and then the couple will sail for Canada. They plan to live on Manitoulin Island, Ont.

WARNS AGAINST DRUGS

LONDON (AP) — The British Medical Research Council warned Tuesday against free use of the drugs cortisone and ACTH in treating rheumatic conditions. In its annual report to Parliament, it said "undesirable side effects have become increasingly evident."

Plentiful pressing of your plain cottonades and other clothes will save quite a bit when they're ironed. If it's a hot day, be filled very full, so that there is a possibility of bottling your, to cool, and this should be greased too.

Dien Bien Phu Too Recent For Dancing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The party was gay, and the "stupid" had a fine time. But she didn't dance.

Miss Geneviève de Galard-Terraube explained that she just could not. The dismal battle of Dien Bien Phu was too recent.

Miss de Galard is the 30-year-old French nurse acclaimed as the "Angel of Dien Bien Phu" for her heroic work in the dying days of the Indo-China fortress before it fell to the Communists.

Many of the men she nursed in the days cut off by wind from the attacks world still are prisoners of the Reds. Miss de Galard stayed at Dien Bien Phu after the plane on which she had flown to evacuate the wounded was unable to take off again. Later the Reds freed her.

She's in the United States now for a 19-day visit at the invitation of Congress. She had a couple of television dates yesterday and some other official engagements in the capital, which welcomed her warmly Tuesday.

Stresses in Woman's Life May Be Cause of Cancer

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—The physical, and perhaps emotional, stresses in a woman's life were suggested yesterday as a possible cause of cancer of the cervix, one of the greatest killers among the disease's many forms.

The theory was advanced to the sixth International Cancer Congress by Dr. Ernest Ayre of the Cancer Institute at Miami, Fla.

The cervix is the neck or lower part of the uterus or womb. It is one of the most common sites of cancer among women.

Dr. Ayre gave this explanation of his concept, which he said involves a kind of chain reaction of irrigation of the cells forming the tip of the cervix:

It may begin with an inflammation in the uterus continuing for a long time. The inflammation causes the release of mucus which has been found to contain the sex hormone.

The cervix normally is exposed to this hormone in only certain times each month. Continuous exposure could well be an additional irritant to the cervical cells.

Ayre said the process could cause scar tissue to form at the critical site. Such tissue would deprive some cells of nutrients necessary for health and force them to live at a disadvantage, which perhaps would be enough to turn them cancerous.

The specialist said emotions can affect the glandular and nervous system, and emotional stress could also affect adversely the cervical cells.

The great possibility of cancer prevention lies in learning how cancer begins and interrupting the process, Ayre said. He told the congress the most practical present preventive is the regular examination of cells which always are being cast off from the cervix. In such examinations, experts can watch for signs of changes which indicate the cells are cancerous.

INVENTED CONE

CLIFFSIDE PARK, N. J. (AP)—Italo Marchiony, who is said to have originated the ice cream cone, died Tuesday at the age of 86. Italo said to have hit upon the idea of putting ice cream in a cone-shaped biscuit in 1896.

Wife of French President Frank, Simple

By PEGGY MANN

PARIS (Reuters)—The homage which French queens once imperiously accepted as their birthright has come naturally to Madame Rene Coty, wife of the president of the French Republic.

As chatelaine of the Elysee Palace, Mme. Coty has retained a frankness and simplicity which impresses everyone from visiting royalty to her domestic staff.

She knows the name of each member of the staff of 34 at the Elysee Palace. Many of her own servants have been with her for more than 25 years.

If there has ever been any criticism of Madame Coty, it is that she is too genuine and spontaneous a person to live in a goldfish bowl, where privacy is a rare luxury.

Every thought, act and hour of this woman's day are semi-public knowledge. Her views on everything are discussed in detail, and it has taken rare courage to make a real home within the Elysee Palace.

Madame Coty recently asked that on the few occasions when she and the president leave the palace unofficially they might do so without the customary group of bodyguards and motorized escort.

"After all," she explained to her husband, "you may be the president, but you are not in jail."

A mark of Madame Coty's gay personality is her love of flowers. Plants and seasonal cut flowers are seen in profusion everywhere in the Elysee. They are chosen by her florist to pick up the predominant note of color of each room in her private apartments. Peace gladioli are massed in the pale blue and grey bedroom; yellow roses in the gold and white sitting room.

A born housewife, Madame Coty enjoys planning all the menus in consultation with Monsieur Bernard, the head chef. No caterers are ever employed, and everything, including the pastry, is prepared in the palace kitchens.

MONUMENT TO BORDEN

OTTAWA (CP) — A cut-stone monument has been erected in memory of Sir Robert Borden, Canada's First World War prime minister, at his birthplace at Grande Pre, N.S. It will be unveiled on Saturday, Aug. 21.

Peruvian Flower Provides Theme Of Fashion Show

PARIS (Reuters) — "La belle de nuit, a Peruvian flower which remains closed during the day in a slender, sheath line but opens in all its glory after dark," is the theme of a collection which opened the Paris fashion season Tuesday.

Buyers from 17 countries are in Paris to see the unveiling of the fall and winter silhouette during the next few days. The opening presentation was given at an evening showing by Jean Desses.

His house shows no revolution in wearing apparel. Desses does not try tricks or drastic change, but concentrates on the kind of clothes that the majority of women will find easy and wearable.

Desses is at his best in the treatment of sheer evening gowns, following the "belle de nuit" theme.

This season's inspiration came from Egypt and is exemplified in gala dresses with intricate draping and lavish embroideries. Bodices slide away from the shoulders with straps which pretend to support the decolette transformed into ruby necklaces.

Red, the big color winner, is picked up again in the stones which trim the red satin evening slippers.

Motor Explosion Cripples Vessel

QUEBEC (CP) — A motor explosion has crippled the Falco, an Italian freighter bound for Montreal, and it now is being towed to Quebec for repairs, it was reported today.

Capt. G. E. Gendreau, regional marine agent for the federal transport department, said there have been no reports of injuries from the vessel, expected in Quebec sometime tonight.

The accident occurred Tuesday off Anticosti Island, roughly 400 miles east of Quebec City, and the transport department ship Sheffield went to the Falco's rescue, standing by until the Maritime Foundation tug Josephine II took her in tow.

The Sheffield was participating in the search for the motor tug Formose W, missing since July 17 with two men, when ordered to answer a distress signal from the Falco.

Search for the tug is continuing but fog and mist are hampering operations.

Labor Can Oust Churchill But Likely to Vote for Him

LONDON (CP) — A Conservative party rift over Britain's Suez canal zone pact with Egypt has given the Labor opposition a tempting chance to force the resignation of Mr. Churchill government — but the opposition isn't expected to seize it.

The test comes tonight in a House of Commons vote on Churchill's motion demanding parliamentary approval of the agreement to withdraw Britain's 80,000 troops from the strategic canal zone. The agreement ended a long and bitter struggle with Egypt, but a group of 40 Conservatives expressed bitter resentment at the form of the settlement.

With only a nominal Conservative majority of 20 votes in the 625-member house, Churchill thus has been put in the uncomfortable position of having to depend on his Socialist opponents for the support necessary to put his policy across.

The Labor members today appeared to be thoroughly enjoying the Conservatives' dilemma, but most observers feel they cannot vote Churchill out on the Suez issue without compromising their own principles. The official policy of the Labor party has long been in favor of pulling British troops out of the canal zone.

In the House of Lords there was an almost unprecedented scene Wednesday night as Lord Reading, minister of state for foreign affairs, set forth the government's position in support of the Suez agreement. Angered peers, including those normally supporting the government, complained that they had no time to study the pact.

Churchill Wednesday night announced a slight cabinet shake-up following the resignation of two of his ministers. A third minister also announced that he had submitted his resignation, but there was no indication whether it would be accepted.

The changes gave little encouragement to recent renewed speculation that the 79-year-old prime minister plans an early retirement, as they appeared to have no major implications.

Allan Lennox-Boyd was brought into the cabinet as colonial secretary to replace Oliver Lyttelton, 61, who resigned for "personal reasons." Lennox-Boyd, 48, has been minister of transport and civil aviation. The other new cabinet member is Derek Heathcoat Amory, 54, who replaced Sir Thomas Dugdale as agriculture minister. Dugdale resigned a week ago after civil servants in his department became involved in a dispute over requisitioned land.

Attorney - General Sir Lionel Heald announced at a party meeting that he has sent his resignation to Churchill since he wants to return to private law practice. His post does not carry cabinet rank.

CCF Convention Passes Motions On Home Matters

EDMONTON (CP)—International affairs comes before the CCF's policy-making national convention today after a quiet but busy day on domestic problems.

Opening the 13th national convention, the 200 delegates Wednesday quickly moved through the opening stages, heard a report from national leader M. J. Coldwell and then adopted more than a dozen resolutions dealing with unemployment, old age pensions, agriculture, a national fuel policy and other domestic issues.

They rejected a motion on immigration after hearing Alistair Stewart, CCF member of Parliament for Winnipeg North, suggest that it was "thoroughly gutless" and describe Canada's immigration policy as "rank and rotten discrimination against people whose skins are colored."

As a prelude to the study of resolutions on international affairs, they heard Mr. Coldwell review the international scene and report on the party's activities in Parliament.

He appealed for continued support for the United Nations as the one hope for world peace and suggested Canada, as a Christian nation, should do more to use her food surpluses to feed starving populations.

"That," he said, "is the only way we will ever conquer totalitarian movements, whether of Communist or Fascist origin."

He promised the party would continue its fight for an over-all social security program and later saw the convention approve with scant discussion a resolution urging the federal government to implement a national health insurance plan without delay or hold a national plebiscite on that issue.

It also approved a resolution stressing the danger of greater unemployment next winter, criticizing the government for its "callous inaction" on the unemployment question and warning that complacency might be the prelude to economic disaster.

To solve the problem, it proposed a four-point program urging positive economic planning to eliminate seasonal and cyclical unemployment, greater economic aid for under-developed nations, a program of public investment and public works and an increase in tax exemptions.

A companion motion called for larger benefits under the unemployment insurance act. Another suggested the establishment of public authorities to handle such projects as the trans-Canada pipeline, development of atomic energy for peacetime purposes, the St. Lawrence seaway and the south Saskatchewan dam.

Rhee Wants Asian Army To Battle Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Korean President Syngman Rhee proposed yesterday that an Asian army of more than 2,000,000 backed by U. S. guns, planes and ships, launch a "counter-attack" on Communist China.

Rhee told Congress the essence of Soviet strategy for world conquest is to lull Americans into a "sleep of death by talking peace until the Soviet Union possesses enough hydrogen bombs and intercontinental bombers to pulverize the airfields and productive centres of the United States by sneak attack."

Rhee's call to arms ran counter to U. S. policy, expressed by both President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles. Both said publicly last week the United States does not favor resumption of the Korean war.

Rhee contended that return of the Chinese mainland to the side of the free world automatically would produce a victorious end to the wars in Korea and Indo-China and would swing the balance of power so strongly against Russia that it would not dare risk war with the United States.

URGES TRADE DRIVE

ALNWICK, England (Reuters)—Lord Balfour of Inchrye, chairman of the British Empire Industries Association, said Tuesday an unparalleled drive to develop the untapped sources of the Commonwealth is needed for Britain to regain financial independence. He urged that Britain strive for an expansion of world trade based on the expansion of inter-imperial trade.

Switzerland Will Ask U.S. For Tariff Reductions

BERN (Reuters) — The Swiss Federal Council announced today that, following the increase in United States' import duties on watches, it intends making full use of the escape clause in the Swiss-United States trade agreement, which allows for compensation should either party raise its import duties.

The escape clause lays down that Switzerland can claim compensation either by increasing Swiss import tariffs on American goods or by demanding a reduction of United States' imports tariffs on Swiss goods other than watches.

According to reliable sources, the Swiss will demand that the U.S. reduce its import tariffs on certain lines of Swiss goods—notably machine tools, machinery and textiles.

PROTOTYPE LINER REACHES 42,000 FEET IN TEST

First U.S. jet transport, the Boeing 707, is shown cruising high above the clouds during the initial phase of its flight test program. The four-jet plane already has exceeded speeds of 550 miles per hour and has reached altitudes of more than 42,000 feet. The craft will be used as a demonstrator for military tanker-transport duties, and may be the prototype of hundreds of passenger planes of the future. — Central Press Canadian.

U.S. Will Keep Mighty Fleet Off South China

By C. YATES McDANIEL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Weighty United States naval striking power will remain in Southeast- Asia waters for some time, despite abandonment of the search for survivors of the British airliner shot down by Red Chinese fighters last week.

Three of the four U.S. fleet aircraft carriers west of Hawaii now are in the South China sea area and will remain there, the navy says, to continue their training exercises and be ready for any new eventuality.

Planes from two of the big ships, the Philippine Sea and Hornet, were reported Wednesday night to have completed their search for survivors or wreckage of the Communist attack on an unarmed British airliner off Red-hold Hainan last week. Carrier-based planes shot down two Red Chinese planes which interfered. A third carrier, the Tarawa, is in Subic bay, U.S. naval base north of Manila in the Philippines.

STARTED IN APRIL

A shift of American naval strength from the Japan - Korea area to waters near Indo-China started in April. The navy then said some ships had been diverted from the 7th fleet in northwest Pacific waters to the south for "fair weather" training exercises. That was in the period when Washington policy makers were considering whether to go to the aid of the French in Indo-China.

It was only after the airliner incident that the navy disclosed that the ships were under the operational control of Vice - Admiral W. A. Phillips, commander of the last U.S. fleet who has been operating under direct orders from Washington.

Deceived About Jobs

DELHI, Ont. (CP)—Chief Constable Bert Evans of Delhi has sent a letter to Montreal police informing them of complaints by 12 Montreal men that they were lured here for mythical harvest work.

Chief Evans said the men told him an organization in Montreal offered to send them to Delhi by taxi where they would have jobs waiting for them. The price, they said, was $30 and work guaranteed.

The bus fare from Montreal to Delhi is $13.

Crown's Case Nears Close In Trial of Wilbert Coffin For Murder of Gaspe Hunter

PERCE, Que. (CP)—The crown today is expected to present the last of its witnesses as the murder trial of Wilbert Coffin enters its 13th day.

The 43-year-old prospector from York Centre, Que., is charged with the slaying of the youngest of three U.S. hunters who met death last summer in what police described as the "most gruesome" happening of its kind in Quebec history.

Richard Lindsey, 17, his father Eugene, 47, and Albert Clear, 30, were slain while hunting in the Gaspe bush, their remains eaten by bears and strewn over a wide area.

The crown alleges Coffin was the last man to meet the hunters alive. The prospector has said the hunters were accompanied by two other persons driving a jeep who described themselves as Americans.

At a special session Wednesday night, two men who took part in searches in the bush testified they found no tracks of a jeep in the area some 60 miles from Gaspe, but there were tracks made by a vehicle equipped with chains around camp 24, where the elder Lindsey's remains were found. The tracks led to or from camp 25 and in the direction of a third deserted logging camp.

FIND REMAINS OF OTHERS

The remains of the two other hunters were found at camp 28.

Wilf Carter, 28, a department of fisheries employee, and Dave Johnson, 29, manager for International Paper Co. in the area, said they came upon some articles said to be owned by the hunters, July 15 last year.

He said they found a sleeping bag, clothes, a stove, kerosene tank and other articles strewn over an area of 100 feet, three miles from where the Americans abandoned their stalled truck. The legs of the stove were found hanging from the limb of a tree.

A short distance away near a brook they came on the remains of the elder Lindsey. Carter, questioned by crown prosecutor Paul Miquelon, said they were "not visible from the road."

Another witness, Willard Campbell, 48, of Duggansville, Pa., said he had hunted with Lindsey for 15 years and made one trip with him to the Gaspe area.

Lindsey never slept in the open, always spending the night in his truck or in camps. He was a careful hunter who always carried his gun with the safety catch set, he said. (Lindsey's gun was found with the safety catch set near his remains).

Campbell said Lindsey was not the type of man to hand out large sums of money or goods to Coffin when he helped the hunters with their truck.

"He was very stingy with money," he said.

OTHER VEHICLES IN BUSH?

Defence lawyer Maher asked Carter in cross-examination if any other vehicles might have entered the Gaspe bush between June 9 or 10 and July 15. Carter said they might have.

Earlier the burly defence attorney caused a stir in the packed courthouse when he suggested a Toronto man might have been in the Gaspe area a week ago for the purpose of influencing witnesses.

He asked William Baker, a 43-year-old hotel keeper who lent his truck to Coffin and another man to go prospecting, whether a man named Vincent Patterson came to Gaspe last week "under police escort . . . and had tried to change the testimony of certain witnesses."

Baker said he could not confirm Patterson had a police escort, but he hadn't tried to influence his testimony. "My having met Vincent Patterson had nothing to do with the evidence I gave today," he said.

"The only thing Patterson told me was that he had been paid by certain persons to buy drinks for people here and to get them to talk."

Find Car Used When Four Men Robbed Bank

TORONTO (CP)—Four men, at least one of them armed, robbed a Province of Ontario Savings Bank of about $7,000 Wednesday and fled in a stolen car after forcing five staff members and three customers to lie on the floor.

Police said the car was found abandoned 10 minutes later about four blocks from the bank in Toronto's east end. They said the men apparently split up after leaving the car.

Three men entered the bank during the noon-hour, while the fourth waited in the getaway car. Two of them wore handkerchief masks and the third wore yellow sun glasses. Police said one was "tall and stumpy" and another was "noticeably tall and thin."

While one man held a gun in acting manager W. Brown's back, the other two leaped into the tellers' cages and scooped up the money.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, whose three-year-old son played tag around the counters during the robbery, hid some money she was depositing inside her coat.

Children Dragged Hands in Water, Swamping Boat

MONTREAL (CP)—Jack Seligman, 44-year-old Montreal baker, said Wednesday that attempts by 16 Negro children to drag their hands in the water caused his motorboat to tip July 13 on Lake of Two Mountains and cost the lives of 12 youngsters.

Seligman testified at the opening of a coroner's inquest into the mass drowning.

He said the children were warned not to lean over the side of the boat but by this time water had begun to come in. The motor stalled and Seligman said he leaped into the water to steady the craft.

The children then became panicky and stood up, capsizing the boat.

Seligman said he had offered to take the picnicking youngsters for rides in his boat as a special treat. He was on his third and last trip when the accident occurred.

KINGSTON (CP) — Frontenac county farmers are faced with lack of supplies of poison to fight army worms which threaten to overrun the southern part of the county near here.

Fresh outbreaks have been reported on five farms in the Sydenham and Harrowsmith areas just north of Kingston, Wednesday new discoveries of the worms were reported 12 miles east of Kingston.

Tweedsmuir's Library, Papers Given to Queen's

By GARY SMITH
Gleaner Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — The personal library and private papers of author John Buchan, who as Lord Tweedsmuir served as governor-general of Canada from 1935 to his death in 1940, have been given to Queen's University in Kingston.

The gift of approximately 5,000 volumes has been made by Col. R. S. McLaughlin and Mrs. McLaughlin of Oshawa. L. W. Brockington, rector of Queen's University and lifelong friend of the Tweedsmuir family, early this month made the final arrangements for the acquisition of the library.

The volumes will arrive at Queen's this fall, Miss Marian H. P. Gignty said in an interview Tuesday.

The gift includes the manuscripts of Buchan's works, already handsomely and uniformly bound; first editions of his works, autographed and specially bound; his working papers and annotations of his reading and researches; his private papers, letters and records, and several volumes of scrapbooks including press clippings concerning his literary works and public life, tributes and obituary notices.

MANY RARE VOLUMES

Also included are upwards of 1,000 volumes dealing with British literature and history, including many rare volumes of the 17th and 18th centuries; an equally large section dealing with British and Commonwealth history, including a valuable collection on South Africa; an extensive classical library, and many presentation copies of autographed books, books from private presses, and books annotated by Buchan.

Twenty-six of the Buchan manuscripts lent to the Bodleian Library, Oxford, are included in the gift.

A replica of the bust of Buchan in the National Portrait Gallery and the desk at which he wrote are also being given to Queen's.

Buchan wrote about 60 volumes, ranging from biographies to history, belles lettres and romances. His works produced works on Sir Walter Scott, Oliver Cromwell, Julius Caesar and the Marquis of Montrose among others and such pre-adrenaur classics as "The Thirty-nine Steps," "Greenmantle" and "Mr. Standfast."

The son of a Glasgow minister, Buchan was created First Baron Tweedsmuir of Elsfield by King George V in 1933.

PLEASED BY GIFT

The present Lord Tweedsmuir was especially pleased that Queen's should receive his father's library. In a recent letter to Col. and Mrs. McLaughlin he wrote: "That Queen's University, with its strong Scottish connections, should become the home of my father's library, and all the tangible results of the workings of his amazing mind, is a matter of very great pleasure and satisfaction to us all. "But it would have been a matter of no less satisfaction to him, too, for he loved Canada as much as any Canadian-born citizen has ever done, and has a very great fondness for that university."

This is the second major donation to the university library by Col. and Mrs. McLaughlin. In 1949 they presented the R. S. McLaughlin Canadian historical collection to the Douglas Library.

The John Buchan Library will be separately identified in the Douglas Library.

Says Canada Should Reduce Price of Wheat

OTTAWA (CP) — Sir Norman Vernon, Britain's top grain buyer, said yesterday that the Canada twice cut her wheat prices this year, they should be cut still further.

The 64-year-old board director of W. Garfield Weston's Allied Bakeries Ltd. added, however, that Trade Minister Howe has given him no encouragement to believe that there will be any further cuts in the near future.

"British millers are waiting for Canadian prices to drop," he told a press conference. "That is why they may not be buying as much as normal, even though grain reserves in Britain have declined.

WOULD BUY MORE

"I am sure," he added, "That British buying of Canadian grain will be resumed to normal when the price settles down."

Sir Norman, flour and flour buyer for more than 30 bread and cake plants in Britain, all part of Allied Bakeries, is one of the largest organizations of its kind in the Commonwealth. It is one of the many companies directed by Mr. Weston, Canadian - born international industrialist.

Canada cut the price of her wheat by seven cents a bushel in eastern Canada, last February and cut the entire national price by another 10 cents a bushel in May.

Sir Norman, who conferred with Mr. Howe Tuesday, said however that Canadian prices are still out of line with those quoted by other suppliers.

He did not know if Canadian prices will crack, but he felt sure that if there are any drops in other quarters, such as the United States, Canada also would cut her prices to remain competitive.

DITCH WHEAT BOARD?

He suggested also that it might be to Canada's advantage to ditch the Canadian Wheat Board and return to the free market in the disposal of her huge wheat stocks. "Wheat is like the gold standard of the world," he said. "If the price of wheat were set free it would act as a sort of stabilization on the prices of other commodities."

PUT ON NEW TRAIN

TORONTO (CP)—A new Canadian National Railways 10-car coach train, capable of accommodating 1,000 passengers, was put into service Tuesday on the Toronto-Oakville-Hamilton run. Allan Griffin, CNR general passenger agent, said the all-steel cars were designed especially for commuters on the 45-mile run, which has been the subject of complaint.

$18 Million in Grain Losses One Result of July Drought

TORONTO (CP) — As belated rain clouds gathered over Ontario's sun-baked farmlands yesterday holding a promise of scattered showers, a department of agriculture official estimated the month-long drought had already cost farmers "at least $18,000,000" in grain crop losses. Cattle losses and other crop damage will bring it to more than that.

A. H. Martin, director of field-crops branch, said the total yield in grains, including wheat, oats, barley, rye, white beans, soybeans, grain corn, buckwheat and flax, would probably be about 18,500,000 bushels less than last year.

RAIN TOO LATE

Even a good drenching rain in the next few days would be too late to repair the damage, he said.

Meanwhile, farmers across the province, except in part of northern and eastern Ontario, say their pastures are burned brown by the sun and milk production has dropped drastically.

In some cases pasturage is so short that farmers have started stable-feeding cattle.

The drought, said to be the worst in 10 years, has brought trading in cattle at the Ontario livestock yards to a virtual standstill.

Mr. Martin said losses would be considerably more than the rough estimate to $18,000,000 when cattle losses and other crop damage are considered.

"Last year," he said, "Ontario produced 178,000,000 bushels of grain crops. This year, with conditions as they are, farmers may not harvest more than 160,000,000 bushels."

WORMS HIT HARD

He said the losses would be due to a combination of conditions: dry weather in most of the province except for eastern and northern Ontario a serious invasion of army worms and late planting.

The invasion of army worms has resulted in damaged crops in almost every district of the province. The dry weather has aided their march by retarding the growth of plants and weakening their power to resist the voracious insects.

In the Sarnia area, dairies may be forced to import supplies from outside the drought area if the dry weather continues, it was reported today.

In the Hamilton area tomato growers report the quality and quantity of their crops are being affected. Only one-half inch of rain has fallen in the last month in the district and farmers have not been able to adequately irrigate their fields because of a cut in the community water supply.

Production of peas in the region has been cut as much as 25 per cent, it was reported.

HIGH PRICES?

Fruit is less seriously affected because it is deep rooted. The hardest-hit area is west of Grimsby to Hamilton and Burlington and east of St. Catharines and the Niagara river area.

T. L. Kennedy, farmer Ontario premier and minister of agriculture, estimated that the July drought together with a bad spring had already cost Ontario farmers some $40,000,000.

Mr. Kennedy, a farmer himself, predicted high potato and other vegetable and fruit prices with a consequent rise in the cost of living.

Clumsy People Have Muscles Which Stutter

VANCOUVER (CP) — Present-day physical education standards make for "physical illiteracy," Dr. Doris Plewes told the Commonwealth Conference on Physical Education Tuesday night.

Dr. Plewes, assistant director of national physical fitness at Ottawa, compared physical literacy with the academic variety.

"More attention should be devoted to the study of basic physical powers," she said. "Clumsy children are being treated with contempt or neglected under present standards.

"Clumsiness is a kind of muscle-stuttering, commonly found in a fairly large percentages of cases in varying degrees of intensity." If a youngster stutters, something is done for him, "if he's clumsy

INCREASES TARIFF

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday authorized increases of up to 50 per cent in the tariff on certain imported watch movements. In a proclamation, the president approved recommendations the tariff commission made last May. Virtually all imported watch movements come from Switzerland.

KIDNAP ESTHER PENNANT

One of the most coveted pennants among ships of the United Nations in Far East waters is the one depicting Hollywood swimming star Esther Williams. The pennant, called Esther, and a photo of Miss Williams go together and are the cause of much rivalry. The only way to get the pennant and photo is to "kidnap" them from whichever ship happens to have them at the time. Holding the trophy and pennant, now the possession of the Canadian destroyer Crusader, are, left to right: Lt.-Cmdr. W. F. Willson of Calgary, Crusader's captain; Lt.-Cmdr. H. E. Smith, Victoria, and Commissioned Gunner Fred Jones, Swift Current, Sask. The ship holding the trophies must fly the pennant to let other UN ships know "Esther" is aboard. (CP from National Defence)

ABOARD CRUSADER (CP)—They're flying a yellow pennant on this Canadian destroyer during its latest patrol in Korean waters. It could mean trouble.

For the present, however, it means Esther Williams is a resident in the wardroom. And a contented one; despite the fact she was kidnapped by the destroyer's captain and executive officer.

Not the real flesh-and-blood swimming star of the movies, of course—just her photograph. But what a photograph!

The Australians started all this back in 1945. Esther's picture was chosen from dozens of pin-ups aboard the Australian destroyer Nepal as the officers' favorite, and before long the trouble started.

At the end of the Second World War, the crew of the United States destroyer Bataan made off with the Aussies' prized photo. The Aussies lamented:

"A rural trick, Yankee destroyer Was rotting in Seasbo bay, When by low and underhand cunning They came and stole Esther away."

"So she left her Australian lovers, And became an American's dear, With coffee and doughnuts for breakfast Instead of her usual beer."

But the coffee and doughnuts weren't for Esther for long. Ships of other countries carried her off by whatever means they could—whenever they could—until the thread of her journeyings was considerably tangled.

Somehow, however, she wound up aboard the U.S. destroyer George and early one recent morning, while that vessel was in dry-dock at Sasebo, Japan, the Canadian, took Esther over.

The captain, Lt.-Cmdr. W. H. Willson of Calgary and the executive officer, Lt.-Cmdr. H. H. Smith of Victoria stole aboard the George and abducted her.

The Crusader is the first Canadian destroyer Esther has sailed with. Back in 1950, during the early days of the Korean War, she graced the wardrooms of the Sioux and Cayuga.

Resume Ford Talks

WINDSOR (CP)—Talks between Ford Motor Company of Canada and United Automobile Workers' Union (CIO-CCL) in an attempt to settle contract differences started again Wednesday.

Neither side would comment as sessions began.

Bargaining was suspended pending a conciliation board report handed down last week.

The union is asking a 30-cent wage increase which increased hospital and insurance benefits.

Liberal and CCF Leaders Assail Award of Contract To Company Facing Charges

TORONTO (CP) — Liberal and CCF spokesmen Wednesday criticized Ontario's Progressive Conservative government for awarding a $1,023,376 road contract to a firm charged with conspiracy in connection with government highway work in the Fort William area.

Highways Minister Doucett announced the contract to Standard Paving, Ltd., for laying a granular base and surfacing a 16-mile stretch of a new four-lane highway known as the Toronto by-pass, skirting the northern fringe of the city. His announcement said Standard's bid was the lowest by $6,000.

In magistrate's court Wednesday, Standard Paving, its vice-president and former highways department chief engineer C. H. Nelson were committed to stand trial at the fall assizes on conspiracy charges.

OPPOSITION COMMENT

Liberal and CCF comments were made in interviews with the Toronto Telegram.

"They're offering the same lamb to the same knife," said Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader. "Only the present Ontario government would be guilty of a practice such as this."

William Grummett, CCF House leader in the legislature, said: "I am shocked at this news. I cannot see any reason why Standard Paving Limited should have received a million-dollar contract when they are being investigated for contract irregularities."

TWO OTHER AWARDS

Mr. Doucett also announced the award of two contracts worth $26,000 for work in the Longlac area of northwestern Ontario to Tomlinson Brothers, Limited, another firm facing charges. His announcement said the Tomlinson bids were lowest for the work, one by nearly $2,000 and the other by nearly $3,000.

Eamon Park, president of the Ontario section of the CCF, issued a statement to the press saying that Premier Frost "owes the people of Ontario an explanation of the unprecedented behavior of Highways Minister Doucett" in awarding the contract to Standard Paving while its officials were before the courts.

He reiterated a call for the suspension of Mr. Doucett and said if Premier Frost does not take such action the people of Ontario may properly enquire what hold the highways minister has on the premier.

He said the "Queen's Park corriders have been rife with rumor that Mr. Doucett has threatened to bring down the government if he was dismissed from his post."

FATALLY INJURED

OTTAWA, (CP) —Walter Jean-Louis, 23, was fatally injured yesterday when the scoop of a heavy steam shovel fell on his back as he worked on a sewer excavation. Fellow workmen said the shovel was not in use and that a cable holding the scoop apparently slipped.

Will Stand Trial

TORONTO (CP) — William P. Legrow, 61-year-old former Toronto business man, who told New York police he would be killed within 24 hours if they took him to Toronto, was committed for trial Wednesday.

He faces theft and receiving charges involving more than $100,000 after being extradited from the U.S.

Mennonites Aid Families From Mexico

KITCHENER (CP) — The helping hand of Ontario Mennonites has been extended to five starving Mexican Mennonite families who recently completed a 2,000-mile trek north in a two-ton truck carrying 32 persons and all their earthly possessions.

Harvey Toews, associate director of the Mennonite Central Committee, said relief has been given to the 32 who were ending a self-imposed 37-year exile.

Members of the denomination in the Niagara district have donated supplies, clothing, food and furniture to the families who now have jobs on farms in the Port Rowan area.

Accommodation has also been found in two houses.

The returning group, or at least some of them, went to Mexico from Canada in 1922 and 1925 when their parents refused to send their children to schools in Manitoba and Saskatchewan to learn to speak English.

Britain to Offer Cyprus New Constitution

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain will offer a new form of constitution to the Mediterranean island colony of Cyprus, Earl Munster, colonial undersecretary, told the House of Lords yesterday.

There is a powerful movement among the island's predominantly Greek population to oust Britain and merge with Greece.

Munster said the proposed new constitution would increase the role of elected members of the colonial legislature.

"This will mark the first step along the road of constitutional advancement, and will enable Cypriots to take a part in operating self-governing institutions and exercising responsibility both in legislation and in executive control of administration."

Milwaukee Braves Loom As Long-Shot Threat For National League Lead

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

DOWN THE STRETCH!

With four teams eligible in the Viadact Ontario Senior Baseball League playoffs, it looks like the loop is developing into a race for third and fourth spots between the Bataa and Peterborough Petes. The Bataa at present have 11 and 11 for a .500 average while the Petes (not counting Tuesday night's tilt with the Dependables) have ten wins and twelve defeats for an average of .455. If the Petes defeat the Dependables in Toronto it leaves them breathing down the Bataa necks with 11 wins and twelve defeats for an average of .478. If they were defeated then it gives them 10 and 13 for .435.

Outside of Tuesday night's Peterborough Dependables game, both the Petes and Bataa have eight games left to play. The Bataa will whittle one off that count tonight when they trek to Oshawa to take on the league-leading Transporters, who apparently are trying to make an impression on other Toronto senior loops through the medium of exhibition games.

The Transporters have made it no secret they want no part of the Toronto end of the present Viadact League set-up next year, and the rash of exhibition games with other Toronto senior clubs has broken out from reasons other than bolstering the local box office, which hasn't broken any records this season.

So it looks like a close race for the clean-up spot in the league standing between our side and the Petes. If the Bataa lose tonight and the Petes won that Dependables fame in Toronto Tues. night, the squads are all tied up with 11 and 12. And the Bataa face a tough task here on Saturday when they hook up with the Toronto Hoskings in a double feature.

According to the powers-that-be, the first and fourth teams hook up in the loop playoffs with the second and third squads clashing. Apparently neither the Bataa or Petes want to meet Oshawa in the semi-finals, merely for box-office purposes, so it should be a run to the wire between the teams.

This "taken-for-granted" attitude on the part of the Oshawa Transporters, as reported by our Motor City "fifth columnist" rather comes as a surprise. The haughty Transporters with a big lead feel, it is said, the VOBL title is in the bag. They should be reminded that there is many a slip 'twixt the schooner and the playoff lip. And this baseball story has proven this. When the playoffs start proud schedule records are water under the bridge. It is a new ball game. And a ball game and a series is not over until the last man is out. Don't forget that.

From the Bataa point of view the Oshawa squad is just another member of the loop. Their bid for fame by playing so-called, Toronto senior clubs, does not impress any of the rest of the Viadact League, Toronto clubs included. Least of all, it chills to impress our side. And that goes for the Petes, . . .

Since the above was written we have learned that the Dependables edged the Petes by a single run on Tuesday, giving the Bataa an indirect assist. The loss leaves the Petes with, as was said before, 10 wins and 13 defeats for an average of .435.

SOFTBALL

What might be a post-season game for the Point Anne softball squad and Paul Bircher's Blairdale's takes place in the Kingston Penitentiary on Monday, Civic Holiday, when the teams meet in the semi-final for the Dick Allan Trophy. Bloomfield and the "Saints" play the other half. The winners meet in an afternoon game for the honor and glory.

The misunderstanding regarding the Bluebirds and the Congress has been straightened out. "Warpy" O'Brien received a letter from the big house sports officials explaining the situation and apologizing for the error. The result is the Bluebirds have received an invitation and will play in place of an Ottawa team.

Meanwhile the playoffs schedule has been drawn and tonight the Blazebirds clash with the Pointers at Ox Point in a best-of-three series. The second game will be played at the CNRAA Recreation Park, Saturday at 6.15 p.m. Frankford and Northerns hook up in their half of the playoffs with the first game scheduled for the CNRAA Park Friday night. This game too, starts at 6.15. Second game in Frankford on Tuesday at 8.30.

On the "AA" section a round robin will be played between the Bobcats, Madoc, and Stewart Warner. Bobcats and Stewart Warner start the ball rolling tonight at the Alemite Field starting 8 p.m.

MIDGET MARVELS

This Brown Panther from the jungles of India, is said to be one of the most ferocious midget pachyderms ever to grace a ring. Along with his buddies the Mighty Schultz product of the Alsace-Lorraine coal mines, Otto Bowman from Germany and Tito Infanti, handsome Mexican, the Panther rounds out a quartet of clever, fast midget rassiers said to be the best yet. Then of course there will be the "grudge battle" between Paul Baillargeon and "Zebra" George Bollas not to mention the slippery Pat Flanagan and Ski Hi Lee. Should be plenty of action in Memorial Arena tomorrow night.

HOUSTON'S PLAY

Mel Richards is taking his Houston's midget baseballers to Foxboro this evening where the youngsters will play a village team in an exhibition tilt. The Houston will represent the city in the Ontario Baseball Association midget playdowns with their first game scheduled for August 14. The name of the opposition is not known as yet.

Mel is keeping his boys in baseball shape with stiff practices and exhibition tilts, for he wants them at the peak when they start down the tough playdown trail. The game in Foxboro gets under way at 6.30.

Cut Gap Six Games in Week In Surging Mid-Season Rally; Tribe, Giants Maintain Pace

By Ken Prelidian
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Braves are building up steam for a ball sweep along the eastern seaboard which should determine whether there is any substance to the ghost of a chance they still hold in the National League pennant race.

A highly-regarded entry during spring training, the Braves floundered through the first half of the season. But they've started to roll in the last two weeks and Wednesday night they ran their current winning streak to six games with a 6-4 victory at Pittsburgh.

NEED SWEEP

It would take a virtual sweep to make the Braves serious threat. Teams have done it before, although not recently.

Milwaukee trails the second-place Dodgers by eight games and the Giants by 9½. In the past week the Braves have cut their deficit by 5½ lengths.

Neither the Braves nor the Dodgers gained any ground Wednesday because the Giants broke their six-game losing streak at the expense of the St. Louis Cardinals 10-6. Philadelphia, which had lost fourth place with a 3-2 victory over Cincinnati, Brooklyn defeated Chicago 3-1.

The Cleveland Indians kept rolling over the Boston Red Sox 7-4 for the 15th time in 16 decisions. New York Chicago White Sox on Mickey Mantle's three-run homer in the ninth. Joe Coleman pitched a three-hitter as Baltimore trimmed Washington 2-1 and Detroit trounced Philadelphia 10-2.

HOLDS CARDINALS

Johnny Antonelli handcuffed the Cardinals for his fifth shutout and 15th victory. For a change, the Giants didn't really need such expert pitching. Jim Rhodes hit three home runs and Willie Mays banged his 30th off the scoreboard.

Brooklyn managed only four hits off the combined offerings of Dave Cole and Hal Jeffcoat but they were enough to give Russ Meyer his 15th consecutive victory over his old Chicago club. A Cub threat in the ninth when Ralph Kiner doubled and Hank Sauer singled was snuffed out by Jim Hughes who came in with one out and struck out the next two batters.

ONE BOSTON RUN

Early Wynn, who spaced 14 New York hits in his last start, gave up 11 more to Boston. The Red Sox bunched singles by Dick Gernert, Jim Piersall and Ted Williams for their only run. Cleveland won it in the sixth when Bob Avila singled and scored on Al Rosen's double. Vic Wertz singled home Rosen.

Mantle's homer in Chicago came with Irv Noren and Joe Collins on base in the ninth after the game had been held up by 20 minutes of rain. The Yankees trailed 5-1 after seven innings but picked up three in the eighth before the storm.

Steve Souchock drove in six runs with two homers as Detroit's one-sided triumph over the Athletics. The veteran outfielder has been benched most of the season with a broken left wrist.

Leafs Sail Merrily Along! Wings Win

By the Associated Press

The team that can win the one-run games is the team that wins the pennants, says the old saw—but try to prove it to Rochester Red Wings.

The Wings have captured eight of 10 one-run decisions against Richmond Virginians including Wednesday night's 3-2 triumph, and they're still on a treadmill as far as the International League race is concerned.

No matter what the Wings do, Toronto Maple Leafs, sailing along on first since 4½ games ahead, seem to do it a little better. The Leafs clubbed Havana Sugar Kings Wednesday night 8-3.

BEAT BISONS

In other league action, Ottawa Athletics beat Buffalo Bisons in the opener of a doubleheader 4-1, then dropped the second 5-3. Syracuse Chiefs stopped Montreal Royals 3-1.

The Red Wings had to go 10 innings before Allie Clark's 14th homer of the season decided for reliever Mario Picone, who pitched the first inning-and-a-third after being purchased from Minneapolis. Frank Fanovich was the loser.

Joe Taylor hit his 20th home run of the campaign for the A's in the first game against Buffalo. In the nightcap, Ken Johnson struck out 11 A's in hanging up victory No. 12.

The Chiefs scored all their runs in the second innings to hand the Royals their third straight defeat. Ken Peterson went the distance.

Royals Edge London Majors; Terriers Win

By the Canadian Press

Southpaw Ed Drapcho of Guelph-Riverview Royals pitched a no-hitter to London Majors and the Majors team's team to find an antidote.

It's not that the Majors have had such a hard time with the Royals in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League this season. London has won four out of seven games with Guelph. But every time they face Drapcho it's a lost cause. He has accounted for all three Guelph victories over the Majors this year, allowing a total of only five runs in the three games and stopping the Majors twice on five-hitters.

He won his third over the Majors in Guelph Wednesday night where he bested London's playing manager Frank Colman 2-1 in a pitcher's duel. Each hurler allowed only four hits.

MAJORS IN 3RD PLACE

The loss dropped the Majors into third place behind Brantford Red Sox who edged St. Thomas Elgins 6-5 in 10 innings at St. Thomas. Gail Northcott retained third baseball leading pace with a .477-3 home-field victory over Kitchener Panthers in the league's other game.

Sudbury Shamrocks took over first place in the Nickel Belt Senior League by defeating Creighton Mine 6-3 in Sudbury. Coniston Red Sox squeezed to a 2-1 victory over Garson Greyhounds in the other Nickel Belt game at Coniston.

Leonard, Huot Will Represent Canada Golf

MONTREAL (CP) — Stan Leonard of Vancouver and Jules Huot of Montreal, two veterans of Canadian tournament golf, will represent Canada in the Canada Cup golf matches starting Oct. 7.

The selection of the Canadian pair left only the Venezuelan team unnamed of the 26 countries entered. The United States named Sam Snead and colorful Jimmy Demaret as their representatives last week.

In picking Leonard and the 46-year-old Huot, the selection committee of the International Golf Association, sponsors of the meet, passed up Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon, the first winner of the Canada Open in 30 years.

Leonard, a consistent performer in Canadian tournaments and winner of this year's Canadian Professional Golfers' Association tournament, was a unanimous selection. He was also a member along with Bill Kerr of Montreal, of last year's squad, which finished second to Argentina.

Huot's selection brought more murmurs of surprise than anything he was aided by the fact that he is host pro at the nearby Laval-sur-le-Lac course, where the matches will be played and "knowing every blade of grass in my own course . . . should be a great help."

Sports Roundup

By JACK HAND
For Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK (AP)—Subsided is the word for the "new" Eddie Stanky who brought his Cardinals to the Polo Grounds for a series with his old playmates, the league leading Giants.

No fiery - tempered little man came striding out of the dugout, with a chip on his shoulder, to wrangle with the umpires.

The fiery skipper with the unwelcome reputation of "bad actor" wasn't even on the field. Coach Johnny Riddle took his place on the lines at third base as he had done during Stanky's five-day suspension.

HAS EYES OPENED

Apparently Stanky has taken to heart the blast of public disapproval that greeted his recent demonstration in St. Louis where seven of the home fans cheered a forfeit decision against the Cardinals. As he said in St. Louis, "This affair has opened my eyes."

Off the field in the privacy of the St. Louis clubhouse, Stanky acted the same as ever. He was courteous, guarded in all answers to the press and still talking about winning the pennant.

"Don't think we're out there going through the motions," he said. "We're still in this thing. We've still got a chance to win the pennant."

As the Cardinals are 14½ games back and still in danger of an attack from the rear by other second division clubs, Stanky hasn't had the holier ring of fight camp publicity. Still, he is the kind of man who never stops believing in the impossible.

SPIRITED COMPETITOR

Stanky, the ball player, was a spirited competitor who believed in using every edge not specifically condemned by the rule book to win a game. Remember how he shuffled around back of second base, waving his hands, to distract a batter in the 1950 All Star Ford Frick, then league president, ruled such arm-waving illegal. Is the ploy in the future? And the time he kicked the ball out of Phil Rizzuto's glove in the world series of 1951?

"My spirit and the desire to win could never be broken," Stanky said at St. Louis last week. "However my temper and public relations will be improved."

It seems that Stanky finally is beginning to realize the difference between his status as an "anything to win" player and his responsibilities as a manager."

British Empire Games Notes

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mike Agostini, Trinidad's 19-year-old flyer, has no fear of Hector Hogan of Jamaica, co-holder of the world's record of 9.3 for 100 yards.

The two are virtually unanimous choices to fight it out in the sprint at the British Empire Games.

"If Hogan isn't more than yard in front of me at 30 or even 50 yards he will be beaten," said Agostini Wednesday just after he had worked out at the University of British Columbia Stadium.

He said it without any cockiness but as a plain statement and showed confidence in his ability.

"Hogan is a fast starter. I finish strong. I'm in good shape, too. I have never been in better shape than I am right now, and if Hogan is counting on winning he will have to run the race of his life."

"I'm using 9.5 and 9.6 without trouble now. I'm counting strongly on my finish. I have been developing it at Villa Nova College in Pennsylvania. I'm hoping to make going to school. The best I have ever done the 100 is 9.4, on grass in Venezuela."

Agostini, a likeable fellow with an infectious grin, considers one of the "sleepers" in the 100-may be Abdul Khaliq of Pakistan, "who has been running very well."

Khaliq has been running the 100 metres in 10.6 while the 100 metre event at the Asian Games in Manila last May.

Agostini also will overlook Les Laing of Jamaica in either the 100 or 220. "He's a good finisher now and if he gets into the final he can make plenty of trouble."

COOKERY CONTEST

Agostini said he, looked over the track and infield Wednesday, when the games get under way Friday with the colorful opening ceremonies. The field is now undergoing last-tree preparations.

He's similar to the track in St. Louis where Art Bragg won the American national championships in 9.4. As he said, "The top is slightly loose, light and flaky. When it is garnished and mixed more it should be fast and good."

The Canadian track and field team had a long workout Wednesday but took things easy. There was a keen rivalry between among the teams to taper off. Teams from New Zealand, Uganda, Nigeria, Jamaica, India and other countries along with a good section of the Australian team, also worked out at UBC stadium.

The English team, with the great miller Roger Bannister and middle miler Chris Chataway, practised Wednesday but only briefly. They worked easily and officials at the English headquarters said he has not yet gone to the full mile.

John Landy of Australia, whose 3.58 bettered Bannister's 3:59.4 as the second man to break through the four minute barrier for the mile, was an absentee from workouts.

"He works out when he feels he should," said coach Theo Tracy.

London Bowler Favored For Double Win

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Frank Wilson, who skipped a London Thistle Club quartet to victory in the rinks competition at the annual Western Ontario Lawn Bowling Association tournament Tuesday, was edged towards the double laurels as he teamed with George Smith to win the first two double matches in Wednesday's play.

Wilson and Smith, the doubles competition is the Roden Trophy, won last year by Jim Dougherty of Toronto.

Close to 200 bowlers started in the preliminary rounds of the doubles competition.

Mays Well Ahead Of 'Babe' Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball fans everywhere, and National League pitchers, too, are beginning to think Willie Mays' threat to Babe Ruth's record more seriously.

With 85 games remaining on New York Giants' schedule, Mays today stands 14 games ahead of the Bambino's 1927 pace.

Willie connected for his 36th home run Wednesday in his game's 99th game. When Ruth hit 60 he did not produce No. 36 until his 110th game.

Empire Games Flag Raising Colorful Event

VANCOUVER (CP) — Flag-raising ceremonies for Canada—host country at the British Empire Games—were carried out Wednesday with a colorful display in Empire Village.

The flags of India and Barbados were also raised. The flags of other countries in the big meet were raised earlier, a big gold up as each team arrived at the village.

The Canadians, more than 300 strong, were spic and span in their bright red blazers. The men wore grey trousers and the girls grey dresses.

The five Indian contestants were dressed entirely in light blue, with the same color turbans. The lone Barbados competitor — weightlifter George Bullen—and H. G. Webster, official games representative from Barbados, were dressed in dark blue blazers and white trousers.

Welcome to the teams was extended by Jack Davies of Montreal, president of the Canadian Olympic Association, and Stan Smith of Vancouver, chairman of the Games organizing committee.

Padman Singh, giant bearded Indian who is a weightlifter, raised the Indian flag; Nicholls the Barbados flag, and Bullen, another weightlifter from Verdun, Que., the Canadian flag.

Sir Arthur Porritt, London chairman of the British Empire and Commonwealth Games Federation, who visited the canal Tuesday, described the course as "superb."

Most of the team managers agree. Australia's Thurville termed it "an absolute whiz." The New Zealand rep agrees but adds the 15-storey Bell building in Toronto.

best courses in the world," he said.

Petes Defeat Hamilton 17-6

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — In a game marked by numerous penalties Ontario Lacrosse Association game here Wednesday night before more than 1,400 fans, Peterborough Petes defeated the Hamilton Tigers' team 17-6 to regain first place. They led 5-0 in the first period and 12-3 to end the second of a clean contest, the Petes getting most of the heavier penalties.

Counting two each were Bob Thorpe, Don Ashbee, Bob Curtis, Denny Peterson, Curly Mason and Lou Nickels. Petes' spice went to Harry Wipper, Bobby Allen, Jerry Fitzgerald, Buck Bailey and Bob Hobart. Best for the losers was Tony D'Amico with two, as Bob Dobbie, Jay Hill, Jim McMulty and Jim McMahon got one apiece.

Famous Tribe Star Dies

MARIETTA, Ga. (AP) — Jim Thorpe, who helped point Carlisle Cleveland Indians to the 1920 baseball championship of baseball, died Wednesday.

Bagby, whose full name was James Harold Jacob Bagby Sr., won 31 games and lost 12 for the Indians in 1920 and in the world series against Brooklyn became the first pitcher ever to hit a series home run.

The 64-year-old mound star had been in bad health since he suffered a stroke in 1942 while umpiring a game in the Piedmont League.

Survivors include a son, Jim Jr., who followed his famous father as a major league pitcher in the 1930s.

APPROVE NEW BUILDING

HAMILTON (CP)—City council Tuesday gave its approval to the construction of plans for a new $2,500,000 combined courthouse and registry office. Wentworth county council has already its assent. Now application will be made to the Ontario municipal board for approval.

Microwave Link For Grid Casts Being Built

MONTREAL (CP)—A microwave link to carry televised broadcasts of Canadian football games to the United States now is being built by the Bell Telephone Company announced today.

Electronic equipment is being installed in relay stations at Toronto and at Prescott, Ont., the halfway point on the 66-mile signal route from Toronto to Buffalo, N.Y., and huge antennas to beam the microwave signals are already in position at Prescott and Buffalo and will be ready for the 1954 football season.

Twelve eastern Big Four games televised by the CBC will be transmitted over this link this fall for relay to more than 100 U.S. stations on the National Broadcasting Company network.

Once set up, the microwave chain can be used to carry other Canadian programs to the U.S. A return chain—from Buffalo to Toronto—has been in use since January 31, 1953, bringing live U.S. programs to CBC stations on the Quebec - Ontario microwave network.

Earl Walls Dropped To Ninth Spot

NEW YORK (AP) — Hurricane Tommy Jackson of New York and Canada's Jackie Parker of Montreal tumbled in the latest heavyweight ratings by Ring Magazine, revised Wednesday by Editor Nat Fleischer.

Ezzard Charles, the ex-champ from Cincinnati, remains the No. 1 contender, followed closely by Nino Valdes, Cuban giant who stopped the Hurricane two weeks ago.

Britain's Don Cockell, who fights Harry Matthews in Seattle Friday, stays No. 5, a place while Matthews was moved up a notch to succeed Jersey Joe Walcott, the original "spoiler" of the Hurricane, still ranks fourth, followed by Roland La Starza and Jackson. Walt now is rated ninth. He is the only Canadian in the listings.

BIKE THROUGH WINDOW

HAMILTON (CP) — Before the startled eyes of office workers, 10-year-old Ronald Bowman rode his bicycle through the 10-by-15-foot display window of Hert Rymals on King street east Tuesday. When the boy was pulled from the mass of broken glass, his only apparent injury was a cut on his left wrist.

Wallet Policy Adopted By Calgary Stampers

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Stampeders who make especially brilliant plays on the football field this season will find the results bulging their pocketbooks.

Team manager Ray Rokinetz has announced a system of bonuses for doing something beyond the regular assignment with bonuses ranging from $2 to $35.

Before the fining got under way, Rokinetz also outlined a policy of imposing stiff fines for breaches of club rules.

Such feats as intercepting a pass, recovering a fumble, punting on a punt return, tackling a man and holding him to no gain on a punt return, blocking kicks and a lineman tackling a passer before he can loose are among the plays for which players can increase their incomes 24%.

NO HONOR SYSTEM

For the first time in several years, Stampeder team personnel will not be on the honor system as far as their curfew hours are concerned.

From Wednesday to Sunday, the curfew will be midnight and visitors of this rule will be fined $50. Fines will be up to $500 for actions team officials consider detrimental to the team, and to players. There will be $50 fines for missing a practice or a club meeting, $25 for being late.

The new policy is only part of the team's revamping for 1954. With a new coach, Larry Siemering, and several top-notch imports, Calgary fans expect Stampeders to be the surprise of the Western Interprovincial Football Union this fall despite the loss of back John Henry Johnson who won the league's most valuable player award last season. Johnson has signed with San Francisco 49'ers.

Weslock, Norman Chances Good, Surprises Feature Amateur Tourney

BY GARRY SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The first 18-hole round of match play in the Ontario amateur golf championship may be one thing is certain: Kerry Kesselring of Kitchener won't win the title this year.

Kesselring, who won the championship for the last three years in succession, retired from golf and so cannot compete in this year's tournament. The chances of top-seeded Dick Weslock of Windsor and Moe Norman of Kitchener would seem to be brighter but upset on the par 72-course Wednesday knocked two of the top eight players from contention and there may be more such surprises.

There is no doubt that the 350-yard 17th hole enabled the Toronto dark horse to eliminate highly-regarded George Eluck of Windsor, one up in their 18-hole first round.

WAGETAFFE OUT

Jim Wagetaffe, who was playing on his home course, was the second member of the top-ranked eight to be knocked in the first round. Stan Morris of Lookout Point, Fonthill, playing in his first Ontario amateur, carded two birdies on the 17th and 18th holes for the surprising two-up victory.

Norman, a member of the Oshawa Willingdon Cup team, had a close squeeze to defeat Roy Ries of Toronto, 2 and 1.

Norman's mate Bill Bentley in today's second round. The winner will advance into the third round also to be played today.

Of the three other members of the Ontario Willingdon Cup team Weslock looked the best. The smooth-striking Windsor amateur stopped John Learoyd of Jackson's Point, 3 and 4, starting fast with three consecutive birdies to win the first three holes. Weslock, runner-up to Kesselring last year, meets Pete Atman of Lindsay in a second-round match today.

Eric Hanson of Toronto, another Willingdon Cupper, was forced to the 19th hole before overcoming Bill Heighway of Toronto 1 up. Hanson fired a birdie three on the 19th for his win. Hanson will meet against Emerson Creed of London in their second round match today.

The greatest comeback Wednesday was Ken Cox of Weston's sizzling drive to top Don Varey of Brantford, one up. Down two holes at the 11th, Worcox, who plays at Kitchener Rockway, won five holes in a row from the 12th to the 16th to go one up. They each had eagle threes on the 17th and then parred the 18th with fours to end the match.

Second and third-round matches are scheduled for today and at the end of today's play the 64 survivors of Wednesday's first round will be reduced to 16.

FOURTH MEMBER

Jerry Magee of Toronto Lambton, the fourth member of the Willingdon team and the one who will lose berth if the 1954 amateur champion is not a present member of the four-man team, had a convincing first-round win Wednesday. He defeated Jim Clarkson of Peterborough 4 and 3, and meets Johnstone McCormick of Toronto today.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SA MGORDON
The Kibitzer

When partner forces you to bid it is no time to feel sorry for yourself. Even with nothing more to show you must obey his signal with a true answer. Responsibility for the result is then his.

We started on the deal shown here:

NORTH
♠K 7 5 4
♥7 4
♦Q 9 3
♣A K 3

WEST
♠9 8
♥A J 9 6 5
♦J 10 8
♣Q 10 7 4

EAST
♠10 6 2
♥7 10 3 2
♦6 5 2
♣8

SOUTH
♥9 8
♦A K 4
♣9 6 5

This is a simple hand to bid. The bidding goes like this:

South	North
2 Spade	2 Clubs
3 No-Trump	4 Spades

The (new suit takeout) bid of two clubs by North is a forcing-for-one-round signal. Whether or not south has anything more to show he is ordered to keep the bidding alive for one round.

The opening one bid by south said he had five tricks. He has a count of exactly five tricks and no more. Whatever else he does he must not let the bidding die and he must not raise the number.

So what will he bid? No other biddable suit does he have. No rebiddable spade suit does he have. Although he has support for clubs he lacks another trick to raise the number with and assist.

The only type of bid left is no-trump. So, he bids one no-trump. Not because he desires to play in no-trump. Only because he has no other honest bid to make and is required not to pass.

The signal north gave first assured him another chance to bid. He is now ready to show his spade support. With five tricks in his own hand he is able to see ten tricks in their pair. Slow!

The opener guaranteed five. With his own five he sees ten. Ten tricks are enough for game in spades. So, when he now assists in the spade suit he jumps to four spades to show enough for game.

This is the standard method of bidding this hand. That is its heart and you can be a good bridge player. No fooling.

Rocky Wants Another Fight This Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Rocky Marciano came to town today for a physical examination and it probably will result in a Sept. 18 Yankee Stadium rematch with ex-champ Ezzard Charles.

The heavyweight champion has been vacationing since he won a unanimous decision over Charles in a rousing 15-round bout at the Yankee Stadium on June 17. The courageous scrap but was well battered by Rocky's fists although never knocked down.

In the hours after the battle with Charles, Dr. Vincent Nardiello operated on Marciano's eye, removing clots of blood from a fight of years ago. He had been cut again early in the Charles bout and bled profusely from the eyebrow.

Rocky still wears a slight scar over the eye as the result of that operation, but believes he will be ready to start boxing in a week or 10 days.

He is anxious to get back to work and will go into camp as soon as possible after final details are arranged.

"I'd like to fight again this year," he said. "The long layoff (nine months) was too much. I need more fights."

Movie Column

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Canadian-born Thomas Costain's 500 - odd pages of narrative called "The Silver Chalice" turns out, in the movie script, to be only 134 pages long.

Yet none of the drama of Costain's story of the slave who fashions a receptacle for the wine cup used at the Last Supper will be missing, scenarist Lesser Samuels assures potential viewers. For the benefit of Costain's readers, and perhaps also for aspiring scenarists, Samuels explains how he did his job.

After reading the book carefully, he made notes on what he considered the necessary dramatic scenes. Primarily the difference between his job and Costain's was the emphasis given scenes for greater dramatic effect.

100 CARD SCENES

Then he listed each scene, with a brief description, on a small card. He remembers that he had 100 cards. He pinned these to a large board in sequence and studied them. He finally reduced the number of cards to 76—"the essential dramatic steps."

With the characters and the 76 scenes, Samuels wrote a 140-page "treatment," actually a synopsis, from the synopsis he wrote the first script, 140 pages of dialogue and stage directions. This preliminary work was used to determine how many actors would be needed and for how long and the number and size of the sets. Costs have to be estimated first, so the first script was little more than a budget guide.

The final shooting script took Samuels 10 weeks to write. Costain, who read it, was pleased with the faithful translation although he must have missed some scenes and characters he liked. The Chinese prince, for example, was an interesting character, but he had nothing to do with furthering the dramatic elements of the story. He and his rosy fingernails will not be in the film.

LARGER CHALICE

The chalice itself is no tin prop. Victor Saville, who is producing and directing, declared it must be of sterling silver and so went to a silversmith, Ben Tobert, to have it cast. In the film, the chalice will be about two inches higher and correspondingly larger in circumference than the original which is now in a New York collection.

It was made larger for dramatic effect and so that the heads of the apostles could be slightly larger. The heads, in bas-relief, are about an inch and a half high. The chalice weighs about three pounds and is required to have real gems.

Saville is resisting all kinds of suggestions as to what to do with the chalice after the picture is finished; he says he's going to buy it and keep it.

MORE LINES WANTED

The otherwise serious discussion must end on a different note.

Joseph Wiseman, who plays Mijamin, head of the revolutionary Jewish zealots, the Sicarii, was telling Samuels that he should have more lists in a certain scene. As Samuels wrote it, the Christians have more to say but Wiseman, as the chief revolutionary, thought he ought to have more dialogue. Samuels was adamant, but the actor had the partying shot:

AT THE BELLE—Young Brandon De Wilde, heralded as the most promising youngster to appear on the screen in many a year, stars in "Shane," the Paramount hit which opens today at the Belle Theatre. Alan Ladd, Van Heflin and Jean Arthur highlight "Shane's" stellar cast.

Had Stolen Goods

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Two Hamilton men received jail terms Wednesday after being convicted on a charge of possessing stolen goods.

Ernest Barlow was sentenced to one year definite and six months indefinite. Carroll Ward, six months definite and six months indefinite.

The two were arrested in North Bay July 13.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY, JULY 30, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Generous planetary configurations. Mental, seemingly minor, but important tasks favored equally with big and showy doings. A fine day for employer and employee, for all.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — A promising day to wind up this friendly month. Finish incompleted matters or start new tasks that cannot wait till Monday. Home, family relations should be pleasant.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — You can either digress from usual routine affairs or finish matters hanging fire for some time. The day is most encouraging for all worthwhile activities, for honest toil and well-earned fun.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — You will have better results for efforts and be happier generally if you forget little annoyances and refuse to become irritated. You should do well at your specific work. Play at play times.

July 23 to August 22 (Leo) — You can advantageously mix good fun or social affairs with business talks today. Much is to be gained by co-operation with the right forces and for good causes. All honest labor stimulated now.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Graciousness and harmony are integral elements of success in business, the home—and between nations. Each of us can supply a share of faith to help make this a better world in which to live.

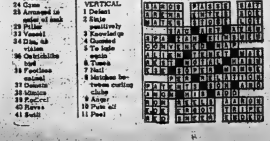
September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Please head: advice to Taurus and Cancer now. Don't fear to try the difficult tasks as well as the familiar ones. You can win over opposition and compete satisfactorily with the best.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Mars and other major planets, in excellent positions, augur for a useful, cheerful day on the whole. You can improve your situation with God's help and your own intelligence.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—While most activities and interests are stimulated and favored today, your Jupiter is rather negative—which suggests that you curb extravagant spending, be wise in investments.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Splendid aspects from your Saturn both today and tomorrow. Make the most of fresh opportunities, any fair means to increase your earnings, aid positions generally.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—It may not be helpful to make sudden changes in well defined plans or schedule. Think before you act, once decided, act determinedly. A bright, purposeful outlook today.



February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Strong, benefic Neptune rays favor your specific talents and capabilities and urge you to further your status and gains through industrious endeavor. Be of good cheer!

YOU BORN TODAY are vibrant, personable, a hard worker at trade, profession or whatever your occupation. You maybe oversensitive at times and a bit stubborn but basically you are a fine, generous, good individual. Take stock of yourself occasionally, recognize your faults and correct them. You have strong will power and wish to be liked and respected—and you can be. You can succeed even late in life.

MAY GET NEW TESTS

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec automobile drivers may have to take tests for a driver's permit every five years instead of only when they get their first licence. Provincial Transport Minister Rivard said in an interview Tuesday the government may amend the Motor Vehicles Act to make tests compulsory every five years as British Columbia does.

SEES DECLINE OF EAGLES IN CANADA

Eagle expert Charles Lavelle Broley of Gorgie, Ont., says that the famed birds are dying out in southern Canada. The trouble is, he says, that during nesting season, the eagle is too easily frightened away from the nest and the panicked eagle perish from cold. Broley is 75, but still climbs 80-foot trees to band young eagles, as shown left, on Whiskey Island, near Brockville, Ont. He has many scars to show of his battles with bald eagles, above, who when raising their young are touch birds to tackle.—Central Press Canadian.

Suspend Work When Duke Sees Atomic Reactor

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP)—Work on the new NRU reactor at Canada's atomic energy plant here will be suspended Friday during the visit of the Duke of Edinburgh.

Officials said Wednesday there is always a danger that a beam or some other object might fall on the Duke.

The 90-foot high building housing the atomic pile probably won't be ready for action until 1956. The old NRX reactor and the big brick building next door is grinding out isotopes needed for medical, industrial and research uses.

Both reactors are on the scheduale for the duke's 3½-hour tour of the plant, probably the most strictly-guarded site in Canada. He will probably be allowed to go while cost as all workers do to prevent carrying any radiation outside the inner compound.

It is unlikely, however, that the duke will have to go through elaborate security precautions to get into the plant that were described to reporters during a preview visit.

Break Ground On St. Lawrence Project Aug. 10

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York state power authority Wednesday announced ground breaking for the $320,000,000 St. Lawrence power project will take place Aug. 10.

The ceremonies will be held jointly with the hydro - electric power commission of Ontario, first at Massena, N.Y., then across the river on the Canadian side.

The power authority also announced Wednesday that bids on the first major contract on the U.S. side of the international undertaking will be taken Aug. 4.

The contract will be for coffer-dams for the Long Sault dam of the St. Lawrence.

"An award will be made promptly," said Robert Moses, authority chairman.

Tobacco-Growing Combine Charges Will Be Probed

SIMCOE (CP) — A hearing of witnesses connected with the tobacco-growing industry of southern Ontario will be held under the jurisdiction of the Combines Investigation Act here Sept. 28, it was learned Wednesday.

James Lawrence, secretary of the Ontario Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Association said the hearing was arranged by T. D. Macdonald, director of investigation and research, Combines Investigation Act, Ottawa.

The hearing is a result of a complaint made to Ottawa by some members of the association on the grounds they were being barred from membership and that the marketing board was causing undue delay in marketing non-member crops.

INFORMALITY WILL BE KEYNOTE OF "MAN'S TOUR" OF CANADA BY DUKE

Wearing the uniform of a marshal of the RAF, the Duke of Edinburgh is seen inspecting an RCAF guard of honor, accompanied by unidentified officer at left, following his arrival in Ottawa to begin a three-week "man's tour" of Canada. Governor-General Vincent Massey, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and 2,000 of the capital's citizens were on hand to greet the Duke, who appeared fresh and smiling despite his 13-hour trip from Britain. While in Ottawa he will confer with Canada's atomic development and National Research Council and then will take off on a 5,000 mile Canadian tour which will reverse the pattern of the royal visit of two or three years ago. Unlike his Canadian tour with the then Princess Elizabeth, the Duke intends this time to see much personally, but personally to be seen little. — Central Press Canadian.

Duke Takes Controls of Grumman Goose On Flight to View Canada's Atomic Plant

OTTAWA (CP) — The Duke of Edinburgh set off by plane today for his first look at Canada's atomic energy centre at Chalk River, Ont.

And at his departure from the RCAF Rockcliffe airfield here, he expressed a desire to pilot the twin-engine Grumman Goose aircraft carrying him and a party of officials on the 45-minute flight.

The duke, a licensed pilot, met Group Capt. J. G. Stephenson, commanding officer at Rockcliffe, and said he would like to take over the controls during the flight.

PLANS CHANGED

The departure in the Grumman was in fact a change in plans, typifying the informal nature of the duke's visit so far.

The original plan called for him to fly to Chalk River in a float-equipped Otter, a single - engine bush plane, with other officials accompanying him. However, he asked, however, that he go with the others in the Grumman, preferring in the smaller plane.

Only a handful of civilians were present at the airfield when the duke drove up from Government House, the official residence of Governor-General Vincent Massey, where he is staying on his three-day visit to Ottawa.

The sky was overcast, but visibility was good at the take-off.

PRIME MINISTER PILOT

Pilot of the Grumman Goose, FO. William Collins, 31, of Port Arthur, made a smooth take-off from the tarmac and planned to land the amphibian on Mackinonge lake, within the Chalk River project 120 miles northwest of here.

Four cabins were aboard the plane: Group Capt. Ernest McNab of the RCAF, Cmdr. M i c h a e l Parker, the duke's private secretary, assistant commissioner M. F. St. Aubyn of the RCMP, and one crew member, LAC. Jo-seph G. McKinnon, 24, of North Bay, Ont.

After his return from Chalk River today the duke will have tea with officers at Rockcliffe station, inspection of the Fleet Elamentary press gallery and dine informally with the governor-general's secretary, Lionel Massey and his wife.

DISCUSS ATOMIC RESEARCH

The duke was scheduled to spend most of the day looking over and discussing Canada's achievements in atomic research for peaceful purposes.

Philip arrived here Thursday. He was greeted by Governor-General Vincent Massey and Prime Minister St. Laurent at Uplands Airport as he stepped off the RCAF's C-5 luxury aircraft that brought him from England. They also welcomed him back to Canada and he said he was pleased to return.

They discussed the weather. There was in the 80s and humid. Then there was a royal salute, inspection of an air force guard of honor, presentation of cabinet ministers, diplomats and chiefs of staff. It all lasted 10 minutes.

With a smile and a wave for the applauding crowd of 2,000, Philip rode off to Government House with the governor-general in an open convertible. There, where he is staying until Friday morning, Philip slipped out of his uniform of a marshal of the RAF, donned civvies and went swimming.

SWIMS, SITS IN SUN

The 33-year-old duke and Mr. Massey, 67, swam in an outdoor pool at the Country Club across the Ottawa river in Quebec and sat in the sun talking about Canada. Philip said he was enjoying the hot weather after England's cold summer.

Around 5 p.m. formality overtook Philip again but only long enough for him to be presented a certificate of honorary membership in the Engineering Institute of Canada. Institute president D. M. Stephens of Winnipeg made the presentation.

In the evening, shortly before a quiet dinner, the duke and Mr. Massey attended a recital at the Government House grounds where a cricket match was played between a team from HMS Sheffield, currently visiting Montreal, and one from the Canadian Navy. The Canadians, from naval headquarters here, outbatted the RN crew 127-61.

NEWFOUNDLAND TRAINS COLLIDE, 'FEW' ARE HURT

Miracle None Killed As 8 Cars Derailed

ST. JOHN'S, NDL. (CP)—A Canadian National Railways passenger express and a two-engine freight train crashed head-on in Newfoundland Thursday evening, hurling dining car patrons to the floor but injuring only a few.

The collision occurred in a blinding mist near the village of Glenwood about 84 miles west of Gander. The passenger train was en route from Corner Brook to St. John's.

The force of the impact derailed the eight cars of the passenger train and five of the 35 cars of the freight.

William Fitzpatrick, CNR night superintendent here, said, "miraculously" there were no deaths and "only a few injuries" although Dr. A. E. Shapter and several nurses sped to the spot from Gander.

Passengers aboard the express later were routed through to the next railway junction by bus.

No immediate cause of the wreck was given for the pileup but the customary CNR inquiry was expected to be held.

Wren Seeks Perjury Charge Against Doucett

TORONTO (CP) — Albert Wren, Liberal-Labor member of the Ontario Legislature for Kenora, today accused Highways Minister Doucett of perjury and sought to lay a formal charge against the minister.

In an interview, he claimed Mr. Doucett perjured himself by testifying under oath at a hearing June 30 by the legislature's committee investigating highway frauds that he did not at any time receive cash in cash or in kind, anything from a contractor which could exceed $100 in value.

The interview was with the Toronto Telegram.

Mr. Doucett was not immediately available for comment.

Mr. Wren asked Crown Attorney W. O. Gibson today to lay a perjury charge against Mr. Doucett and was referred to justice of the peace James Dennison. Mr. Dennison said that only last week he answered the phone and heard the words:

"If you were smart, you'd shut up . . . or a bullet could shut you up."

He said the threats, combined with what he described as the Ontario government's "continual bombarding of the public on the highways issue," led him to make the accusation against Mr. Doucett.

Atomic Energy Offers Hope Of Curing Plant Diseases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atomic energy offers hope for a defense against certain diseases which annually cause multi-million-dollar losses to the American farmer, Senate Digest reported today.

In a report to Congress today, the Atomic Energy Commission said oat plants developed from seed purposely exposed to atomic radiations, showed resistance to artificial inoculations of oat stem-rust fungus.

The commission said it plans now to try the technique on other plant diseases, one at a time rather than oats.

The report also said exposure of potatoes to certain dosages of radiation appeared to enhance "their keeping qualities in storage."

Radio - active tracer materials which the way in feeding the way carrying capacity of many lake regions of northern Wisconsin have been studied because they haven't been able to support many fish.

The trouble has been that the nutrient materials in lakes which support fish were bound up chemically in the water and the mud bottom. Use of radioactive tracers showed the nutrients could be released in abundance by treating the water with certain amounts of lime.

Drought-Ridden Farmers Assured Of Good Week-End With Lots of Rain

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Drought-ridden farmers in Central Canada were today watched $40,000,000 in crops burn up in the last month will get rain this week-end.

Dominion weather forecasters expect rain to start falling in southern Ontario Saturday night, and to continue through Sunday, moving east as the day progresses.

Rain moved into the parched area Thursday, bringing most parts of southern Ontario ¼ to 1-3 of an inch and continuing eastward over Quebec and the Maritimes. Officials said this was not enough to bring relief to farmers.

The rest of Canada is experiencing normal weather, Dominion weather officials reported.

The central area was the hottest Thursday night, as well as the driest. Port Arthur in the Lakehead district recorded under 33 degrees, with humidity high. Night temperatures in this area brought little relief as temperatures stayed at 65 to 70.

The Maritimes also were hot, although summer rainfall has been high enough to prevent serious drought.

TORONTO (CP)—A startled cottage owner on Lake Simcoe answered the door and found his premier, Leslie Frost, and a few friends were on a motorboat tour of some of the lake areas frequented by their own meals on river banks and slept in tents.

Premier Frost said he would like to sleep on the veranda.

U.S. Atomic Arsenal Grows Fast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The atomic arsenal of the United States is "growing rapidly in total number and in effectiveness" and today, and high-level action has been taken to assure continued U.S. superiority in H-bomb and H-bomb field.

The Atomic Energy Commission told Congress there had been record production of uranium from domestic sources in the last few months and a "sharp rise" in the production of fissionable material at lower unit costs.

The commission reported the near-completion of the atomic power plant to drive the Nautilus, the U. S. Navy's first nuclear-powered submarine, whose hull has been completed. A second atomic sub is under construction and plans for early building of two more were announced Thursday by the navy.

TESTS SUCCESS

The commission said spring's tests in the Pacific, which stirred an international controversy, "were successful in development of thermo-nuclear weapons," and it said it has been authorized to produce "permanent harm to persons in the area who suffered burns from radioactivity."

The commission said it has plans for the construction of a second and much more powerful "breeder" reactor for producing fissionable fuel, at the same time, turning out heat capable of use in producing power. One such experimental reactor is in operation.

Other highlights from the report to Congress:

Development of radiation-effective debris, and minute quantities could be deployed in some humans in the country, but that there were far less than required to produce detectable injury.

Portugal, India Eject Envoys

NEW DELHI (AP) — Portugal today ordered Indian consular officials in Portuguese India to leave, India's west coast, by Saturday, and India retaliated by ordering out the Portuguese consul general and consul at Bombay.

The exchange was the latest chapter in the bitter dispute over Portugese territory scattered along the west coast.

Prime Minister Nehru has demanded withdrawal of troops of both the Portuguese holdings and two French pockets, last foreign holdings in India.

The Portuguese dictator, Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, has said flatly that he will not even discuss relinquishing Portugal's Indian foothold, which dates back to 1510.

Then he climbed on the American's jaw.

NICARAGUAN ARMORED UNITS MOVE TO BORDER

Costa Rica Claims Territory Invaded

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—Nicaragua moved armored units up to her border with Costa Rica today as the government charged Costa Rican border guards had damaged a Nicaraguan patrol plane with rifle fire.

President Anastasio Somoza said a mile-long convoy of armored cars and tanks which he sent from Managua Thursday is "going to the border to defend Nicaragua's territory."

The two Central American republics' long wrangle over border violations became tense this week as incidents piled up on the long frontier.

In its latest protest note, Nicaragua charged the aircraft was fired on while flying to protect an infantry patrol guarding a band of Costa Rican revolutionaries who had crossed over the border and been taken into custody.

Costa Rica claims its territory has been invaded from Nicaragua.

Crown's Case Against Coffin Still Not Over

PERCE, Que. (CP)—The crown's case against Wilbert Coffin, on trial for murder, entered the cross-examination stage today when counsel for three American bear hunters, confessed killers of the slain guide, continued today in the little courthouse where the 43-year-old prospector has set stolidly for 13 days now while the prosecution presented its evidence.

Expectations that the crown might complete its case Thursday faded as two provincial police officers told in detail how they had tearcovered into the bush with Coffin British hunter, who had been gnawed by bears.

Coffin is charged with the murder last summer of Richard Lindsey, 17, Young Lindsey's body, together with those of his father, Eugene, 47, and Albert Clear, 20, was found deep in the wilderness country to the west of here. The remains of the men, all from Rochdale near Ont., had been gnawed by bears.

Torrid heat in the packed courtroom prompted Mr. Justice Gerard Lacroix to call an early adjournment. Mrs. Annabelle Coffin, Louis Sinnett was still in the box when court resumed this morning.

The constable, and Sgt. Henri Doyon who testified before him, told of finding evening of a bullet per case concealed the fact in public how much truth there is in the course of a conversation in Egypt," he said. "But I have not held my tongue and I have had tremendous changes that have taken place in the whole strategical picture in the world which makes the thought which were well founded up to a year ago entirely obsolete and on which have changed the opinions of every responsible soldier that I have been able to meet."

LONDON (Reuters)—Dr. Joseph Cort, 26-year-old American professor ordered out of Britain by midnight Saturday, is going with his wife to Communist Czechoslovakia, Anthony Wedgwood Benn, Labor member of Parliament, announced today.

Wedgwood Benn, who led the effort in Britain to persuade the government to reverse the decision on Cort, told the House of Commons he had received a letter from Cort saying the Czech government was granting him asylum.

The letter said the Czech government was making it possible for us to carry on our medical research."

Cort, physiology lecturer at Birmingham University, had his permit to stay in England revoked when it was found that he would lose his American citizenship if he made any false allegations that he had evaded United States draft laws. A native of Boston, he came to Britain in 1951.

You Still Here? Philip Asks Mayor Whitton

OTTAWA (CP) — Two persons with reputations for keen minds met for a few moments at the Uplands airport Thursday.

They were the Duke of Edinburgh and Ottawa's Mayor Charlotte Whitton.

"Hullo," said Philip as he met Miss Whitton, who was wearing her chain of office. "Are you still here? Have they given you a lifetime appointment?"

Miss Whitton was mayor of Ottawa during the 1951 royal tour.

"No sir," Miss Whitton said. "But I'll be around for your silver jubilee."

"How do you do it?" the duke asked with a smile. There wasn't time for Mayor Whitton to reply.

Eight Nation Indo-Truce Team To Meet Monday

NEW DELHI (AP)—The eight-nation Indo-China truce conference beginning there Monday will deal with "administrative problems" and will avoid any prolonged political issues, diplomatic sources here said today.

The parley is expected to complete its work in three to seven days, the sources said.

Delegates attending the conference are the three members of the Indo-China truce supervisory commission—Canada, India and Poland—and France, Laos, Viet Nam, Cambodia and the Communist Vietminh.

T. M. MacDonnell, Canada's assistant undersecretary of state for external affairs, left London Thursday night for New Delhi to represent Canada at the talks.

MacDonnell's job will be to find out exactly what is to be required from Canada on the commission and to get the General conference to supervise the Indo-China armistice.

In order to expedite their business, the conference will pass on the question of settlement by the actual commission when it comes. It was emphasized here the conference beginning Sunday is not the truce commission but simply a conference of nations.

One source said Canada, Poland and India are expected to discuss informally whether permanent personnel should be military or civilian. It is likely India as presiding nation, will be allowed to announce its decision and that Poland and Canada will follow its example.

Churchill Given Confidence Vote On His Suez Plan

LONDON (AP)—Parliament got ready today to close shop for the summer recess after according Prime Minister Churchill a confidence vote on his plan to pull British troops from the Suez canal zone. Most labor members abstained on the ballot.

The House of Commons Thursday night backed the prime minister's historic decision by a vote of 257 to 26, after Churchill made an impassioned speech declaring that the H-bomb had rendered the billion-dollar, 99-year-old string of bases obsolete.

Both the Commons and the House of Lords, which also had the controversial Suez issue, begin their summer recess today. They will not reconvene until October.

Churchill said the whole British position in the Suez has been outdated by the "appalling developments and the appalling spectacles which imagination raises before us."

"Merely to try to imagine in outline how to portray the first few weeks of a war in all its fury would convince you of the obsolescence of the base."

TO TRANSFER ARMS

The agreement calls for the transfer of $3,000 British troops from Canada's Suez base within 18 months after a seven-year pact is signed.

The pact will give Britain the right to reoccupy the base in case of attack on Turkey or any of the eight Arab states. Civilian caretakers under another pact would keep up the great installations, dismantling the vital waterpumps.

A group of 40 rebellious Conservatives had threatened to break the party traces over the prospect of seeing the base pass out of British hands. But in the final test only 26 Tories voted against the government.

Less than half the House voted, however. The Labor party, which had opposed the evacuation, passed word to its members to abstain. In the end, the Labor members' wound up voting with the government.

CRITICIZES CHURCHILL

During the debate preceding the vote, Labor Leader Clement Attlee said the original swipe at Churchill, accusing him of scorning the Commonwealth, came in terms with Egypt more than two years ago.

"The prime minister knows that this could have been settled on better terms, and I have said the very terms, two years ago," Attlee said. "He delayed and he dilly-dallied and now he eat humble pie. We all hope that this may be the last chapter of the story of the Middle East; but it does very little credit to the government."

Winston Churchill lashed back at Attlee and other Labor critics.

"I have not in the slightest degree concealed the fact in public how much truth there is in the course of a conversation in Egypt," he said. "But I have not held my tongue and I have had tremendous changes that have taken place in the whole strategical picture in the world which makes the thought which were well founded up to a year ago entirely obsolete and on which have changed the opinions of every responsible soldier that I have been able to meet."

Members of County Council Approve Committee Action Accepting Madoc Road Plan

Council members' approval of the action of the roads and bridges committee in accepting the offer of the Ontario Department of Highways to build the Madoc-Foxboro county road as a development road was heard Thursday at Hastings county council.

There was a general feeling of satisfaction among council members that officials of Congress on the crescent in front of the hospital may delay doctors on emergency calls as well as create a traffic hazard in case of fire when through traffic on this thoroughfare would be essential.

The unit was used principally on the Madoc road.

Less than average damage from the spring break-up occurred to roads this year, according to the committee chairman, this resulting in less pavement patching and less resurfacing being necessary.

The year's program of dust prevention has been carried out with 117 miles of country road being treated with calcium chloride and 31 miles sprayed with asphalt prime. Total cost was about $40,000.

Only minor repairs on county bridges had been carried out this year with three bridges to be repainted at a contract price of $1,000, this work to be done by E. Alexander of Queensboro.

SUBURBAN ROADS WORK

Work on suburban roads this year includes replacement of the floor on the College street bridge; widening of the present narrow bridge at Jones Creek and construction of a new 20 ft. concrete bridge to take care of the increased flow in the creek.

Cost of surface treating is expected to be about $5,000 less than previous years as many worked of this nature is planned for the Five and a half miles of the Stirling-Hoards road will be seal coated.

Another three-quarter mile section of the Shannonville sidewalk has been rebuilt, while plans call for completion of the remaining two and a quarter miles on the Foxboro-Frankford development road. A crew had recently commenced cutting brush and erecting fences along a section of the new right of way. A section of pavement will be laid in Marmora village.

Several of the councillors complimented the roads and bridges committee for its request for such a large roads budget this year noting that from the lateness of the season it was doubtful if all would be spent. In view of this he urged the committee to consider some work on the dangerous McGauley's hill on the Cordova Road with a view to permanent surfacing done on the road proper.

County Engineer Larry Langlois said there was no doubt all the money provided in the by-law would be spent as several operations were coming up that would speed recovery that included in these operations was seal-coating on the Foxboro road and also on the Madoc road, a project which must be carried out or the road would go to pieces next spring.

Mr. Wood assured that work on the Lonsdale Hill would be done yet this year. Work on this hill has been planned for some time to eliminate a dangerous condition.

The roads and bridges committee report was adopted by council.

Fire Destroys Big Barn Near Wellington

WELLINGTON (Special) — Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the large barn and a large quantity of baled hay, on the farm property of George Tait, two miles west of this village Thursday afternoon.

Also destroyed was a grain binder, the property of Wesley Cunningham, a neighbor who used the barn for storage purposes. Cunningham had removed a brand new "combine" a few hours previous to the fire.

The Wellington fire department battled the flames for five hours without success. The structure was burned to the ground. The firefighters turned their efforts to saving the house and other adjacent buildings. The loss was not estimated.

The Tait family served coffee and sandwiches to the firemen during their battle with the flames.

The fire was discovered by a small boy, a son of one of a painter crew which was working on another building. They had just finished painting the destroyed building. The youngster ran to the house and gave the alarm, but the fire, racing through the dry building, had made too much headway by the time the fire department arrived.

Mr. Tait is a well-known bank manager from Ontario. He purchased the property some time ago and will reside there after his retirement from active duty.

WREN SEEKS

Mr. Wren showed The Telegram affidavits he said he intends to use to support his charge. He said the affidavits are kept in a safety deposit box.

HAS WITNESSES

"I realize how very serious are these charges," said Mr. Wren. "But I've got witnesses."

One of the affidavits which Mr. Wren displayed bore the name of Edward Thomas Wride of Toronto, an employee of the H. J. McFarland Construction Company of Picton from February, 1951, to February, 1952, and currently master mechanic at Swansea Construction Company of Toronto.

"Mr. Wride was one of hundreds of persons across the province who have contacted me with information on the highways scandal," Mr. Wren said. "He was one of the few who could swear to what he told me."

Three contracting firms and about 11 men, including some contractors and some former employees of the highways department, are awaiting trial on charges of conspiring to defraud the Ontario government.

The charges were laid after it was announced that certain irregularities in road-building contracts had come to light in the Fort William area and elsewhere in the province. It was said that contractors had billed the province for moving greater quantities of materials than had actually been handled and for otherwise falsifying project records.

Two investigations were launched, one by a Toronto firm of management consultants and the other by the legislature's select committee.

Newsmen Protest

HONG KONG (Reuters) — The Hong Kong government today agreed to look into charges by foreign correspondents of press restrictions on reporting the shooting down of a British airliner by Chinese Communists last Friday.

However, C. B. Burgess, acting colonial secretary here, said it was not true that Hong Kong and United States' authorities had hindered newspaper men in their search for information.

Correspondents from the U. S., France, Britain and Australia, unanimously protested Tuesday for a formal protest in writing, and sent a copy of it to the secretary-general of the United Nations.

FATIGUE CAUSES ACCIDENTS

An important cause of summer highway fatalities is fatigue, says W. B. G. Reynolds, the general manager of the Ontario Safety League.

That makes sense.

All year we look forward eagerly to our summer holidays so that we can rest. Then, when vacation-time does arrive, we are much too busy trying to cram a month-long program into two short weeks to even give a thought to resting. As a result, most of us arrive back on the job tired but happy. This is not an unpleasant state—indeed it is probably the best possible condition in which to face the prospect of another fifty weeks of toil. It makes us content to settle down once again into the routine of the work-a-day world. But what about when we lived during our vacation just as we normally do. That, indicates Mr. Reynolds, is an explanation for some of the accidents which mar the holiday season.

"Reflexes slow down even if a car doesn't," he declares. "Accidents can definitely be prevented if motorists take precautions to overcome fatigue."

This is a timely warning as we approach the last "long week-end" of the summer season. The Civic Holiday week-end always sees a tremendous fleet of cars on the highways. Some people are just starting their vacations, others are returning home, still others, with vacations over, are enjoying a bit of "short course" holiday, which increases the temptation to step up the pace of living, cramming more activities into two or three days.

The Ontario Safety League lists ten rules for safe driving. In spite of heavy traffic on the holiday week-end, drivers will have a pleasant and enjoyable excursion and arrive home safely if they will obey these rules and observe more importantly, what the League, we fear, is a little too optimistic there. Some rule-observing driver may meet another driver who has not been so conscientious, and unfortunately it does not always take two to make an accident. Then, too, there are some accidents which seem to occur in spite of every reasonable precaution by all involved. Still, the rules are worth reading — and keeping. Here they are:

1. Get a good night's sleep before you start.
2. Get an early start before traffic is heavy.
3. Stop for a rest and stretch your legs occasionally.
4. Cut your usual speed by ten miles an hour.
5. Be especially careful when passing other cars.
6. Keep a clear stopping distance between you and the car ahead.
7. Keep an eye on the cars behind in your rear-view mirror.
8. Signal for turns well before turning—and avoid abrupt stops.
9. Pay attention to all road signs and posted speed limits.
10. Don't drink before driving.

LAKES ALREADY LINKED TO SEAS

First tenders have been called for the St. Lawrence power project and seaway.

Soon the work will be underway.

What was at first a dream, later a proposal, then a plan will soon become a fact.

We should not, however, overestimate the importance of the seaway project to the heartland of the North American continent, that vast and wealthy territory on both sides of the Canada-U.S. border which surrounds the land-locked seas of the Great Lakes.

The Lakes are not suddenly going to be united with the seven seas. They have been united for many years.

Consider a report in the Milwaukee Journal. The board of harbor commissioners at Milwaukee has issued a new directory. It records the following, existing, shipping facilities:

Fjell Line, direct to Antwerp, Rotterdam, London, Glasgow every 10 days, Oslo, Copenhagen, Bergen and Stavanger every two weeks. Grunlag Line, weekly, direct to Le Havre, Antwerp, Rotterdam, Hamburg, by transshipment to Switzerland, Italy, Austria. Swedish-American Line, fortnightly, direct, Continental, Scandinavian and Baltic ports. Swedish-Chicago Line, twice monthly direct to Gothenburg, Copenhagen, Malmo, Stockholm, Helsingfors.

Hamburg-Chicago Line, weekly direct to Antwerp, Rotterdam, Bremen, Hamburg, Havre. Fabre Line, biweekly to Algiers, Tunis, Naples, Leghorn, Genoa, Bilbao, Lisbon, Casablanca, Tangiers, Cadiz, Seville, Barcelona, Marseille. Metron Line, monthly to Antwerp-Hamburg. Ahlmann Trans-Caribbean Line, tri-weekly to La Guaira, Puerto Cabello, Maracaibo. Cuba-Great Lakes Line, triweekly to Havana.

The seaway is not going to suddenly eliminate isolation from the seaports of the world for Milwaukee and other Great Lakes cities. It is merely going to make it possible for bigger vessels to make their way up the St. Lawrence into the interior of a continent — an important development but not one which is startlingly new.

JUST FOLKS

GROWING UP

If growing up means being wise
And judging all that others do,
Then, as I still I hold that prize
The simple joys that once I knew.

If wisdom must be stern and cold
And all life's foolishness destroy,
If I must solemnly grow old,
I think I'd rather stay a boy.

If what I say are good and bad,
Are exactly as they seem to me,
If I must lose the trust I had,
Then still e child I'd rather be.
If being wise means taking care
To cross my i's and dot my I's,
Of others' faults being well aware,
I did not want to be that wise.

If age insists that I forsake
The happiness I knew of old
And at the noise the children make
Become a terrifying scold,
I'd rather stay a frolicking eye
And laugh at nonsense when I can,
Leave sense to wiser men than I,
And stay a boy, although a man.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

JULY 30, 1934

Miss Hattie Hudson of Toronto, formerly of this city, sailed for Our Land of England where she will spend some time.

Miss Frances Manser, of Ireland, is visiting friends in Deloro.

Dr. G. S. Crook, Mrs. Crook and family have returned home after an enjoyable trip to the Pacific coast and places of interest in Western Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Morton, Mrs. Ward and Miss Flunder of Detroit, Mich., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Flunder, Donald Street.

Mrs. G. N. Casselman and daughter, Alice, of Niles, Mich., are visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. F. C. McCoy, Parliament Street.

The Canada Dry softball team defeated the Belleville team last evening in a match at Central Park and thereby took first place in the local senior softball loop; the score was 8 to 7. Only one home run was hit and that was by Lupenette of the Alemites. Harry Ebbs and Carter were the big hitters for the Canada Dry team, with their pitcher, Johnnie Lawder, driving in four of his team's nine runs. Lupenette and Darnell hit well for the losers.

The following composed the teams: Canada Dry, Hess, Tulk, Lawder, J. Carter, Hanna, G. Ebbs, C. Tuttle, Carter and J. Hawden. Alemite, Lupenette, Sigrist, White, Rigby, Dickey, Halsey, Morgan, Flagler, Darrah, Barnhart, Belcap and Smith. The umpires were Goyer and Smith.

Mrs. A. Russell, George Street, is spending a few days in Toronto.

Miss Bernice Davison, Foster Avenue, has returned after spending a vacation of two weeks at Bowmanville.

10 YEARS AGO

JULY 30, 1924

Mr. W. A. Spriggs, of Kingston, former manager of the Bell Telephone Company here, has been transferred to Ottawa as unit manager.

Mr. McGee, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Harris, Catherine Street, has returned to Toronto.

Mr. Phil Brockel, who was general secretary of the local Y.M.C.A. from Feb. 22nd, 1921 to May 15th., 1921, will return to Belleville as physical director at the Y.M.C.A.

The Rev. A. A. Hubly of Toronto, a former pastor of Emanuel Church here is renewing acquaintances in town.

Mr. F. P. Carney, shoe merchant in this city, has left to spend some time in England. He will visit the Wembley Exhibition and will also spend some time on the continent.

40 YEARS AGO

JULY 30, 1914

A despatch from London, England, states that "should a general European conflict, in which the Austrian-Servian conflict, it would practically result in a world's industry according to British bankers, who have been busily figuring the cost of such a hugh conflict."

A London, England, despatch gives the following: "News comes that the German cabinet presided over by the Emperor, met at Potsdam until midnight and that censorship over the telegraph lines is being imposed at Berlin. This is interpreted here as implying preparations for German mobilization and a few hours will probably decide whether Europe is to be involved in universal war.

50 YEARS AGO

JULY 30, 1904

Did you ever see in all your born days such a thoroughfare for collecting mud as is our main slate? Spend a day and be as clean as the sweeper can make it and in a couple of weeks is almost as bad as ever. Some day when the taxes have dropped six or seven mills, the council should obtain sufficient granite with which to pave Front Street. We will never have a satisfactory roadway until that is done.

Mr. Fred Hamilton, of Tamlyn, N.Y., is home on a visit to his parents.

Miss Bessie Green of New York City, formerly of Belleville, is a guest at the home of Mrs. R. Tute, Alexander Street.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

SELF-RESPECT A NECESSITY

Our Lord cautioned His followers to beware when all men spoke well of them.

What fanatical advice! Doesn't everyone like to be well esteemed? Doesn't everything better than going through life having people speak of us in terms of praise and affection?

Yes, these things are certainly to be desired, provided they do not cost too much.

Our Lord's life is an example of how a man's life ma ystart out with almost everybody praising him and come to its tragic but immeasurably triumphant end with almost everybody crying out against him, and even with his friends weeping over his "mistakes." The "mistakes" which our Lord made were the things which raised Him to glory. He would not compromise with evil. Furthermore, he would not bow to civil tongue in His head as He denounced evil. He called the monarch a fox (which in modern parlance would mean a cur). He spoke of the Roman overlords as vultures. He hurled every type of invective at the heads of the Church leader of His day.

No, we cannot go through life having everyone speak well of us. The time comes when we have to speak out on issues, and when we do, the friends begin to fall away and the enemies to increase.

It is fine to have friends — but it is utterly essential to have self-respect.

Short Speeches Generally Best

(Summerside PEI Journal)

It is unfortunate that many of our public men are so unaware of the great worth of brevity, which Shakespeare described as " . . . the soul of wit." We do not wish to mention names but there are on the other hand public men in our midst who never take more than from three to five minutes unless they happen to be the main speaker on an occasion. It is wonderful what can be said in them.

three minutes if some little thought has been given to preparation. We also find that as a general rule those who speak briefly are the better speakers, and the ones that we especially listen to longer.

Toll Road Revival

(Edmonton Journal)

A most interesting example of the ways in which old and supposedly out of date institutions sometimes come to life to meet new conditions, is the revival of toll roads in the United States.

A century and a half ago, when scientifically designed roads with hard surfaces began to be the appearance in Britain and America, toll roads or "turnpikes" were an accepted institution. It was felt that travellers and traffic who preferred to use these improved highways instead of the ordinary muddy tracks of the time should be prepared to pay their share of their upkeep. So tolls were charged, and the "turnpike bars" where carriages and wagons lined up to pay their fees was a familiar feature of life on the road. Many roads were built by private companies under this system, and profited on their investment.

In later years, however, feeling grew against turnpikes, mainly, perhaps, because too many proprietors failed to maintain their roads properly, and travellers felt they were not getting their money's worth. By the end of the last century, the idea of free highways, accepted on both sides of the Atlantic that all public roads should be built by central or local governments and paid for entirely by the taxpayers and such users should have access to them without charge, had firmly established itself. The highway building program of this century has been carried out on that basis.

In recent years, however, with the phenomenal rise of traffic, the freeroad system has developed congestion, and there are two ways have to carry a mixture of traffic: long-distance high-speed traffic, and local traffic which, usually at lower speeds, and constantly stopping and starting, needed heavier and heavier trucks and trailers. In addition, the problem of protection of cars from secondary roads entering the main highways has increased. And this has led to confusion and delay and accidents, to increased damage to the roadways and enormous mounting cost of maintenance. The fact is now being realized that it is virtually impossible to build a highway that can handle all types of traffic safely and efficiently, no matter how much money is spent on it. This has led inevitably to the idea of building express highways for heavy commercial vehicles and long-distance touring on long journeys, and charging a fee for their use—the old toll road come to life again.

The first such road was the magnificent Pennsylvania Turnpike, started just before the Second World War. It now connects the eastern part of the state with Pittsburgh via a heavy-duty four-lane highway with by-passes the cities and towns in between and crosses other highways on overpasses. Its success has led several other states to imitate it. An even more ambitious project, the New York Thruway, is now nearing completion. It will enable motorists to drive from New York City to Buffalo, 470 miles, without encountering a single traffic light or having to cross any other traffic. According to the magazine U.S. News and World Report, even all the projects now under way or authorized are completed, it will be possible to travel from New York to Minneapolis by super-road.

So far, the toll roads in the United States have been remarkable success. They have reduced accidents and made for uninterrupted and convenient long-distance travel by both private and business motorists, as well as reducing the pressure on the ordinary roads. They have also proved profitable to the states and special public authorities that have built and long paid for their upkeep but are retiring the bonds that financed them quite satisfactorily. What is most surprising, however, is the long lists and lines of grumbling as in the old days, both private motorists and commercial users are quite happy to pay the tolls to secure greater speed, safety and convenience.

So far no toll roads of this type have been built in either Canada, perhaps because our problems are not yet as acute as those of the United States.

Foolish Race In Horsepower

(Milwaukee Journal)

A 200 plus horsepower engine that can fit under the hood of an automobile is an engineering marvel. But why put it there?

Eugene Jadercquit, described by the Atlantic Monthly as an authority on high performance cars, raises that question in an article about the current horsepower race among auto manufacturers. He makes some interesting points for motorists to think about.

In pushing the horsepower appeal, Detroit is unwise, Jadercquit says, as a safety factor, contending that the reserve acceleration over 100 mph power can pull a motorist out of a bad situation, as in passing a truck in the face of an onrushing car.

But, as Jadercquit says, the average driver wouldn't get in such jams to begin with, no matter how much power he has at his command. Contrariwise, the excess power tempts him to make some foolish impruden. It tempts them to risk the tight spots, and sometimes they make one too close anyway.

When an engine that could haul a 3 ton load is actually required to pull only two tons or less, that load is a deadly excruciates at, say, 80 miles an hour, is the reserve power a help or an invitation to disaster. The lack of noise and stress and the sense of safety, gives a false sense of security, for any sudden reaction to the unexpected, whether steering or turning the wheel sharply or slamming on the brakes — would result in a terrible wreck.

Piling on more and more horsepower, in the opinion of Jadercquit says further, "Actual performance gains have been relatively negligible." In one car a 33 percent increase in horsepower gave only a 7 percent increase in top speed (a speed that is grossly illegal anyway) and a 50 percent decrease in the time it would fit?

Finally, the size and weight of car that American manufacturers put out, and American buyers like, is itself an obstacle claim to much better performance from more power, says Jadercquit. Aerodynamic and suspension systems of American cars are not able to handle the speeds of which the engines are capable." Aerodynamic design and the demand for roominess, attractiveness and comfort.

The auto industry is a slave to the market. It goes on designing the kind of cars the American people think they want—however often it is disproved that great size and weight are synonymous with safety and performance, however much prestige value so many attach to owning a needlessly big, excessively powerful car.

And the industry merely corrupts the market further when it tells people that 200 horsepower must be twice as good as 100.

Mail Service A Little Slow

Because of the incidence of clock changing and the relative tardiness of the sun, people are, or soon will be, landing from their breakfast beds at a somewhat slightly earlier than they started from the other side.

It is now possible for a person to post a card at Shawinigan Lake about 9 a.m. and be recorded that the letter will be delivered to a Victoria home by the following day. WHAT HAS IODINE TO DO WITH RHEUMATIZ?

By rheumatiz I mean physical degeneration of the joint or joints involved.

Dr. Brady

Arthritis, the dollar eighty word some doctorers prefer for joint trouble, means inflammation of joint or joints.

dolor, rubor, out these signs it is idle to assume the trouble is inflammation and apply the suffix -itis in lieu of a diagnosis.

Arthritis occurs often enough as the distressing feature of rheumatic fever (formerly called inflammatory rheumatism, and nowadays acute infectious arthritis). It occurs also as a complication of septicemia (acute blood poisoning) or septic infection, and sometimes as a complication of gonorrhea. But such joint inflammation is acute, that is, it develops in a few hours, runs a sharp course of a few days, or perhaps weeks, and clears up entirely in a month or two at the longest.

Rheumatiz, my dear children, develops insidiously through a period or months or years, generally through the period from childhood to maturity, while you are cultivating malnutrition and smiling superiorly at the nuts who harangue you about your faulty diet, and it runs he course at all—just continues so—while you tip all the diets, climates, baths, alternatives, wonder drugs, heat treatments, muds, where-to, travel pitifully, well, all I have to say is that in any case it can do no harm. Whether you follow my advice or not, please spare me any more reports of the "new" wonderful specifics.

The treatment I recommend for the rheumatiz will not raise the dead but will mobilize the decrepit but if taken in time and followed faithf

Federal Deficit Is Now Looming As Possibility

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The possibility now looms, even at this early stage, that the federal government may end the 1954-55 fiscal year with a small budgetary deficit, the first in the post-war era.

The call on the treasury continues to be heavy, mainly because of the government's firm and fixed obligations, payments to the provinces, family allowances and other social benefits.

But revenues just don't seem to be keeping up to demands. Authorities say that some of the lag may be attributed to various tax reductions outlined in the last two budgets, to some increase in unemployment this year and to a cut in farm income brought about mainly by smaller wheat sales.

Thus the federal surplus at the end of the first two months of operations in May dropped to $174,201,000 from $200,240,000 at the end of the first two months last year.

SURPLUS SHRINES

And if one is to deduct from the 1954 surplus the $25,000,000 Canadian Colombo plan contribution included in expenditures in May last year, then the surplus so far would be more like $149,000,000 than $174,000,000.

At first glance, the $149,000,000 would still seem to be formidable surplus, but expenditures have a tendency of increasing towards the year's end. The government ended the 1953-54 fiscal year March 31 with a surplus only of $24,000,000.

Finance Minister Abbott, who steered the country through eight years of surpluses, estimated in his final budget three months ago that the government may end 1954-55 with a favorable balance only of $4,000,000. Mr. Abbott now is a Supreme Court justice.

COULD HAVE DEFICIT

The feeling among some financial experts is that the government could end the year with a deficit of $50,000,000, which, they add, is not large considering the government's expenditures—some $4,500,000,000 a year.

Russia Offers $250 Million To Afghanistan

Man in Towed Auto Not Hit-Run Driver

SUDBURY (CP) — Magistrate W. J. Golden ruled Thursday that the man behind the wheel of a car being towed cannot be held responsible for leaving the scene of an accident if the driver of the towing vehicle hauls his car away.

He made the ruling in dismissing a charge of leaving the scene of an accident laid against Cyril Mathieu of Sudbury. Mathieu was behind the wheel of a car being towed when it was struck in the rear by another vehicle.

The magistrate convicted Joseph Seguin, who was driving the first car, of the careless driving with which he was charged. He found that Seguin's driving had been largely responsible for the accident.

Seguin said he didn't know there had been a rear-end collision with the car he was towing.

N.Z. to Import Canadian Cars

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — New Zealand will import twice as many motor vehicles from Canada and the United States next year as in the current year, the government announced today.

The government said that about $6,000,000 will be available for North American vehicles, including a proportion of 15-hundredweight trucks.

Prices for Pork May Decline In Few Months

TORONTO (CP)—Increased hog production in Canada and the United States may mean lower pork prices within the next few months.

"U.S. production is estimated at $1,000,000 hogs and would indicate lower prices for the latter part of 1954," the Ontario Hog Producers Association said Thursday in a weekly report.

"Some forecast the American market will drop to 22 to 26 cents a pound dressed weight. The effect this will have on our market will depend . . . upon the surplus position in Canada.

"If per capita consumption were increased by four pounds it would result in an increased market in Canada for 80,000,000 pounds of pork," the report said.

The association said Ontario hog production is up and that exports have dropped nearly 25 per cent. Feeding was cheaper this year and hogs sold at an average price of $35.08 a hundredweight. There was little competition from American producers.

Weddings

RAYNALS—McDONALD

White mums adorned the altar at St. Francis Xavier church, Brockville, on Saturday, July 3, at 10 a.m., when Anne Rose Marie McDonald, eldest daughter of Mrs. Margaret McDonald, Brockville, and the late William Joseph McDonald became the bride of Carl Henry Raynals, of Trenton, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Raynals, of Prescott, in a double-ring ceremony, performed by Rev. Fr. Vezina.

Given in marriage by her uncle and god-father, John D. McDonald, of Green Valley, the bride was attired in a ballerina-length gown of white nylon net over taffeta with a bodice and matching jacket. Her fingertip veil fell from a coronet of seed pearls and rhinestones and she carried an arm bouquet of Talisman roses.

Mrs. Larry Sayant, of Britannia, was matron of honor, and chose a ballerina-length gown of white nylon net over white taffeta with white accessories. Miss Lois Reynolds, of Brockville, and Miss Lorraine Richardson, of Britannia, were bridesmaids wearing floor-length gowns; Miss Reynolds in turquoise nylon net with matching accessories and Miss Richardson in yellow nylon net with matching accessories. Their flowers were matching nosegays of mixed flowers.

Little Sharon McDonald was flower girl frocked in pale pink nylon net of ballerina-length with matching accessories. She carried a nosegay similar to that of the bridesmaids.

Mr. Ian McDonald, of Brockville, brother of the bride, was groomsman, and the ushers were Messrs. Larry Sayant, of Britannia, and George McDonald, of Alexandria, Ontario.

Wedding music was played by Sister M. Benedict and solos were rendered by Mr. Peter Amonde.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, 67 King Street East, where a buffet luncheon was served the guests. A lovely, double-ring wedding ceremony was solemnized on Saturday, June 26, at 2.00 p.m., in the Pentecostal Church, Bancroft, when Keith Hayward, of Belleville formerly of England, took as his bride, Betty May Kerr, of Bancroft.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kerr, of Bancroft, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. E. Edwards, of England, and the late Mr. Hayward.

Guests were present from Holland, Michigan; Marmora, Ontario; Cleveland, Ohio.

Use Freezer For Pies, Cakes

Freezing is becoming a popular method of preserving pies, cakes and other pre-cooked foods. Such frozen foods are a great convenience to the housewife as a supply in the freezer simplifies future meal preparations. An important point to remember when freezing any food — cooked or fresh — is to use only high quality ingredients. Freezing will not improve the product; it merely retains quality present prior to freezing, Miss K. D. Troup, dietitian at the Morden Experimental Station, Man., points out.

Considerable study has been made at the Food and Vegetable Laboratory of this Station of the best methods of freezing such foods. Freezing pies for instance is no new idea. Several years ago it was common practice to bake several weeks' supply of pies and freeze them in the back porch or attic until they were needed. Now, with the widespread use of home freezers, pies may be frozen the year around. Mince, fruit, squash and pumpkin pies freeze successfully. Fruit pies, except apple, lose much quality if frozen unbaked. The pie is prepared as for baking, but slits are not cut in the top crust. A suitable thickener is recommended for fruit pies.

EXTRA BAKING TIME

To bake frozen fruit pies simply unwrap, cut vents in the top crust, and place the pie in a pre-heated oven, allowing 10 to 15 minutes extra baking time. Apple, pumpkin and squash pies are more satisfactory if baked before freezing. Baked pies should be cooled to room temperature before wrapping in aluminum foil or some other high quality moisture-proof material. A pie plate inverted over the pie will prevent the top crust from being crushed. Baked pies may be thawed in a moderate oven for twenty minutes or at room temperature for two or three hours.

With cakes, tests show that plain cake, with all its variations, is a satisfactory type for freezing. Fruit cakes are particularly successful as long-term products and the flavor tends to mellow with storage. The storage life of angel food and sponge cakes is more limited. Cake batters may be frozen and stored very success-

Women's Manager Of CNE Returns From World Trip

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Elsa Jenkins, manager of women's activities for the Canadian National Exhibition, is home from an around-the-world trip by air during which she visited 11 countries in 20 days.

In her baggage she carried Canadian Mountie dolls which she distributed to children in Paris, Duesseldorf and Bombay.

She brought back for the exhibition a number of gifts and a variety of beautiful dolls for this year's show, Aug. 27 to Sept. 11.

"The name of Canada opens all doors," Mrs. Jenkins said in an interview. "Everywhere Canadians are looked upon as the most fortunate people in the world."

fully for a short time and the batter, when baked, will closely resemble a freshly-baked cake. When storage time is to exceed one month, however, cakes are generally superior if frozen after baking. Frostings and fillings may be applied to the cake before freezing, icing sugar frostings containing fats and fudge-type frosting freeze particularly well. Baked cakes should be thawed in their original wrappings to prevent the formation of moisture on the top of the cake.

Tests show that products which are well wrapped in aluminum foil will remain in good shape for as long as one year. But for household use it is usually desirable to keep pre-cooked items for a shorter time as the freezer space can often be used more efficiently for other seasonal products.

NEW ANTI-JOE MOVE

Wis.) will be launched after the November congressional elections, Leroy Gore, chairman of the "Joe Must Go" clubs, announced Thursday. Not only will the clubs be after significant Republican voters, but they will also launch a national campaign to persuade citizens to write their senators.

Former Toronto Residents Design Dresses in Britain

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — A crimson knocker, once located opposite Varsity Stadium in Toronto, now provides access to a scarlet-fronted dress-designing studio in London.

It summons one of the two Cyclist Beauchamps, a Toronto mother - and - daughter team who opened their basement studio three months ago in a side street close to Oxford Circus.

The few Cyclists are producing original designs and patterns for garments reproduced in quantity by wholesale markets. And they're building a retail custom for made-to-measure dresses, designed and fitted individually along the lines of the little French dressmaker.

"We want that knocker on the door of a west end salon at a not too distant date," petite, grey-haired Mrs. Beauchamp said with a smile. She does the business here under her maiden name of Bradley. The knocker came from her old shop in Toronto.

Mrs. Beauchamp returned to Britain in 1945, after 17 years in Canada, with Toronto-born Cynthia and a son, Bradley. She spent most six years designing for a British wholesale jersey-wear firm, then branched out as a free lancer. Recent designs are selling on the retail market—and more than one has a Canadian touch.

"You can sell a dress more easily if it has an intriguing name," she said. An example was a slinky fitting model called "corn on the cob," decorated with glass and gold corncob buttons.

Mrs. Beauchamp started designing in Toronto in wartime. Young Cynthia, 22, used to steal down to her mother's workroom, at the age of eight, and make dresses for herself from remnants.

"I've never thought of any other career except designing," said Cynthia, who spends her free time painting and tending to give her the carriage required for wearing her mother's designs and acting as mannequin.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SLOW ON ROMANCE FOR AWHILE, DON!

Dear Miss Fairfax:

About five years ago, I met a girl and fell head over heels in love with her. She was 17 and I was 18. We went steady for two years, but eventually broke up because I thought we were both too young for marriage.

For the next two years, I went around with everyone and had fun. Then I met another girl, and have been going with her for the past year and think I want to marry her.

I am a little uncertain, though, because, while we were very happy together up until about three months ago, ever since then we seem to be always fighting.

So now I keep thinking about the first girl and have a mad desire to go back to her. I feel sure she would be glad if I did because, as far as I know, she has never been serious about any other man since we broke up. The funny thing is though, that I can't bear to think of breaking up with the second girl, especially because we have discussed plans for marriage.

Now that I am 22, I'm sure I should be able to solve my own problems, but I am all mixed up and hope you can help me.

Dear Don:

It doesn't sound to me as if you were any more ready for marriage now than you felt you were when you broke up with the first girl. If you were ready, you wouldn't be in such a state of conflict over two of them.

My advice to you, is to be perfectly honest with this second girl. Tell her that you feel very undecided right now, and that you think it would be better for you both to be free for awhile to go out with other young people. You might add that you have come to feel that marriage might be pretty risky business for two people who already fight all the time.

While this may hurt the girl, it would be far better to hurt her a little now, than a lot later on, if you went on with your plans in your present state of mind and then in the end found you couldn't go through with them after all.

Don't go flying back to the first girl, however, for the purpose of securing her again. If you want to have a date with her now and then, all right. But if you get yourself involved in another romance right away, you are only going to confuse yourself still more. Better do as you did before for awhile, and "go around with everyone and have fun," until you are sure of yourself.

DON'T LET HIM THINK YOU'RE JEALOUS!

Dear Miss Fairfax:

There is a boy I like very much, but he doesn't like me. He is my girl friend and she likes him.

The other day they came over to my house together. I thought them kissing, and I got very upset over it. He knows I like him, and I think maybe he is trying to make me jealous.

If don't know what to do. Can you help?

J. W.

Dear J. W.:

"If you're right, and this boy is trying to make you jealous, are you going to give him the satisfaction of showing him that he has succeeded?

For goodness sake, don't be a crybaby! Go out and do things with your other friends! Let this boy see that you have other things to do besides wait for him to pay attention to you! He'll like you better for it, and have more respect for you, and you'll be way ahead of the game, because you'll find out that you can have very good times without him.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMESSON

CLEANLINESS IS THE FIRST LAW OF BEAUTY

Soap is the queen of cosmetics. A woman can't be too fussy about the kind of soap she buys. All are high grade these days but one may be more agreeable to her complexion than another.

Unless her skin is exceptionally dry, it should be lathered freely, foamed to a rich lather, every bit rinsed away with warm water. Unless it forms a lather quickly and is well frictioned into the flesh the cleansing will not be thorough enough to remove the combination of secretions from the sweat and oil glands, atmospheric dust and dead skin scales.

Some of our most enthusiastic beauty seekers seem to fancy that soap is not the best thing for the complexion. Yet the skin there is the same as the skin on the body, except that it is exposed to more dust, so anything isn't going to do any harm.

Girls in the early teens, susceptible to blackheads and pimples, should be taught the proper way to wash their pretty faces - - - especially at bed time. The wise mother will purchase a complexion brush for little daughter, one with bristles that are not harsh but that do not bend or weaken when moistened.

The friction of the brush not only presses the soap suds into the pores, but it stimulates the blood streams, helps to normalize the function of the sebaceous glands that often are over-active in youth, forming way little nodules in the pores and attracting dust. With a thorough face washing at bedtime all that is necessary in the morning is a rinsing with cold water.

Elderly women with complexions that have become dry because the oil glands have ceased to function, may discover that soap is not their beauty dish. However, there are excellent substitutes in these cases. At cosmetic counters one can find cleansing creams that not only do a first class job, but because of their starchy content, impart softness and smoothness to the skin.

Fashion Flashes

Ordered by store buyers is the coat that stops short at the hem and comes with a matching skirt. A good style that makes for a smart costume as well as useful separates. It comes in woolen fabrics that range from velvets and velveteens, through tweeds to cashmere.

Trans-season clothes, good for both late summer and early fall, are coming into the shops and offer good value. One such fashion is a dressed-up shirtwaist dress in a silk and cotton blend, a step-in model with rhinestone buttons to below the waist and soft sleeves worked into three-quarter cuffs. The dress is done in dark colors.

QUESTION:

Would it be possible for you to print your recipe for Mushroom Meat Loaf as I would like to try it.—Mrs. Wm. K.

ANSWER:

Certainly.

MUSHROOM MEAT LOAF

Two 10-oz. tins condensed mushroom soup, 1 lb ground beef, 1-2 lb. ground pork, 1 1-3 cups soft bread cubes, 1-4 cup chopped onion, 1-4 cup chopped parsley, 1 slightly beaten egg, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper. To 1-2 cup of the soup add all other ingredients. (Save remaining soup for a sauce.) Shape into a loaf or pack into slightly greased loaf pan. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour. Pour over loaf to hot platter. Add remaining soup to juices in loaf pan and heat through. Pour over top of loaf. Amount serves 6 or 8. If desired, to make this more economical, 2 cups of mushroom soup may be used, adding the 1-2 cup condensed soup to the loaf, and diluting the remainder with an equal amount of milk or water before heating. Same thing may be done with condensed tomato soup.

QUESTION:

Do you have recipes for raspberry and other fruit jams (without pectin)—I think they are far superior to jams with pectin in.—Mrs. Harry A.

ANSWER:

RASPBERRY JAM

(Without pectin)

Wash, drain and crush with potato masher choice raspberries (about 4 quarts) and measure 8 cups crushed. Bring to boil and precook uncovered for 15 minutes. Add 6 cups white sugar and boil 12 minutes (if berries are very heavy with moisture this jam boiling time may need to be stretched to 15 minutes.) Pour into sterile jam jars and seal.

I would be very grateful to you if you would write to me again and let me know exactly what other fruits you would like to make up into jam this way.

QUESTION:

A reader recently requested a recipe for a picnic cake with marshmallows in the topping. I believe the enclosed might be the right one. I cut it out of a magazine).—Louise S.

INDIANA PICNIC CAKE

(Courtesy Louise A.)

Cream 1-2 cup butter or margarine with 1 1-2 cups light brown sugar. Add 2 whole eggs and beat well. Sift together 2 1-2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt. Stir the dry ingredients into the creamed mixture alternately with a mixture of 1 cup milk and 1 teaspoon vanilla, beating until smooth after each addition. Grease and flour the bottom of a 9" square cake pan. Pour in batter. Topping—Cut 10 marshmallows in half and arrange rounded side up on top of batter. Mix 1-2 cup light brown sugar with 1-3 cup finely chopped pecans. Sprinkle over top of batter. Bake in a moderate oven of 350 deg. Fahr. for 50 minutes.

ANSWER:

Thank you every much Louise for being so thoughtful. I hope the reader who was asking for this cake sees today's column. I am glad to have the recipe to add to my files for there are so many of us who like to have the cake and topping over and done with when the cake goes into the oven. Pete is going to make the cake for a picnic in the garden tomorrow for he has the half day off.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

NON - CATHOLIC WANTS TO KNOW WHAT MASS CARD IS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Several times lately I have noticed that you referred to "Mass Cards." Last week you said they should always be acknowledged just as funeral flowers and messages of sympathy should be acknowledged. Will you please explain to me just what a Mass card is? Are they sent only by Catholics for Catholics? "I'm a non-Catholic, but have quite a few Catholic friends." How does one get a Mass card?—T. R.

A Mass card is a card indicating that someone has made arrangement for a Mass to be said for the repose of the soul of the deceased. A Mass card is often referred to as "a spiritual bouquet" and indeed most Catholics prefer Mass cards to memorial flowers. A Mass card may be sent by a non-Catholic. When a Catholic dies, a relative or friend (Catholic or non-Catholic) may go to a priest and arrange for a Mass to be said. The priest accepts an offering for the Mass, and gives the donor the card stating that a Mass is to be said—usually whether High Mass or Low Mass—and very often stating the time of the Mass. The donor either gives or sends this card to the friends of the deceased. These cards are usually sent before the funeral, but they may be sent for an anniversary of the death, a month after, for example, or a year after.

WHITE BIBLE TO BE CARRIED BY BRIDE ONLY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have a beautiful white Bible which I am planning to carry at my wedding. Would it be permissible for my matron of honor to carry a white Bible also, or should she carry a bouquet?—B. M.

Indeed it is permissible for your matron of honor to carry a white Bible also...but in my judgment it is so much more effective for only the bride to carry a Bible, and for the honor attendant to carry a small bouquet, perhaps the pert old-fashioned bouquet, small flowers circled around one rose or rosebud.

ORE-SHIPPING PORT

This aerial view shows Sept-Iles, Que., the port on the north shore of the St. Lawrence river from which the iron ore of Labrador and northeastern Quebec will be shipped. The town's population totalled 8,000 at the height of development work on the ore mines and construction of the iron-ore railway stretching 357 miles inland. When construction is complete and Sept-Iles settles down as an ore-shipping port, its population is expected to level out at 1,200 (CP Photo).

ORE LINE

This is a section of the Quebec North Shore and Labrador Railway built to carry iron ore from the hinterland of northeastern Quebec to Sept-Iles on the north shore of the St. Lawrence river. The picture was taken just inside the 2,200-foot tunnel bored through solid granite near the Moisie river. The bridge over the Moisie is one of 24 on the twisting 357-mile line between the ore deposits at Knob Lake and Burnt Creek and Sept-Iles. (CP Photo).

Seven Islands' Ore Docks World's Largest, Most Modern

By BOB JOYCE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

SEPT - ILES, Que. (CP) — Jacques Cartier wouldn't believe his eyes. The Indian village he named for seven islands in a St. Lawrence bay in 1535 has blossomed into a bustling rail and shipping point for iron ore pouring out of the heart of Labrador and Ungava.

At Point aux Basques, named after the fishermen who used to come here for codfish, a $20,000,000 port and railway terminal tell of the future of Sept-Iles.

THE WORLD'S BEST

It's described as the biggest and the most modern ore-handling installation in the world.

In high gear it will load two 4,000-ton freighters an hour.

First ship due for ore is the 20,000-ton Hawaiian destined for Philadelphia, which will be loaded tomorrow, official opening date.

Everything about this terminal is huge, from the rail yards three miles inland where the big ore trains halt after their 357-mile run south from Knob Lake, to the 1,600-foot iron ore company docks which next year will handle vessels up to 31,000 tons.

At the rail yards the big trains are broken up by shunters and the cars pass over a nine-foot hump giving them enough push to roll into a classification yard where they are sorted for weight and ore quality.

While ships line up along the docks and others anchor in the bay, the cars, two at a time, are hustled into a rotary dumper. They are turned over at a rate of 90 cars an hour and the ore lands on conveyor belts.

Ore that came in recently from the mines was used to form a bed for the storage dump. A giant stacker, its two arms extended, rolls up and down spewing red ore to build up 500,000-ton stock piles.

Another stacker, now being built, will boost ore-storage to 2,000,000 tons, for the first eight ships tie up in early spring before trains start rolling fro mthe mines.

Most of it will go to steel companies in Baltimore and Philadelphia, but about 20 per cent will be channelled to Contrecoeur, 450 miles upriver. There it will be transhipped to canal boats at least until the St. Lawrence seaway is built — for the haul to Great Lakes ports.

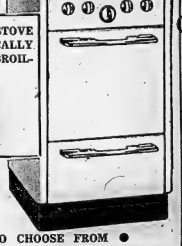
SET HIGH TARGET

This year 150 ships will load ore but next year in the full 210-day shipping season, 400 ships will come to Sept-Iles. Eventually the figure will be about 600 ships a season.

While construction was at its peak more than 6,000 men were working between here and Knob Lake and rent from a dozen lands thought nothing of spending hundreds of dollars in a few days' leave at Sept-Iales. Today only about 4,700 are employed and that figure probably will fall to around 1,300.

Sept-Iales has settled down for the long haul. There's a chamber of commerce, movie theatres, three hotels and a night club. There's a best-garden contest.

Mayor Jack Leyden, personel manager for the iron ore company, and the town council have just approved expenditure of more than $1,000,000 for paving and sewers.



ANNOUNCES CYCLE CHANGE

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario hydro commission Wednesday announced completion of the change over to 60-cycle power of its first generating unit in the Niagara region. The unit, at the Decew falls plant near St. Catharines, is the largest the commission has so far changed from 25 cycles. Chairman Robert H. Saunders said the No. 1 generating unit at the plant is scheduled for a similar alteration in the fall of next year.

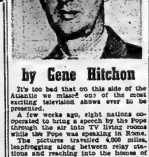
HOW TO PREVENT BACK CRAWL IN HEAVY TRAFFIC

If stopped for more than a few seconds, pull on hand brake.



- Shift into first gear, press accelerator and let up on clutch as in normal starting.
- Release hand brake as you let up on clutch. This transfers force smoothly from brakes to engine without interruption.
- If you are stopping for only an instant, use clutch to brake your car. Shift into first gear, let clutch out partly and press accelerator slightly.

TV NEWS

by Gene Hitchon

It's too bad that on this side of the Atlantic we missed one of the most exciting spectacle shows ever to be presented.

A few weeks ago, eight nations cooperated to bring a speech by the Pope through the air into TV living rooms while the Pope was speaking in Rome.

The pictures travelled 4,000 miles, leaptraping along between relay stations and reaching into the homes of about 11 million TV owners. The job was accomplished by the use of more than $6 million worth of British equipment.

In addition to the speech of the Pope from Rome, the network showed the beautiful flower festival parade at Montreux, Switzerland. A few days later, using the same network, which has been called Eurovision, pictures were sent from London.

They were seen instantaneously in England, France, Western Germany, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland and Denmark.

This was another great advance in TV and I'm sure we won't be very far behind.

On this side of the Atlantic we've taken second place to no one in the size and quality of TV sets available for the average home. Three big factors are involved, size, quality and price. There is one set, I've always felt, that combines the best of all three — the Electrohome. Big screen, high quality and low price.

And at Hitchon Radio & Television, 4 Bridge St. E., you can be sure of TV is combined with that satisfying assurance, that if required, a serviceman is always as near as your phone.

Sunday School Lesson:

Why Do Men Go to Church?

BY ROY L. SMITH

An enterprising newspaper reporter went out into an American city to inquire of those who did not go to church why they absented themselves from the House of the Lord on the sabbath day, and he came back with an interesting set of answers, some of which were critical of the preachers and the churches. But he also came back with something much more important. He had heard from individuals here and there some very impressive reasons which explained why they did go to church. And they resulted in an entirely different set of articles on the subject of "Why Men Do Go to Church."

CONGREGATION HELPS INDIVIDUAL

Two highly intelligent citizens were invited by a theatre manager to preview a film which was reputed to be very funny. They went to the movie house in the early morning, and seated in widely separated sections of the auditorium in order to make sure that their opinions would be their own. They finally made up their minds, they watched the story unfold. Oddly enough, in spite of the humor of the picture, neither of them laughed out loud though they were pleased with the offering.

A few days later one of the citizens took his wife and his oldest daughter to see the picture, and sat as a part of an audience that packed the place. This time, when humorous situations were portrayed, the citizen laughed uproariously, in spite of the fact that he had seen the picture previously. On his way home from the entertainment he said to his family, "I have discovered tonight that the people who next to you double your enjoyment of a picture." And the same principle holds true of church attendance.

It is possible, of course, for one to "worship God in the wide open spaces" — exactly as the citizen enjoyed the picture when he sat in the picture house alone.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for August 1: "Christian Worship and Fellowship,' Acts 2:46-47; Colossians 3.13-17; Hebrews 10:23-25.

And it is also possible to worship God as one in a congregation, exactly as that same citizen enjoyed the picture when he was sitting beside others who were rolling with mirth.

IF A MAN HEARS GOD

It really doesn't make much difference who the preacher is in the pulpit if God is in the service. And the Almighty has so many ways of speaking to a worshipper who exposes himself to a real worship service.

There are the great hymns, born out of great spiritual experiences, which invite the worshipper to mount up on wings like the eagle. And there are the prayers which have inspired devout men down through the ages —petitions that have proved their worth by the power to lift men up into the presence of the divine. And there is the great anthem which has survived the years, perhaps even the centuries, because there is some great spiritual passion in it. Suppose the soprano does flat that high note. The man whose mind is set on hearing God will not be apt to notice it. And there is the distinctive and dignified architecture which, of itself, invites a man to think about things that never occur to him at any other time in the week.

THAT IS THE GENIUS OF IT

That is the genius of a church service. It is so different. The man in church hears a different kind of music, meets a different kind of people, thinks about different things, and dreams about being a different kind of person.

To have such an experience just once a week is worth waiting six days to share.

ROCKFALL AT FALLS

A huge chunk of rock slips away from the lip of the cliff beside the American falls at Niagara Falls, N.Y. The roaring rockfall carried an estimated 185,000 tons of rock into the Niagara gorge, changing the cataract's face. Another section can be seen about to tumble. — (CP from AP)

U.S. Looks to Britain and France To Knock Props From Soviet Plan

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States government is looking to Britain and France to knock the props from under a Russian proposal for talks later this year on a new European security system which would include the Red bloc.

An initial exchange of reactions among Washington, London and Paris officials, authorities say indicates that they see eye to eye on this issue, despite evident Russian hopes that peace in Indo-China might swing Western European opinion away from the American position.

U.S. authorities still think it possible the Soviet proposition may get a little more popular support than it did before the Geneva conference produced a peace agreement on Indo-China.

The Reds then gained an initiative in the cold war, and their revival of the European proposal first advanced early this year was clearly an effort to use that initiative in the field of European affairs.

U.S., British and French representatives will meet in two or three weeks to draft replies to the Kremlin note which they received Saturday. These probably will not be identical.

U.S. officials argue that the Russian proposal for all the European powers to get together in one big security system is a matter on which European governments can speak more properly and directly than this one. Then, too, the U.S. state department wants to avoid the suggestion of pressing the European governments to take an unfavorable stand on this issue. The official position is it is up to them to make up their minds and to say what they think.

However, the first three-way exchanges indicate agreement that what the Russians are really aiming at is destruction of the projected European Defence Community, on which action is supposed to be taken in Geneva assembly by mid-August. EDC calls for the armament of West Germany as part of a six - country army.

The Soviet Union in effect has held out to the French an alternative security system which the Kremlin obviously hopes would end the necessity of EDC to express their opposition more effectively.

United on Home Front, CCF Convention Foresees Division on Foreign Affairs

Discussing farm prices at the 13th annual CCF convention now underway at Edmonton are Robert Von Pilis, left, chairman of Ontario Farm committees, Percy Wright, CCF national chairman, and Stanley Knowles, CCF national secretary, all from Winnipeg, and Mrs. Grace Macinnis, Vancouver, and Hazen Argue, Weyburn, Sask., delegates. Strongly united in domestic affairs, the party is expected to be divided when it comes to deal with the three score or so resolutions on foreign affairs. Heavy criticism of the federal government's handling of unemployment, housing and a score of problems at home will be voiced during the three-day meeting. In reporting to the opening session, the national council said neither the "ruthless Communist" policies of Soviet Russia nor the "barren capitalist" policies of the United States can solve the economic and political problems facing the world today. — Central Press Canadian.

Toronto University Experts Find Pottery 2,000 Years Old In Excavations at Cornwall

CORNWALL (CP)—The first evidence of prehistoric habitation of the St. Lawrence valley has been reported by archaeological survey groups from the University of Toronto working near here.

Preliminary excavations last week uncovered 2,000-year-old pottery, household and daily living utensils. Many of the finds are showing some patterns and styles never before uncovered in North America.

Little is known about the Indian tribes that roamed Ontario about the time of the birth of Christ. Archaeologists are hopeful the new excavations will shed light on the period.

The excavations, under the direction of R. Dailey and J. Wright of the University of Toronto, are the first of a systematic series of attacks on the buried history in south eastern Ontario. Although some of the land where work is being done will be flooded by the St. Lawrence seaway, archaeologists say it is the least valuable land from their scientific point of view.

LOCATION SECRET

About 20 sites were surveyed before the present work was started. The exact location of the excavations now being carried out has been kept secret to prevent sightseers ruining valuable finds or interfering with workmen.

The present site was chosen as the most likely of the two adjacent plots, each about 10 feet square have been excavated and workmen are now tunnelling the two together. The entire site is on a point of land 1,500 feet long, and the depth varies from 100 to 200 feet.

The university party, which has been on the site for eight weeks, will work through the summer. Next year it is expected the National Museum in Ottawa will organize excavating expeditions.

University officials say there may be some connection between the excavation site of the 185-foot long "sacred snake" located about 10 miles south at Peterborough. They say both belong to the same period of culture.

Flood Wrecks 2,000 Houses In North India

PATNA, India (Reuters)—Two thousand houses have collapsed and 100 square miles of land become an "inland sea" by floodwaters in the northern India district of Champaran in central Bihar, it was reported here Thursday.

The turbulent waters of nine swollen rivers are still rising, sweeping away standing crops and submerging hundreds of villages.

In Darbhangda district alone, more than 100,000 persons have been driven from their homes.

Will Ask Hees To Heal Rift Amongst P.C.'s

VICTORIA (CP)—George Hees, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, will be asked to come to British Columbia "as soon as possible" to attempt to bring harmony in the strife-torn provincial party.

The decision to ask Mr. Hees was made Saturday night at a stormy meeting of the Oak Bay Progressive Conservative Association which saw former B.C. leader Herbert Anscomb come out in support of the present leader Dean Finlayson.

The meeting passed two motions of confidence, one in Mr. Finlayson and the other in National leader George Drew.

The motion to ask Mr. Hees to come to B.C. was the first concrete attempt to restore harmony in the party in the province since a motion of non-confidence in Mr. Drew was passed at a meeting of the provincial executive recently in Vernon.

Diepe Veterans Hold Reunion

LONDON (CP)—More than 200 Canadian veterans who participated in the Dieppe raid are expected to gather at Eastbourne Aug. 15 to commemorate the assault of Aug. 19, 1942.

Ex-servicemen now members of Canadian veterans' associations in Britain will attend, along with a party of Portsmouth marines who participated in the attack. There will be a march through the Sussex seaside town and a service attended by the mayor and other dignitaries.

Change Tax Date

WASHINGTON (AP)—March 15 is traditional filing date for United States personal income tax returns for 40 years—is scrapped as the deadline under a provision of the tax revision bill sent to President Eisenhower Thursday night.

The new date is April 15, effective next year.

It has been March 15 since the modern-day U.S. income tax law first went on the books in 1913.

Charge Editor With Advising Stock Purchase

TORONTO (CP)—Harold H. Cusack, editor and publisher of Mines and Markets Weekly Ltd., Toronto appeared in court Thursday on a charge of acting as a securities adviser without being registered.

The charge was laid by the Ontario securities commission under the Securities Act.

Commission counsel W. W. Cameron said Mr. Cusack's company was "handsomely rewarded by Consolidated Indore for advising his clients to buy shares in Consolidated Indore. . . This was not a bona-fide newspaper—it lacked regularity of circulation and was given away very freely."

Glen How, counsel for the accused, argued that the giving away of free copies is "standard practice" for newspapers.

Let this prosecution be spread out and there would not be a newspaper left in town."

The hearing is continuing.

Sex Terrorist Granted Reprieve For 4th Time

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Caryl Chessman, convicted sex terrorist turned best-selling author, relaxed in prison today after his fourth reprieve from execution in six years.

Two other condemned men whom California's law enforcement chief insisted deserved as much consideration as Chessman were scheduled to die today in San Quentin's gas chamber.

Chessman, 32-year-old convict author of "Cell 2455, Death Row," was granted a new stay of execution by state Supreme Court Justice Jesse Carter Thursday—less than 24 hours before his scheduled execution.

That reprieve prompted attorney-general Edmund G. Brown to assert that the administration of capital punishment in California is a "mockery of justice" and to ask a stay of execution of two other convicts.

"There's no reason" Brown said "why a man who can write a book should have an advantage that these two other apparently friendless people do not have."

Chessman was convicted in 1948 of eight counts of robbery, four of kidnapping, two of sex perversion, one of attempted rape, one of auto theft and one of attempted robbery.

One of the victims is still a patient of a state mental institution.

Boat Swamped By Backwash, Tourists Drown

SMITHS FALLS, Ont. (CP)—An American tourist and his wife were drowned in the Rideau river Thursday when their small boat was swamped by waves from a passing cabin cruiser as they returned home from a picnic.

Harry Muck, 58, and his wife, Alice, 54, of Cornwall, Ont., were drowned off Gemmell's point, about 10 miles southeast of this town by the cruiser Ottawa Queen. The body of Mrs. Muck was recovered.

Wesley Church of Largo, Fla., a year-old brother of the drowned man, was rescued from the river bottom boat by three men who saw the accident from the shore.

The Mucks were returning to their cabin in a 14-foot outboard motorboat. Wesley Muck said a large cabin cruiser passed about 25 feet away and that their boat was overturned by the cruiser's backwash.

Those aboard the cruiser apparently did not see the smaller boat tip and did not stop to help. The cruiser has not been identified.

Life Term Given To Former Nazi

VIENNA (Reuters)—An ex-Nazi storm trooper found guilty of 114 murders, two attempted murders and of cruelty and maltreatment charges Thursday was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor—severest penalty under Austrian law. Peter Acher, 41, was charged with taking part in the "Engerau massacre", the mass murder in Czechoslovakia of Jewish slave laborers during the closing weeks of the Second World War.

CCF Urges Canada Give Poor Lands Billion Yearly

EDMONTON (CP) — The CCF party called upon Canada Thursday to boost its contributions for technical assistance to under-developed countries to a whopping $1,000,000,000 a year.

The 200 delegates went on record as favoring the increase after hearing party spokesmen suggest the country's new $1-billion fund handle a payment of that magnitude for Canadian goods.

One delegate described Canada's present contribution of $25,000,000 yearly under the Colombo Plan as "measly" while another expressed fear "big guns" abroad might use the money to exploit their peoples.

The debate on technical assistance came as the three-day convention turned to study of foreign affairs and sent back to its resolution committee for revamping the main motion expressing support for the United Nations. Many felt it was not forceful enough.

David Lewis of Toronto, national vice-chairman, suggested the delegates condemn "the faint hearts and cynical greed people" who represent Canada in international conferences. The faint hearts condemned had "betrayed" the principles of the United Nations.

Grace MacInnis, daughter of CCF founder J. S. Woodsworth, won unanimous support of a resolution opposing that all nations, regardless of their form of government, be admitted to the UN.

Atomic Energy Commission Voices Regrets to Jap Crew

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — The United States Atomic Energy Commission today expressed its formal regrets that the crew of a Japanese fishing boat were injured by a shower of radio-active material during hydrogen bomb tests over the U.S. held in the Pacific proving grounds in March.

The fishing boat, the Lucky Dragon, was about 50 miles northeast of Rongelap island in the Marshall group when shifting winds caused a "fall-out" of radio-active particles after a hydrogen explosion.

In its semi-annual report issued today, the commission said: "It is regretted that the crewmen of the Fukuryu Maru (Lucky Dragon) were injured as the result of being exposed to radiation following the detonation of the recently concluded series.

"The welfare of the patients continues to be of interest to the United States.

It noted that the U.S. had offered to provide medical care to the fishermen and their families.

The commission emphasized that it would be unwise to eat fish caught in Bikini and Eniwetok lagoons for the next few weeks, one test area, before they are thoroughly checked. However, "the activity (radio-activity) in the lagoons other than Bikini and Eniwetok test areas is so small as to be that no deleterious effects may be expected in the fish themselves nor will the edibility of the dish be impaired."

The AEC reported that 74 Marshall island inhabitants, all from Rongelap, are making good progress after treatment for radiation burns. They are among 236 inhabitants from the island who were evacuated to Kwajalein.

MISSOURI, ONTARIO SHARE DROUGHT PROBLEM

Farmer Billy Hiatt examines sun-scorched corn in the Missouri river bottom, near Jefferson City, the leaves of which have been burned white. Most corn fields in the state have been ruined by long drought and pastures have withered away, causing shortage of food for livestock. Similar conditions in the provinces of Ontario have caused an estimated $40,000,000 damage in crop losses. High temperatures and low rainfall in June, followed by driest July in 18 years, have also greatly increased the fire hazard in forested areas of the province. — Central Press Canadian.

Premier Escapes Plane Crash, 15 Dead, 26 Hurt

TEL AVIV (AP)—Israeli Premier Moshe Sharett had a narrow escape from death when a small plane skimmed above his head and crashed into a crowd about 30 feet from him Thursday. Fifteen persons were killed and 26 injured.

The pilot and a passenger were thrown clear and only slightly hurt.

The disaster occurred at Magan settlement near the Sea of Galilee, where a crowd of 2,000 had gathered for the unveiling of a monument to the late Peretz Goldstein, one of a group of Jewish parachutists who went on a British-sponsored mission behind the German lines in the Second World War.

Fifteen of the men who went with Goldstein were at Magan for the memorial ceremony. Four were killed in the crash.

Airliner Leads Light Plane From Cloud Layer

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP)—An airliner guided a light plane to a hop over a heavy cloud layer over Moline, Ia., Thursday and led it down.

Vernon Lampley and his brother, Dale, of Benton, Ill., flying on a trip to Canada, radioed Moline airport control on losing their way in heavy clouds. The tower operator radioed Capt. Dale Cavanaugh of Denver, pilot of a United Air Lines cargo plane.

Cavanagh instructed the brothers to follow the larger plane's radio signals, and retracing their westward course led them out of the clouds.

He stood by while they made a perfect landing and then resumed his flight to Chicago.

Cruelty Case Hearing Delayed

KITCHENER (CP) — Hearing of evidence against two Elmira men accused of beating a horse to death with a club was delayed a further week in court Thursday.

The delay was caused by the death this week of the wife of Magistrate R. J. Gillen of Brantford.

Ezra B. Martin and Henry N. Bauman, both of Elmira, pleaded guilty last month to charges of cruelty to the horse.

The report was prepared for a coroner's jury which has been investigating the puzzling death of 20-year-old Thorne. Thorne was found dead June 19 in a 87-foot cabin cruiser in the Bohemian section of the near north side.

Three Heavily-Laden Ships Will Leave Quebec Saturday To Supply Arctic Outposts

OTTAWA (CP)—Three heavily-laden ships sail from Quebec city Saturday bound for the Arctic on what is billed as "the most extensive sea-supply operation ever attempted by Canada in peacetime."

They will be joined in the north by two more vessels in the task of carrying fuel, food, medicine and other supplies to weather stations and other outposts in the Arctic archipelago. The operation has been officially named "Nors I."

Toughest task has been given the convoy's flagship, the newest and most powerful government icebreaker, the d'Iberville.

She will try what no other Canadian ship has done—to reach the just Canada-U.S. weather station at Eureka, 700 miles from the north pole on the west coast of Ellesmere Island. She will then set her dash from Resolute, some 400 miles further south, to reach the ice-clogged channel west of Ellesmere in the brief period when ice conditions will be easiest.

4,000 TONS OF SUPPLIES

The five vessels will deliver more than 4,000 tons of supplies for the five weather stations operated by Canada and the U.S. Special landing craft will put cargo on the beaches at Eureka and Padloping, on the east coast of Baffin Island.

The weather stations are at Resolute, Eureka, Alert, Mould Bay and Isachsen. The last three will be supplied by air since they are not readily accessible by ship. The northwesternmost is Alert, 550 miles from the pole.

Lt.-Cdr. Stanley City with the d'Iberville will be the freighter leader Bay and the tanker Montuba, which have loaded 1,570 tons of cargo and 1,887 tons of diesel and gasoline.

JOINED BY OTHERS

They will be joined at the entrance to Hudson Strait by the government icebreaker N. B. McLean. The convoy will supply C.D. Howe, which left Montreal June 26 to supply outposts along the Hudson Strait, will meet the convoy at Resolute Aug. 13.

More than 8,600 tons of supplies and fuel are to be landed at Resolute within a few days. A crew of 30 stevedores from Montreal will work on the round-the-clock operation.

When that is finished, Capt. C.A. Caron and the d'Iberville will start the two voyages north to Eureka with 200 tons of supplies. If the transport can't be reached, the supplies will be returned to Resolute and flown in later by RCAF aircraft.

Naval Arsenal May Be Enlarged

HALIFAX (CP)—The Chronicle-Herald quoted "a navy spokesman" today as saying the big arsenal which supplies the Canadian East Coast fleet with torpedoes, shells and bullets may be doubled in area.

The spokesman said the defence department is considering a proposal to extend boundaries of the naval magazine at Bedford and put up six more buildings.

Coldwell Objects To Invasion Of Red China

EDMONTON (CP) — M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said Thursday night Syngman Rhee's proposal for armed invasion of Red China would mean the starting of a match "in a train which would blow the world to pieces."

He told the CCF convention's annual banquet that when he read of Rhee's proposal to the United States Congress he wondered "when our great neighbor to the south would achieve some common sense."

The world which did not believe, whatever atomic agreement was reached, that Soviet Russia or even the United States would refrain from using atomic weapons in war if they believed that a world save them from defeat.

"I do not believe any promises or any agreements made, under certain circumstances, be effective," he added.

Peace could be achieved only through negotiation, understanding and complete disarmament.

Woodbine Track

TORONTO (CP) — Persistence and a sloppy track made life worth while for Orval Edwards and his ancient 12-year-old gelding J.E.W. at the Woodbine raceway Thursday.

Out of the money all season, the big brown old-timer went slopping past everything in sight and wound up a well-muddied winner after being far back in Thursday's first race.

J. E. W. helped set up a $167.30 double, returning $15. The other half of the double was provided by Billie Dawn, a five-year-old gelding owned by Murray Stewart of Fewarsan, Ont., and driven by Hugh McLean. The horse paid $13.60.

Empire Athletes Make Village Riot of Commonwealth Color

By JIM EASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Sikh, his black-and-white turban wound snugly to shaggy black hair, filled a glass from a milk-vending machine. An Australian in dull green track clothes stood behind him.

Others, like the Nigerians, Canadians, Britons, Negroes from the Gold Coast and the Pakistanis, sat elbow-to-elbow in the cafeteria in Empire Village, home for nearly 800 athletes who are winding up training for the British Empire Games.

It's all part of the color in this busy village a few miles from the crowded streets of downtown Vancouver. While some athletes eat, cyclists wheel past the white-frame cafeteria and track stars jog across lawns.

Boy Scouts point the way through the network of sidewalks and asphalt roads for visitors and athletes. Cars move slowly up and down the avenues as hundreds of athletes nap on the grass under a warm sun. Many of the crocs streets are blocked off to give athletes more freedom to walk out. Signs tell drivers to go 10 miles an hour.

Such is life in Empire Village, in the heart of the University of British Columbia grounds. It's been go, go, go ever the first contingent from the 34 participating countries arrived here more than three weeks ago. But, with the game's official opening only hours away, most athletes started easing up on training.

There is a spirit of comradeship throughout the village. Canadians, New Zealanders and Englishmen have a "hello" and smile for the men they will be competing against from Kenya, the British West Indies and other countries almost foreign to them.

The Negroes from Kenya, only a few of whom speak English, wave back in friendly greeting.

ART ☒ SUN

Throughout the village streets, athletes sit on doorsteps at their frame or stucco huts and bask in the sunshine. A group of a dozen may be made up of three or four nationalities. There is often a bit of banter or byplay. Some have known each other since the last Games in New Zealand in 1950 or the Olympic Games in Helsinki two years ago.

Groups stroll into the lounge rooms, where coffee, milk and soft drinks are theirs for the asking.

Canadian Yacht Whips Yankees For Canada Cup

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The Canadian challenger Venture Thursday won the Canada's Cup for the first time in 31 years as skipper Dave Howard of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto sailed to his third straight triumph over the defender Iakeen.

Two years are required to elapse before the Rochester club entry can challenge to regain .he cup.

The cup rivalry between the two clubs was inaugurated in 1896. Canada's last victory was in 1903. The last series was in 1954.

Tennis Tourney Halted by Rain

TORONTO (CP)—After one day of rain, the Ontario lawn tennis championships have become a race against time.

A steady drizzle Thursday disrupted the light schedule of the tournament, less than 20 matches were postponed, including the start of the mixed doubles.

"We'll have to play between 70 and 80 matches Friday to keep on schedule," Jack Little, OLTA director, said. "That means morning play, probably starting about 11 a.m."

Seeded players who are up against tough opponents today are R. G. Summers of Toronto and Kitchener's Ralph Talbot. Fourth-seeded Summers will meet Fred Reaume of Hamilton, who knocked off Pat Northey of Montreal Wednesday 6-1, 6-1, while fifth-seeded Talbot meets Dick Macatee of Clinton, S.C.

They're talking about Canada the world over

A few months ago, Jose Caballero, noted Spanish artist, sketched his impression of The Seagram Collection of Paintings while they were exhibited in Madrid at the famed Castellana Hilton. Like Señor Caballero, 30,000 people of Spain took the opportunity in the next two weeks to view these original canvases of 22 of our cities and to see, too, for the first time, a new aspect of a great and growing Canada as reflected in these impressive portraits of our nation's thriving metropolitan centres.

Everywhere these paintings went . . . north and south of the equator . . . on both sides of the Atlantic . . . they won new friends and favourable comment for Canada. In sixteen cities along a 30,000-mile international route through 15 foreign lands, more than a quarter of a million people came to visit them; to observe the skyline of our land, and to try on their lips the unfamiliar name of our Canadian Cities.

Accompanying the Collection were 48-page booklets containing reproductions of the paintings. These were available to all who visited the exhibition. The Seagram Collection is now back home on a two-year Canadian tour but it continues, through these booklets, to build goodwill for Canada abroad. In many thousands of homes, the text and pictures of these booklets are keeping Canada talked about the world over.

have its Bill Parnell, winner in 4:1 four years ago.

The workouts and training of Landy and Bannister are as different as day and night. The Australian works hard—and for all to see—up to within a few days of his race. The Englishman works quietly and almost secretly.

In Vancouver Bannister has confined his work largely to brisk warm-ups on the fairways and more secluded parts of the University of British Columbia golf course. His times have not been made known.

IN FULL VIEW

Landy has galloped in full view of hundreds of spectators over the UBC cinder track. The Australians have made no secret of Landy's time. They went into ecstacies when smooth-running John clipped off three quarters of a mile a few days ago in 2:50.4. The next day it was 3:04 and Landy said it wasn't good enough.

Over the same practice track Thursday he put on a show of endurance. He ran a quarter-mile in 58 seconds, took a rest and then coasted along the full mile in 4:14.4. Another hour's rest and he whipped through the three-quarters in 3:38.5.

Jimmy Eve, Australia's gray-haired general manager, wasn't even at the track. He was busy calculating what his full team, from tiny field on down the line, will do in these Games.

Jimmy came up with the confident assertion that Australia will repeat in these 1954 games what it did in 1930—with them.

"We won 34 championships in 1930 at Auckland," he said. "I'm not predicting it this time. There's an increase in over-all strength and the distribution of gold medals will be a little more wide-spread. But I think we should win 24 or more gold medals this time."

IN AT STAKE

There will be 91 gold medals at stake in the 1954 Games. With placings in the first six—on the unofficial basis of 10-5-4-3-2-1 points for first to sixth—Eve felt he was justified in his prediction.

The track and field events get under way Saturday, a three-hour show from 3 to 6 p.m. EDT. Five finals are carded—the 100-yard springs for men and women, the six-mile run and the men's high jump and women's shot put.

VANCOUVER (CP)—If Canada's athletes are the biggest of any competing in the British Empire Games, thank the girls.

Unofficial records show the women carrying Canada's colors into the tracks and into the pools are bigger than those representing any other country.

Mrs. Edna Worth, swimming team manager, has attributed the increased size of the girls to greater interest in athletics.

"They train more now and are becoming more developed," she said.

Mrs. Mary Thomasson, famed as a broad jumper in the first games in 1930 and now commandant of women's athletics at the Games, said:

"In all the years I have spent on Canadian teams I can't remember a group of girls this size. In fact, I can't remember ever one girl the size of any of the taller girls here now."

Statistics bear her out.

Marie Dopree, 17, of Burnaby, B.C., discus thrower, is the tallest, measuring six feet, three inches. Her vital statistics, reading from top to bottom, are: 43-30-43.

Six-foot Virginia Grant, 16, of Toronto, weighs 167 pounds and is the tallest among Canadian girl swimmers. She is proud of having the longest legs on the team.

Toronto's Mary Lawrence, self-described "Grandma" of the team at 30, is five feet, 10 inches tall and weighs 138 with 40-30-41 measurements.

Jackie MacDonald, 21, Toronto's discus thrower, is five feet, 11 inches and weighs 155 pounds. She measures 40-27-37.

Even the baby of the Canadian team, 13-year-old Sara Barber of Brantford, Ont., is five-feet-four.

British Empire Games Notes

By W. E. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—The fifth British Empire Games, heralded as the greatest since the Commonwealth sports spectacle was first staged 24 years ago in Hamilton, came into being today.

The long months of preparation in all parts of the world, the diligence, effort and training of the Empire's top athletes, the last-hour frenzy of harassed officials in flag-bedecked Vancouver all reached their climax.

The competitions, from fencing to the more glamorous deeds in track and field, were still 24 hours away. Colorful full-dress uniforms, bands, pageantry and the parade of 775 athletes from 24 countries will open the Games officially tonight.

OPENED BY ALEXANDER

For the ritual of the opening Sir Arthur Porritt, chairman of the British Empire Games Federation, will mount a tribune of honor. Upon his request, Field Marshal Earl Alexander, former governor-general of Canada, will declare the games open.

Bill Parnell of Vancouver, winner of the British Empire Games mile four years ago in Auckland, New Zealand, will take the oath on behalf of all the athletes, a declaration of true sportsmanship.

Since the first games of Hamilton, there has been a pause only for the war years. In 1934 the games were held in London, and in 1938 at Sydney, Australia. With the passing of the war, the athletes of the Empire kept pace with the resurgence of British and in 1950 Auckland, New Zealand, was the host for the spectacle.

The last few days have marked a tapering-off in the practice work of those who seek to better what the athletes of 1930 and 1950 accomplished.

LANDY AN EXCEPTION

There is at least one exception—John Landy of Australia. The man who wrote into world records an almost unbelievable 3:58 for the mile is perhaps the most arduous of all in training.

A week from Saturday thousands of persons in Vancouver's New Empire Stadium—and millions throughout the world—expect to find out what happens when Landy meets England's Roger Bannister, the man who first smashed the four-minute mile with 3:59.4.

The race has already been allocated to the master minute. New Zealand may have its Murray Halberg, Northern Ireland may have its Vic Milligan and Canada may

(3) because Chevrolet's high compression, valve-in-head engines are far ahead in modern efficiency, Chevrolet costs you less for fuel.

And these are just the basic savings you will realize when you own a Chevrolet.

REGENTS PRACTICE

Bryson Reid's Regents baseballers, who took the measure of the league-leading Picton Lightfoots the other night, are now sitting pretty in third place in the Belleville District Baseball League Standings. They consolidated the spot when the Trenton RCAF dunked the Dukes of Wellington this week. With their eyes on a playoff spot, the Regents are working hard in an effort to grab off some of the short, and tonight starting at 6:30 they will go through a practice grind at the Exhibition Grounds.

"They wuz robbed" of a home run the other night when the Picton base umpire, who was ogling the blonde in the third row back, claimed a "long ball" bounced over the fence and foolishly declared it clearing the barricade for a homer, as many fans stated. However, the good sportsman he is, Alderman Reid abided by the ump's decision, had the blonde removed to a better seat, and let the matter go.

And if son Bob, in Lethbridge is tuned in this column, "The old man is doing a fine job in furthering baseball in this city and providing the opportunity for a lot of fellows to play who otherwise would be doing their baseballing in the stands."

"YOU CAN FOOL"

The curves of a baseball pitcher and the ergs of the humble biddy have something in common. Both are victims of the mental machinations of the guy that owns 'em. The canny farmer substitutes electric lights for Ole Sol and the vulnerable Biddy comes through with the breakfast food.

As for baseball pitchers, take the case of Bob Keegan of the Chicago White Sox. Robert was plagued with a sore arm after a few weeks in spring training as regular as the baseball season. In fact it caused the Yankees to sell him to Syracuse three years ago.

When he came to the Sox in 1953 up popped that ole debbil "Sore Arm" again. But when Keegan blossomed it was with the luxuriance of an American Beauty rather than the modesty of a violet. Richards figured he had a star in the making.

So like the farmer strategist, Oom Paul decided to slip some over Sore Time. He sent Keegan away in December to start throwing baseballs. She ruff, along came Ole Sore Arm, but by the time spring training rolled around, Keegan had gone through the period of painful comeback with the result he showed up so sound as a two-year-old son of Man-O-War. You know the rest.

"WHAT'S UP, DOC"

And up pops "Bunny" Dunlop at Memorial Arena tonight regardless of what happened a week ago. "Bunny" is too crafty, too experienced a veteran of the wrestling rings to let some lame-brains tell him what to do. Last week's wing-ding was just another night in the life of the portly popular "Bun" and he'll be back with all the old showmanship again this evening. But he will have to resurrect his old octopus hold if he wants to cope with the flying tactics of the four midgets, Tiki Infanti, Ottie Bowman, the Brown Panther and the Mighty Schultz. Then too he'll have Paul Ballargeon and George "Zebra" Bollens on his hands, not forgetting Pat Flanagan and Ski Hi Lee. But don't worry about "Bunny". He'll come through.

Grid Boss Praises Press

DETROIT (AP)—Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League told the champion Detroit Lions that the press, radio and television "made celebrities of you football players and indirectly have increased your salaries.

"Every player has a duty to perform to co-operate with the press, radio and TV," Bell said.

"If a player co-operates with the press, they will help you. I have yet to see a paper take sides with the club in a salary dispute, for example.

"The excellent working of the press and other media has built the NFL to the high position it now holds. We want that growth to continue."

New York Whips Chicago, 10-0 As Boston Tomahawks Indians; Brooklyn, Giants Keep Pace

By BEN FELEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Today is Casey Stengel's 64th birthday but he's going to have to wait a while longer for a present from his athletes.

The New York Yankees didn't quite make it to first place in time for the celebration. In fact, they haven't made it to first place any time this season although they've won more of their first 100 games than any Yankee club Casey has managed.

When they whipped Chicago 10-0 Thursday, they ran their record for the year to 67 won and 33 lost. None of Casey's past five pennant winners did as well for the same period.

DIZZY FACE

New York trails Cleveland by a game and a half and the day-to-day question is how long can the two clubs keep up their sizzling pace.

During the last seven weeks the Yanks have won 37 out of 43, a .775 clip. The Indians captured 35 of 40 over the same period for a .714 mark, exactly equalling the best winning percentage ever compiled by a major league champion.

Who'll crack first? The man with the answer wins the jackpot. In 10 consecutive games with Cleveland and Detroit, the Yankees and Tribesmen won seven times. But two of the losses were in that period.

Thursday, however, it was no contest. Mickey Mantle's two-run homer and Bobby Hofman's double off Cleveland collapsed before a Boston Tomahawk attack that saw Ted Sox had lost 15 out of 16 to Cleveland before turning on the league leaders.

Of the nine games played four ended in extra innings. Whitey Ford held the White Sox to four hits in the Yankee victory. Bob Keegan, the ex-Yanker star now working for the St. Louis Cardinals, beat the Detroit Tigers 3-0 on three hits. Cecky Valentine of Cincinnati pitched a four-hitter against Philadelphia, winning 3-0 and Chuck Stobbs of Washington checked Baltimore on six hits in a 6-0 triumph.

In other action Chicago defeated Brooklyn 6-5; Milwaukee won its seventh straight, 5-3 over Pittsburgh in 10 innings and Detroit took a doubleheader from Philadelphia 4-2 and 7-3.

IN CONTROL

Raschi was in complete control of the league-leading Giants. He gave up two bases on balls and struck out eight. Rich out for New York hits were singles by Willie Mays, Dusty Rhodes and Don Mueller. Ray Jablonski's bases-loaded double in the fifth was the big blow for St. Louis.

Pinch hitters flopped for Brooklyn as the Dodgers failed to come to shave their two-game deficit. Manager Walt Alston used five and not one got the ball out of the infield. Hank Sauer and Ernie Banks homered for the Cubs.

Valentine not only pitched a shutout for the Redlegs, he was the hitting star of the game. He doubled twice, singled once and scored two of the four runs against the Phillies. The loss dumped Philadelphia into sixth place behind the Cardinals and Reds who are tied for fourth.

FELLER ROUTED

Boston wrapped it up early against Cleveland, routing Bobby Feller in the second inning after piling up a 5-0 lead. It was Feller's second loss and fourth a seven-game winning streak for the veteran right-hander. Vic Power drove in six runs with two homers and a single. Ted Williams also hit a home run.

Detroit came from behind in both victories over the faltering Athletics. In the first game a two-run triple by Frank Bolling followed by a squeeze bunt by George Zuverink put the Tigers in front for the first inning. In the second game the A's jumped ahead 3-0 but were caught and passed in the third inning when Bob Neiman hit a grand slam home run.

Gate Receipt 'Evil' Rapped By Professor

VANCOUVER (CP)—The "gate-receipt evil" of inter-collegiate athletics was criticized here as the first British Commonwealth conference on physical education ended Thursday.

Professor Earl F. Zeigler, head of the department of physical health and recreation at the University of Western Ontario, listed gate receipts as one of the evils dividing physical education against itself.

"As a result of the desire to have receipts pay for as much of the entire sports program as possible, coaches and athletic administrators are hired because they may be able to produce a winning team," Dr. Zeigler said.

"Many physical education graduates are educational misfits," he said. "By and large, our students are just not liberally educated, and they show it in many ways."

Cricketers Draw 'Over 'Ome'

LONDON (Reuters) — Despite brilliant batting by 27-year-old Ken Trestrail of Toronto, the visiting Canadian eleven could only manage to draw in their match against Combined Services which ended Thursday.

Trestrail, a member of the West Indies team which visited Britain in 1950, batted more than four hours for 115 in the first innings to make his second century in successive innings.

But at the end of the first innings Combined Services had a lead of 28.

When they went in again, Tom Hilstone of Montreal, a leg break bowler, captured five wickets in a deadly spell of less than five overs for 17 runs.

A declaration at 150 for nine left the Canadians with 100 minutes in which to get 170 for victory. With their total 41 for one wicket stumps were pulled and the match was left drawn.

Trestrail again held out and took his aggregate to 344 in three consecutive innings without once being dismissed.

Aussie Schedule Starts First Games Rhubarb

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Empire Games officials have denied a charge by an Australian correspondent that "the Empire Games will develop into a gigantic muddle unless there is a marked improvement in organization before the first event on Saturday."

Commenting on a Page 1 story in the Sydney Sun by Ernie E. Christensen, in which he criticized games centers for filling Australian mile champion John Landy in a race he had "no intention of starting," Sir Arthur Porritt, chairman of the British Empire Games Federation, said:

"Such statements as made by the Australian correspondent are in general quite entirely without foundation. Landy was entered by Australia in the 880 yards and was subsequently scratched July 28—deadline for scratches—by the Australian manager in the normal course of events."

Another official, Sam Rosen, ticket chairman of the Vancouver organizing committee, branded as a "lie" another statement made by Christensen in his story. The staff correspondent said: "How the officials are going to get out of the ticket mix-up has everybody including themselves baffled. The organizers have made available tickets for sections of wrestling where no seats exist."

Rosen said ticket sales now stand at $270,000, and added that he can "tell anybody exactly what tickets have been sold for any event, for any day or night of the Games."

Corbin, Calvert Gold Awards Head Colorful Prize List In Annual Bowls Tournament

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

Two hundred and sixty four bowlers, representing the cream of lawn bowlers in Ontario and parts of Quebec, will invade the city on Monday, Civic Holiday. Guests of the sponsoring Belleville Lawn Bowling Club, the bowlers will be competing for four handsome trophy prizes, twelve other awards and a special.

CORBIN GOLD TROPHY

The event, the thirteenth Annual Men's Rinks' Tournament, is one of the most popular of its kind in Ontario. In fact it ranks about second in provincial lawn bowling tournaments.

The top prize is the beautiful Corbin Gold Trophy, which was competed for the first time last year. It replaces the first Gold Trophy which saw service for ten years previous. Both trophies were donated by the Corbin Lock Company of this city.

Not that the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club needed any added incentive to attract bowlers here. It was felt the former trophy had outlived its usefulness, served its purpose and was ready for honorable retirement.

Second for prize purposes but as handsome and attractive in its own right as a competitive prize is the beautiful Lord Calvert Challenge Trophy donated by the Calvert Distillers of Calvert House, Toronto. It displays a "Victory Figure" on a gold pedestal flanked by two bowlers in action postures. The Calvert Trophy is emblematic of the most attractive bandies of its kind in sports competition and is another evidence of the keen interest in wholesome recreation taken by the Calvert Company.

Third prize is the new Belleville Trophy donated by the Association of Belleville Hotel Proprietors which is being offered for competition for the second time.

Equally handsome and indicative of the same fine sports and community efforts of its sponsor, is the Corby Trophy donated by the Hiram Walker, Gooderham & Worts Limited, Corby Distillery Limited.

General chairman of the tournament H. Cliff Argue said today that practically all arrangements for the 13th Annual Tournament are completed. It is expected that the tourney will attract some 600 people to the city on that date.

The Belleville Lawn Bowling Club and its officials enjoy a well-deserved popularity among bowlers and their association as evidenced in the fact that year after year the entry list of 64 rinks necessary for the Corbin Gold Trophy Tournament is filled weeks before the closing date, and usually a long waiting list is on hand.

The Belleville club is noted province-wide for its hospitality and organizational ability in conducting tournaments and its efforts are well paid in the response of out-of-town bowling clubs as evidenced in their entries in the annual tournament.

Included in the sixty-four rinks from Ontario and Quebec are representatives from Belleville, Oshawa, Cornwall, Ottawa, Kingston, Verdun, Brighton, Hamilton, Perth, Montreal, Toronto, Campbellford, Iroquois, Delora, Peterborough, Lindsay, Cobourg, Brockville, Cheesterville, Trenton, Stirling and Almonte. The host club, Belleville has entered nine rinks.

The first draw gets under way at 9.30 Monday morning after the traditional "first man" has played. This novel event is part and parcel of the Corbin Gold Trophy Tournament. The "Kitty" is placed in the centre of the greens and the bowlers stand around in a large circle. At a given signal they roll their bowls at the "kitty" and the bowler whose bowl is closest is awarded a handsome prize.

The second draw is scheduled for 1.30 p.m. and by midnight the 1954 winner of the new Corbin Gold Trophy, the Lord Calvert Challenge Trophy and other handsome awards should be announced.

The Corbin Trophy was won last year by a Kingston rink consisting of R. W. Edney, skip, W. F. Kinnear, W. L. Brennan and W. J. Duncan. This rink will be back Monday to defend its title.

The tournament will be under the supervision of General Chairman Cliff Argue, who has been a tower of strength, administrative and otherwise since the inception of the tournament thirteen years ago. Mr. Argue has held the highest offices in the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association is also zone and official umpire for the district championships.

London Kegler Wins Main Event In Bowls Tourney

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Charles Smith of London Thistles trounced A. Blanchfield, N.J., double 15-4 Thursday night to take the Rodeo trophy, main event in doubles competition at the annual Western Ontario Lawn Bowling Association tournament.

Smith, partnered with Ruthven Dunn, defeated an American double of W. J. S. Saunders and Matt Sleaton in the final playoff for the trophy.

A Chicago double of Stuart Thilcock and Robert Savage won the second event, the Scott-McHale Trophy, defeating Bill Robertson and Clarence Mallander of Windsor, 19-7.

Mel Brady and Gord Curnoe of London Elmwood shaked Bill Russell and Jim McDonald of Walkerton 21-9, for the Cook Trophy, third event in the tournament.

Sports Roundup

By JACK HAND
For Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Marciano thinks there is no danger of Ezzard Charles "doing a Walcott" in their September rematch.

"Jersey Joe Walcott" refers to the Rip Van Winkle bit that old Jersey Joe put on the first round in Chicago in his ballyhooed rematch with the Rock.

Marano sat in Jim Norris' office at the International Boxing Club, folded arms in sharp contrast to a short-sleeved sport shirt. He doesn't look just right as fit for action and pronounced his damaged eye healed.

FRAISE FOR CHARLES

"I think the guy's got guts," he said. "I kept pressing him all the time from the sixth round on. A lot of other guys don't. Some guys, I could tell, some 12 or 13 but most of them fell apart sooner or later.

"Only twice did I think I had him ready to go—the 10th round and the 15th."

They tried to draw out Rocky Wednesday but thought he might have softened up Charles for a second fight. He wouldn't try it.

"It was tough on both of us," he said. "He hurt me a few times and I hurt him."

"I've been doing some thinking about the first fight. I wasn't exactly satisfied. This time I hope to do a little better."

Better? After winning a unanimous decision and raising eggshaped lumps on Charles' face during the final rounds?

PROUD OF RECORD

"I was disappointed a little in not knocking him down," Rocky explained. The Rock has a fierce pride in his accomplishments, a burning desire to go down in the record books with the great champions of the past. He had knocked out 10 in a row before Charles. You get the impression he will make Charles pay for his embarrassment.

There was talk the champ might have been stale for the June fight, because he had been in training almost continuously since the first of the year, Rocky, himself, isn't sure.

"I don't know if I was stale," he said. "But I needed the work. I'm better off for it. I'm better than it did him."

Most ringsiders agree with that statement. Despite the blood streaming down his face from the eye cut, Marciano still was creaking ahead like a bulldozer in the late rounds. Charles seemed all who had questioned his ability to absorb bitter punishment and fight back gamely, has all in his hook. Here wasn't a shadow of doubt about Marciano's right to a rest. I got the impression it might be much quicker next time around.

Pictured above is the handsome Lord Calvert Challenge Trophy awarded annually as second prize in the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club's Corbin Gold Trophy Tournament. The Calvert Trophy, "a thing of beauty and a joy forever," is one of the most attractive prizes offered in bowling in Ontario sports competition. Calvert House opened the interest in its donation and in so doing again evidenced the interest it takes in the promotion and furtherance of clean sport in the country.

Amateur Golf Reaches Fourth Round, Carruthers Edged by Nash in 21

By GARY SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — The starting field of 128 in the Ontario amateur golf championship at the Thornhill Golf Club has been reduced to 16, and after today's play-offs the single-knockout matches will be four.

Featured fourth-round matches early today pit Nick Sherlock of Windsor against Ken Jacobs of Toronto, Bob Ptashnik of Toronto against Ernie Bentley of Weston and Jack Nash of London against Gordon Ball of Weston.

TWO TODAY

The eight survivors of fourth-round play advance into the fifth round, also to be played today.

Among the 16 players still in the running for the title are only three of the eight pre-tournament favorites. Nash, champion in 1950 and runner-up last year to Gerry Kesserling, and Magee, both members of the Willingdon Cup team and Nash have so far justified their high ratings.

Westlock won both his matches in convincing fashion Thursday, disposing of Pete Atman of Lindsay, 5 and 4, in the second of their two scheduled matches and then whipping Dave Morland of North Bay, 3 and 2, in third-round play.

Magee edged Johnstone McCormick of Toronto Humber Valley, 2 and 1, and eliminated G. R. Walker of London Hunt, 3 and 2, for his second and third-round wins.

The other two members of the Ontario Willingdon Cup team, Norman Kitchener and Eric Hanson of Toronto, were eliminated in second-round play Thursday.

UPSET FAVORITE

Ernie Bentley upset Norman, a pre-tournament favorite, 2 and 1, and continued his winning ways in the third-round, stopping George Stevenson, 3 and 2.

Emerson Creed of London edged Hanson on the 20th hole, but was eliminated by Bill Morland of North Bay in the third round, 4 and 3. Jack Nash was stopped by T. A. Carruthers of Belleville in a third-round match which ended on the 21st hole.

Three former champions were eliminated in Thursday's rain-swept play. Six-time titlist Phil Farley of Toronto was stopped by Ernie Nevers of Toronto, 3 up, in the second round.

Sonny Adams of Toronto Scarboro, 1936 champion, was defeated by Ted Hogarth of Toronto, 2 and 1, and Ron stopped the 1941 champion Bruce Bradley of Oshawa, 6 and 4, in the third round.

'Wassa Mazza' With Mazza? More Mazuma?

HAMILTON (CP) — The raise Hamilton Tiger-Cats offered Vince Mazza wasn't big enough for him, so the all-star end and tackle left the practice field Thursday night.

Mazza said unless he was given a raise more to his liking he would say good bye to Canadian football and try for more lucrative fields as a defensive end on a National Football League club in the United States.

Rumors in Hamilton had it that Mazza wanted more than $8,000 for the coming Big Four season.

Coach Carl Voyles was silent. "All I can say . . . is that we offered him a substantial increase" he said.

Mazza said the offer was "fairly good . . . but it wasn't enough."

The 29-yarcold star joined Tiger-Cats in 1950 after playing with Detroit Lions of the NFL and Buffalo Bills of the now defunct All-America Conference.

Golf Star? It's Nice

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Sam Snead tried to make a telephone call to her golfer husband Thursday and finally located him with the help of: A golf pro at Greenbrier, W. Va.; the Wilson sports goods people, Minnesota and Ontario police, the telephone company, the U.S. forestry service, special pilots and dozens of Maine woods fishermen.

Mrs. Snead is here with their sons, Jackie, 10, and Terry, 2, each of whom has an eye ailment and requires a number of operations. Terry's doctors decided on a special operation Wednesday and Mrs. Snead wanted to get her husband's okay.

She called Gary Nixon, Snead's assistant at Greenbrier, and Nixon promptly began bursting up the woods after Sneed. He finally was tracked down on a fishing boat on Sebago lake in northern Minnesota.

A U.S. forestry plane set down on the lake and picked up Snead, flying him to Ely, Minn., where he chartered another plane to make airline connections in Duluth.

Swim Club From Peterboro Wins Honors

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. Ella Lindell of the Lagloo Swim Club, Montreal, Thursday night won the Francis Gale Points Trophy here to become 1954's Canadian synchronized swim champion.

Her win ended the three-year reign of 19-year-old Joan Orser of McGill Swim Club, Montreal, who had held the trophy since 1951. Miss Orser was a close second.

Third was Toronto's Diane Baker of the Lakeshore Swim Club.

The placings were the same in the Daily Trophy for strokes.

A capacity crowd at the Crystal pool saw Peterborough Swim Club, Canadian and United States champions, take the Hershorn Trophy for team routine. Vancouver's Royal Life Saving Society came second.

Duet routine honors and the Forbes Monro Trophy went to Beverly McKnight and Miss Baker of Toronto Lakeshore. Mrs. Lindell and Louise Genereux placed second for Montreal, and Vancouver's Sybil Berry and Diane Black filled the minor position.

On Wednesday night Miss Orser captured the Brennan Trophy for solo routine, beating out Ella Lindell of the Lac St. Louis Aquettes in both events. It was the third straight year she had won the trophies.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SA MGORDON
The Kibitzer

Said he: "When I and wife are pards, to play I never letter. My brilliant candling of the cards gets one trick more or better."

Don't let anybody tell you that the only good cards players are makin. Bridge is not a man's world. Some of the best bridge partners I know are dames of the female gender from the gal sex.

Such a bridge babe played the deal shown here:

She sat south as declarer in the correct construct of the hands. West took two heart tricks fast and then switched to the lead of a diamond. All she had to do is keep from losing more than one club.

There are five outstanding clubs. The usual expectation is to find them divided three and two. If so, the opponents can get only one trick in that suit. Even careless play will hold it to that.

The temptation is to cash ace and king of clubs. If opponent with only two clubs has the queen it will drop. This will give declarer all the club tricks; a desirable result to conditor.

However, there is always the possibility (even if rare) that west may have four or more clubs to the queen. If so, two tricks will be lost if dummy casbes ace and king for the first two tricks.

On the other hand, declarer can afford to lose one trick. Good play follows the policy that the safety of the contract comes first; the trying for an extra trick is only after the contract is safe.

Therefore, if there is a safety play to assure the contract, the safety play should—predominate over the try for an extra trick. This player knew the policy and the safety play that applied.

The safety play is to take the first club with a top and then lead small from dummy toward the jack. When this loses to the queen the west ten can be picked up by a later finesse in front south.

This is what she did. Smart gal.

TO INVITE GOLFER

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—The United States Professional Golfers Association on behalf of Australia's Amgot tournament will ask Zeke Furgol, winner of this year's U.S. open championship, to tour Australia in the autumn.

YOUNG TRAVELLERS

CAPE TOWN (CP)—Two young boarding school pupils are setting a record for travel to their home from school. They make the 1,000-mile journey from here to Johannesburg eight times a year. One, age 16, had covered 8,000 miles each of the last five years.

Movie Column

By HUBBARD KEAVY

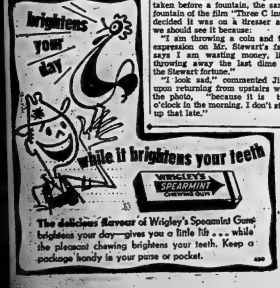
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The highlance of speech that makes James Stewart is no screen affection. He talks that way at home too.

Stewart seldom initiates small talk, but when questioned, cued, prompted and reminded by an interviewer, Mrs. Stewart and a press agent, he gives out in his hesitant, word - searching, yet altogether charming manner. If you'd close your eyes you'd think he was playing a scene. It occurred to me that if Jim and that other man of few words, Gary Cooper, ever get together the conversation must be a brilliant series of "Yops" and "Nopes."

Jim has had remarkably successful films since he became a freelancer, able to pick his own stories, studios and directors. What is it—luck, a formula, advice? He answers, after some seconds of thought, and I condense because of space limitations:

"Well, now, you might say I'm lucky. Yes, sir, you might. I guess I am. We got kind of a plan worked out, you might say. We look for certain things."

WIFE FULL OF BOUNCE



Did he ever turn down any stories that he wished he hadn't. And if so, what were the pictures?

"Oh, yes. Yes I have. Several, as a matter of fact. Now maybe I'll think of what they were. Let me see . . . no, guess I can't remember the names of 'em."

Mrs. Jim, the former Gloria Hatrick McLean, is bouncy and bronzed, full of quips, a perfect complement for her quiet husband. When Rome was the subject, she asked her husband about a picture taken before a fountain, the same fountain of the film "Three C ins," decided it was on a dresser and we should see if it became.

"I am throwing a coin and the expression on Mr. Stewart's face says I am wasting money, like throwing away the last dime of the Stewart fortune."

"I look sad," commented Jim, upon returning from upstairs with the photo, "because it is two o'clock in the morning. I don't stay up that late."

The delicious flavour of Wrigley's Spearmint Gum brightens your day—gives you a little fun . . . while the pleasant chewing brightens your teeth. Keep a package handy in your purse or pocket.

British Scholars Arrive for Trip In Quebec Bush

MONTREAL (CP) — Fifty-three British schoolboys arrived here today on a toughening-up jaunt that will take them into the bush of northern Quebec for seven weeks.

The expedition is sponsored by the British Public Schools Exploring Society and the boys will be between 16 and 18, come from grammar schools and private colleges in the United Kingdom.

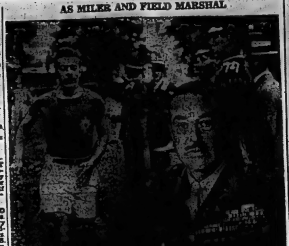
They journeyed by air from London but will not leave for the north until today. They will be joined by five Canadian youths, including R. A. Gray, 12, Chatham, Ont., K. R. Middleton, 16, Orillia, Ont., and H. C. Mosser, 16, Walkerton, Ont.

This is the first year that Canadians have been included in the society's expedition, although there have been eight trips to Newfoundland and Canada since the society was founded in 1932. An expedition went to northern Quebec in 1948.

The expeditions, held every year, are led by British army and navy officers. They are led by Maj. E. Dacre, retired Royal Marines officer.

Equipped with heavy clothing, pack-sacks and sleeping bags they set out by bus, train and bush aircraft for their base camp at Lake Wakonichi, near Cape Que., a settlement in the northerly Lake St. John district.

The purpose of the trip is to teach them how to live in the open.



Asleep on Road, Man Is Killed

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Believed to have been sleeping on the road, Joseph Peel, about 51, was struck by a car and killed early today. The man's body was found by Mrs. Ernest McMa, near here.

Harry Preesen, 17, of Niagara-On-The-Lake told police he was driving east along Lakeshore road when he struck something that "felt like a brick." He turned around in the first driveway, came back and found Peel, dead.

Peel had worked for about three years as a farm laborer.

Huge Rock Roars Down Mine Shaft, Killing Two

An artist's sketch reveals above how a great rock roared down the steep incline from the rib of a coal mine at Springhill, N.S., to strike a mine trolley loaded with men as it moved slowly up the shaft, killing two and injuring 16 others, some seriously. About a dozen others received cuts and bruises in the accident, which occured as the men were coming off the late shift. Officials of the mine said a rock fall had occurred on the 25 at colliery No. 4 which killed the mine for three days while it was cleared up. Everything was believed to be in good order when the night shift reopened. The rock fall had made one trip up the slope with about 30 men and had just started back with another load when the boulder came out of the wall at the 2,500-foot level and roared down the tracks at "astronomical speed." — Central Press Canadian.

Farmers in Hastings, P.E. Counties Advised to Check on Worm Invasion

Entomological Field Station, Picton — In a number of areas of Ontario, an insect pest, the army worm, is present in outbreak proportions causing considerable damage. Army worms are smooth-skinned, greenish caterpillars with striped bodies and light brown heads. Usually they are paler when young, darkening as they mature. They travel with a looping motion. These greedy feeders are a climbing type of cutworm which are partial to grasses, especially corn and small grains. They strip small grains of their leaves and nip their stems so that the heads hang down and are lost in harvesting. If they attack an immature field, the grain which is harvested is usually poorly fi- lished. A young field of oats may be stippled with yellow as the damaged plants show in contrast with the green.

There is not much evidence that we need be alarmed in Prince Edward and Hastings Counties. However, large numbers of the caterpillars have been found in a few fields where severe damage may occur and it would be wise for all farmers to inspect their crops in the early spring and be prepared to take early protective action if the insects are found. Apparently in Prince Edward the insects are still a little less mature than in other areas. This gives the advantage of additional time before they go on the rampage moving from one field to another. The cutting of a crop will start a migration like an army, laying waste. Only occasionally this pest insect becomes a serious pest as something tips the balance of nature and favors its reproduction and survival. In such an outbreak, however, their very abundance promotes the development of numerous parasites which eventually bring the outbreak under control.

The insects hide from the sun in the heat of the day and climb to feed when it is cooler. In corn, they need not go to the ground as they find shelter in the whorls of the leaves. Thus, to control these, an insecticide must be sprayed or dusted right into the plant. In the grains, they move commonly go to the ground where they can be controlled by thinly spreading poisoned bait in late afternoon or evening.

A furrow plowed around a field with the steep, land side facing the advancing insects has been used to stop them. Poisoned bait can be left in the furrow. Periodically, insects trapped in the furrow can be crushed.

It would seem like a good idea to spray residual insecticides on margins around fields. Headlands and laneways should make good barrier lines.

According to officers, recently contacted, of the Division of Entomology, Ottawa and the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, the bait is still the trusted control. This is made by mixing 4 pounds of paris green and 100 pounds of bran with enough water to make it crumble molistly in the hand. Instead of paris green, ½ pound of actual aldrin or 2 pounds or 50% toxaphene or DDT may be used.

Racket Uncovered

MONTREAL (CP) — Police said today they have uncovered a racket under which immigrants were transported for a fee to non-existent jobs in Ontario tobacco fields.

The racket was exposed when police at Delhi, Ont., a town in the tobacco belt, requested Montreal police to help prevent further offences.

Police said advertisements were placed in Montreal newspapers and immigrant applicants paid a $10 deposit in a Bleury street office before being taken by cab to Delhi for an additional $20.

The office closed, recently, police said. The racket had been going on for a number of years.

Eisenhower Honors Famous French Nurse

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower yesterday conferred the Medal of Freedom with bronze palm upon the French nurse who tended the wounded through the fall of Dien Bien Phu.

The nurse, Lieut. Geneviève de Galard-Terraube thanked the president in a barely audible voice and said she accepted the great honor on behalf of those who fought in the Indo-China fortress.

Avalanche Sweeps Four Mountain Climbers to Death

Party of Six Women, Man Ignored Guides' Warning

LAKE LOUISE, Alta. (CP) — Four members of a party of seven Mexican alpine climbers were swept to their deaths Friday by an avalanche high in the Canadian Rockies.

They were caught in a roaring mass of snow and ice while descending the south peak of Victoria glacier near here and 40 miles northwest of Banff. Mountain peaks in the area average 11,000 feet.

The group, made up of six women and a man, made the trip despite warnings of experienced mountain guides who refused to accompany them because of frequent avalanches in the glacier area.

Identification of the Mexicans was not immediately known although it was believed one of the bodies recovered was that of a man.

A rescue party of Alpinists reached the scene four hours after the accident and was expected back here early today.

In the meantime reports of the avalanche were obtained from persons here who watched the progress of the climbing party through binoculars.

WERE LEADING PARTY

The four who died were on one rope, leading the party. The other three were on another rope, a short distance behind.

Cliff Coolpits, watching through binoculars, said the four apparently were carried over the lip of the glacier by the avalanche.

The party was hidden from sight when the snow and ice thundered down. Afterward, only three persons were visible.

Major Hill 'Rolled Out The Barrel' Swirled Through Rapids to Police

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)— Major Lloyd Hill, member of a family for whom the turbulent Niagara river was a second home, got halfway through the giant Whirlpool rapids in a thin-shelled steel cylinder Friday and wound up in the hands of police.

"I made it," Hill said jubilantly when his barrel was hauled to shore after swirling for 90 minutes in the boiling water.

Ontario provincial and Niagara parks commission police took him into custody but released him after questioning. An Ontario government ban has banned such trips through the rapids or over the falls themselves. Crown authorities, said they will decide later whether to charge him.

Hill said after his release that he'd consider his trip another day —he didn't say when—another two miles down river to Queenston.

It took Hill only two minutes to shoot the upper rapids—closest to the falls. But his eight-foot craft made slow progress in the Whirlpool rapids. Farther down the river police put an end to the trip by getting a rope on the barrel and towing it to shore.

The stunt wasn't new for Major Hill—Major is his Christian name, not a military title. He tried twice in 1940. One attempt failed when the barrel was caught in a whirlpool old river again.

Traffic Volume Heaviest In City's History

Holiday-bent travellers took to the highways in the largest number ever seen here.

Traffic at eleven o'clock this morning was described from the east to the hospital and to the west as far as Sidney Street.

The city police department had every available man on traffic duty keeping the long lines of cars and trucks moving at a small's pace along highway No. 2.

Traffic was heavy on roads leading from the north and from Prince Edward to the south, incoming cars adding to the congestion on the main highway.

"It is the heaviest traffic volume in history," a police official said. "We could use 25 more men if we had them."

VANCOUVER (CP)—Field Marshal Earl Alexander says he will retire from his post as Britain's minister of defence when Sir Winston Churchill steps down as prime minister.

"But when he goes, I go too."

He was commenting on the recent shake-up in the British cabinet.

Giant Air-Search Called Off When Airliner Lands

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) — A giant search for an airliner reported down in the North Sea with 72 persons aboard was called off at dusk Friday early today when word came that the plane had landed safely in England.

A spokesman at United States Air Force headquarters tabbed as a "false alarm" the report that the big plane belonging to Trans Ocean Airlines had ditched in the North sea while en route from Bermuda to the U.S.

An alert was flashed across Western Europe and Britain earlier when Scheveningen maritime radio station in The Netherlands broadcast the report that the plane had gone out of radio contact and "probably crashed."

The RAF was mobilized for the search and rails went to the air in the general area to be on the lookout. Orders for an actual search were held up, however, for word from Iceland, the plane's next scheduled stop, saying whether it had arrived.

The tension subsided when Schiphol airport at Amsterdam flashed word that the plane had made radio contact with Iceland. A few minutes later the Scheveningen station cancelled its "missing" report and announced that the aircraft had arrived safely in Iceland.

There was no explanation of the original report that it had gone out of radio contact.

LABOR LEADERS PREDICT VOTE FAVORING STRIKE

Calling of Parliament Session Causes Concern

MONTREAL (CP)—The Gazette says today in a newspaper story that labor leaders are predicting an "overwhelming" vote in favor of striking by Canada's 185,000 non-operating railway workers.

It says labor leaders are concerned at Prime Minister St. Laurent's statement Wednesday that an emergency meeting of Parliament may be called to deal with the situation.

The 14 unions now are holding a nation-wide ballot among members if they want to strike in support of their demands for fringe benefits in new contracts. Results are expected to be known Aug. 15.

The paper says labor spokesmen "read into the prime minister's announcement the implication that legislation will be introduced by Parliament to prevent strikes by rail employees.

The cabinet has the executive power to keep parties negotiating until October, or even November, if necessary," it says.

Special Highway Patrol May Be Re-Established

TORONTO (CP) — Restoration of a special highway patrol under the provincial police department is being discussed among Queen's Park officials as the result of recent disclosures of a loophole in the Highway Traffic Act that allows motorists accused of speeding to escape convictions.

At one time the department had a patrol staff whose sole job was highway law enforcement but in the 1920s the patrol was taken over by the attorney-general's department as a branch of the provincial police.

Provincial police officers have complained that with their other duties they have not had time to patrol the highways adequately.

The select committee on highway safety will consider the question in future meetings.

'Viet Nam' Big Thing For Canada

CALGARY (CP)—Canada's participation on the Viet Nam armistice supervisory commission is the "biggest thing of its kind undertaken by Canada," External Affairs Minister Pearson said here Friday.

He was here en route to Vancouver where he will attend the British Empire Games.

Mr. Pearson said the Indo-China commission would have a difficult and complicated job. The commission would have neither executive nor enforcement responsibilities but would nevertheless have many delicate tasks to handle in its efforts to keep the peace and ultimately to supervise elections in Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

The minister said he did not expect complete details of the commission's task and Canada's part in it to be known until some time next week.

Canadian Westinghouse Co. had charged the union with the responsibility for an organized slowdown and asked for damages of $29,500. The report stated that the board was of the opinion it has no power to award or fix damages.

French Hopeful New Concessions To End Terrorism

Defence, Foreign Affairs Only Strings to New Pact

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — France gave Tunis control of its internal affairs today — with a few strings attached . . . in a lightning effort by Premier Pierre Mendes-France to end terrorism in this troubled protectorate.

Acting with the authority of his cabinet, the premier told the Bey of Tunis that, if he desired, a new government could be formed which except for defence and foreign affairs would be empowered to negotiate with France the terms of the new internal sovereignty.

The statement was made to the Bey within two hours after Mendes-France's surprise flight from Paris to outline the new proposals approved by his cabinet, Friday.

The internal autonomy of the state of Tunisia is recognized and proclaimed without reserve by the French government," Premier Mendes-France told the Bey in a formal statement. The high quality of the Tunisian leaders justifies that the people should be called upon to direct their own affairs."

Flanders Says McCarthy Should Be Censured

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Ralph Flanders (Rep.-Vt.), denouncing Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep.-Wis.) as one who "can scarcely avoid being called a Fifth Amendment senator," asked the Senate today to censure McCarthy for conduct that "tends to bring the Senate into disrepute."

Flanders presented in a prepared address what he termed a "bill of particulars" accusing McCarthy of contemptuous refusal to answer questions raised by a Senate subcommittee in 1952 concerning McCarthy's integrity.

"If he (McCarthy) continues to refuse answering," Flanders said, "he finds himself in the same category as the Fifth Amendment Communists. He is quite evidently developing the same ground and can scarcely avoid being called a Fifth Amendment senator."

Flanders said other items in his "bill of particulars" are that:

1. "The Senate's honor and the nation's honor have been compromised by the senator's former associate staff."

2. "The senator has an unethical connection with people which included, Flanders said, use of abusive language to Brig. Gen. Ralph A. Zwicker, a decorated war hero.

CAN'T BE APPEASED

Flanders said the row which provoked the recent televised McCarthy-Army-hearings might never have occurred if the secretary of the army (Robert T. Stevens) had only tried to appease the senator.

"I think one may say with some assurance," Flanders continued, "that those are those who cannot be appeased. They are, or have been, Hitler, the Kremlin and the senator."

Flanders said the loss of Moira district's efforts from the field of Red hunting. If it happens, "will be no loss at all to the anti-Communist campaign."

Flanders said the Senate must hold McCarthy responsible for what he termed irresponsible conduct by his staff and former chief counsel to the Senate investigations sub-committee. Roy Cohn. Cohn is a non-salaried consultant, on a trip to Europe last year to investigate the U. S. information program.

London Police Intercept Ship Carrying Scientist to Czechoslovakia

LONDON (AP)—Joseph Cort, a 26-year-old Boston scientist, and his wife were reported headed for political asylum in Red Czechoslovakia today after having been told to leave Britain. But at the last minute, they were taken off a Polish ship on which they sailed.

The professed ex - Communist and his wife Ruth, 28, were on the freighter Jarowslav Dabrowski when it left the London docks early this morning, port authorities said. Before the vessel could leave the Thames, Scotland Yard agents ordered it stopped and went aboard and arrested them.

The ship was still being held here at noon.

Police declined to say whether their action concerned the Corts or whether they were checking on reports that a Polish stowaway seeking asylum in Britain was being held on the Jarowslaw Dabrowski against his will.

Police and immigration authorities had visited the ship several times while it was at the dock in connection with the persistent stowaway reports. They had not announced the arrest of the Corts before leaving the country.

'Retirement' for 30 Years Pays Off Handsomely in Wall St. For Joe Docter Native of City

By ROYD UPTER

There is more drama on Wall Street than there is on Broadway and the pay is better if you know what you're doing.

Joe Docter, formerly of Belleville, has been acting on Wall Street for almost all of his 52 years in New York and today he is reputed to be a millionaire. To hear him tell about his rise to riches the journey was all fun.

"There is no difference between the stock market and the product market on your market square," he said in an interview this week. "If you don't know the stuff that is being sold and you won't consult those who do know, you will lose your shirt," he commented.

Knowing what is being sold and knowing those who do when he doesn't has paid off handsome for Joe Docter.

"Once I felt I was handicapped because I did not have a college education," he said, "I am thankful now that I never had because I soon realized how little I knew. I have gone around picking other people's brains just to get by."

GOOD RESULTS.

The picking have been pretty good.

"I don't do much now," he said. "I've been retired for 30 years just doing what I pleased."

Just doing what he pleases turned out to be an all-day stint in the offices of the biggest New York stock brokers, where he is a customers' man. A typical day of activity for him always includes business consultations with interested persons with business leaders, checking the latest industrial and stock market developments, a luncheon noon hour, more consultations, tips to financial editors of the New York newspapers, and every now and then, another personal investment.

Looking at Joe Docter it is hard to believe that his finance is a rough and tumble occupation. He is physically unmarked by his toil in the money mills of Manhattan and carries his 52 years like a man in his early 50's.

What is the secret of making money on the stock market? he was asked.

"Be God's sake, think," is the straightforward advice of Joe Docter. "Use your head. Do your own deductions. Check your information. You can't do things right without thinking."

NATIVE OF BELLEVILLE

Joe Docter was born in Belleville in 1880 in Docter's Hotel. He attended public school here and then graduated from Belleville collegiate and hard knocks taught him more than his books.

One of his first jobs was as a motorman on Belleville's tram mills there and it was on that job that taught him a lot about analyzing businesses as will be related later.

His first regular job, as a clerk with the Grand Trunk Railway in Montreal, paid him $7 a week and the privilege of riding home week-ends on the engine. He went to New York in 1902 at the princely figure of $40 per month which he supplemented by working as a theatre usher.

By 1908, after courses in shorthand and typing, he went to work for the Standard Oil Co. until it was broken up as a monopoly in 1911. During World War I he joined a Wall Street investment business, later transferred in Phoeheimer and Co. then to the Wallstreet offices which merged with Mackay and Co., which in turn merged with Lehman and Co.

"One of the first things I learned from my mother was always to give my honest opinion about things," he said. "And, by God that for years I have been in a position to give my honest opinion to people even when they didn't like it. Being independent is the grandest feeling in the world."

CHECKS ALL ANGLES

Being independent is the ingredient that has made Joe Docter financially independent. One of his investment maxims is to carefully checking all possible angles from a management agement to the number of staples in the stenographic department. has been to go into a business other people shy from.

Case in point is the New York, Ontario and Western Railroad—a line that is little known even in this country, particularly investors balked at buying stock in a non-operating railroad. Not Joe Docter, and for a good reason. As Joe, and very few others realized, the defunct railroad was worth more as scrap than the price of its stock.

And that is one way to make money on the stock market.

"People who think they have a first mortgage should be careful they know what they have," he cautioned. "Politics and labor can interfere with business, for instance, keep a railroad running at a loss, using up the business's assets so that the bondholders will realize value from their holdings."

One of the cornerstones of Mr. Docter's early financial successes was the ship and paper industry. It still kindles a glow in his heart, a friend says, to see a ship on the slide of what he calls "fundamentals" and to read about more commonly known as "natural resources."

"I have never known a time when timber has not become more valuable," he said.

Certain other conclusions early in life also proved valuable to Joe Docter. One was the best his sons he ever learned was the importance of insisting on the real background of an enterprise before investing in it.

FALSE PROSPERITY.

"I remember the old Belleville street car line," he said. "There was some talk of the city trying to dicate going to purchase it. It was rumored that representatives were coming from Toronto to look over the line. Actually the line was pretty sick.

"Well, for a week, the company gave away tickets by the baker and traffic was phenomenal. You see what I am driving at?"

Being strong on fundamentals has given Mr. Docter an uneasy feeling about the stock market at present.

"I don't like the business outlook," he said. "It is the same in Canada as it is in the United States.

"Industry is geared to the cold war. If peace comes there will be a drop in business. There simply will be no outlet for all present production."

The United States is building up industry in foreign countries. These industries will inevitably compete with U.S. exports.

"The average worker has been getting lots of overtime. It has become the custom for wives to work and in many cases for them to earn overtime. The attitude and of living has been geared to overtime and double cheques," he said. "Overtime is going out with decreasing production."

"I am fearful of time payments, too", he said.

"I don't think there will have a depression like 1929 again. I am not an alarmist but I think we have learned enough not to get into a depression as bad as 1929".

CANADA'S FUTURE BRIGHT

In Joe Docter's opinion Canada's future looks good.

"Canada is blest with such a quantity of natural resources that she is comparable to the United States at that time early in his career. Its resources were just being developed. Canada has these resources today and they are being developed. Much of the United States have been used up.

"I was speaking to directors of two of New York's biggest banks, and they told me they had changed they feel they have missed the boat developing the Canadian investment."

After a lifetime of hard and successful work, Joe Docter might be excused for wanting to take it easy but, as a matter of fact his plans for the next 10 years call for a continuation of his "retirement" as a customers' man at Laidlaw and Co. "just one of a 1,000 of them."

All his life he has indulged two hobbies. One is golf and the other is "talking with newspaper reporters". One of his greatest joys is digging down into figures in the world of finance and every quarter he reads it in print.

VITAMINS ENTHUSIAST

Vitamins are one of his big enthusiasms.

"Some people scoff at vitamins", he says. "They say it costs a hundred dollars all the necessary vitamins are included. How do they know? Nobody does know that the soil in which your food is grown is deficient in certain ingredients, how can you be sure they are in the food you eat?"

Joe Docter used to visit Belleville about four times a year when his mother was alive but his trips are becoming more infrequent.

"My heart is still in Belleville," he says. He has proved that it is through the years by acting as a go-between for various American industrialists and Belleville businessmen who have known Joe Docter for years stated today that Mr. Docter would be very anxious to assist anyone from Belleville in New York for the purpose of contacting business and industrial leaders.

"He is highly esteemed by big business executives," said this man who has been a member of the city delegations visiting New York on business.

"His friendly co-operation was of great assistance to us," he commented.

While visiting in the city he stayed at the home of his sister, Mrs. Bertram Docter, 194 Bridge St. East.

Mrs. Bertram Docter is his sister-in-law and the late C. McCuaig, 29 Albert St., is his niece.

His brief visit was scheduled to end on the week-end and from it was back to New York and more "retirement".

"Money isn't the greatest thing in the world", he said. "Good health, family and friendship are more prized by me than money."

And he is one millionaire who believes it.

THIRD DEATH

White's death brought to three the number killed in the four-day rescue operation and down a mine shaft into a "rake" bringing miners to the pithead.

Spectacular Fires In Toronto Cause Huge Losses

TORONTO (CP)—Two fires in the Toronto area Friday night, one of them spectacular, sent flame in a paint plant, caused damage unofficially estimated at $1,000,000 to $1,500,000.

More than 50 volunteer firemen fought a fire at the Graham Bell Enamelling Company Plant at Streetsville, 20 miles west of Toronto. Unofficial estimates of damage ranged from $500,000 to $1,000,000. The blaze destroyed the office, warehouses and the enamelling plant. Damage from the other fire, at the Oakwood Iron Works in suburban York township was estimated at $150,000. Eight night-shift workers escaped without injury.

Two Streetsville firemen were overcome by smoke from flames which shot 50 feet into the air but were revived later. Cause of the fire undetermined.

FLAMES LEAP 100 FEET

Flames from the Streetsville fire leaped 100 feet in the air and smoke could be seen at Erindale, 10 miles away. The fire, discovered shoot 6 p.m., spread so rapidly that firemen could not close the doors of the 2,000 gallon paint mixers before they were engulfed in flames. Leap as high as 100 feet.

Two spectators narrowly escaped injury when the south wall of the building collapsed. One nearby home was threatened when sparks from the fire storm showered the area with sparks and flaming debris. Two Canadian Pacific Railway freight trains on the nearby main line were halted by the fire but only a third train was delayed half an hour. Cause of the fire is not known. The plant employs kept at 1,800-degree heat.

Heat from the fire melted the roof off the blaze in the wooden roof above it. The plant employs about 100 men and women.

Hospital Request for Payment Special Services Cost Laid Over by County Council

Hastings county councillors at the closing session of their summer meeting this afternoon laid over reference to the next session a request from the Belleville hospital board for the county to pay special services costs for county indigent patients.

At the same time the special committee on committees was directed to investigate and report on the matter at the December session of council.

A delegation from the hospital board, headed by its chairman, J. N. Yanover, waited on council earlier in the session with the request the special service costs for county indigents amounting to about $7,000 be paid yearly active to January 1st. The matter was referred to ways and means.

When the matter was opened again for discussion on Friday by Reeve W. J. Davis of Bangor tabled the motion calling for laying the matter over to the county session.

"You would be opening too wide a door," the northern reeve pointed out. "We don't know just how much we're in for and that we lay it over for more information."

The motion was seconded by Reeve Charles Buskard.

Reeve Harry Wells pointed out that Hastings county was willing to pay its share but that the county was not willing to pay something which no other municipality had to pay.

"And it is not right for the Belleville hospital to ask," he said.

MANY REASONS

Reeve Harry Wells of Marmora village said there were many reasons why the county should not pay the bill presented by the hospital. He referred to the county's own institutions and that on the same basis the county might ask for increased rates for the Belleville Public Library.

He also asked whether drugs administered to patients in the hospital and charged out as special services were charged at a higher rate. Who can tell that the hospital does not make a profit on the drugs it sells?

Warden Fred Mitchell observed that this was not a new question. "Hastings county has paid grants to the hospital before," he said.

He noted that a special grant had been paid some years ago for a new maternity hospital deficit while also council at one time voted $1,000 to the hospital and from $3.50 to $4.25 per day.

Reeve Davis said the hospital board are trying to run the hospital as efficiently as they can. He went on to say he didn't think this matter should be laid over. Reeve Fair said he didn't think now although possibly we should not do all that the hospital asked.

There was considerable discussion regarding the high cost of drugs and whether the hospital should have to pay such a fee.

Reeve Sage noted the heavy responsibility of doctors but agreed that they should have a free hand in the administering of drugs to patients.

He agreed that the county had large indigent bills for the hospital insofar as money out of pocket was concerned.

Should we be responsibility for "book loss", however.

Suggestion by Deputy Reeve Cecil Ketcheson that the county give a grant of $5,000 to the year's hospital loss on county indigent patients was passed over.

Deputy Reeve Sidney Sidney felt the city should feel very lucky regarding rates charged for city patients at the county home without attempting to collect additional money for county indigents at the hospital. That would be double taxation, he said.

Councillors felt additional information was needed before the matter could be dealt with and it was decided to lay over until the next session.

RESTORE COST OF LIVING

Unanimous action at the Hastings county jail will have their cost of living bonus restored.

Yesterday after a considerable discussion members voted to pay the bonus, a cost of living bonus a month for jail guards.

At the January session salaries of jail guards were increased in accordance with a provincial recommendation but at the same time a $300 cost of living bonus previously paid was withdrawn by the county. Yesterday's decision restores the cost of living bonus to the county payroll for the jail employees.

Council passed a resolution calling for the establishment of a special fund by the province for provincial government out of which to pay hospitalization costs of needy persons.

The resolution tabled by Reeve Earl Sager of Madoc township stated that the federal government in paying $40 per month pensions to the over 70 group and that the federal and provincial governments pay $20 for assistance grant for needy persons over 65 already indicated there was a need for such hospitalization costs to be paid.

He claimed that payment of such costs by the government would to a large extent solve the indigent patient problem.

Reeve W. J. Davis of Bangor, was of the same opinion and said that the pension departments of the government were better fitted to handle such a program than were the municipalities.

Reeve Thomas Cooney of Rawdon wondered if there would be any benefit if such a program was instituted. He pointed out that Ontario was the richest province and as result would pay the biggest share if the program was instituted on a population-wide scale.

Opposed to this Reeve Price of Elzevir noted that Ontario also had the largest population and as result would stand to benefit most.

VOTE OF APPRECIATION

Reeve Ritchie Wells of Marmora village returned to the city of Belleville to the county home and moved a vote of appreciation to the superintendent and matron for the efficient manner in which the home was being operated.

Reeve Buskard said that the home was now filled to capacity and asked what plans were being made by the home committee to provide additional accommodation if required. Reeve A. Graham of Tweed, as chairman of the county home committee, said no plans had been made but he expected the matter would be taken care of at the next session.

Fifty per cent of the $384 expenses incurred by the county in preparation to fight an assessment appeal by the Bell Telephone Company will be paid by the county.

Reeve C. Buskard of Delora, complimented Sidney council for the work they had done in this matter and pointed out that there would benefit and suggested that the cost of $75 would be paid by the county.

Reeve Tryon of Rawdon felt that council would have far-reaching effects for all municipalities and recommended that the county pay the whole bill.

Still another amendment called for 50 per cent of the bill to be paid.

Reeve W. J. Davis pointed to the danger of establishing a precedent and reminded that there were many appeals before reassessment in the county was completed.

After considerable discussion the amendment to pay 50 per cent of the bill was carried.

The customary grant of $300 to the Belleville Fair, $150 to each of the county fairs was directed paid. A grant of $75 was paid to the Ottawa Winter Fair and $250 to the Toronto Empire Dairy Show, the full amount to be paid only if there was a showing of black cheese.

At the same time the recommendation covering the cheese show grant suggested that cheese be served at all farm banquets.

Big People in Small Places

BY DR. RALPH SOCKMAN

Some years ago, I became acquainted with two brothers.

One held a very high position in the church. He was a large man of imposing appearance. He walked and spoke impressively.

I remember when this big man fell hurt. He had been a member of a preaching mission in a New England city, and had not drawn a large congregation. Consequently, he felt that he had not been properly advertised, and that the entertaining committee had not appreciated his importance. He was visibly nursing his wounded vanity.

This incident, I discovered, was characteristic of the man. His was not a large, generous nature concerned with the causes he served. His concern was to draw appreciation and applause for himself. He was a little person in a big place.

The other brother was the minister of a small, inconspicuous parish. He served it long and faithfully, and was apparently never concerned about moving to a larger field. His name was unknown outside his community, but he was deeply beloved by those who knew him.

BE A CHANNEL

I recall a statement of his. It was this: "A man can never be happy in the ministry unless he feels himself to be a channel. His nature was no Dead Sea; it was a stream of living water. He was a big person in a small place.

According to the world's appraisal, the first brother would have been counted a success; the second, probably, a failure. Society measures persons largely by the size of their positions. The ladder of success is commonly supposed to rise from the little job to the high executive post, and from the small town to the large city.

There is, of course, a certain validity in the principle that personal virtues and abilities lead to social advancement. A normal boy has ambition to get ahead in the world, to become a man who counts. A good employee is eager to improve his work and to receive the reward which goes with it. Who can gauge the impetus given to American youth by the knowledge that from the humblest beginnings our boys and girls can rise to the highest positions?

WRONG EMPHASIS

But I am raising the question whether our desire for publicity and power may not be causing us to measure people by the spread of their names, rather than by the growth of their personalities. It is a sad thing to see a small nature in a big position.

How does God make persons great in small places? For one thing, by making them big natures. I think we know pretty well what we mean when we speak of a big nature. We think of those who are generous in judgment, sympathetic in spirit, and thoughtful of others even before themselves. We think of persons who are magnanimous, not easily offended, and quickly forgiving.

Such bigness of nature may be developed in some children, almost as if it were a native endowment. But a big soul is by no means all a matter of natural disposition. It can be cultivated.

To have big interests helps. I think of a private secretary, who had travelled more than a few hundred miles from home. But each Sunday she taught a class of young people in her church. She kept track of her pupils after they went forth into the world. Some of them went abroad and she followed them with her letters. Here, also, she corresponded with missionary friends. Thus her "lines" went out to the ends of the earth. That little woman became a world citizen. She was a big person in a small place.

Great living begins at home. We are ever looking to governments to solve our problems. To be sure, we need great leadership in high places—but equally, we need big people in little places.

Health News

Canada's infant mortality rate is graphically dramatized in the first of a projected series of health conservation pages in Health magazine. The purpose of the series is to explain the importance of the educational work carried on by each of the provincial committees of the Health League of Canada, and to emphasize the need for voluntary contributions to keep these committees functioning.

First in the series, appearing in the May-June, issue, was prepared on behalf of the child and maternal health committee. A line graph and commentary showed Canada's 13th position among the first 13 nations reporting infant mortality rates. Out of every 1,000 live babies born in Canada, 38.4 died.

Dr. Gordon Bates, General Director of the Health League and editor-in-chief of the magazine, commented editorially: "There is only one reason for this far from creditable condition in this era of progress in the field of preventive medicine. That reason is public ignorance.

"As in all pioneer movements, what is needed is vigorous voluntary action. The Health League of Canada is willing and anxious to help governments to call to public attention the need for saving thousands of children's lives which are needlessly sacrificed, but so far little financial encouragement has been offered from government sources.

For Parents Only

I-Can't Sleep

BY NANCY CLEAVER

"It's hard enough to get children off to bed at night any time in the year — but Daylight Saving Time just makes a mother's job ten times more difficult!" Mrs. Brown complained to her neighbor, who quite agreed with her.

"Our Billy buys the most awful crime comics and then trades them among his friends. They certainly make poor bedtime reading!" Mrs. Smith admitted with a sigh, "Enough sleep is important for growing children — but I get all worn out worrying about it!"

These two mothers voice the opinions of a lot of parents. There are so many conditions (and distractions) to keep boys and girls in a wide-awake frame of mind long after they should be asleep at night. Children do very well in the summer if restless bed. But the watchful mother can usually spy her child's appearance or by his fretful, fatigued actions that he is no tgetting enough rest.

RITUAL HELPS

A going-to-bed ritual is helpful for the small child. Exciting play after supper must be avoided. If he is playing quietly, mother should warn him when his bedtime hour is approaching. Likely he will need a little encouragement to put his toys away — But he can send his clothes with real speed! After he has gone to the toilet, washed and brushed his teeth, he expects a little "tucking in time" with mother.

This is a wonderful opportunity to encourage a child's interest in books. Picture books for tiny tots, and picture story books for pre-school children are a great source of quiet pleasure. Some children hate to see the end of their day — but they are more reluctant to go to bed if it is associated with the fun of exploring in the land of books.

Sometimes there are specific causes why a child is having a hard time going to sleep. He may be too excited from listening to a suspense radio story or seeing an unsuitable movie or TV program for a child, or reading an undesirable comic book. Perhaps he has not had enough exercise in the fresh air — or he may have had too much physical exercise and be too tired!

OBSTACLES TO SLEEP

Active growing children often have tremendous appetites and pangs of hunger may keep him from slumber. A light snack at night may be necessary. Parents, if they can discover why their child can't get to sleep, can readjust his day to overcome, as far as possible, this obstacle.

A child who is under too much parental pressure to excel in school studies or sports may be wakeful. He is apprehensive that he may not come up to his family's expectations for him. Mothers and fathers must learn to accept their children as they are, if their youngsters are to have a relaxed, happy attitude at bed time.

If a parents is the worrying type this is very contagious, and a young worrier may be kept awake by anxious thoughts. Almost every child, at some stage in his life, is afraid of the dark. If mother will give her child the chance to talk about his fears, and will take time to re-assure him, this may be the very "medicine for sleep" he needs.

PRAYERS PRODUCE PEACE

Last, but not least, a child's prayers are a help to the quiet mind and peaceful heart which invites slumber. Parents fail their children if they do not give them religious training. Every child should feel he can talk to his Lord reverently as Father in his own words at any time as well as say a simple Bedtime Prayer.

Dr. Alan Dafoe, famous doctor of the Quinte, once said, "I wish every child could kneel and say his prayers, even at three. Whatever one's religion, and whether one has strong convictions or none at all, it is only fair to give little children guide posts to go by. They need them. Send them to Sunday School, read Bible stories to them, and teach them their prayers."

Some Sweet Day, Bye And Bye

We shall reach the summer-land,
Some sweet day, bye and bye;
We shall press the golden strand,
Some sweet day, bye and bye;
O, the loved ones watching there,
By the tree of life so fair,
Till we come their joy to share,
Some sweet day, bye and bye.

At the crystal river's brink,
Some sweet day, bye and bye;
We shall find each broken link,
Some sweet day, bye and bye;
Then the star, that, fading here,
Left our hearts and homes so drear,
We shall see more bright and clear,
Some sweet day, bye and bye.

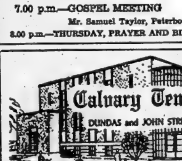
Oh, these parting scenes will end
Some sweet day, bye and bye;
We shall gather friend with friend,
Some sweet day, bye and bye;
There before our Father's throne,
When the mists and clouds have flown,
We shall know as we are known,
Some sweet day, bye and bye.

"SOME SWEET DAY, BYE AND BYE"

It was William Howard Doane, the composer of gospel hymn tunes, who gave Fanny Crosby the theme for her first really successful song, "Pass Me Not, O Gentle Saviour."

That was in 1868, and in the years that followed, Mr. Doane collaborated with the blind singer to produce a number of other glorious hymns and to bring them to the forefront of public favor.

Outstanding among these were not now, but ye shall know hereafter; I closed with the line:



"You will reach the river brink,
Some sweet day, bye and bye;
You will find your broken link,
Some sweet day, bye and bye;
O the loved ones waiting there
By the tree of life so fair,
Till you come, their joy to share,
Some sweet day, bye and bye.

That same night, "Aunt Fanny" fell asleep forever. A few hours after she had penned and posted her note of comfort, she slipped

WELCOME GENTLEMEN!

On Monday, August 2, Civic Holiday, some 284 lawn bowlers will invade the streets of the beautiful Corbin Cup Trophy, emblematic of men's rinks supremacy. This the twelfth year that the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club has played host to the best bowlers the province can produce.

Success of the tournament, backgrounded by the fine hospitality shown its guests by the host club, is evidenced by the fact that year after year the entry list has been completed weeks before the tournament date.

To the visiting bowlers and their gracious ladies, the city extends a cordial welcome. We, in Belleville, are proud of not only the outstanding bowling greens but also the recreational facilities that attract hundreds of visitors throughout the year.

We hope your visit will be a pleasant and profitable one. To the winners, our congratulations. To the losers, our best wishes for better luck next year.

To all, a cordial welcome. The city is yours.

DUCK'S DILEMMA

Ducks had better get their direction-finding equipment overhauled by Rube Goldberg. It is going to require some rather intricate adjustments. The life-time guarantee which ducks have lived with the built-in equipment now appears to have been drafted by a quack-pot. If it fails him, it will probably cost him much more than a little down for the rest of his life which was to the original agreement.

If this duck's-eye view of the new duck-hunting regulations confuses you, your plight is nothing to that of the ducks. Much has been learned about duck hunters—and that is about 5,000 per cent more than the hunters have learned about the ducks—has been 'matured' by the bright boys at Ottawa.

Belleville and district, according to the 1954 duck-hunting regulations, are now part of the central region. The parts of Muskoka are still included in the southern region, which is known to be balmy. It used to be a wise duck knew that, if life got a bit noisy in the northland, a journey south would provide a suitable rest cure. Sometimes, of course, a few hunters got in the way of the ducks—hands in the northern wastes will touch the Arctic night, would discover that this rule seemed to have been amended and that they were passing from a period of peace and quiet, however, with their instincts already befuddled by carousing, it is doubtful whether these ducks fully grasped the situation or ever broke to the realization that the annual journey was starting earlier in the north, also ceased there sooner than in the southlands. (Or rather that was what used to happen this year the closing date for northern, central and southern districts will be the same, Dec. 10). The general rule for a well-trained duck, whenever the skies assumed a leaden hue, was "fly south, young duck, fly south."

According to the 1954 regulations, after which the duck's wider-scattering habits have been patterned, Muskoka is north of Belleville. Therefore a duck which found the Muskoka air unhealthy had only to turn on his automatic pilot and head for the Bay of Quinte or the Prince Edward marshes. There he could be assured of a pleasant rest for a fortnight or so, before the war moved south.

Now all that has changed. The Muskoka duck, when he gets the drift looming, will start zooming not into safety but into an area where the pumps and double-barrels have been warmed up for a fortnight and the gunner's eyes, ears and instincts are at their keenest.

All this is likely to prove rather embarassing for some ducks this fall. Some of the wise boys at Ottawa may talk learnedly about flyways and zones, about which ducks can be counted on, and, nevertheless, we doubt whether these duck highways are so clearly marked that it is not possible for a Muskoka duck to take a side-trip to visit a relative in Prince Edward County. Or, if he is subject to this bureaucratic jamming of the duck's navigation instruments, the duck world will have grounds for a lawsuit.

About the only people left unaffected by the law is likely to be the sporting duck-hunters, the resort owners, the sporting goods stores and the people who like to eat duck.

Where's that old shirt? Must tear off a few strips and fill up the gun.

THE HIGHWAY CONTRACT SCHMOZZLE

Queen's Park was adither on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

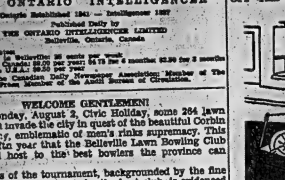
Before three construction firms involved in charges of conspiracy to defraud the Ontario government to receive new contracts for road jobs?

If Some may regard the whole affair as a tempest in a teapot. Others as a conspiracy.

Premier Leslie Frost announced Thursday afternoon that these firms will not be permitted to bid on further highway contracts until their cases have been disposed of in the courts.

It is a wise decision—of the kind that political friend and foe alike would have expected of him.

That does not alter the fact that on Wednesday a routine press release announced the award of one contract to Standard Paving and two contracts to Tomlinson Brothers.



Hon. George Doucett, Minister of Highways, has stated that these contracts were not let. All contracts required his signature, he was absent when the bids were opened, and as a result no contracts were held up for his signature.

That absolves the minister. But does it absolve his department? Mr. Doucett says that the press announcement merely covered low bids, not contracts. That is customary to award contracts to firms submitting the low bids. When these firms, against which charges had been laid, submitted the low bids, did it not occur to those responsible for the press release that, under the circumstances, there was doubt whether these firms would be awarded the contract? Is not the action in making a press announcement on these bids, apparently without consulting Mr. Doucett, indicative of a certain attitude around the department? Does it not suggest that somebody in the department is not taking the highways scandal very seriously?

In any event one thing is evident. Premier Frost says that in future firms facing charges will not be permitted to submit bids. This is an eminently proper ruling. But it is a ruling which was not in effect until Thursday. The three firms did submit bids.

GRATITUDE

Nothing that money ever returns is quite so welcome as simple gratitude when rendered. It's always a strange thing for any of us to give out. Gratitude is something that has its birth in the heart, and when we express it for its use appears, it just has to get out! That's why it's so wonderful.

On the other hand, ingratitude is one of the saddest things in this world. In Hamlin Garland's beautiful tribute to his mother, called "A Pioneer Mother," he said: "There is nothing more appealing to us than neglected age. To see an old father or mother sitting in loneliness and poverty dreaming of an absent son who never comes, of a daughter who never writes, is to me more moving than Hamlet or Othello. If we are false to those who gave us birth, we are false indeed."

It's such a joyful feeling after you have given thanks or expressed your gratitude to one who has given to you who money cannot of life.

buy. A letter is such a simple thing to use in order to express your gratitude. Someone who has been generous to you, or happily sacrificed in your favor.

Take Robert (Bob) Ripley didn't leave me anything in his will, which was neither expected or warranted, but he did leave me a picture of himself at the drawing board I highly prize that hangs in my office, and it is inscribed: "To George Matthew Adams, who gave me my first job, and to whom I am eternally grateful. Signed: Bob Ripley, Believe It or Not!"

How quickly money, material gifts and possessions lose their worth and attraction, but words of love, of cheer, of hope, and expressed gratitude, these live on and on, and we take them with us to our last sleep. How important that we never miss the opportunity to express our gratitude, to others. Our payment in gratitude will remain something in cherish by those who have sought to add a little more happiness in our bank of life.

FREEDOM'S COST

Men have died without regret,
Men have even smiled at pain,
Fires of fury bravely met
So that freedom shall remain.

Men have laughed while facing death
Gladly,
Land and sea and in the sky,

This their solemn purpose clear:
Freedom for mankind to buy.

God above, to Thee I pray
That the day will never be
When in that heroic way
Men again must die for me.

Scot's Spinning Flywheel

(By Melita Knowles in Christian Science Monitor)

This story of an inventor who may revolutionize motoring started on a Jamaican sugar plantation when Bobbie Clerk, a boy of six, refused to play with the other boys. They came to find him he was always putting together or putting apart a motorboat or a model train, a model airplane engine, or some other piece of machinery.

"The boy's a natural engineer like his grandfather," the family would say. Sir Dugald Clerk, F.R.S., is well known as an inventor of the two-cycle gas engine. Bobbie's father was a Scotsman who had emigrated to the West Indies.

Bus drivers and motorcar drivers of the future may well have cause to be glad that a retired Scotsman encouraged his son to play with his hands.

Robert Clerk, now one of the world's experts in transmission, has invented a new kind of transmission system. Among the advantages which this system claims are saving of fuel up to 50 per cent, smaller engines, elimination of the need for hard starting motor, lighter brakes, simpler controls, and smoother riding.

The reduction of fuel consumption would be achieved by cutting down on transport where there is continual stopping and starting.

Mr. Clerk showed me the large, light alloy casings to be used for the mechanism and explained its action briefly.

"The flywheel," he said, "spins in a vacuum chamber at 6,000 to 9,000 rpm, and is used in effect as a 'store' for energy."

In the platform, called the Gyracata, the vehicle is slowed down, by coupling it to the flywheel, which is consequently speeded up. When the vehicle is stopped up, the flywheel is uncoupled, and as it goes on spinning in a vacuum chamber the vehicle is "stored." When the vehicle starts again the engine driven drives direct in the normal way.

"A further practicable of this bus transmission is that it will give a smooth, even, clutchless getaway from a rest, without jar or shock to bus passengers," he said.

"When the vehicle is left in the garage at night," Mr. Clerk explained, the driver puts the brake on, leaving the flywheel spinning at top speed.

"Next morning it will still be spinning, and it can then be used to start the engine.

"We hope to get the looser down so low and get so near a true vacuum it will spin round and round for 10 days," Mr. Clerk said, "but that will depend on whether we get the right sort of bearings."

"In the Gyracata," he said, "there is nothing to go wrong. The high speed flywheel and pinions are totally enclosed and lubricated in the Gyracata transmission are both well known.

From 30 to 80 years ago the Howell torpedo, driven by the energy stored in a high-speed flywheel, was in everyday use by the United States Navy and the French Navy.

As Mr. Clerk told his story I began to see the development of such a project was the work of a Scot.

"I was trying for seven years to find a way to make my own invention," he said. "The actual idea was very simple, and I knew at the start it was driving my motorcycle."

Three years have passed since then and Mr. Clerk is expecting to begin design of a production bus transmission soon. Then it has to be made and tested for two years before route operation.

Mr. Clerk thinks it may be four years before the flywheel is in use on buses.

"In the meantime," he said, "it is costing a lot of cash." He continues his design as a consulting engineer, and has just completed a design for a new transmission for a racing car.

Fortunately, his Gyracata has won the interest and support of the National Research Development Corporation, a body which helps with development of inventions promising to be of national importance.

The application of his revolutionary invention, Mr. Clerk thinks, will give rise to controversy, but he regards this with equanimity. "Controversy rages on opinion," he cites, "may cause the spark which can ignite the lamp of truth."

The Sheep-Duck

(By John Gould in the Christian Science Monitor)

Some time ago I reported here the sad tale of the unfortunate duck, who grew up an orphan and thought he was people. I have lately encountered another aberration in this type of creature, and now have found a duck who thinks he is a sheep.

My brother-in-law, who owns this sheep, has kept a close watch on his development, and says he is convinced as much does elsewhere. The duck was one of those departments of poultry specialties sold over the counter to please those people who like to have a duck for a hollow occasion unless some child gets a duck.

Economically, I suppose the thing stems from the fact that poultry is an industry, when some hatchery whose salesmen were always glad to find a new and easy market to move a surplus. This surplus in the case of the duck it indicted a new idea into Easter.

The flow of these living novelties into the hatcheries where poultry management has been a specialty for years has led me into my earlier report, for there is something inhumane about it if you are looking for livestock.

Unfortunately, this sheep-duck came to a home far back in the hills, where it was surrounded with flocks. Some neighbor thought Bill needed a duck, and Bill's wife thought he needed one enough to turn the duck loose and forget him in the flock. Bill keeps his livestock on the place was a flock of seven sheep which are used in the in-law to be brought to trim bushes. He fenced in the area he wanted cleared, put a low building up, and felt he had saved himself at least a month's work with a bush scythe. Sheep will do quite a job, in addition to their grazing, if you will let them that you can't get off a bush scythe.

The new duckling got over the fence as fast as anybody, and waddled about the dooryard as if it were a pond. It looked for a while, and then began to quack, and he quacked back. When he would make any suggestion of a disturbance, like a watchdog, the newcomer was crowding took place in his dooryard he would bustle to be in front, thick of it.

In this way he got stepped on several times, and seemed to be getting healthy, like a retired pugilist. It must have seemed to him that life was fairly active, and one day he discovered the sheep and moved in with them. He immediately became one of the flock.

All around he grazed with them among the kids-hill bushes. He fed with them in the pen at night if they hivouacked, or snuggled with them if they went store.

In the fold. About the first of September my brother-in-law noticed that this duck was developing a quack like a sheep, or has like a duck, if you see what I mean. It was a bleating, his loud, repetitive quacking, and now and then a shrill "baa-a-a-a-ah." It was not unlike the bleat of a lamb.

Then my brother-in-law noticed that the duck was following the He had hollowed out a little pool below the spring, and the duck never went near it. If the flock went to drink at the brook and somebody near the house made a noise the sheep would come running at full tilt, going out around the duck. The duck would then put up his head: his flat feet would paddle as fast as possible, and come running out around the pond, too, most awkward and ungainly.

In the fall when frost skinned the tender vines with thin ice, the duck wandered out one day and broke through. He got in the water and my brother-in-law ran over and waded to save him from drowning.

This past summer the duck was old, and just lately the new lambs arrived and the sheep have become a family. The ewes have a different attitude, and they appear to be more maternal. The lambs runs to them, but they rebuke him. They draw back a threatening head and kick which sends him rolling, and he scrambles up with the others. Just like that mother-love is possessive and exclusive, and "that's mine" is the tender and sensitive. He is getting punchy about the head, and spends his time off by himself in a fence corner ruminating and looking unhappy.

My brother-in-law intends to introduce another duck of this affair and there may be more ducklings. I'm still glad I am not a ten-cent duck.

Your pamphlet on piles has proved a great blessing to me, for I encouraged me to visit the doctor and get the injection treatment. Now for the first time in years I am free from trouble . . . The pamphlet on Piles is available on written request if you will enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and, of course, state your request. I'm not fooling and I have no time for monkeyshines. The title of the pamphlet was formerly It is Stupid to Suffer From Piles. (Ed. Note: Dr. Brady's are not available in Canada.) A good many pile sufferers who received the pamphlet and obtained the injection treatment which I recommend in the pamphlet, later assured me that it was stupid, but so many hundreds of them misunderstand what I meant resented the affront, as they interpreted it, that I changed the title, but not the teachings and advice.

There must be many, many thousands of persons who suffer needlessly from piles, because they dread the stretcher operation and the prolonged post-operative discomfort in hospital, and who wouldn't?

One correspondent writes that the head man at the clinic was amused when he inquired about the possibility of ambulant (office, injection) treatment, told him he had never heard of it and went ahead with arranging for operation. I couldn't judge from the man's letter whether he wanted to learn more about the injection treatment or perhaps just to put me in my place.

I haven't had much experience on the receiving end but once I was whisked off to the hospital for appendectomy—the appendix had gone gangrenous in less than 24 hours from the word first intimation I had that anything was wrong—and it wasn't from following somersaults — if that were harmful I'd be in a bad way now, for many or may not believe this, but I enjoyed to the hilt every minute of that experience . . . everything was so pleasant that I couldn't work up dread of an operation. If I were told to do so.

But I love freedom, and for that reason would not have injection treatment, not operation, if I had piles.

Summer cottage resorts are inhabited mostly by families who have been going to the same cottage for years, sometimes two and three generations. Flibbertygibbets, also, go to summer hotels, and wander from place to place over the years, but the cottage resort is that consist of the type of house which is not quite fit for permanent habitation, and is therefore rented to transient families that come and go, seldom returning.

But to those families who belong in the latter category, those who year after year, and generation upon generation, inhabit the same dear spot regardless of peace or war, hard times or affluent, their summer cottage becomes a more beloved premises than any other home they live in or have lived in. I know that in the war, when I was scared stiff and felt my final hour had come, it was the summer home with which I was most familiar since childhood that swam into my vision as I tried to conjure up some tender recollection in whose company I might happily be bumped off. I remember I went to a good many comrades; and those who belonged to the cottage sort agreed that they had the same experience.

It is therefore a sad thing that greater peaks yet to be scaled.

The other was a publican who beat his breast and cried, "God be merciful to me a sinner." That man, declared Jesus, went down to his house justified rather than the other.

This may seem to be in contradiction to the commandment Jesus that we be perfect, even as our Father in heaven is perfect. But there is no contradiction. We are to seek perfection but we are not to claim it. If for a moment we think that we have attained it, we reveal by that attitude that we have not attained it. Or even if we have attained what we consider perfection, that state would be only an eminence from which we would view

Legion to Urge Compulsory Military Training

TORONTO (CP) — A resolution urging the federal government to adopt selective compulsory training to augment existing reserve forces will be presented at the Canadian Legion's biennial convention, which opens here Sunday night.

The convention will be officially opened with an address by Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, grand president.

Legion executive officers, at a press conference Friday, said they had been informed of grave weaknesses in reserve air crew strength for the NATO Canadian commitments in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and in Korea had been met, but were now differently.

Development of massive air transport since the Second World War, would leave Canada no time in which to assemble and train personnel for any of the forces, legion officers said. There would be no useful period for effective attack, declared or undeclared, and the immediate need for defensive action.

DOESN'T ADVOCATE

Dr. C. B. Lumsden, the president, a Baptist minister of Wolfville, N.S., said the legion, however, does not advocate universal compulsory service. Nor does it presume to suggest how selective compulsory training should be applied. Final wording of the resolution will be shaped by the delegates attending the convention, Legion policy experts and forms of action:

1. The federal government should adopt a method of compulsory training which will bring existing reserve units at least to authorized strength, and thus establish a national reserve of trained personnel.

2. The federal government should take the necessary steps to compel attendance of all male youth personnel, whether volunteers or selected trainees, at parades and exercises of their units.

The question was raised, "What will be the reaction in Quebec?"

A spokesman said the legion thinks that the young men from Quebec who served in the Second World War have returned to their homes with a greater feeling of unity than existed before the war. Quebec's unequivocal stand against communism would lend support to measures that would ensure an adequate Canadian defence against attack.

Just home from a kennel show in Vermont where she showed two of her dogs, Mrs. W. Sills, Trent Road, shows her male corgi which already has won several blue ribbons. Mrs. Sills is the first Canadian breeder of corgi dogs, favorites among members of the Royal Family.

Avondale Resident Owns 3 Welsh Corgis Favorite Dog of Royal Family

For many years a favorite breed of dog among members of the Royal Family, Welsh Corgis are gaining in popularity in Canada, according to Mrs. W. Sills of Avondale who breeds them.

Mrs. Sills has operated Edgetown Kennels and has made a name for herself as a breeder not only throughout Ontario and Quebec. She recently returned from a trip to the New England States where she showed her dogs.

She chose the Welsh Corgis to breed "because they are new and different" and also because of the attention brought to them through the Royal Family. The three Corgis she now has, an adult male and female and a six-weeks puppy were purchased from other breeders but she expects a litter of puppies will shortly increase the number.

Used to the Weishmen for many centuries to herd cattle, the blond coated and short legged Corgis appeared to have been the gift of the fairies.

GAIN IN POPULARITY

The Welsh Corgi has increased in popularity in the United Kingdom until now there are more than 5,000 registered annually in England, the fourth most popular breed. They are also popular in the United States while it is estimated there are about 100 in Canada. As far as Mrs. Sills knows there is only the other breeder of Corgis in Ontario. Which number has it is that the breed descended from a pair of dogs found by two Welsh children who were herding cattle on the King's land. The children thought the animals were foxes, but found them friendly and took them home, later training them for cattle herding duty.

The men of the house said the dogs were a "perfect gang of fairies". There was a Welsh legend that the "wee folk" kept just such dogs for riding but the "Corgis" or dwarf dogs. The fairies were supposed to have used the dogs to pull fairy carriages and for riding.

By way of proving the story Weishmen point to a peculiar mark which appears over the shoulders of all pure corgis. It consists of four lines of turned hair curving from the back of the neck down in front of the front legs. These were the marks left by the saddles of the fairy riders, say the Weishmen.

DESERVE POPULARITY

Mrs. Sills is quick to admit that the fact the Royal Family's house dogs are corgis has helped the breed's rise in popularity, but says they make good pets and deserve every popularity in their own right.

Apparently there are different breeds of Welsh corgis. The breed chosen by Mrs. Sills is the Pembroke, distinguished by the short tail.

Her adult male corgi, "Furnace Brook Highness" has been cleaning up at Ontario kennel shows and already this year has won a handful of blue ribbons. The dog has been shown at Ottawa, Toronto, Montreal and Hull.

"I like dog shows, and I like stiff competition," says Mrs. Sills. "That's the only way to learn just what you have."

The dog is an old story for Mrs. Sills. She started Edgetown Kennels "back in the 1930's" with pekinese, Bostons, wire haired and smooth-haired fox terriers. Then some years ago she went temporarily out of the business but three years ago started again.

Now, however, she is concentrating on two breeds of dogs—Bostons and corgis.

"Furnace Brook Highness has been winning ribbons for her owner at recent dog shows and Mrs. Sills is expecting a good litter of the puppies. Her female corgi is a first cousin of Queen Elizabeth's corgis, while the parents of her female corgi puppy were imported brought from England.

Kiwanis Club Holds Carnival, Street Dance

MADOC—The 6th annual carnival and street dance sponsored by Madoc Kiwanis Club was held on Wednesday night. It being a perfect evening for outdoors the event was most successful.

The evening program started out with an hour's program of band music by the Madoc and District Band. Following this a stage show was presented by the Gaston Bros. This was followed up with games and continued with round and square dancing with music provided by Madoc Music Makers.

The holder of the lucky ticket on the $100 bill was Allan Ramsay, of Queensboro. It is estimated that over 1,500 attended the evening's entertainment and the finances were particularly good and will enable the club to carry its welfare work throughout the district.

AFM Union Members Approve Petrillo Policy

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian members of the American Federation of Musicians Friday night went on record in support of their union's jurisdictional fight with the American Guild of Variety Artists and pledged full support to AFM president James C. Petrillo.

Delegates from Toronto, Kingston, Quebec and Ottawa at a meeting of the Montreal Musicians Guild, local AFM organization, passed two resolutions supporting the union's action in boycotting AGVA acts and pledging "unqualified loyalty" to Petrillo.

Walter M. Murdock of Toronto, Canadian director of the AFM, told reporters afterwards his group is "standing by" the AFM in dispute with AGVA over the right to represent certain entertainers.

He said the fight will be continued until AGVA signs a pact similar to one drawn up in 1950 outlining which entertainers should come under the jurisdiction of either union.

The dispute started between the two American Federation of Labor unions when AGVA "abrogated the agreement," Mr. Murdock said.

Both unions claim the right to represent artists who use musical instruments in their acts.

Two Red Pilots Used Bad Judgment In Picking Fight Says US Commander

By DON HUTH

MANILA (AP) — Two Red Chinese fighter planes who picked a fight with United States Navy pilots five days ago ran into "a bench of tigers," the American air commander said today.

The Chinese were shot down July 26 by the American pilots, who were searching for possible survivors of a British airliner shot down by Red Chinese planes on April 11.

In three action - packed minutes, the U.S. Navy Skyraiders from the aircraft carrier Philippine Sea and the propeller-driven Red fighters into the South China sea about 15 miles east of Communist - held Hainan Island. American casualties were reported.

The U.S. protested to Peiping that the search planes were attacked over open sea. Peiping rejected the protest and charged that the U.S. planes "violated" the air over Hainan.

The navy pilots, on orders, ignored later protests from a Communist, Chinese gunboat escorting two Polish freighters.

Details of the story were told today for the first time at a press conference aboard the aircraft carrier Hornet by Vice-Admiral W. K. Phillips, commander of the U.S. 1st Fleet, and the pilots who participated.

"It is my opinion those two Communist pilots expected very bad judgment," Phillips said.

Phillips commanded the task force, including the carriers Philippine Sea and Hornet, during the rescue operations.

The 11 Skyraiders, nine of whom flyred bursts into the Red planes, were commanded by Cmdr. George Duncan. Duncan, a veteran of the Korean war credited with 13 Red MIG's, said the boys were "like a bunch of tigers when the Red fighters [MIG's] attacked."

The commander said, "it was like World War Two days again — one big ball in the air."

Equalized Assessment of $23,134,000 For 1955 Adopted by County Council

An equalized assessment of $23,134,000 for 1955 was adopted by Hastings county council Friday morning when the assessment was read by county assessor Cecil J. Green was accepted and the necessary by-law passed.

The assessment figure of $23,134,000 for next year compares with an equalized assessment of $22,000,000 this year. The figures for all municipalities in the county were changed.

Discussion on assessments commenced Thursday afternoon when Mr. Green presented his assessor's report. There was considerable discussion as one reeve and another objected to the figure for his municipality and the matter was ultimately referred to by-laws for further discussion.

The county assessor in his report noted that 18 of the county municipalities have been reassessed and work was well underway in most of the remaining municipalities. The last two to be completed were the villages of Bancroft and Frankford where the original assessment figures were found to differ considerably from the estimate—made when spot assessments were made.

FIGURES REVERSED

At Bancroft the actual figure following completion of re-assessment was $740,000 whereas the figure had been estimated at $600,000. At Frankford the reverse was the case, the actual being $800,000 instead of $900,000 as was estimated.

The probable total assessment of the county when re-assessment is completed was set at $26,900,000 a drop of $100,000 from an earlier estimate.

Reeve Bernard Hunt of Hungerford township, objected strongly to the suggested equalized assessment figure for his township, pointing out that re-assessment had been completed but had been higher than the actual figures for equalization purposes.

"I agree that it was a bad year but had a lot of explanation to do to my council," he said "It's a bit confusing when the equalized assessment is higher than the actual."

On suggestion of Reeve T. G. Graham, county assessor Green told council that in his opinion the township of Hungerford was assessed low. He also felt that in relation to the other townships it should go up five or six per cent.

Reeve Graham said much of the trouble was due to the fact that local assessors did not work the same and said that things would have be right until assessors forgot about boundaries.

UNEVEN ASSESSMENT

He noted that ratepayers in Huntingdon felt they were more highly assessed in the Hungerford township. "The only way is to do away entirely with local assessors," he said.

Reeve Earl Sager of Madoc township, said his municipality was in much the same position as Hungerford in that its equalized assessment had been higher than its actual for years. He thought that the village of Bancroft should accept an equalized figure more in line with the actual assessment which was $140,000 more than spot assessments had indicated.

"I hope the reeve of Madoc is the only councillor with that feeling," returned Reeve Theodore Tryon of Bancroft. He pointed out that the Bancroft assessment had not yet been accepted and appeals could easily change the whole picture.

Reeve Hunt maintained the county assessor had shown favoritism to indicate that his township should be more highly assessed. Reduced assessments where there had been appeals had been agreed to by the assessor. Also the assessor had indicated the present assessment was about in line.

At this Reeve Graham noted that the same appraiser had told him that Hungerford was not assessed high enough.

URGES ACCEPTANCE

Reeve Willing Davis poured oil on troubled waters by urging that the suggested figures of the county assessor be accepted.

"It seems to me that we are getting into pretty deep water when an individual thinks he has a better over-all picture than has the county assessor," he said.

He went on to note that his municipality had taken "quite a bump" last year when as result of spot assessments made the equalized figure had been raised three times. He was still prepared to go along until re-assessment was completed.

His termed objection to the county assessor's figures as "throwing a monkey wrench in" and suggested the county go ahead and over-ruled the county assessing system would be of little use to the council.

Reeves Theodore Cooney of Bawdon, Harry Morrow of Sidney and Deputy Reeve Cecil Ketchebon of Thurlow also urged that the suggested figures be accepted by council.

WILLING TO CO-OPERATE

Reeve Ketchegon noted that his township had completed a big increase last year and another this year, but they were still prepared to co-operate.

Deseronto Reeve C. J. Brennan felt that while re-assessment in his town was still not completed their assessment figures would take a considerable drop this year due to one industrial plant being dismantled and another suffering loss due to fire. Also the highway by-pass had had a bad effect on property values.

Thursday afternoon a bill of $334 for services preparatory to defence against an assessment appeal by the Bata Shoe Company was presented by Sidney township with the request that the county bear part of the cost.

Reeve Harry Morrow noted that while the assessment appeal had been settled before it went to the court of revision, it would be to the benefit of the county for Sidney to have had the case gone to court. He was asking for the county to assist only with a part of the bill.

Cruiser Collides With Freighter In St. Lawrence

POINTE AU PERE, Que. (CP) — The United States Navy cruiser Pittsburgh collided with the British freighter Slaney in the fog-laden lower St. Lawrence river Friday night, injuring three merchant seamen, one seriously.

The sleek 14,000-ton cruiser, flagship of a 16-vessel task force on its way to Cuba, crashed into the 904-ton Slaney 120 miles east of Quebec City at 8:30 p.m. EDT.

The injured seamen, one suffering a fractured skull, were taken aboard the cruiser for treatment in the ship's hospital. All but four of the Slaney's crew were transferred to the cruiser and the damaged vessel anchored in the river.

Names of the injured men were not available.

The Pittsburgh stood by until arrival of the tug Banturdy from Riviere du Loup, Que., and then headed downstream for this small town 200 miles east of Quebec City. No plan was announced for the cruiser to meet the grey-painted warship off shore and take the injured seamen ashore. The Pittsburgh was standing by to bring them to hospital at Rimouski. It was not immediately known where the other crew members would be brought.

NO HEAVY PLOUGHING

The Pittsburgh was expected to meet the pilot ship about 4:30 p.m. EDT for the trip to Montreal, Lawrence river transfer.

Details of the collision and its aftermath were learned by the Marconi Radio Marine Service here.

The operator on duty in the station said radio reports coming in from the scene, north of Ile aux Lievres near St. Simeon, Que., established that leaks in holds one and two of the Slaney had been plugged. The Pittsburgh was undamaged.

The Slaney, bound for Montreal from Philadelphia, Pa., 200 miles east of Quebec, radioed for help at 6:30 p.m., EDT, moments after the collision with the eastbound U.S. warship.

Dior Drops Waist-Line, Sends Fashions Back to 1920s Jazz Age

By PEGGY LAMSON

PARIS (AP)—Christian Dior today dropped the waist line to the hips, flattened the bust and sent women's fashions back to the jazz age of the 1920s.

Dior, pace-setter in women's fashion, set off an entirely new style when he showed off his fall and winter creations.

He called it "the H-line."

If it catches on, as most Dior styles have done in the past, he will be tossing aside the winning, feminine, curvaceous lines of recent times.

The designer, who threw a bombshell into last fall's fashions by lifting women's skirts to 17 inches, has turned out a line that is flat, slender and boyish.

Hips are permitted but not much of them. What there is, however, is certainly emphasized in a style highly reminiscent of scenes of bob, the speakeasy, the raccoon coat and the Charleston.

The [illegible] is aimed at turning the attention up women has to the flapper of 1920.

With his new style, Dior put the emphasis on a long, straight and narrow torso.

Coats and jackets all fall from sloping shoulders to a point just below the hips—at the haunch. Waist lines as we think of them are not marked at all.

The straight cut pullover type bodice that is close fitting, clinging and fitting at the hips is featured in all day time wear.

Full skirted cocktail and evening dresses all stick to the same principle, the long torso with the fullness beginning at the hips or below.

With this new design, a 22-inch waist isn't going to be much help unless your other measurements are just as diminutive—as bust, no hips, no hips. What a gal will need is a straight, narrow, long torso.

U.S. Designers Take Dim View Of Dior's Flat-Chested Look

By DOROTH YROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Eliminate the bust? Heck, no!

This was the almost universal reaction of U.S. designers, manufacturers, actresses and the general public today to Paris designer Christian Dior's latest look in bombshell, the flat - chested look.

John C. Conover, executive director of the Corset and Brassiere Association, said:

"The women of this country are famed for their curvaceous beauty and will accept no fashion that makes them look less beautiful. Mr. Dior is a great designer and has long recognized innovator, but maybe he doesn't realize it's difficult for a woman to look flat, slender and boyish when she is built like a woman and wants to look like a woman."

Hedy Cassini, New York designer and former husband of movie star Gene Tierney, was indignant when told of Dior's latest look at the buttline.

"Why, you can't jump over with a woman's figure, you're headed for trouble. You cannot impose an old style on a modern figure. Years ago, during the flapper era, living was different, ideals were different. This new idea is not only unflattering but also unhealthy."

One of the most indignant reactions came from an American actress masculine enough to attended the Dior showing in Paris. Henry Pleha, president of Peter Pan Foundations, cabled his New York office:

"American women will not be bound by Dior's anti-bust edict. This is the worst thing for the exercise, since women have spent the last 20 years getting their figure in shape.

"American men won't take Dior's restrictions lightly. Peter Pan manufactures a Dior's flagrant flouting of the Frenchman's traditional cry, 'Vive la difference!'"

Dior's new silhouette is described as completely flat-chested with dress-tops cut like unshaped camisoles, waistlines loose, belts, if any, at the hipline. Some of them appear to be simply dresses-length cardigans.

Reactions of some of Hollywood's famous sweater girls was explosive and definitive. And the prettiest secretary in our office said: "Why should I want to look like a boy?"

The Torch Well Edited Publication

The "Torch", year book published by the student Nurses' Association of the Belleville General Hospital in honor of the graduating class of 1954, is an attractively printed 76-page history of the training and good times of the nurses and their associates.

The book dedicated to those who have contributed to the construction of the new wing of your hospital, contains messages of good will and congratulations to the graduates from the hospital administration, school of nursing, the medical staff and the nurses' association.

In addition to containing individual pictures of the graduates, "The Torch" also contains several full pages of candid camera pictures of the girls when they are less formal and humorous biographies of girls in all years are included.

Considerable coverage of the graduation exercises and parties is included as well as the text of the valedictory address.

However, the outstanding feature of the book is its profusion of verse. The nurse's life, pen portraits of the medical staff and delicate touches of nursing humor and training are recorded in verse. Some poems are serious, others lighthearted and others down right hilarious.

Joanne Crocker headed the editorial staff of the book. Others on the staff were Margaret Clark, assistant editor; Lorna Fraser, advertising; Donna Edmundson, photography; Joan Green, reporting; Joyce Wiggins, sales manager.

Attractive type and smooth paper lend to the book's appearance. The cover simulates beaten aluminum. The book is dated the year and the figure of a hand holding forth a torch are superimposed in red. Red cord-tied binding completes the color scheme.

Printing and binding were done by the Ontario Intelligencer job printing department.

Life of Ballet Dancer Can Prove Hazardous

By PEGGY THOMAS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The life of a ballet dancer can be a hazardous occupation. And when a man and a woman are both in the business and bent on marriage it's sometimes difficult to get themselves, a marriage licence and a clergyman together at the same time.

The director of the Classical Ballet Company of Ottawa — Mrs. Nesta Toumine—has experienced almost everything that can happen in the theatre, including being caught in Paris at the outbreak of the Second World War.

Small wonder that Mrs. Toumine is the youngest of eight children. She was born in England because her mother, an Englishwoman, made a special trip home for the event.

Her marriage took place in Toronto in 1941. She and her fiancee were working in different companies and never seemed to be able to make plans jell. A sympathetic Toronto newspaper man heard of their plight. Seeing a good human interest story, he engineered the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Toumine now have two sons, Peter and Lorne.

Little Nesta—the name is Welsh —was brought back to Canada when only a few months old and grew up in Ottawa. She returned to London later to study ballet with outstanding European teachers.

She has danced in most European countries with various small companies, including the Ballet de Paris.

"We never knew when we were getting paid. I was about eight before I got an allowance from home, but some of the youngsters had to major in living at it."

The company broke up after it was crippled by illness and had to depend on a wealthy benefactor for passage home.

Mrs. Toumine joined the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and was with it when the war started. The dancers were stranded in Paris but arrangements were made to get them to New York on a ship not dancing at once. They were out of condition and many were just getting over the effects of seasickness.

Directing a school of ballet may not be as glamorous as dancing in the capital cities of Europe, but it isn't any less hectic.

Some six years ago Mrs. Toumine was called in by the newly-formed Ballet Appreciation Society to head its school. The society is no longer in existence, but Mrs. Toumine kept the studio and now has a bit of everything—teaching, costuming and most of the choreography for the amateur company's occasional performance.

If a liquid diet with greater nutritive value is desired, milk is used as the basis. Plain and flavored milk drinks and eggnogs may be given.

There are no rigid rules as to exactly what foods this diet should contain or when they should be given, but generally speaking, when a patient is on a liquid diet, feedings are given in small quantities at frequent intervals. Usually the patient is fed every two hours during the day and once or three hours at night and when he wakes during the night.

LITTLE ROUGHAGE

The liquid diet includes little roughage or bulky food and is easily digested. It consists of liquids and semi-solid foods which, when added to the foods in the fluid diet, are: lightly boiled, scrambled or poached eggs, bread and butter, toast, junket, custard, ice cream, jelly and fruit juices. The doctor may also permit pureed vegetables, meat and fish, which are sometimes given in the form of prepared baby foods.

The chief differences between a light and regular diet is the method of preparation. Foods are plainly cooked for a light diet and pastry, fried foods and all other rich foods are omitted.

Extra nourishment is given in mid-morning and mid-afternoon drinks.

In addition to these diets for sick people, certain diseases require specific diet treatment, these will be prescribed by the tending physician.

TOOK ARGUMENT SERIOUSLY

What to do...

ABOUT LIQUID DIETS

What does a doctor mean when he says a patient should have a liquid diet? It means a light diet.

The John Ambulance Home Nursing text explains that most physicians and hospital authorities use these terms when a modification of general diet is used during illness.

In the absence of more detailed instructions from the physician the following guide will be found helpful.

The liquid diet—sometimes referred to as a "fluid" diet—is the most easily digested of all. This diet includes liquid foods such as broth, albumen drinks, thin gruels, fruit juices and, in some cases, tea and coffee.

Restaurateur Greatly Impressed With English Meals During Tour

By PAULINE KENNEDY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—After a month of travelling through seven countries and eating his way through cuisine of a variety of menus, Toronto restaurateur Hans Freud returned to Canada with some observations on foreign food.

Mr. Freud, whose television cooking show "Hans In the Kitchen" has even interested some males in the culinary art, said that one of the first things he noticed overseas was the small amount of meat consumed compared to Canada.

"In Canada we eat eight or nine ounces of meat per person at a meal—Europeans eat about four," he said.

GOOD ENGLISH COOKS

Mr. Freud who came to Canada from Germany more than 20 years ago said he was very impressed with meals in England. "I think you can find some of the best cooks in the world there, despite their reputation for lack of imagination."

The English, he said, excelled in preparation of fish and have a thousand and one ways to cook chicken. Switzerland he loved because of the wide choice of cheese. He praised Swiss fondue, its most famous dish. It is a mixture of hot white wine and cheese eaten on chunks of french bread.

Another thing that impressed the Canadian cook was the European drinking habits where wines of all types abounded.

"At the cooking competition in Berne a whole building held wine and liquor exhibits from various countries," he said. "We could sample them at our leisure."

Mr. Freud listed five bad Canadian cooking and eating habits.

OVERCOOKING FAULT

Housewives overcook both their meats and vegetables, he said. Properly cooked vegetables should be steamed in very little water and taken out when just a shade underdone instead of overdone.

"Some people have the idea the more you cook meat the more tender it gets," Mr. Freud said. "It just turns to leather."

Some Canadian cooks don't have that "feel for flavoring" which Mr. Freud thinks is so important. He advised abolition of the measuring system and experimenting with the best and taste method of cooking for best results to the palate.

His fourth caution—don't drink hard liquor with your meals. It completely strangles the taste buds," he said, "yes—hard liquor, never.

Another bad habit—to Mr. Freud as a restaurateur—is unforgivable.

"Canadians have the most abominable habit of souvenir hunting, taking silver, small cups or anything else they can get their hands on when eating out."

EAST ZONE RATIONS SHORT

BERLIN (AP)—Communist East Germany has admitted that bread and cereal shortages are plaguing areas of the East Zone. The trade ministry blamed the shortages on the disappearance of Dr. Otto John, West German security chief, behind the Iron Curtain. Weddings

MORGAN—DAY

A quiet but lovely wedding took place in Christ Church, Bellleville, on Saturday, July 17, at two o'clock, when Archdeacon J. R. Creegan united in marriage Barbara Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Day of Toronto, to Walter Thomas Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Morgan of Cannifton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her gown of white tulle over satin featuring two lace panels down the front and lace bodice with long lace sleeves potched over the hands. Her fingertip veil of tulle was secured by satin wedding bells and held by a headdress of white roses. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Dave Pask, who was attractively gowned in blue satin. She carried a nosegay of sweetpeas.

Mr. Dave Nash acted as best man.

The reception was held in the Parish Hall where a wedding dinner was served.

The bride's going away ensemble was of blue linen with white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

The honeymoon was spent at Niagara Falls and points west.

CLARK—TOWNSEND

The Grace United Church, Trenton, Ontario, was the scene of a quiet wedding, at 11 o'clock, Saturday, July 17, when Rev. E. A. Puttenham, united in marriage, Ruth Ellen Townsend, daughter of Mrs. Everett Nicholson, of Bayside, and the late Mr. Everett Nicholson, to Donald Ross Clark, son of Mr. Lee Clark, of Consecon, and the late Mr. Lee Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Halsey, sister and brother-in-law of the bride, were the only attendants.

Those present were the immediate family, and a few close friends. They were entertained at the home of the bride and bridegroom.

Later, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Clark, Consecon.

The bride and groom will reside at 169 Wilkins Street, Trenton, Ontario.

RHEE AGAIN URGES ATTACK ON COMMUNIST CHINA

SISTERS ALL

By Jean Love Galloway

Women are funnier about making sure house doors are locked than men. Once a woman we know, who when travelling alone is so scared she will be robbed that each night she hangs her purse on the outside of her hotel room with a note saying: "Here's my money. You're welcome to it. Take the purse, but please, please don't scare me to death."

HYMNS

So often you hear church-goers mention the fact that they miss singing the good old rollicking hymns they used to know so well. If you look around at the congregation during the singing of hymns, most people are expressionless. It is as if they sing more from a lack of inspiration than from a love of spiritual melody and joy.

Church congregations have come to accept dull music as the kind they always hear in church. Old hymns with new tunes, unfamiliar hymns, hymns with no melody, no cheer. Yet there are so many beautiful church songs, so inspiring, so stirring, so uplifting hymns. It is to the old standbys that people turn when they are in real trouble.

Recently three Sea Cadets were drowned in a group tragedy in Toronto Bay. To keep warm in the icy waters and to keep their spirits high, it was reported that these lads were heard singing "Onward Christian Soldiers" as they clung to the side of the boat for their lives.

We have yet to hear "Silent Night" sung at Christmas time in a church service that is often sung in Sunday Schools. Usually Christmas carols and Christmas hymns are chosen for their unfamiliarity and church services become a low choir comes forth with an odd Hungarian carol nobody few of us know when.

MOST BEAUTIFUL

Some of the children's hymns are the most beautiful. Yet they are seldom sung anymore. Hymns like, "Can a Little Child Like Me," "God Sees the Little Sparrow Fall," and "When He Cometh."

They tell us that the minister usually selects the hymns to tie in with his sermon and that in some churches the organist may help choose the Sunday music. If this is so, we would like to divide the hymn books into two parts—those which are apparent favorites of the ministers and organists and those which are the favorites of the congregation.

The ministers and organists could arrange to sing theirs on certain week nights. But on Sunday, the whole congregation could join in singing the hymns that melody, with force, with simple faith.

Yesterday we saw a small town's garbage disposal truck. It was a bright red, enamel-on construction, in rough, black letters on the side were the words: "Miss - Take, Garbage Disposal."

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

THINK WELL BEFORE MAKING SUCH A REQUEST

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I'm terribly hurt by some bitter criticism of me made by a friend of mine, his criticism having been passed on to me by several of our mutual friends.

I'm appealing to you to tell me if I deserved such criticism, and also for your advice about what to do about it. The situation was that I was invited by this friend to a dinner at her house, and I accepted. Then a college friend of mine wrote me that she was to be near our city on that date, and could she come to visit me for that week-end. I wired her of course to come, and then I telephoned to my hostess-to-be asking her if I might bring my visitor to the dinner. The hostess seemed confused, said that it was to be one of her customary dinners for eight, that her dining table didn't accommodate more guests, and that she'd have to get extra girl she (the hostess) would have to invite a man guest. Of course I said I understood, and apologized for asking. But there was nothing I could do in the air then, and also in the hostess' attitude to me at her dinner. Now I'm receiving these reports, saying that my request was "really ribby rude", "socially awkward", and so forth. Was this such a terrible thing to ask of a friend? If so, can you, will you, suggest anything I can do to try to make amends? Thank you, Mrs. Beeckman, for any help.

Worried Friend.

I'm sorry I can't give you any solace about your thoughtlessness, however impulsive it was. I believe I am right in judging that you knew the type and size of dinner your friend is accustomed to, and that, after regarding this, you forged ahead and asked for the invitation for a guest. I do agree with your hostess that your request was "socially awkward", although I certainly do not approve of her broadcasting her criticism of you.

My advice is that you ask your hostess if you may come to see her, talk over this happening with her, apologize deeply for your impulsiveness, and ask her forgiveness. (Sincerity and humility are powerful forces in forgiveness). Then, as soon as possible, invite her either to a dinner at your house, or to some "occasion" that you think would be a particular delight to her. Get busy at once re-establishing the status of this friendship.

WHO PROPOSES FIRST TOAST TO THE BABY?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband has asked me to ask you this question: After the church christening, when relatives and friends come to our house for "the gathering of the clans" (as my husband calls it) who proposes the first toast to our new son? I think my husband should, but he thinks the baby's godfather should. Who's right?

New Mother.

Your husband is right. The baby's godfather should propose the first toast to the boy. That what a wonderful toast this can be!

(Mrs. Beeckman will be glad to answer questions on Good Manners submitted by readers.)

QUESTION:

I wonder if you could help me with my problem? I know I can't prevent the hot fat from smoking and turning dark when making doughnuts? (2) Recipe for preparation of poppy seed mixture used in rolls. (3) recipe for Boston brown bread.

ANSWER:

First I am going to give you the recipe for Poppy Seed Roll because I think it is exactly what you are after:

POPPY SEED ROLL

One pint milk, 1-4 lb. butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 fresh yeast cake, 6 egg yolks, 2 egg whites, grated rind of 1 lemon. Scald the milk and cool in lukewarm. Dissolve the yeast in the milk and then add enough flour to make a thick batter. Beat hard and let rise until light about 2 hours. Then add sugar, salt, melted butter, lemon rind and the well-beaten yolks and whites. Work in enough flour to make a medium stiff dough. Let rise until doubled in size. Divide into 3 parts and roll each out to 1-2-inch thickness and spread with filling (below). Roll up like jelly roll.

Filling—4 lb. poppy seed, 1-2 cup sugar, grated rind 1 lemon, 3 stiffly beaten egg whites. Scald the poppy seed with boiling water to more than cover and let stand 1 hour. Drain off any excess water and put seeds through finest blade of food chopper. Add sugar lemon rind and beaten egg whites. Mix well. Spread on your rolled out dough. Roll each section up like a jelly roll. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr for 45 or 50 minutes.

If your fat browns and smokes excessively it is because it is too hot or is not good quality. Use best quality shortening or lard and use fat thermometer in the kettle at all times. To keep the fat to use again you should clarify it by adding 4 thick slices of raw potato to 1 quart of fat after you have finished frying. When the fat bubbles, strain it into a can or a refrigerator container through 3 thicknesses of cheesecloth. The potato absorbs the flavors of the food just cooked and collects sediment, the remainder settling to the bottom.

BORSCH

Six cups beef meat stock, 2 tablespoons tomato paste, 6 raw beets, grated, 3 egg whites beaten stiff but not dry, 2 tablespoons lemon rind, 1-3 cup dill pickle juice, 1-3 cup sugar cream, 1 tablespoon minced parsley or fresh dill seeds. To the broth add the tomato paste, grated beets and egg whites and bring slowly to boiling point beating all the time. Remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes, then strain through damp cheesecloth, but do not squeeze. Reheat broth then stir in the lemon juice, grated rind, and pickle juice. Pour into hot soup bowls and use the sour cream as a garnish topped with the dill or parsley. If desired grated beets may be left in the soup.

QUESTION:

Could you please furnish me with recipe for "Morn Kichen"? As a newcomer I have just begun to taste some of the cooking wonders of the district and I do like this one. I have tracked down the name and the one special ingredient—Poppy seed, but now I need assistance.—M. C.

ANSWER:

I have no recipe called Morn Kichen. Would you please see recipe above for Poppy Seed Roll. It may be what you are after but with a different name. Some of our generous readers will see this and if I am wrong I am sure they will send me the recipe. Please watch for further information in about four or five weeks' time.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE IS MAKING A CAREER OF HER UNHAPPINESS

In the last analysis, every individual sinks or swims by his own effort, or lack of it. If he can stay afloat only so long as he is held up by somebody else, sooner or later the person to whom he clings will become unable, or unwilling, to hang on to him any longer, and he will inevitably drown. Nor can the one who held his head above the water so long be blamed for the final tragic outcome.

To change the metaphor to another equally appropriate, one might say that no mother wants or expects to go on carrying her child in her arms all its life. What she does expect, and what she earnestly wants, is to see that child learn to stand on its own feet and walk alone, for if it never becomes able to do that, there is obviously something radically amiss.

Which brings us right back where we started, to the fact that, if they are to live normal lives, human beings must learn to stand alone, not only physically, but mentally, morally and spiritually as well. The person who fails to do so is abnormal, in any way. If he is not actually abnormal mentally, he may be physically immature or abnormally lacking in character.

A young woman about whom a worried mother writes has appealed to me to fall into the class of those who are abnormally immature.

Admittedly, she has met personal tragedy. She was married young, at 18, to a young man of 19, but before he went into service. While he was away, she found comfort even happiness, in her loneliness by planning and buying things for the home they would live together when he came back. But when the man with whom she had thought she would live "happily forever after" finished his period of service and returned to her, he asked for a divorce, telling her that he had realized shortly after he was sent that he had married impulsively without really knowing his own mind.

No amount of pleading with her husband to wait awhile and see if they might not work out the marriage happily would move him, and, in the end, she gave in and permitted the divorce.

That was nearly two years ago now, and, ever since, this girl who has practically her whole life still ahead of her, has refused to take up normal life again. "All she will do," her distraught mother writes, "is to go to work, come home, eat her dinner and go to bed. Try as we will, it is almost impossible to get her out of the house in the evening or on a weekend."

Recently, the mother asked her daughter if she didn't really want to get some happiness out of life, to which the girl replied that if everyone in her family stayed well and happy themselves, that would be all she would ever want.

To me that may sound unselfish but, actually, it is not at all. What would be unselfish would be for her to change her whole attitude and thereby make her family happier. Certainly she must realize that by continuing to act as she has been doing, she is distressing them greatly and making it actually impossible for them to be "well and happy." If she were sincerely concerned about the welfare of those who love her and are trying in every way they can to help her, she would make up her mind to take an active, cheerful part with them in normal life.

It seems to me high time that this mother stopped pitying and fussing over her daughter and started expecting her to behave like an adult. Her tragic experience is no reason for making a career of her grief, for sorrow is common to the human race, and if everybody were to concentrate on his own particular trouble, the work of the world would soon come to a standstill. Everyone must let go of the past and move on to the future, and this girl has allowed herself to become so self-centered that she is willing to remain forever a psychological burden on those who love her, she must do this, too.

'Million-A-Mile-' Railway Spans Bush, Muskeg, Water Bringing Ore to Seaport

By BOB JOYCE

Canadian Press Staff Writer).

SEPT-ILES, Que.—(CP)—Jack Campbell of Hamilton, Ont., a tall-rugged Irishman just turned 30, gave a blast on the powerful diesel locomotives out of the yards at Burnt Creek, as it was 7 p. m., June 21.

Twenty-six hours and 357 miles later he nosed the giant train to a halt in Sept-Iles with the first cargo of iron ore ever brought out of the Labrador-Ungava region.

The Quebec North Shore and Labrador Railway—the line the adventurers had said would never be built—was in operation.

LOADS INCREASED

Since that ore trains have rolled out of the bleak north behemoths every day. Loads have been increased as the ore grew richer, and trains grew toward the 110-car target set for the official opening July 31.

In his office in Sept-Iles, C. E. McManus, the man who bossed the whole operation from the mines of Knob Lake to the building of the railway and the docks on the St. Lawrence, scrutinized the latest figures that showed how a $250,000,000 dream was coming true. The bulk of it was spent west to build the railway.

"It will take five years of balancing to bring this railroad up to the standards of lines in other parts of Canada," Mr. McManus cautioned.

There are still places where speeds are kept down to five miles an hour and few where it exceeds 35. What the railway men aim for is eight 110-car trains a day—each carrying 8,000 tons—and capable of speeds of 40 or 50 miles an hour.

DISPATCHED BY RADIO

That will take a few years. By the end of the year 90 miles of new five or six trains daily in 14 to 18 hours on the Burnt Creek-Knob Lake run. Each will be hauled by three diesel locomotives and dispatched by radio. Single-track line by radio.

Next year the railway will begin to do business as a public carrier. It took 44 months, more than 30 tons and the lives of 20,000 men, many of whom quit after only short periods, to set the stage for the driving of the last spike at Knob Lake last February.

At the peak of construction more than 6,000 men battled to get supplies in over roads of tote-roads and back in for the roadbed through dense spruce bush. They toiled day and night and in the hot spots the road slid away into the muskeg. Then the first train inched forward.

Thirty-six work camps were set up in the bush and 14 airstrips were cleared for planes with ample wheel clearance to land on the rough, stony surface. Aircraft bucked headwinds and landed at both to cement, steel bars, lumber and machinery but only three were lost.

AIRCRAFT LOSSES

No fliers were killed though one oil tanker burst into flames when the wheel collapsed on landing. Another plane flopped on a field at Sept-Iles, but broke when a load of steel plates tore loose on take-off.

The railway had its narrow escapes. A rockslide at the opening of one of its two tunnels caught a caboose and carried it hundreds of feet down the slope.

It was Nov. 10, 1950 that J. Hamilton Gray, mayor of Sept-Iles, drove the first spike of the railway at Sept-Iles. Work on the southern end started five months earlier.

SAND, CLIFFS

In the mountains just north of Sept-Iles bridges had to be cut, sometimes in the narrow canons of rivers, turned to grey, oozing mud, sometimes along the sheer face of cliffs that sweep in hundreds of feet above the fast-flowing Moisie river.

Twelve miles out they cut a 2,200-foot tunnel through solid rock and then threw a 1,000-foot steel bridge across the yawning river chasm. Sometimes the men chanced a line over by helicopter permitting crews to work in cable-cars. Then a halt to reach the bridge.

For the next 10 miles men had to hang precariously by ropes over cliffs drilling holes to blast a path for the railway.

The road climbed until it reached the Laurentian Shield—a height of 2,050 feet, about 150 miles north of Sept-Iles.

BROADSIDE APPROACHED

It then was January, 1953, and the deadline for finishing the line was little more than a year off.

Meanwhile, men had been working farther north in sub-zero weather to build a roadbed straight across muskeg country at Knob Lake. Thousands came whole sections sank back into the swamps around and had to be built up again.

Some construction men said the

A Public Education Service of
THE HEALTH LEAGUE OF CANADA
111 Avenue Road, Toronto 5;
in co-operation with this newspaper.

All questions submitted are answered anonymously by members of the medical advisory board or special technical sections of the HEALTH LEAGUE.

The "Health League Question Box" grew out of questions addressed over the years to the Health League of Canada—a unique voluntary lay organization which enlists the advisory support of leading specialists in every branch of medicine, to combat preventable diseases by means of public education. All questions submitted to the "Question Box" are answered by medical or scientific experts and checked for accuracy by members of the specialist technical sections of the Health League.

The Health League, in presenting this weekly newspaper feature, hopes, by making good medical advice available, to counteract the bad advice on health matters freely offered by non-professional passersby and old wives. Readers are invited to submit questions to the above address. Of course, the "Question Box" cannot undertake to diagnose specific ailments by mail. However, all questions will be given courteous attention and answered as fully as possible.

HEALTH WEEK QUESTION BOX CATARACT

Obviously many of the questions received cannot be referred directly to one of the ten technical committees of the Health League. There are doctors connected with most of these committees who have had wide general experience, and who could, in a pinch, draw upon their knowledge to answer almost any medical question that could be put to them.

However, it is the policy of this Question Box to refer all questions to those specialists best qualified to answer them. Where a question does not fall within the specific field covered by one of the committees of the Health League, that question is usually referred to someone with special knowledge who may be connected with the Health League as a special advisor or writer for the magazine Health. The magazine is published by the Health League and draws upon specialists in every conceivable branch of sub-branch of medicine.

The following questions from a Belleville correspondent, which deals with cataract, was referred to an eminent specialist whose articles have appeared cases are happily fairly rare.

Question: What causes cataract? How long is it usually before it has to be removed? It is anything to worry about? Does it affect a person's sight? Is there any danger of a return after being removed?

Answer: Frequently cataract is caused by diabetes, but in most cases the cause is still unknown. The length of time it may be tolerated before it should be removed depends on the age of the sufferer at the time of the onset of cataract, and also on whether the sufferer is diabetic.

In general, a person is 80 at the time of onset, the cataract will be ready to remove in two years or 90, three to four years of 70, five to eight years, and if 50, ten to 15 years.

Under competent care it is nothing to worry about. Unremoved it causes gradual loss of vision.

The answer to your final question regarding danger of a return after removal must unfortunately be answer, yes." However the danger is not great. There are

Starting Perennials from Seed

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

The best of a true gardener is to be able to grow perennials from seed to mature plant. Many of us prefer to buy the plants when they have reached bloom stage, and skip the preparation period. But there is an immense satisfaction in watching and caring for the plant from seed to flowering bloom. It takes time, a little space, some know-how and a large dose of patience to grow perennials.

The time will be well spent in the winter exercise. As for space you can pinch off a small corner of the garden where only a the morning sun reaches the soil.

Learning how skills keeps us young in mind, and your patience will be rewarded by new beauty for your garden and a big saving to your expense account. Five dollars worth of seed will be enough to buy a wide variety of top quality seed, which will produce a hundred, or more dollars worth of plants, even allowing for poorer stock, loss in thinning, and some failures.

CAUSES OF FAILURE

You say you have tried and failed. Let us see what the common causes of failure in growing perennials.

1. Soil too rich. Seeds come with their own lunch pail built in. There is enough food stored up in the seed case to last until the first true leaves have opened for you. Do not use compost, or fertilizers in the starting bed.

Your soil may be heavy, or too fine in structure to allow free circulation of air and water. Sand, clean builder's sand, vermiculite, or pulverized peat moss will lighten, loosen clay soil.

2. Moisture was not properly controlled. There was either too little, or too much. New seed beds need to be moist, but not waterlogged. Water crowds out air, which is necessary for root development.

4. Seeds were planted too deep for their size. Very large seeds need to be half an inch down in the soil, medium sized seeds one inch and very fine seed such as Nicotiana, which is as fine as pepper, should be covered with a mere sprinkling of sand, or vermiculite, and then loosen right into the damp soil with a wide block of wood.

You sowed the seed too thickly. This causes weak sickly seedlings which could easily be a prey to damping off. Mark off the surface of the seed bed in inch squares. Make a shallow hole with a matchstick, at the intersection of squares, and drop one seed in each. When the seedlings are ready for transplanting you cut the soil in inch squares with a seedling in the centre of each, and lift with a spatula, or knife and set in a new bed.

6. You have been plagued by seedlings damping off. Sterilize your soil by a formaldehyde solution, heat the soil with steam, or buy from a dependable seed house. A loose soil with a half inch top layer of vermiculite is favored by many gardeners. Treat your seed by dusting it with a good fungicide before planting.

7. Failure to provide proper conditions for plant life in the various stages accounts for many failures. Too much heat, too much sun, too dry atmosphere, or a lack of sun will be fatal to delicate seedlings.

Damp, close spaces, flats or pots may have carried fungus spores which infected your seedlings.

9. Failure to guard against insect pests by spraying, or dusting at the right time may lose the plant. Use a nicotine Spray, or dust at ten-day intervals if the plants show any signs of attack. Better dust every two weeks, keep an accurate count of the time, and be on the safe side.

10. You neglected to thumbpot the seedlings when they reached the right stage.

If at all possible make a small bed in a shady, sheltered spot in the garden. This may be just four boards forming a square, or three, four, or one large enough to hold four fish flats is a good size to begin. Provide some covering, light cloth, lath shades, an old window sash, or wire mesh will answer.

You will need to protect the perennial from heavy rain before and after the seeds are up. And, you must screen out scorching sun rays. You can grow the seedlings in the soil without boxes, if you build up the soil and provide the right drainage and soil conditions. The soil will not dry out as quickly as in box, and therefore requires less watering and care.

Each Ragweed Plant Produces Over 5,000 Seeds

Ragweed has achieved so much prominence as the cause of hay fever that most of its other unpleasant characteristics are overlooked. In addition to being responsible for some 80% of the hay fever sufferers, ragweed also is a great robber of soil moisture and plant food, is commonly an impurity in red clover seed, reduces the palatability of pastures, even causing off-flavored milk from dairy cows.

An annual plant, it is still very difficult to control, being a persistent seeder, even after being mowed off once or twice during the summer. Each plant produces about 5,000 seeds and these have great vitality, can stand heat, cold, moisture, burying and still grow when conditions become right.

Ragweed has one weakness in that it doesn't like long midsummer days, or early fall frosts. For these reasons it hasn't made too much headway in northern Ontario districts. Accordingly, there is an annual exodus of hay fever sufferers to these northern resorts during the hay fever season.

MUST BE RECOGNIZED

Many of the people who each year abandon the pollen filled air of Old Ontario do not recognize the ragweed plant from which they are fleeing. This is unfortunate, because when everyone recognizes and destroys this weed on sight will we ever be free of ragweed pollen hay fever.

Ragweed is not particular about soil types, growing on soils from too wet to too dry, from sand to heavy clay loam. It is common on roadsides, in back yards, gardens, and farmers' cultivated fields. It can be handled, hoed, pulled, or sprayed, quite safely when pollen is formed, which is not usually before mid-July.

Ragweed is usually a low growing, insignificant looking plant, with much branched stems, finely divided, ragged leaves, pale colored on the under side. The flowers are inconspicuous, yellowish color, arranged on long, slender spikes.

Control is simple. Roadsides are being sprayed with 2-4-D and 2-4-5-T and some has been continued a couple of years ragweed has practically disappeared. Spraying should be extended to cover more roadsides, parks, vacant lots and other areas where ragweed exists.

In gardens it should be hoed out or pulled out, in stubble fields it needed done to say grass it should be plowed, disced, or cultivated early enough to prevent seed setting. Cutting ragweed is not satisfactory unless it is cut very close to the ground, since it sets seed in the axils of the leaves very low on the plant.

Ragweed control is general, and owners of large tracts of unused land in particular, must accept their responsibility in destroying ragweed, setting seeding practices and the population in general much suffering from hay fever. The actual crop increase as a result of ragweed eradication will be highly profitable.

British Empire Games Notes

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three teams are tied for first place in both the singles and doubles at the end of the first two rounds in British Empire Games lawn bowling. New Zealand, Northern Rhodesia and Southern Rhodesia Friday won both their singles matches on the New Westminster greens to win four points, two better than their closest competitors.

Canada, southern Ireland and Australia each won both their doubles rounds on the west Point Grey greens.

James Flavell of New Zealand, winner of the singles in the Empire Games at Auckland in 1950, was victorious in both of his singles rounds. John Linford, Lachine, Que., lost both his singles round.

Canada, however, picked up four points on the doubles play of Sam Gardiner and Dicky Williams, both of North Vancouver. One of the highlight's of the first day's play was William Lee in the final end of Canada's second round match.

The Southern Rhodesian team of Alan Bradley and Ronnie Turner had a one-shot edge in the final end. Williams ran his jack through with his last wood to garner three points for a 17-16 win. In the opening round, Williams and Gardiner defeated the Northern Rhodesia team of Cunningham and Alex Rae, 23-14.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Georgs Nichols was just about a one-man show at the British Empire Games opening. Nearly 20 fans knew it.

The 29-year-old stone mason and middleweight lifter strutted down the cinder track behind hundreds of other athletes. Only athletes from the Barbadoes, Nicholls carried the day while his manager, R. H. Webster, marched smartly behind him.

Many of the other 24 competing countries had scores of nattily-dressed athletes in the ceremonies. Nicholls got the biggest hand from the crowd.

Stan Ralke got into the first B.E. games 24 years ago with a bunch of matched papers. He went into them this time with a free ride as an athlete. Ralke, 51-year-old Toronto shot putter, recalled the newspaper gimmick in the 1930 games at Hamilton as he lined up Friday night with Canada's other 195 athletes.

"I wanted to had in those days," Ralke said. "I didn't have enough cash so I snitched some papers and sold them until I got the price of a ticket. This time it's different."

One navy man lost his wife and some gear during the confusion drill a few minutes after the squad was inspected by Earl Alexander. Nobody knew about it until the squad marched from the infield and crossed the cinder track. That's when the navy man was seen scampering across the grass to retrieve his equipment.

There's a boy with a badge for every two boys with blazers. In other words, there are better than half as many officials in the games as there are athletes.

The totals: Officials 395; athletes 671.

A breakdown on officials: Track and field 137; swimming 73; weight lifting 25; rowing 29; cycling 29; lawn bowling 17; wrestling 36; boxing 34; fencing 15.

Buses took newspaper men from downtown Vancouver to the rear of a long line of buses that transported athletes from Empire Village. The reporters plodded a quarter-mile or so on their way to the stadium. Dave Bailley of Noranda, Que., 220-pound weightlifter, offered to carry a newspaper man's typewriter but quickly took back the offer, saying he couldn't leave the Canadian group.

LAWN BOWLING

Singles: John Linford, Lachine, Que., defeated in first and second rounds.

Doubles: Sam Gardiner and Dicky Williams, both N'Vancouver, won two opening matches.

SPORT IN BRIEF

MAY RACE IN U.S.

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth's racing manager said Friday night that the royal colt Landau is a probable entry for the International race at Laurel, Maryland, Nov. 20.

If he runs, Landau, the best three-year-old in the Queen's string this year, will be the first horse to carry the royal colors in the United States. The Queen's manager is Capt. Charles Moore.

Landau ran third in the Eclipse Stakes this year and was a runner-up in the Derby Trial Stakes.

SEEK PRO PLAYERS

WINDSOR (CP)—Youngsters of Windsor, Detroit and Essex county today are trying out for major league baseball positions—the first time their teams have been "scouted" by professional baseball representative. Ray Lucas, midwest scout for the New York Giants, is looking over the diamond fledglings of this area in a three-day tryout session and baseball school.

RECOGNIZE CLUB

KITCHENER (CP) — Reorganization of the Kitchener-Waterloo Junior A hockey club was started here Thursday with the election of Wesley A. Beechler as president. The announcement was made by vice-president Sammy Pollock of Montreal. Clarence Mitchell has been reappointed secretary-treasurer. It is expected that a new coach will be named the third week in August.

SAYS SON OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Golfer Sam Snead said today his three-year-old son, whose illness brought him flying here Thursday night from a fishing vacation in the Minnesota north woods, is all right now. Young Terry really was sick, Snead said, but it was only incidentally related to the eye ailment that was mixed up in erroneous reports that the child was in critical condition.

U.S. LEADS DAVIS CUP

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Hamilton Richardson defeated Orlando Garrido 4-2, 6-3, 6-1 Friday to give the United States a sweep in opening day tennis matches against Cuba in the Davis Cup American zone semi-final round. Earlier Straight Clark had beaten Reinaldo Garrido 6-4, 6-2, 7-5.

JOINS ARGOS

TORONTO (CP)—Speedy halfback Billy Cross, a five-letter 147-pounder, Friday joined Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four. The 25-year-old native of Cochrane, Ont., signed up with coach Frank Clair after announcing his retirement from Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League.

Don Cockell Defeats Harry Matthews In Eighth Stanza of 10-Round Battle

SEATTLE (AP) — Burly Don Cockell dreamed today of an early whack at Rocky Marciano and the world's heavyweight title after his lethal fists—with an assist from a slipped sacroiliac — disposed of Harry (Kid) Matthews of Cleveland last night in the eighth stanza of a scheduled 10-round fight.

Matthews, unable to stand erect because of his damaged back, could not come out for the call against the British Empire champion, who outweighed him 210½ pounds to 180.

Cockell had the edge all the way. And the crowd of 10,478, which paid $21,000, thought it was his heads hunting attack which left Matthews helpless. The 26-year-old Seattle Kid was bleeding at mouth, nose and ear as he slumped to his stool at the end of the seventh.

Actually, he said later, the damage was done in the third round when he threw a right at Cockell, who was shrugging off everything the Kid could toss.

"It was a helpless feeling," he said. "I couldn't move fast and get out of the way of Cockell's punches."

Cockell all but disregarded the body attack that won him two previous decisions over Matthews. He was gunning for the jaw all the way, always moving in on the Kid behind and with both rights and lefts after the third round. Matthews went down in the fifth, half slipping as he avoided a punch, and it was not considered a knockdown.

Petes Edge St. Kitts 9-7

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — In a tight Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association duel before more than 2,000 fans here Friday night, Peterborough defeated St. Catharines 9-7 to tighten their hold on first place, leaving St. Catharines in second three points behind.

Bobby Allan and Denny Peterson led the local snipers with three goals each, with Don Ashbee, Harry Wipper and Bob Thorpe good for one apiece. Leading St. Catharines was Jim Bradshaw and Ted Howe with a pair apiece, as Don Frick, Ross Fowlers and Roger Smith lit the lamp once each.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

THINGS TO COME, SOUP?

Gid and Gadzooks. The very effrontery of the guys. They should be hanged, drawn and quartered for even daring to beat the giants.

The haughty Oshawa Transporters may have got a taste of things to come, and if "Soup" Campbell recovers sufficiently from the shock, he might realize that "things are not in the bag" and the playoffs may sing a different tune for his "already in" pets.

The Oakville Oaks showed they are still in league contention when they gave the proud Transporters a baseball lesson the other night, defeating them 8-5—and making 'em like it.

How wrong can the guy be. Here is what he writes:

Peterborough Petes slipped a cog on Tuesday night when they dropped a 6-5 decision to the Dependable Caterers, up at Millen Stadium. This loss prevented the Petes from taking sole claim to fourth place in the Viadusi-Ontario league standing. The win, on the other hand, kept the Caterers in the running. Oakville and Caterers are having quite a tussle to stay out of the league cellar. But we're not interested in the cellar position—here we are anxious to see our Transporters clinch first place in the standing. The way the Oaks are batting knocking each other over even Hoskins's Oil Burners, who are in second place, have been victims of a few upsets — it could be that the Transporters have enough wins stored now. However—we'd like to see the locals knock off the Sain Shoemen here tonight — it's so entertaining reading friend George Carver down in Belleville predict that his Bataz will beat Oshawa in the playoffs—that we will get a kick out of reading his ahhh, it he pots get taken here in Oshawa tonight.

In the first place the Petes are in fourth place with a record of 10-13 for .435. Oakville is breathing down their necks with 11-15 for 4.24. Dependables are in the cellar, and the Championship SHOULD be interrupted because stranger things have happened than the Deps. making a playoff spot. Our side is in third place with an 11-11 record for .500 while the Hoskings hold down second with 13-10 for .565. The Oshawa "champs" are in front with 17-6 for .739.

The Bataz are hosts to the Hospings in a double feature here today with the first game starting at 2.30 p.m. and the second tilt at 8.30. A double win for the Carson crew will give them second place, not necessarily to overtake the Toronto gang, but a double setback will see them with a .458 still in third spot, but dangerously so.

* * *

'TWAS EVER THUS.

Well, well and a couple of hexico's. They tell me The Frankford Merchants turned the key in the Locks and plunked a few tall feathers from La Hiers in last night's Belleville District Softball League "A" playoff joust with the Northern Electrics. Just goes to show, 'Erbie, me bucko, that the playoffs are just other ball games and league reputation doesn't mean peanuts. Doug Radnar, we are informed gave the Hennery Gang three hits in the first inning, then hortied, stymied and choked 'em over the rest of the route. And we do hear the game, by the way, was a pitchers' battle as expected in the presence of one William Rankin, who was ejected but firmly from the game by His Nibs Al. Kelleher, but who grabbed a seat on the Frankford bench and cut loose with some verbal artillery from that point of vantage. Tsk, tsk, sich goin's on.

And unknown to this department and especially our Mr. Alexander, the Point Anne team hooked up with the Bluebirds down Ox Point way last night with the Pointers emerging on the long end of a 5-1 score. Just when the game was arranged we do not know. The game was the first of the best-of-three semi-finals in the "A" series of the league. No details were available at this writing but we'll get back at it again tonight at the CNRAA Recreation Park, starting at 6.15 according to the schedule. In the meantime the Bobcats go to Madoc for their opening tilt with Jack Hatch's crew starting at 8.30, The Wednesday pendennt of the league race will surely races the other gloaming that all games in this series will be played in Madoc.

Indians Wallop Washington, Orioles Swamp Champs 10-0; Braves Hand 'Bums' 9-3 Blast

By Ben Fhlegar
Associated Press Sports Writer

Only four of the 16 major league clubs gained ground in the pennant races in July, but neither the New York Giants nor the Cleveland Indians were able to strengthen their first-place positions.

The Indians, in fact, have lost half a game of the edge they held 30 days ago. The New York Yankees replaced Chicago as Cleveland's nearest pursuer and moved from four games behind to 2½, pending today's action.

The Giants ended July 1 leading Brooklyn by three lengths. On the last day of the month they still are three in front of the Dodgers.

Philadelphia Phillies, third a month ago, won only 10 of 30 games and skidded into the cellar with. Milwaukee pulled up from fourth, 12 games back, to third, only nine games behind the Giants.

The Braves ran their current streak to eight Friday night with a solid 9-3 triumph over Brooklyn and have three more games with the Dodgers, two with the Giants coming up in the next 10 days.

St. Louis moved from sixth to fourth but doesn't figure to go much higher.

YANKEES TAKE LICKING

Cleveland and the Giants both made headway Friday night. The Indians whipped Washington 5-3 while the Yankees were being trounced 10-0 at Baltimore. The Giants defeated Chicago 4-2 with all of the New York runs coming on homers — Monte Irvin's — home to Milwaukee for the fifth time in six games.

St. Louis played the stumbling Phillies 12-3; Pittsburgh and the Chicago Cubs split a pair with the Pirates winning the first 8-6 and losing the second 8-5; the Cincinnati Reds beat the Philadelphia Athletics into the American League cellar with a 5-2 decision, and Detroit whipped Boston 4-0.

Milwaukee spoiled Brooklyn's three runs in the first inning but got them all back with interest by a game ex Carl Erskine but his staff after three innings. Danny O'Connell hit a three-run homer for Ad-ams in the ninth to the seats with one aboard.

Ernie Johnson, who took over from Bob Buhl with two out and three runs home in the first, chilled the Dodgers on two singles the rest of the way.

SAY IT WITH HOMERS

The Giants got power hitting from unexpected sources. Pitcher Ruben Gomez drove in two with a blast off Sam Jones and Outfielder Mueller hit his second homer of the season. Wes Westrum and Hank Thompson also homered, but Willie Mays had to settle for a scratch single.

Ralph Kiner walked twice in the Pittsburgh doubleheader and each time Hank Sauer drove him in with a home run, running his season's total to 32. Frank Thomas collected four hits in the Pirates' twin-bill success.

HOUTTEMAN WINS TENTH

Art.Houtteman, one of the best of Cleveland's "second line" pitchers, won his 10th game as Indians coasted for five runs in the second inning and routed Washington pitchers for 15 hits. Hegan drove in four Indian runs.

The Yankees got their first look at Baltimore's new lights and they didn't like what they saw. Bob Kennedy hit a grand slam home run and drove in two other runs as the Orioles broke Allie Reynolds' 10-game winning streak.

Ned Garver limited Boston to four hits. Bob Keegan of the White Sox ran his victory total to 11 at the expense of the Athletics.

Cobourg Ghosts Pass From Football Picture

COBOURG (CP)—Cobourg Gaelic loging Ghosts, one of the most successful clubs in Canadian intermediate football during the last 12 years, Friday suspended operations.

The decision was reached by club directors who have been trying to keep the franchise alive.

Officials said the club has been unable to reach a satisfactory working agreement with one of nine professional clubs, either in the Big Four or in the Western Conference. Nor has it been able to find a replacement for Fred Dupon, who retired thirty-two as manager and president after guiding the club since it was started.

The Ghosts won the Canadian title three times and captured top honors in the Ontario Rugby Football Union intermediate A or B series every season since 1936.

Thirty Entries Compete For Yachting Titles

TORONTO (CP)—Thirty entries will pass the starting gun today in the opening of five races in the Lake Erie lightning class yacht championships. The top three placings in the three-day meet at the Queen City Yacht Club here will qualify for the world lightning yacht championships to be held in Detroit, Sept. 13.

Entries come from clubs in Buffalo, Hamilton, Toronto, Niagara Falls, Erie, Penn. and Conneaut, Ohio.

The annual international race, started in 1943, has been almost completely monopolized by United States yachtsmen. John Roberts of Hamilton, who won two years ago, was the only Canadian ever to win the Johnston-Goldberg — Ezy Trophy in the 10-year history of the event.

Tom Allen of Buffalo won last year.

Two races over the two-lap, one-mile triangular course will be run out Sunday and two Monday.

Canuck Oarsmen Meet Famous British Crew

By Peter Murray
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VEDDER CANAL, B.C. (CP)—Eight youthful Canadian oarsmen with a flair for doing the impossible are counting on doing just that Wednesday when they meet the Thames Rowing Club of England in the feature eights race in the rowing events of the British Empire Games.

With only the two teams in the event their pre-race rivalry has been the high point of three-daily workous on h canal.

Spectators are asking these questions: How good is the virtually untried University of British Columbia? Will it stand a chance against the precision rowing of the polished English crew?

Frank Read of Vancouver, hard-driving coach of the Canadians, put his charges through a strenuous workout Friday morning before the first hundred fans from Vancouver to take part in the Games opening ceremonies.

NEED FINISHING KICK

Read appeared satisfied with the crew's performance over the first 1,000 metres, but said they didn't have enough finishing kick.

After a terrific kick in the second half which carried the UBC shell to a surprise five-lengths victory in the Canadian trials at Fort Dalhousie, Ont., July 10.

Read has been training his eights much harder than coach Arthur Sulley of the English crew. The Canadians are almost always on the water an extra half-hour, trying to smooth out their rugged style.

Most of the opinions expressed by officials of other teams on the Canadians' style has been uncomplimentary. They're a bit unorthodox, you know," said a New Zealander.

Canadian team manager- Jack Guest of Toronto says the success of the crew is due to the fact that "it is young and eager, and each man pulls his hardest. There are no loafers."

Nothing Wrong With Giants Says 'The Lip'

NEW YORK (AP)—Whitey Lockman was back on first base for the New York Giants Friday night and manager Leo Durocher denied reports of dissension on the National League's leading club.

Lockman, yanked in the middle of Thursday's game by Durocher, engaged in a heated argument with the manager in front of the New York dugout.

Neither man would discuss the incident, but some published reports described the team's morale as "poor."

Twelve Missouri cottontails are now making an ocean voyage which may very well alter the outdoor scheme of things sod, for that matter, the economics of many European countries. This is the story and it is not a pretty one.

Many years ago, some misguided individual imported a pair of European rabbits to Australia. These two seemingly harmless animals were released and then Nature took her course.

There are few natural enemies of the rabbit in Australia. The bunnies multiplied until they numbered in the millions. In their search for food, they simply denuded the countryside of every green thing. Something had to be done.

Accordingly, the biologists put their heads together and came up with a germ which, when injected into a healthy rabbit produced a fatal and painful myxomatosis. In less than two years, this disease killed 95 per cent of the part of rabbits in Australia — roughly 90%.

Myxomatosis is both contagious and infectious. It's course runs about six days, then you have a dead rabbit. So much for the first chapter.

LOATHES RABBITS

There is a doctor residing in Charleston, France, who has retired from active practice. He loathes rabbits. He has developed himself largely with gardening, landscaping and puttering about with flower beds. He loathes rabbits.

After some inquiry, he learned that he could secure some myxomatosis virus in Switzerland. He so ordered some. In due course the package arrived - - - a packet of white powder, all up an ultra-thin high in misery, suffering and death.

The doctor snared two young rabbits, injected the virus, and released them. Their illness was disease spread rapidly. The doctor protested that he hadn't meant only to kill the rabbits which were making inroads on his garden. He wanted to create a medical man who should know what virus contagion can do.

What he actually did was to kill off most of the rabbits in France, and, in all probability, in all of Europe.

HUGE ANNUAL KILL

The European rabbit always has been an institution in France. The annual kill by hunters was about 200 million. Of those which were raised domestically 65 million were killed annually for the market and for fur.

Over 25,000 See Earl Alexander Open B.E. Games

Ritual, Tradition and Color Feature Famous Sports Event; Queen Sends Success Wishes

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — The pageantry of the British Empire Games has passed into history. The athletes now take over.

In the huge, new Empire stadium, where records in track and field are sure to be made, the fifth Commonwealth sports spectacle was opened officially Friday night by Earl Alexander, Britain's defence minister and formerly Canada's governor-general.

Through him a message from the Queen expressing hope for success of the Games was given to the 800 athletes and team officials and the 25,333 persons gathered in the stadium under a soothing rain that at times dipped toward the Pacific ocean.

PARNELL TAKES OATH

There was color everywhere. Bands played and the athletes marched in formations by countries, their bronzed attire, generally rural and tradition, too.

Bill Parnell of Vancouver, secretary of the Dominion Games rifle in 1850, took the oath on behalf of all the athletes to participate in true sportsmanship. Near the end of the thrilling spectacle, scores of heralds pigeons were released. They fluttered into the bright evening sky and winged toward their grandstand.

Outside the stadium, traffic piled up long before the ceremonies started. From Empire Village, 10 miles away, fleets of buses carried the athletes to the stadium. The spectacle ended with a military tattoo.

ALEXANDER PRAISES GAMES

Only one small flaw marred the opening. Lord Alexander's address was brief and clear but it had no public-address system because of a break-down.

He spoke of the importance and popularity of the games and said that through them and their friendly rivalry the bonds of the Empire become further strengthened.

"We should take pride in the knowledge that there is no lack of good sportsmen in our Commonwealth of nations, whatever race they may belong and from whatever part of the Empire they may come," he said.

He spoke of Vancouver as a perfect setting for the Games and of the stadium and new Empire swimming pool that had been built.

QUEEN'S MESSAGE

The message from the Queen, read by Lord Alexander, said: "Please convey to all gathered at the opening my sincere thanks for their loyal greetings and for good wishes for success in the Games."

The biggest thrill of the evening came from the march-past by countries. First came New Zealand, in black-and-white pastel uniforms. The New Zealanders headed the list because their country was host for the 1950 games.

Then came Australia, in green and gray, and the countries followed in alphabetical order, except for Canada. The 1954 host country was last, marching behind Wales. The athletes from the British countries wore bright red and white uniforms, the only red-and-white combination among the 24 Empire countries.

Pakistan's athletes, in green and white, wore gray, fez-like hats called qualpacks. South Africa in light blue and white, wore high turbans that matched their light blue blazers. England's big team in navy blue and white, drew a big round of applause. And the husky George Nicholls, the oneman team from Rhodesia who is entered in the weightlifting competitions.

87-MINUTE CEREMONY

While the athletes stood in formations on the infield grass, Bruce grace of the infield, the flag-bearers of each country formed a huge semicircle.

The entire spectacle, with precision and harmonious, took only 87 minutes, from the entrance of Lord Alexander and his party, escorted of an all-services guard of honor, to the singing of the National Anthem. The oath-taking and the march-out of the teams.

When the athletes filed past the stands Australia's 3:56 miler, John Michael Landy, was spotted in the fourth row from the rear, marching next to the inside land of the stadium track.

There was more craning of necks in pinpoint England's Roger Bannister, first man in the world to break the four-minute mile with a 3:59.4. The tall, lanky Englishman with a reddish tint in his hair, was easy to find as he removed his hat in passing Lord Alexander.

Following the march-out of the athletes, the tattoo and military show of the armed forces held the crowd for almost two hours. There were team contests in guide-marching and reasoning and a display of formation riding and acrobatics on motorcycles.

Frankford Beats Northern 5-2 In Semi-Final

By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Seven hitless innings by Doug Radner and one big frame at bat for his team mates proved to be the formula last evening to beat Northern Electric as the Frankford Merchants took a one game lead in the best-of-three semi-finals for the city championship by carrying home a 5-2 verdict. Barb Heron, Northern's coach, announced in the seventh inning that the game was being played under protest with his explanation being that Bill Rankin remained on the player's bench after being rejected from the game.

It looked as if the two teams were going to build up a high score in the initial frame as the visitors took a 1-0 lead with Northern coming back in the second to tie the count on a single by Cy Bricker, although he pitched to only two batters, giving up a walk and a single. Preston Elkins came on in relief and the Majors scored one run when Elwin Snell singled, Bob Deakin scored from third on an overthrow.

Radner killed Best's chances for a shutout in the sixth when they scored on a hit, a single, a walk and a fielder's choice. Best fanned four and walked three.

Karol Fageros Hanna Sladek In Tennis Finals

TORONTO (CP)—Karol Fageros of Miami, Fla., meets Montreal's Hanna Sladek today in the final for the women's singles crown of the Ontario lawn tennis championships.

Miss Fageros, who last week won the Canadian singles title, was given first seeding in the tournament. She defeated Mrs. Louise Brown of Toronto 6-3, 6-2 — hmiFLexyiahn slate of Miss Sladek, seeded second in this tournament, 6-3, 6-1. She followed Mrs. Brown's lead in the 1953 Canadian singles with the Ontario seedings when the Toronto woman was upset first.

Other finals—men's singles and doubles, the women's doubles and mixed doubles—will be played Sunday.

MAJOR UPSET

Larence Barclay of Vancouver pulled a major upset when he defeated the No. 2 seeded Don Platt of Toronto in the quarterfinals of the men's singles. Platt was fourth man on Canada's Davis Cup team that recently beat Chile.

Seventh-seeded Barclay meets Montreal's Henri Rochon today in the semi-finals.

Rochon moved into the semis by eliminating third-seeded Jim Bentley of Toronto 6-4, 6-4. Although seeded only sixth, the veteran Rochon showed a lot of his old speed and accuracy.

The other half of the draw pits top-seeded Paul Willey of Vancouver against Nick Macatee, 20-year-old university student from Clinton, B.C.

Macatee went all out in pulling the biggest upset yesterday as Summers of Toronto. Their game went three sets, 7-5, 3-6, 9-7.

Elgins Whip Royals 18-7; Panthers Lose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Elgins finished with 20 hits around the diamond at the St. Thomas ball park by the time the Elgins finished with Guelph-Wake loo Royals Friday night.

The St. Thomas club exploded for 10 runs on eight hits in the eighth inning to defeat the Royals 18-7 in a senior Intercounty Baseball League game. Up to the fatal inning it was a fairly tight game but Tommy White's boys finally set to work and massacred the Royals.

In Kitchener, London Majors, on the strength of three-hit pitching of righthander Bill Best, defeated Kitchener Panthers 3-1.

Thirteen men batted in the eighth at St. Thomas. Doc Glenn led the Elgins with a big double. Roger Breard, Jimmy St. Louis and Butch Lawing made the others. Lawing's big hit a double and batted in six runs. Don Oberbetter got two homers for the Royals.

HIT DOUBLE

White took over the mound for the Elgins in the second and hit a double in the eighth to bring in three runs. It was his third victory against one loss. Gord Arvis, who replaced Story Mills in the fourth, was charged with the loss.

Kitchener lost on a double by Cy Bricker, although he pitched to only two batters, giving up a walk and a single. Preston Elkins came on in relief and the Majors scored one run when Elwin Snell singled, Bob Deakin scored from third on an overthrow.

Radner killed Best's chances for a shutout in the sixth when they scored on a hit, a single, a walk and a fielder's choice. Best fanned four and walked three.

Paul Plunks Mighty Ursus Assisted by Bouncing 'Bunny'

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

"Bunny" Dunlop's equatorial region is for food storage purposes only, and not to be used as a buffer for propelled gayhdermis!

The Mighty Ursus, the overstuffed Mexican jumping bean, discovered this to his sorrow in last night's rassle riot at Memorial Arena.

"Bunny", in case you don't know was the referee. A former wrestler, he knows a lot of the answers, and is not averse to placing on a few solid smashes to the jaws of naughty wrestlers, particularly if he hairs by the grab method, or even the classic dactyl tickling when the going gets rough.

In any event, "Bunny's methods irked the burly Ursus, who, I'm sincere, mostly carne, no end." And you can truthfully add, also verse.

The fun was a mixing it-up with one Paul Baillargeon, who was championing the cause of Whipper Billy Watson and himself, while Ursy was upholding the honor of one "Jackie". In what is a privilege match, it seems the foursome has to quit fighting each other in singles bridge games have been suspended temporarily.

In fact it is rumored along Pachyderm Pavilion that the four are not on speaking terms outside of the ring since Ursus blossomed forth with the same color sports shirt as Paul. Small wonder the nerve, Paul!

However, the Ursus displayed all the tricks of the trade in full-blown style and gave Oom Paul a regular pasting in the first fall. But Paul, b'gar, she does not fear the Ursus' tails on railway flat cars for notice, and he soon had the latter astsed the pride of the tortillas by the midriff tossed him high in the air, until his poor dollars rattled, swung him in a merry-go-round, let him go with a resounding thump it, at the proper time.

Amateur Golf Will See New Champ, Semi-Finals, Finals Played Today

By GARY SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—A salesman, a sales engineer, a would-be salesman and a life insurance agent are in the running for the Ontario amateur golf championship.

Ernie Kaiser, sales engineer, who sells tabulating machines, faces Jerry Kaye of Toronto Lambton, a 20-year-old star who hopes to become a salesman in the fall, for one semi-final golden round today at the Thornhill Golf Club.

The two winners will meet in an 18-hole final tomorrow.

NEW CHAMP SEEN

The tournament is sure to see a new champion crowned. Shirk, who reached the semi-finals last year only to lose to Gerry Pinsonneault, Gerry Kesseiring of Kitchener, has gone further than any of the others in previous tournament play.

Bentley Friday defeated Bob Plashnik of Toronto 3 and 1 in the fourth round and then beat Bill Edmonds of Aurora, 4 and 3, in the quarter finals. Pinsonneault who beat Ken Freedman of Toronto two up to qualify for the quarter-finals, scored a birdie on a foot putt on the ninth to give Bentley a tie at the turn. Bentley won the next four of the next six holes to end the match.

Mazza, known berth on the Ontario Wellington Cup team hinges on his winning the title, defeated Ed Worsch of Kitchener 4 and 3 in the fourth round Friday. He then defeated Jack Lowery of St. Catharines 2 and 1 in their quarter-final match.

BIRDIE IS CLINCHER

Against Lowery, Mazza went one up on the 16th hole and then clinched the match with a birdie four on the 17th. Kaye moved into the quarter-finals by defeating Bruce Castator of Toronto two up in the fourth round.

Grant Shirk, who seems to specialize in close matches, defeated Stan Morris of Fonthill one up and then disposed of Ken Jacobs of and spread-eagled him while "Bunny" played the victory "Yankee-Doodle" in 13-18 tempo.

And matters did not look good for our hero in the third fall. Paul Plunked the Mex out of the ring a couple of times but he took some punishment before fate and "Bunny's" equatorial protuberance provided the chance for victory.

Ursy had a bear grip on Paul in the pair rumbe'd all over the ring. A little Kaylin Cugat music and the 1800 faithful would have conga-lined in the aisles. Ursus rushed Paul to the ropes but forgot to throw his hand out for a right turn. "Bunny" caught midstream and was dashed against a ring post. The threesome rebounded like a rubber ball off a wall, and Paul found himself in Ursus' hold. He promptly flattened out "Bunny" turned on his oxygen tank, and managed to roll over twice. He hit his head three times on the mat and that was that. Paul had "dood" it.

In the night's other bout, Pancher, Otto Bowman, the Mighty Schultz and Thi Infanti had the ringside din continuous experiment in a lively action-packed 15-minute bout. The Panther in one-man army, practically cleaned house at one time, using all his tricks and then some. Schultz, But virtue did not succeed. The villains of Schultz and Bowman, "Bunny" came through and the Panther and pal were forced to submit. Bowman is the good show, and they can bring these economy-size boys back any time, Thursday night at Skt Hi Ice opened the show and "Bunny" decided it was the Panther vs. Patsy after 15 minutes, changing his mind after declaring the fall "no contest" on referee confusion. was no one in the ring to win it, the proper time.

Gord Ball used a hot putter to jump into a five-hole lead on Reg Stegath of Toronto at the turn in their quarter-final match. Ball added four on the 9th hole by defeating Jack Nash of London one up while Stegath eliminated Bill Morland of North Bay in the fourth round, 3 and 1.

Games Started 30 Minutes Late After Four Years

VANCOUVER (CP) — The fifth British Empire Games started 30 minutes late — after four years' planning.

Early-morning dew — usual in this Pacific coast area—delayed the start Friday of lawn bowling, first and longest official event of the games.

The bowlers at Point Grey and New Westminster, where competition continues each day until Aug. 6, got under way at 10 a.m. instead of 9:30 after warm sunshine dried the grass.

The 30-minute planning didn't eliminate their last-minute revisions either. Lawn bowling, wrestling, rowing, cycling and track and field schedules have all undergone changes.

Heavier - than-expected entries caused the late revisions.

AIM TO DRAW

Lawn bowling increased its draw to 18 rounds from 16. Three rounds —morning, afternoon and night—will be played each day through next Friday except Tuesday, Aug. 3, when there will be only one day, and only one is scheduled Tuesday, Aug. 3. Originally, a morning and afternoon session is scheduled each day through Aug. 6 except Tuesday, Aug. 3.

Wrestling times were moved ahead one hour for today and tomorrow. Competition will go instead of 8 p.m. each of those days. Wednesday's play day and this event remains unchanged, with an 8 p.m. start.

Rowing at Lake canal, about 45 miles from here, also underwent a time change, moving starting time Tuesday to 12:30 p.m. instead of the originally-planned 5 p.m. On Wednesday, Aug. 4, rowing was scheduled at 11 a.m. It was 2 p.m.

Thursday officials announced cycling and track and field programs have been extended from four to five days.

Royals Defeat Toronto 7-1 As Wings Lose

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tom Lasorda's acquisition by Brooklyn Dodgers from Montreal Royals in the International League has helped the parent club in their bid for the National League pennant.

Although Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, isn't completely sold on the 26-year-old stocky lefthander continues to turn impressive victories for the Royals.

Friday night Lasorda rang up his 11th victory against two defeats, reading Toronto Maple Leafs 7-1 on seven hits. He also hit a home header. Montreal won the opener 5-4.

In the only other games, Ottawa Athletics nipped the second-place Rochester Red Wings 3-2 and Buffalo Bisons swept a doubleheader from Richmond Virginians 5-0 and 4-1.

Lasorda limited the Leafs to three hits, walked six and struck out five. His mates collected 13 hits, including five for extra bases off four hurlers.

FINAL IS HOMER

Montreal scored two runs in the third, fifth and sixth innings. Dixie Howell homered in the eighth for the final run.

Montreal scored two runs in the ninth inning of a scheduled seven-inning opener which was completed after it had been halted in the bottom of the seventh on May 30. Rochester came into the game in the eighth scoring a run batting in single credit for the Royals, win.

Ottawa scored five unearned runs after two out in the eighth inning on Rochester's shortstop Allen Richter's error.

Jerry Scala hit a solo homer for Buffalo in the second game and Tom Alston homered for Rochester in the eighth.

Buffalo pitcher Frank Lary hit a two-run homer in the ninth inning after the visitors had scored and Ezar Earl Harrist stopped the Virginians on six hits in the opener.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — By the time Chester A. Riley becomes a grandfather he will be able to retire on his cut from "The Life of Riley." But, being an actor, William Bendix will not retire.

"Because," explains Bendix, star of the perennial Riley series, "what good is an actor unless he is acting?"

Riley made his bow on radio 18 years ago last January and continued for eight years on the air. This week, Riley and his family are completing their 104th TV show.

The series has paid well and will continue to do so. In addition to his salary, Bendix has a 35-per-cent interest in the show on reruns. Replays of the series may well go on for years and years, in TV areas that have not seen the show via network and in other cities and hamlets where stations are yet to be built.

Any actor who looks down his nose at television is off his rocker, Bendix believes. The work is easier and there's more money to be made. Stars signing up for TV these days always get a percentage on reruns, the all-important residual of TV.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, AUGUST. 1, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) —

Don't start this day with mix givings or doubts. Not that you were going to, but these things do creep in, and they are wrong and foolish.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) —

Start right at church, and try to take someone with you. The greatest blessings in this world are still free; get to know them and reap the rich harvest they offer.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) —

You don't like to break rules or override people, but you may have a tendency to do so now. Begin the day quietly and calmly; then if you must speed up, it will be easier.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) —

Emphasize your finest characteristics; others will be depending upon you, and taking your lead in many cases. You have the strength to give incentive and fresh ambition to others. Do so, now!

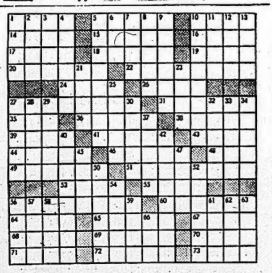
July 24 to August 22 (Leo) —

Here's your Do-and-Don't list: Setting things are out; to air hurrying and being too meticulous about unimportant matters. Be generous with your smiles, maintain good humor, and engage in some healthy exercise.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Doing what you should when you should is a must today—and for the next few days. Start off with your best foot at church services. Take all things calmly.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Today's chart accentuates the personal side, strongly favoring social and domestic affairs, romance. But don't neglect business matters if they are urgent or necessary.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Practically every planet smiles on your earnest efforts this amenable day. Neither be too obsequerous, nor too reticent. Be your straightforward, fine self.



November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Happy indications for a good, prosperous Sunday. Be mindful of family and religious obligations make time for healthy recreation and home duties. Blessings!

December 22 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Your Saturn's aspect suggests that you not overreach toward business or financial goals. Other planetary configurations encourage spiritual, social and civic interests. Enjoy healthy fun.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Uranus' position does not sanction any drastic changes or shifting of plans. However, the day on the whole is encouraging for most interests and activities. Don't worry.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Not an overly stimulating day. Serenity and understanding will, however, bring inner contentment as well as the advancement of your best interests. Be cheerful.

YOU BORN TODAY are bright, engaging, capable; sometimes overbearing and egotistical! Don't permit pride or egoism to overshadow your finer qualities. Recognize, rightly appraise others' attributes and achievements. You have an innate skill for selling, bargaining, promoting, managing organizations, groups of oldsters or youngsters. Cultivate your spiritual side and your talents.

AT THE CAPITOL — A scene from the breath-taking color outdoor attraction "The Outcast" starring John Derek, Joan Evans, Jim Davis and Catherine McLeod. Opening Sunday midnight after the 12.05 a.m. at the Capitol Theatre and continuing its regular engagement Monday with a special matinee at 2.00 p.m. On the same program see the man-made monster with every human emotion in "Yeloo the Great" starring Charles Drake and Karin Booth. Both attractions are having their first Belleville showings on our giant panoramic screen.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BABIES' BEDTIME

As our canoe skirted the shore the sun had set, leaving the bushes that overhung the lake, and there we had a final glimpse of the young Magnolia warblers before they were marched off to bed. Mother was calling, "Track, track," and one by one the toddlers left their places on the small outer branches and disappeared from our view, back among the balsams.

Sunset is a favorite time for birds to put their youngsters to bed, but the method used depends upon the species. Most of us know how a hen calls her chicks to together and covers them with her wings.

Much the same thing is done by certain wild birds. The grouse, a near relative of the domestic fowl, can thus protect her entire brood for several weeks after they hatch and immediately begin to run about.

But we could not expect little Mrs. Wren to be able to cover her babies once they leave their birthplace. By that time they are at least two weeks old and, though still very short-tailed, nearly as long as their parents. Their own home cannot hold them any more, so mother must look for a good-sized, deserted nest.

One wren was foolish enough to gather her family of six into the nest of a red-eyed vireo but she soon found out her mistake.

BUILT FOR FOUR

It had been designed and built for four very young babies and their six inch mother. The weight of her wrestlers proved too great and by morning the beautifully woven and tastefully decorated basket was suspended only at one corner, and by a frail piece of grass.

A robin's home with its substantial mud foundation was exactly what was needed and thereafter, each day at dusk, she called "chuck, chuck," until all six were safely put to bed in the more spacious quarters.

The barn swallows' first trip from home was short; then they were called back to help in their nest on the beam. The second day they were allowed to go somewhat farther, and stay a little longer before returning.

And so it went, until in about a week they were gone until dusk. Each night the parents sat on the beam beside the nest, and were there joined by those unable to fit into the old home.

It is not unusual for swallows to keep their nest as a home for the family's headquarters until the day comes when they form a large flock with their friends and all fly south. Some go as far away as Argentina.

Toronto Girl May Attempt Lake Ont. Swim

TORONTO (CP) — Marilyn Bell, 23-year-old Toronto schoolgirl swimmer who beat top men and women amateurs at the Atlantic City marathon swim last Monday, may try to swim across Lake Ontario, swimming coach Gus Ryder of the Lakeshore Swimming Club said today.

The Canadian National Exhibition has offered U. S. distance swimmer Florence Chadwick of San Diego, Calif., $10,000 to complete the Scarlis across-the-lake swim early in September, but the contract stipulates that she have no competition.

Mr. Ryder some time ago asked CNE officials to let Canadian swimmers compete against Miss Chadwick at the swim, but was refused.

"Who wants to see Florence Chadwick when you've got the greatest woman swimmer in the world right on your doorstep," Mr. Ryder said. "Marilyn proved in world competition that she is the best."

Marilyn placed seventh in the Atlantic City marathon, less than 40 minutes behind the leaders, and she was the first woman to cross the finish line.

LIVERPOOL, England (Reuters) — The Cunard shipping line said today that a passenger reported missing Thursday aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth was Mrs. Margaret Foser of New York.

Cunard officials issued the following statement:

"With reference to reports circulating Thursday that a passenger had gone overboard from the Queen Elizabeth some hours after the liner had left Cherbourg for New York, the Cunard Line says that after an intensive search no trace was found on board of Mrs. Margaret Foser, aged 52, an American citizen of New York, and it is presumed that she has been lost.

"Mrs. Poser embarked at Southampton with her husband."

Train Derailed, Five Cows Killed

COLDWATER, Ont. (CP) — Sixteen cars of a 27-car southbound freight train left the tracks Thursday as they were being switched from the main Canadian Pacific Railway line to a siding. No one was injured but five head of cattle were killed.

The main line was damaged slightly, and trains were held up less than an hour.

U.S. Two Years Ahead of U.K. In Guided Missiles--Alexander

VANCOUVER (CP) — Earl Alexander of Tunis said here that any repetition of the recent shooting down of a British airliner in the Far East could bring "a different and stronger protest."

In an interview following his arrival here to open the British Empire Games, the British defence minister and former governor-general of Canada described the shooting down of the airliner near Communist-held Hainan Island last week as "a bad and very dangerous thing."

He declined to say what form a stronger protest might take—"that is the province of the foreign secretary."

On the Suez situation, he expressed his complete agreement with the new U. K.-Egypt pact, which provides for withdrawal of British troops from the canal zone.

ATOMIC ERA

"The atomic bomb era," he said, "has changed military strategy to a large degree. As a result, we don't need to have troops concentrated in a small area."

Lord Alexander spoke with enthusiasm on guided missiles he saw during his tour of United States' military installations.

Britain was "about one or two years" behind the U. S. in guided missile development.

"We are still in the experimental stage, while the U. S. is well ahead in actual production."

Smiths Change Military Duties

LONDON (CP) — The Smiths today completed the transfer of Canada's top military post in Europe as Maj.-Gen. J. D. B. (Dez) Smith, 48, left London for Canada and his new post as commandant of the Canadian National Defence College at Kingston, Ont.

His successor, Air Vice-Marshal D. M. Smith, has assumed the same triple role vacated by the general. He will be chairman of the Canadian Joint Staff in London. He also will serve as Canadian military representative at both the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council and Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers in Europe, in Paris.

Gen. Smith will go direct to Kingston, where the new term starts Sept. 1. He lived there from 1929-33 as a cadet at the Royal Military College and during 1945-46 as commandant of the Canadian Army Staff College.

Air Vice-Marshal Smith is from New Westminster, B.C.

Lid of Freezer Nearly Chokes Kitchener Woman

KITCHENER (CP)—Failure of a district housewife to latch a safety catch on a home freezer almost asphyxiated her.

Mrs. Gilbert Gemmel of nearby Ayr was discovered by her son, Clifford, after she was trapped when the freezer lid fell on her neck.

She had been reaching into the freezer when the heavy lid banged down.

An x-ray showed no broken bones but neck ligaments were badly stretched. She will be in a cast for some weeks.

"DE LAWD" ACTOR DEAD

KINGSTON, N. Y. (AP)—Rev. Daniel Haynes, Negro clergyman and stage and screen actor, died Thursday night of a heart attack. He was 60. For five years he played two recurring roles in Marc Connelly's drama, "The Green Pastures," on Broadway and later on tour. When the show was revived later he was cast as "De Lawd."

Hunger Strike In Prison Ends

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP)—State penitentiary convicts picked up their normal day-to-day routines today, and the man who will be their new warden said the "all-night truce is complete account" after a three-day sit-down and hunger strike.

But Lawrence Delmore, warned that trouble still is possible among the nearly 1,300 convicts after their 72-hour fast.

The sit - down, which started among laundry workers Monday noon and in the next 36 hours spread throughout the prison ended suddenly Thursday afternoon.

The prisoners said they were satisfied assurances that some of their demands would be met, and were led off to their first meal.

Delmore, who will become warden when John Cranor retires Sept. 1, watched the feeding and said there was no trouble "although some of the men are not exactly happy about the outcome" of their strike.
